Chief of Police Thompson received the following letter from Rev. F. W. Luxford, of Bennington, N.Y., which speaks for itself:

Sir,—I was told a story of a young woman who was buried alive in the north woods not far from Peterborough about 1877, and was rescued by a party of hunters, among whom was T. J. Fisher, who kept a hotel in Peterborough at that time. I would like to find someone who may know of this among Peterborough's oldest citizens. Can you help me in this matter? An answer will be appreciated.

The above will appeal to the older citizens who may have some knowledge of the circumstance. If such exist, and would communicate with Chief Thompson, it would be appreciated.

THE MARRIAGE IS NOT ANNULED

HIGHER COURT FAVORS WOMAN AND DECIDES SHE WAS LEGALLY MARRIED.

Montreal, Que., May 9.—That the complainant, Napoleon Tremblay, had not given sufficient proof to show that his marriage five years ago to Malvina Despatie had not been in accordance with the laws of the Catholic Church was the chief reason for the revising of a judgment annulling his marriage by the Court of Revision.

The judgment was rendered at Sorel where the principals in the suit reside.

Tremblay maintained that at the time of his marriage he was related to Malvina Despatie, they being third or fourth cousins, and that this relationship constituted a direct impediment to the marriage under the ecclesiastical laws. The first court upheld this claim and granted the annulment of the marriage. On Mrs. Tremblay's appeal the Court of Revision reversed the judgment. Their decision said:

Considering that the evidence brought by the plaintiff is illegal and insufficient, the said plaintiff not having legally proved the religious belief of the defendant, and not having legally proven the relationship between the parties, nor that relationship in the degree alleged is an impediment according to the rules followed in the Catholic Church, considering that there was an error in the judgment, this court reverses it with costs against the plaintiff."

KIND WORDS FROM RURAL DEANERY.

To Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Now of Innisfil.

The following is a copy of a letter sent by Rev. F. J. Sawers, secretary of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland and Peterborough, to Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, at Innisfil:—

Lakefield, May 6, 1911.

Dear Dr. Langfeldt,—As secretary of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland and Peterborough, I take pleasure in forwarding to you the following resolution:

Resolved, that this chapter of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland and Peterborough has received with sincere regret the resignation of Rev. Dr. E. A. Langfeldt, as their rural dean, occasioned by his removal to another part of the Diocese. They desire to express to Dr. Langfeldt their appreciation of the great gifts with which he has been endowed by a generous Providence, and they assure him that they will follow with affectionate fraternal interest the exercise of those gifts for Christ and the church in the new field of work to which he has been called, and they pray that God's richest blessing may rest upon him and all that are his for all time.

Yours sincerely,
F. J. SAWERS,
Secretary.

BROKEN ENGAGEMENT

Matrimonial Prospect Shattered Over the Fitting of a Carpet

A singular story of a broken engagement through the purchase of some carpets was told at Bloomsbury County Court. A Mr. Marks was sued by Messrs. Maple for the payment of a number of carpets.

Mr. H. L. Murphy, counsel for the plaintiffs, said that an order was given by the young woman to whom Mr. Marks was engaged, and she was to be called to prove the purchase.

Judge Bacon:—"She is not married to him?"

Mr. Murphy:—"The engagement was broken off."

Judge Bacon:—"Can a young woman pledge her fiancee's credit for these things?"

Mr. Murphy:—"Not without some expressed authority being given."

Miss Goodman said that Mr. Marks gave her authority to purchase carpets.

Judge Bacon:—"Were you limited in any way?"

Miss Goodman:—"No."

Judge Bacon:—"Did he tell you that you could go and purchase an Oriental or Persian carpet for hundreds of pounds?"

Miss Goodman:—"Not quite so far as that."

Mr. Marks said the engagement was broken off on the ground that the "young woman" would go and give orders for things without his authority.

Judge Bacon:—"The carpets were for the flat where you were to live happy ever after."

The defendant was asked if he wished to cross-examine the young woman, but he said he did not wish to.

Judge Bacon:—"If you are not on speaking terms you may do so through counsel."

The defendant said that he did not want carpets made specially.

Judge Bacon:—"Do you intend to say that your domestic happiness was wrecked during the engagement on such a trivial point as the fitting of a carpet?"

Mr. Marks said he could not afford special carpets, but his "young woman" wanted too much. The carpets went back as well as some furniture, but he did not know how.

Judge Bacon:—"It is only a wrangle, and I shall order you to pay. You will then find out where they are. Judgment for the plaintiff for the amount claimed, £30."

THE SHIPPING INDUSTRY

The Colonies England's Best Customers in 1910

Forty-five warships and vessels of the mercantile marine numbering 500 were launched from the shipyards of the United Kingdom in 1910. Only twenty-seven were "wind-jammers," or sailing ships, and their tonnage, as shown in Lloyd's annual report, was 1,127,786.

Of merchantile ships there is an increase of 153,106 tons on the previous year, although, apart from 1908 and 1909, it is the lowest total for thirteen years. War vessels, built at Government and private yards, are 8,415 tons more than in 1909.

Vessels lost and broken up during the year totalled 261,000 tons, and the sales to foreign and Colonial owners reached the record total of 513,618 tons.

As in 1909 the Colonies—with thirty-nine vessels—have been the best outside customers. Great Britain supplied the following tonnage during the year: Colonies, 43,607; Norway, 24,083; Germany, 23,507; Sweden, 20,247; Austria-Hungary, 18,447; France, 15,977.

A notable point is the number of large steamers turned out. There was the Olympic, at Belfast (45,000 tons), which is now approaching completion at Harland and Wolff's; and there were seven other steamers of over 10,000 tons.

The Glasgow district occupies the first place among the shipbuilding centres of the country, showing an output of 211,076 tons. Then follow Newcastle (202,331 tons), Sunderland (179,425 tons), Belfast (163,236 tons), Greenock (123,723 tons), and Middlesbrough (106,754 tons).

In warship tonnage Newcastle leads with 28,515 tons, followed by Devonport with 26,250 tons, Portsmouth 22,500 tons, Glasgow 22,270 tons, and Greenock, 20,000 tons.

The total output of the world during 1911 (exclusive of warships) was 1,957,853 tons (1,857,641 steam, 100,212 sail), an increase of about 256,000 tons on the figures for 1909. If only sea-going merchant steamers of 2,000 tons gross and upwards be taken into account, out of the total of 231 such steamers, of 1,200,128 tons, launched in the world, over 73½ per cent. of the tonnage was launched in the United Kingdom.

Among foreign countries, the leading places are held by the United States (231,318 tons), Germany (159,261 tons), France (50,751 tons), and Holland (70,945 tons), Norway (16,961 tons), and Japan (30,215 tons).

PAINTING 100 PICTURES A DAY

There has lately arrived in Fleet Street an American artist, Mr. Buckford, who reckons to turn out 100 genuine oil paintings a day, and, what is more, sell them all. He can paint you a masterpiece on any subject you choose in ten minutes, and copy an Old Master in five. He memorizes his subjects when he first "lands," and has one or two little devices which enable for speed. Thus, for putting in sky and trees and water he has a brush holding three colors—dark for the deep shadows, then a half tone, and then a high light—so that he can do three processes with one flick of the brush. "Artists who have watched me," says Mr. Buckford, "admit that it is very tricky and neat." Assisted by a clever auctioneer, Mr. Buckford never lacks customers.

A million men will participate in the coming military manoeuvers in Germany. Why does Germany wish to make this announcement when England is trying to have a coronation without becoming nervous?

Congressman Madden has added his word in favor of Canadian annexation, and has done what little he could to spoil the reciprocity programme.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

ARTFUL EVASIONS OF ALIENS ACT

How "Undesirables" Enter England—Non-Immigran: Steamers Dump Many There

Whatever may be the legislative outcome of the amazing siege of Stepney, says an English paper, there is no gainsaying that at present our immigration laws are more ineffective than those of any other country in the world. Any alien with the brains of a rabbit, however black his history or blighted his health, can easily enter England against the will of the authorities, and can, in fact, snap his fingers at them.

The latest method of evading the Aliens Act is to come to this country with the return half of an excursion ticket, which can always be purchased on the Continent or obtained by post from London or from a confederate who has used the other half. Not long ago a Frenchman well-known in Leicester Square, thinking it politic to leave his usual haunts for a short time, went to Paris by a day excursion. While there he gave the return half of his ticket to an old comrade in crime, who with it came to London, giving a false name and address to the purser as he crossed the Channel.

Just Below the Limit

But there are many other dodges for evading the Aliens Act. One which results in hundreds of "undesirables" entering this country is systematically practised on some steamers. It is keeping the number on a ship just below the limit allowed for exemption from inspection. Originally a steamer which carried fewer than twenty steerage passengers was not, for the purposes of the Act an immigrant ship, and was not, therefore, liable to inspection. Then the number of third-class passengers allowed for exemption was reduced to twelve, and now it is again twenty. Mark how matters have been adjusted accordingly. Some captains used regularly to bring over seventeen or eighteen third-class passengers, then nine or ten, and at present they are back again to the old number, except when they cut things very fine and arrive in the Thames with nineteen!

It is not uncommon for the aliens thus "scraped through" to include at least one who has been refused leave to land. He or she previously came to England in an immigrant ship, and was turned back owing to lack of means or for some other reason. No fewer than four rejected aliens were about a year ago dumped in a batch at Hull from a (technically) non-immigrant steamer.

Second-Class Passengers

The same steamers bring over many "undesirables" as second-class passengers, and thus defeat the object of the Aliens Act in another way. No sooner were second-class passengers exempted from inspection than such companies lowered their second-class fares till they were only a little higher than the steerage rates, and ever since many immigrants unable to pass inspection, as well as not a few of those refused permission to land, have triumphed over the authorities by coming to England in the intermediate class.

Shipping agents in Continental ports also have many tricks whereby they dump "undesirables" on us. About eighteen months since, for instance, some of those at Bremen kept in stock letters of invitation written by people in this country. These they supplied—for a consideration—to aliens for showing to the inspectors when they reached England as conclusive proof that there was not the remotest chance of their becoming burdens on John Bull.

The Yellow Peril

A moderately wide-awake immigrant, however, requires no assistance to enable him to enter England without even a "By your leave." What is to prevent him from shipping as a cattleman or sailor and landing at one of our ports as such? Nothing. As a fact, this game is played on us thousands of times every year. Out of the total number of cattlemen who arrived in this country in 1909 no fewer than 1,200 did not return on the cattle ships. Some may have left as ordinary passengers, but the majority doubtless remained in England. Whether they are likely to become good citizens may be gauged from the fact that thousands of cattlemen who have landed in this country have straightway sought the hospitality of the casual ward.

The ranks of Chinese residents in this country are steadily recruited in the same way. Of late years many "sailors" from the Celestial empire have married English girls and settled in our large ports, particularly Liverpool, where laundries "run" by their compatriots absorb some of them. Six or seven years ago an attempt was made to establish Chinese laundries in London, with the result that the promoters got such a fright from hostile crowds that the enterprise faded away. But in Liverpool, Birkenhead, and the Wallasey district there are many such laundries, and a few have recently been opened in towns so far inland as Stockport.

"No Wash Clothes"

They compete strenuously, not only against our native laundries, but against one another. An Ah Sing at Liscard, according to local report, described himself, with a fine eye to business, as a "Christian Chinaman," whereupon his rival, whose place of business is in the same street, boldly announced, "Me no religion; me wash clothes"!

Still more undesirable immigrants work a passage to this country. One of the men responsible for the twenty-five or twenty-six casualties at Tottenham undoubtedly came to England as a fireman on a steamer, and probably the other desperado evaded the Aliens Act in a precisely similar manner. Both, at all events, were nominally seafarers when they landed.

The Review says that ballooning improves the sight. Our contemporary is right to the extent that it enables some people to see their finish.

A cashier in a Toronto bank recently handed out a $1000 bill in mistake for a $10 bill. This is so serious that this great family journal will in future take the precaution in paying out money, to go over the bills a second time.

SIGN POSTS FOR AVIATORS

A German surveyor has devised a system of orientation which will help the German aviator, at least, in finding his way through the air. Each German province is provided with a number, and every community is provided with a letter. A guide book to be carried by the aviator contains a list of provinces and towns similarly designated. Thus, if an aviator sees the character "20 A B" painted upon the roof of a house in Rhineau he knows immediately where he is by referring to his book. At night these signs are to be illuminated. The system is now actually being installed in Germany.

PASSION PLAY PROFIT

£36,230 Earned by Village Players—Salaries in Proportion

According to an official statement, the gross receipts of the Passion Play of 1910 at Oberammergau were £65,230. After defraying the costs of production and other incidental expenses the proceeds, £44,630, remain to be distributed, and the sum of £36,200 will be divided among the 800 performers. The managers of the play, the musical directors, the chief cashier, and the portrayers of Christ, Pilate, Caiaphas, Herod, and the speaker of the prologue will receive £136 each for their six months' services. Other salaries will be in proportion to the importance of the respective roles. The men and women who played so vividly as members of the crowds in the streets of Jerusalem will receive £6 each, and the school children 30s. each; £535 will be given to the poor, and, says the Mail, the balance of £21,750 will remain in the village treasury for communal purposes.

RIGHTS OF HOSPITALITY

Dr. Johnson, in his tour through North Wales passed two days at the seat of Colonel Middleton, of Gwynnagg. While he remained there the gardener caught a hare from among some potato plants. He brought it to his master, who was engaged in conversation with the doctor, and received from him an order to carry it to the cook. As soon as Johnson heard this sentence he begged to have the animal placed in his arms, which done, he hurried to the half open window, and restored the hare to her liberty, shouting after her to accelerate her speed. "What have you done?" cried the colonel. "Why, doctor, you have robbed my table of a delicacy, perhaps deprived us of a dinner." "So much the better, sir," replied the humane champion of the condemned hare, "for if your table is to be supplied at the expense of the laws of hospitality, I envy not the appetite of him who eats it. That, sir, was a hare which had placed itself under your protection: and savage, indeed, must be that man who does not make his hearth an asylum for the confiding stranger."

A KITE-FLYING COMPOSER

Sir Edward Elgar, whose violin concerto has aroused so much interest in the musical world, numbers kite-flying amongst his hobbies, but has devoted himself more of late years to chemistry and cycling. He spends much of his leisure time in the laboratory. In writing for the violin Sir Edward is returning to his early love, for he was a fine player himself in his youth. Indeed, it would be difficult to name an instrument which he cannot play. For five years he was bandmaster of the Worcester County Lunatic Asylum, the band being formed by the asylum attendants, and it was thus that he became familiar with instruments, ranging from a French horn to an organ. In those days—and it is not so many years ago—England's greatest composer wrote polkas, waltzes, etc., for which he received 5s. a set, while for minstrel ballads for the use of the asylum inmates he received 1s. 6d. each.

JAPANESE WARSHIP

Contract for Dreadnought is Let to English Firm

Japan's newest Dreadnought will be built at Barrow-in-Furness by Messrs. Vickers, Sons, and Maxim. The contract, which has just been signed, provides that every portion of the warship, including the armor plate and gun mountings, shall be constructed by the same firm, which will not be allowed to sublet any part of the work.

The new vessel will have a displacement of between 27,000 and 28,000 tons and will cost, complete with armament and ammunition, nearly £2,500,000. Thirty months from the signing of the contract the vessel should be ready for sea.

Both Japan and Great Britain have reason to be pleased with the placing of this important contract in England. Japan has always admired British warship construction, and can never forget that the Mikasa, Admiral Togo's flagship, was built by the firm which has now been commissioned to build the new Dreadnought. The Imperial Japanese Government in placing the contract has also wished to give practical expression to the sincere regard it has for the alliance with Great Britain.

A COOL REQUEST

"Had I not practised physical exercise night and morning to the present time, I should never have been able to perform the work which has fallen to my lot." In these words Lord Alverstone the Lord Chief Justice, who is sixty-eight years of age, recently paid tribute to the value of sport and recreation. A great athlete in his younger days, he carried off the prize for the mile and two miles in the 'Varsity sports, and distinguished himself in the cricket field. His lordship's running feats were once recalled to him in court in an amusing manner by a prisoner whom he was trying. "I knows yer," said the prisoner, "and many's the time I've giveh yer a hand when yo've been stopping it round the track like a greyhound; so let's down lightly, like a good cove as yer are."

How to Tell Catarrh

An Experienced Physician Says the Following Symptoms are Sure Signs.

You can always tell catarrh by the following well known signs :—

Eyes red and watery ?
Difficulty in breathing ?
Are the nostrils stuffy ?
Do you sneeze frequently ?
Is your throat hoarse ?
Do you spit phlegm ?
Oppression in the chest ?
A ringing in the ears ?

If you have any of these indications of catarrh cure the trouble now—stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes—then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhozone," a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medication on every spot that's tainted by catarrhal germs.

There can be no failure with Catarrhozone—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "No one can know better than I the enormous benefit one gets from very first day's use of Catarrhozone," writes T. T. Hopkins, of Westvale, P.Q. "I had for years a stubborn case of Bronchial Catarrh, ear noises, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhozone cured quickly."

Get Catarrhozone, use it and you are sure of cure—beware of imitations and substitutes. Large size Catarrhozone with hard rubber inhaler lasts two months and is guaranteed. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c. By mail.

OUR BANKS IN LONDON.

The Dominion Bank is to open a branch in London on July 1st. That is not a bad way to celebrate Dominion Day, says the News. The other Canadian banks which have branches of their own in the Imperial capital are the Bank of Montreal, the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the Royal Bank, the Union Bank and the Bank of British North America. Most of the chartered institutions rely on their agents in the Old Country, but more and more the tendency will be to have offices of their own at the world's centre.

Canada is financially dependent upon Great Britain and already has borrowed upwards of two billions of dollars in London. As the country's crops increase in size, there will be a growing need of enlisting the aid of British banks in moving the grain to its European market. Our banks have been and are largely instrumental in financing in England huge railway and other transportation enterprises that have contributed fundamentally to the country's progress. The more the individual Canadian understands the economic position of his own country the more clearly he must recognize the vital importance of closer connection with the Mother Land.

PRISON LABOR REWARDS.

In suggesting that the Ontario prisoners should be used to improve the roads of the province, The Ottawa Journal recently told of the road work done by the state prisoners of Kansas. In the United States, not only Kansas, but Washington and several other States, have instituted many miles of excellent roadways by prison labor, with beneficial results all around.

In Utah recently a road 500 miles in length was constructed from the Idaho to the Arizona State lines. The work employed a hundred men, for several months. Only a very few guards were employed, the men—some of them desperate prisoners—made no attempt to escape, and so pleased were all concerned at the result of the experiment that the state prisoners in future will be very generally employed at this work.

One point Utah discovered in supervising this work was the advisability of a system of reward for the workmen prisoners. Men working without salary died as prisoners can hardly be expected to show the diligence of the ordinary gang of laborers. Yet this was accomplished by offering the prisoners what practically amounted to a day off their sentences, for each day of honest labor performed. The result of this offer was the completion of the work in the same time as it could have been done by day labor or contract.

Ontario in the success of her prison farming experiment of last summer, paved the way for an extension of outdoor prison labor. The knowledge of all travellers, and the timely experience of the Ghidden tour participator motor car on Ontario roads, demonstrates how great is the need for more road work than is now being done. The present progressive management of the Ontario prison system should certainly extend its good work by trying, as Americans States have done, the plan that they have found to merit so great a benefit.

WILL DISCUSS MIXED MARRIAGES

Quebec, May 8.—Some interesting questions are to come before the coming session of the Diocesan Synod of the Anglican Church, which meets here on June 6th.

Among the notices of motion given is one by the dean to the effect that a committee to consist of three clergymen and three laymen be appointed to prepare a memorial to be sent to the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada, at its next session on the subject of mixed marriages and the grave danger which threatens the whole community if the civil courts are allowed to annul marriages which have been solemnized in strict accordance with the laws of the land.

Another motion by Rev. H. A. Dickson is to the effect that the synod take such steps as may be considered necessary to maintain for the clergy of the Church of England in Canada civil rights with those of the clergy of any other religious body in Canada and the validity of the marriages they perform.

DISCRIMINATES AGAINST BRITAIN.

Serious Effect Reciprocity Will Have on Favored Nation Principle.

London, May 8.—Henry Chaplain, the veteran tariff reformer contributes a long letter to The Times with the object of showing the serious effect which the reciprocity agreement between Canada and the United States will have on the favored nation principle.

The point of his argument is that the British people will have to recognise that the development of a system of reciprocity between Canada and the United States must inevitably entail a system of joint discrimination against British goods, and that Canada will find herself compelled to extend the advantages conceded to the United States to twelve or thirteen other powers which have given her nothing in return.

Mr. Chaplain considers that the simplest and best remedy would be the resumption by this country of her former power of negotiation by the prompt adoption and negotiation of a tariff of her own.

The Original and Only Genuine

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

How Would You Like to Have Your Savings Earn the Running Expenses?

Sounds Good, Don't It?

Most Too Good to Be True

We Can Do That for You

Right now there are over 3,000,000 people in the great north-west relying strictly on Canned Fruits and Vegetables. They are a necessity. The people MUST have them.

Right now there are TONS and TONS of the best fruits and vegetables that Mother Earth produces going to waste every season in the Okanagan Valley and with the steady influx of settlers in the valley coming to till the fertile soil it is simply natural that the products will doubly increase.

What's to become of this increase with a 40 per cent. waste staring the growers in their very eyes right now ?

JUST MORE WASTE, THAT'S ALL. That is, unless a feasible remedy is immediately adopted.

CANNERIES ARE THE REMIDY

Now, then, we have the Cannery situation to a point where we will step right in, take ALL the products the grower can supply and besides converting that gigantic waste into a yearly gain offer an incentive for a still greater output.

THE OKANAGAN CANNERS, LTD., are a co-operative institution.

Not only do we ask the fruit grower to join issues with us to protect his own industry, but invite keen investigation from the investing public.

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners, Ltd., from doing the same ?

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—sight of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

Now, then, be up and thinking.

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when chances like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

Although capitalised at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

This is a gilt-edged bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

Prospectus can be had at Times office, Peterborough, or Head Office, Vancouver, B. C.

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Our Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Wesley A. Blair, cashier of the Vancouver Customs, is one of the most trusted men in Canada and handles on an average of $30 000.00 every commercial day of the year for the Dominion Government.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

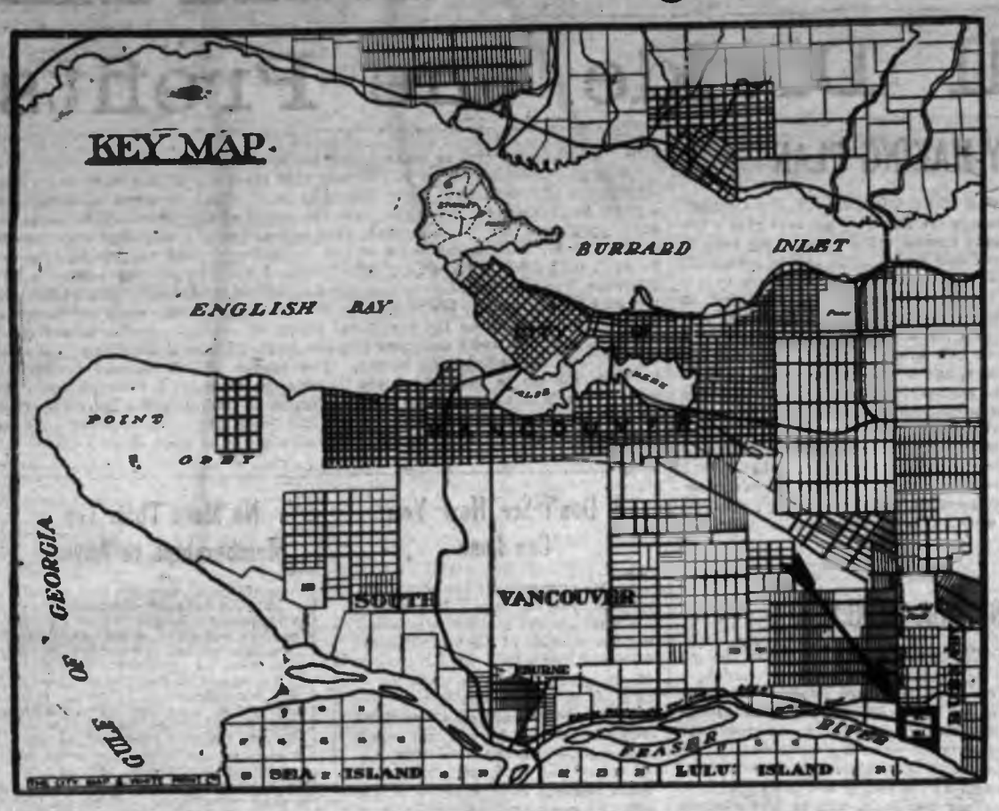
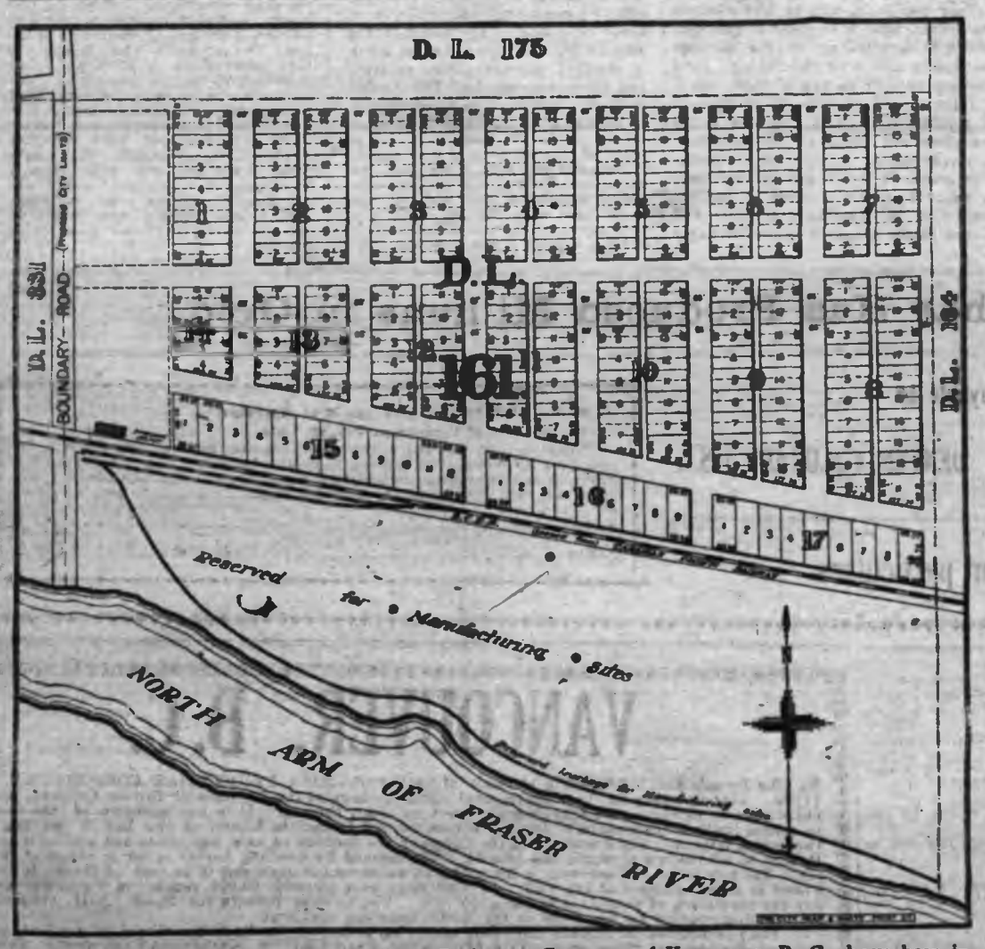
AGENT FOR PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT, FOR B. & B. CO., CALGARY.

Notice to the Citizens of Peterborough

Great Opportunity to Purchase Vancouver Building Lots





The undersigned, representing the Scott Brokerage Company of Vancouver, B. C., have been instructed to dispose of a quantity of valuable Real Estate, situated in the City of Vancouver. This property is very valuable, and is certain to increase in value very rapidly. The lots sell for prices ranging from $450 each, upwards, with only a small deposit down.

$50 invested in a Lot in D. L. 161 means $50.00 judiciously invested, because the price is low, the terms easy, the lots are all cleared and ready for building. All the Roads to the property are open. The Car Service is good, as the Tramline runs through the property. Electric Light and Water are available. An indefeasible title is guaranteed to every Lot. However the real intrinsic value of property is determined by its surroundings, its existing and possible industrial developments and density of population, in short the visible means of inducements for rapid advances in values. We will show you that District Lot 161 has all these attributes.

RESIDENCES

Varying from $1,000 to $30,000 in value surround D. L. 161. A $30,000 Mansion adjoins it on the east side while a $5,000 residence is under construction on the northwest side.

INDUSTRIES

The Dominion Carbolaneum Works, a plant in full operation was installed at the initial cost of $75,000.00 and adjoins District Lot 161 on the Southwest side. The Waterfrontage is all reserved for additional Manufacturing Sites.

FOR THE SUM OF $135,000

A St. Louis Car Corporation purchased a Factory Site in D. L. 163 and 165 on the Southeast side of D. L. 161. It was announced on February 24th, 1911, that work would commence shortly. The plant is to cost $2,000,000. The British Columbia Electric Railway Company established at an enormous cost an elaborate siding on D. L. 161 for the purpose of loading and discharging merchandise, and a commodious depot will be here erected soon. The North Arm of the Fraser River adds a high commercial asset to a lot in D. L. 161. Already Steamers are wending their way up and down the stream. In order that large ocean liners may have egress to the proposed fresh water harbors "near D. L. 161" the Dominion Government has definitely decided to proceed with the dredging of the North Arm of the Fraser River. When this is completed a lot in D. L. 161 will not only double but treble in value.

TENDERS TO BUILD NAVY SHOW CLOSE COMPETITION

Montreal, May 8.—Mr. G. W. Farrell, financial agent of the shipbuilding firm of Wm. Beardmore & Co., Glasgow, who are tendering in connection with Mr. Hugh Russell, of Montreal for the construction of six cruisers and four destroyers for the Canadian navy, has returned from London and Paris.

Discussing the respective chances of several tenderers for the ships, which are to cost in the neighborhood of fifteen million dollars, Mr. Farrell said that he understood that there was little difference in the amounts of the several tenders.

While in London Mr. Farrell found that the capitalists there were quite well acquainted with the different Canadian securities and values in general, and as a matter of fact, they appeared to pay more attention to the propositions than the men behind them. He said that a strong trust company was now being organized in London with a large capital for the purpose of investment in the Dominion.

In Paris, Mr. Farrell found the investing public, although extremely conservative and cautious, looking to Canada as the country of the future.

FATHER RESISTS AN ATTEMPT TO PUT HIS 15-YEAR-OLD SON IN LEPER COLONY

Pawtucket, R.I., May 8.—With a cordon of police thrown about the house where the stricken boy lay, there was to-day indication of a legal struggle between the authorities and Edward P. Sheridan, father of a 15-year-old boy who has been found suffering from leprosy. The father is determined to have the child isolated in his home, while the city physicians have determined that the boy should be placed in the leper colony, Penikis Island.

The Public school attended by the boy, which was closed when the nature of his malady was discovered, was re-opened to-day. Only a few children reported, although the authorities declare that there was not the slightest danger of infection.

COUNTRY WILL TAKE ON ASPECT OF GENERAL ELECTION CONTEST

Ottawa, May 8.—With reciprocity shelved for the time being and an adjournment definitely decided upon, the next two weeks in the House will be devoted to legislation of a nature largely non-contentious, and it is expected that considerable progress will be made.

The Government's grain bill has now passed the Senate in a form so amended as to meet any objections but the question is so vital in the West that it is bound to give rise to considerable discussion in the House. Further amendments are likely to be proposed.

Then there is the railway legislation including, it is expected, Government announcement respecting the Hudson Bay Railway and the Intercolonial extensions, supply for different departments and various other matters. There is quite enough of business to keep the House steadily at it for two or three weeks, even putting aside such matters as are contentious.

THEY WILL SAIL AWAY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Frederick Borden and Mr. Brodeur leave on Thursday to attend the Imperial Conference. They will sail from Montreal the following day by the Virginian. The leadership of the House will devolve upon Mr. Fielding. The Nova Scotia members, including the take part in the Provincial elections Conservative leader, are preparing to in that Province, where dissolution is expected any day.

Federal and Provincial issues are bound to be intermingled in the contest and it is said that one reason for delaying dissolution is due to waiting for the Dominion Government's policy respecting extension of the Intercolonial Railway through Halifax and Guysboro Counties.

SUMMER CAMPAIGN.

Both sides are preparing for a summer campaign on reciprocity and the country promises to take on the aspect of a regular election. There is no doubt that the subsequent course of events here will be influenced very materially by what is learned upon contact between the people and their representatives. While the members are away, tons of campaign literature will be sent out by both sides. It consists mainly of arguments respecting reciprocity.

The sessional staff are on pins and needles as to whether they will be paid during recess. Ordinarily at Christmas and Easter they are paid, but there is no precedent for such a long adjournment and they must be relieved from duty. Many of them are accustomed to obtain regular employment elsewhere outside the session and it is contended that they will now be unable to secure it for so short a period as two months.

AN ELECTION NEXT FALL.

The general outlook is for quiet business like sittings in the next two weeks. After adjournment will come the real test of strength and there appears to be an undercurrent of opinion that it is very likely to eventuate in a general election this fall.

WOMAN SHOT HUSBAND WHO PLANNED TO DESERT HER

New York, May 8.—Mrs. Francis O'Shaughnessy, a frail slip of a woman, twenty-four years old, and over from Ireland only since September, 1909, shot her husband, George, in the heart on Saturday. As the body lay half on the bed and half hanging over the side she kissed the lips, then walked out of their room at No. 83 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street. She met patrolman Clerke and calmly said to him: "I've killed my husband and I want you to take me where I will be punished."

Sitting by the side of Bridget Marren, the grey-haired matron of the police station, Mrs. O'Shaughnessy told the story of her few months of happiness, her few weeks of anguish, after she learned her husband loved another; her few hours of doubt whether she should not kill herself, then the killing of him, and the climax of the kiss upon the cooling lips of him who was even then the sole object of her love.

KNEW SOMETHING WAS WRONG.

"We had planned to go back to Ireland," said she, "and I'd been saving up for the fare, for we wanted the child that was to come to be true Irish. Then, too, I wanted to get him away from the woman that was taking him from me. I thought if only I could get him back to the green hills, his love would return to me.

"I'd known for two weeks that things were not right, and last night when he came home I saw him put a bundle of letters under his pillow. After he'd left the house this morning, I found the letters there. Some I saved, and some I burned, for they were no letters that a wife could read or let any one else read.

"I had cried all night, for though he had promised me he'd come to me in England, I felt that other woman still held him. This morning, by her letters, I found he'd planned to come to me in England, desert me and return to the woman

"After breakfast I went to the house of Mrs. Simeon Ford, at No. 43 West 74th street, where I used to work. They let me go up stairs to see Mrs. Ford, and I remembered the bureau where a revolver was always kept. I went in and slipped the revolver into my bag and then I saw Mrs. Ford.

"When I got home George asked me if I'd found his letters. I told him I had, and asked him if what they told was all true. He said it was, and I need never hope to see him again, as he was going away with the other woman.

"I thought of the never-ending purgatory if I shot myself; then I thought that if I killed him I might be forgiven in time, and, anyway, I could pay the punishment of man, if not the punishment of God. I pulled the pistol out of my bag and shot him. He fell back on the bed. I kissed him and went out to find a policeman.

WANTS EARLY PUNISHMEET.

"I want to be punished for what I did, and I want the punishment to come before the child comes."

Dry-eyed she talked, did the little Irish woman who had just killed her husband, but the flood-gates opened at the end. Her voice trailed away into nothingness and her head fell on the shoulders of the weeping Mrs. Marren.

Assistant District Attorney Stickney came to the station with James Hammill, chief stenographer of District Attorney Whitman's staff. Mrs. O'Shaughnessy repeated to them her story, then they forgot they were officials, and as plain men they shook hands with the woman who had killed her husband.

She was Miss Frances McDonald when she landed in America. On April 17th, 1910, she was married to O'Shaughnessy in St. Cecelia's church She had known him in County Clare.

Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, who is in the tombs, has made arrangements through Matron O'Brien for the burial of her husband's body. She does not care what becomes of herself; the single request she has made of the authorities since arrested is that she may be permitted to attend the funeral.

NEW SORT OF LEGAL "MANIA."

The trial of Mrs. O'Shaughnessy is already giving great interest to the lawyers and it is said that a new sort of legal "mania" may be created to fit her case. That the intensity of her religious feeling had passed beyond the normal is admitted by everyone. Her belief that to kill herself would bring an eternity of punishment, while to kill her husband would mean but an extended period in Purgatory, cannot be accepted in court as a valid excuse for her act, but according to eminent criminal lawyers, it probably will constitute the foundation of an argument that she was mentally irresponsible when she killed her husband.

FURTHER PAYMENTS REQUIRED

The First $5.00 Pays In All

THIS IS TO BE A QUICK-ACTION PROPOSITION. You pay $5.00 with your subscription. That is all. You will be called upon for no more. This membership entitles you to a vote in all the affairs of the syndicate, and to participate pro rata in all the benefits. It is a small amount, but I don't need very much to accomplish all I am going to try for. I made the price $5.00 so as to allow everyone to get in. In order to keep any one individual from acquiring control I have limited the subscription of any one person to no more than ten memberships. We are all going to get the same fair, square deal. There are to be no favorites and no special privileges. When money enough has been raised to do the work the members will be notified, and THEY will decide whether it will be necessary or not to incorporate a company and, if so, for how much. THEY will elect their own officers and direct the affairs of the company. I will have no time to fool away in doing office work. I am a miner, not a bookkeeper, and as soon as I get this thing organized the officers of the company will have to dictate the business policy. Now it is not very often that you have an opportunity of investing as small an amount as $5.00, and especially where it has such splendid chances for making a big profit in a short time. It can't be beat, and the proposition offers more for the money than anything of its kind in the market. I want you to help me in this and I promise you won't be disappointed if you do.

THIS IS MY MONEY-MAKING PLAN

I have secured a lease on the famous EMMA MINE OF EMPIRE, COLORADO. I used to work in this mine, and I know there is ore there. I feel sure that a few dollars expended in developing the vein already opened will give us a big body of rich ore. I am the man to do it. Of course I will need a little help in a financial way. I am organizing a syndicate to handle this proposition. I invite you to join me. We will all club in together and push the development work as hard and as fast as possible, and as the ore is taken out and marketed we will divide the profits. Membership in this syndicate will be sold for $5.00 each and no more than ten will be sold to any one individual. I will own no more myself. I am determined to make this a small investor's enterprise, and it will be run by the membership holders and for their benefit alone. The amount is so small that anyone can afford to go in, and I am so sure in my own mind that it will be a success—a big success, and earn enormous profits for us—that I am willing to go back to the camp, take off my coat and go in and work from early in the morning until late at night to get the ore opened up and ready for the mill. I am satisfied that we can produce results in less than a year. All I want you to do is to let me have your immediate subscription for one or more memberships, and I will buy a stock of powder, go back to the mine and get to work. May I count upon your co-operation?

Something About Myself

I am a practical mining man; have had years of experience in the business, and have never made a failure of anything I have taken up. For over four years I have worked in the mines in and about Empire, Colorado. Being familiar with the location of the mineral veins of this district, knowing the character of the ores, etc., I have been on the lookout for a good property that I could operate under lease for some time. It was only recently that I found the big lead veins in the famous Emma mine, and I immediately took action in an effort to secure a long-time lease from the company owning the property. Well, to make a long story short, after a deal of negotiating I was successful and secured a lease on this splendid property which runs until 1916. The company was anxious to have a certain amount of development work done and I was lucky enough to catch them at just the right time and secured just what I wanted. This is the proposition I am now inviting you to join me in—the development of this lease on the RICH EMMA MINE.

The Small Investor's Opportunity

Usually a small investor has but little show to earn more than a very ordinary profit on his investment. I conceived the idea of making this a company of small investors. Just a few of my friends, and their friends. I am so confident of the outcome that I am taking no more big capital in with me, and instead of having a company controlled and dominated by a few big stockholders, I want to make it more of a family affair. We will all put in a small amount. With the money thus subscribed I will begin work at the mine and, following the present vein, I am sure I will be able to cut the big American lode within a distance of a few hundred feet. If my plans are successful I will be into a big ore body in less than three months, and that means a small fortune for us all. There are all kinds of tools at the mine to work with except, perhaps, a power drill, and that will be one of the first things that I will buy. After that it will be easy to drive the tunnel, and I expect to make good progress.

QUICK RETURNS ON YOUR MONEY

THIS IS THE DAY OF QUICK ACTION. No man wants his money tied up in a proposition that only has a promise of paying out in the sweet bye and bye. Get your money in and your profits out. That is my idea, and I think I am right. I feel pretty sure that I can give you your money back and your share of the earnings inside of a year. Possibly sooner. In any event, you may be assured that I will not delay a minute longer than is necessary. I want my share as soon as I can get it, and you will get yours at the same time. I believe that these memberships will be snapped up in a hurry, and so I advise you to not delay your order. Better be a little early than too late. Your certificate will be forwarded to you upon receipt of your order and remittance. There will be no delay at this end. Frequent reports will be sent to the membership holders telling of the development at the mine, and if you have any suggestions to offer send them along. I am a miner, a practical miner, and know the business as well as any of them, but I am not fool enough to think I know it all. I am always anxious and willing to learn, so if you think you can give me any pointers that will help me I will thank you to let me have them. Now I have given you about all the important details in regard to the proposition. It is now your move. If you want something in an investment that looks a little bit better and a little bit quicker than anything else on the market, I want to hear from you. If you are a pessimist, and believe that you are doing well enough, you will just be wasting your time and mine in writing to me. Otherwise, clip and send in the attached coupon to-day—NOW. I will do my best to make money for both of us.

A large amount of rich ore has already been taken out of this mine, and a nice little streak of it is in sight now. The mine is all wired for electrical power and a power line passes only a few feet from the portal of the tunnel. Give me an electric power drill and I will go after that vein of ore in a way that will surprise the membership holders, and there will be no fooling around waiting for this, or for that, BUT I WILL PRODUCE RESULTS. I have to get my profits in this enterprise from the same source that you do: FROM THE ORE PRODUCED, and you may be assured that I will not lay around doing nothing until our money is all used up. Opening up the pay streak means as much to me as to any other membership holder: and I am going into the proposition to make it pay. If nothing unforseen occurs I will do it, too. Our profits should be very substantial, for there will not be many to divide the earnings among. I know all about the veins of ore in this camp; I know the character of the ore, and I know the quickest way to reach the ore bodies. If you will come into the proposition with me now, when I need your co-operation, I will give you your share of all I take out.

I Don't See How You Can Lose

In this proposition I honestly don't see how you can lose. In the first place the amount invested is so small and the promise of big profits so exceptional that only a small amount of ore would have to be produced to at least get your money back. But if I thought getting my money back would be the best I could do I would not waste a minute's time on it. In other parts of this mine former operators took out large amounts of ore, and they never acquired any depth to speak of. Now, every miner in the Empire District knows that as depth is attained the ore bodies enlarge, and the values increase. The American lode that I have mentioned before is known to be very rich, and from on top of the hill, just a little ways north of this property, it dips directly towards me and down into the mountain. I think by driving the tunnel straight in that we will cut it in less than 200 feet. The vein now uncovered in the tunnel is evidently a stringer of the American lode.

No More Than Ten Memberships to Anyone

A square deal, fairness and equality for all. An honest disbursement of the syndicate's funds. Those are the principles and basis standards of this enterprise. I am going in on the same basis as yourself. If I make any big money out of the proposition I will have to get it from the same source that you do—THE EARNINGS FROM THE MINE. I will only own ten memberships, the limit for any one individual, and when the proposition is financed the membership holders shall say whether or not we shall incorporate. If so, for how much; and they shall elect their own officers from among their own number. The enterprise shall belong to the membership holders and they shall run it to suit themselves. All I want to do is work the mine. That is as much or more than one man can attend to properly, and I don't want to be bothered with any office work. Now, my friends, if you have faith in me and my proposition, I want your co-operation, and I will ask you to send me your subscription. If you haven't, you won't do me any good and I can't do anything for you.

ELEPHANT WOULDN'T PLAY

Recognized in the Piano Keys Its Mother's Tusks

The other day an itinerant circus announced, as the chief attraction on its programme, a performing elephant who, amongst other accomplishments, played the piano. The hour of the performance arrived; the docile animal was led into the arena and conducted to an open piano, when suddenly he wheeled round, uttering lugubrious cries. After a brief consternation with the elephant's valet, the proprietor of the show came forward and said that until another piano could be procured that part of the programme could not be carried out. The elephant, a most sympathetic and affectionate creature, had recognized in the ivory keys of the instrument the tusks of its mother!

THE CHAMPION COW

The champion milch cow of the world is now supposed to be Chief Josephine, the prize cow of the University of Missouri. Eight months ago the keepers of the animal began a race for the record of one year. In the time that has elapsed since the start her milk yield has been greater by 2,160 pounds than that of any other cow that has ever lived. Josephine's daily yield has been 30 pounds. Her best record for a single day is 110.2 pounds. The cost of feeding her is about 35 cents a day.

PARLIAMENT REFRESHMENTS

How the late Parliament refreshed itself is told in the report just issued of the Select Committee appointed to control such arrangements. From February 15th to August 3rd, 94,600 meals were served, made up as follows: 15,163 breakfasts, 27,502 dinners, 216 suppers, 46,766 teas, and 5,377 meals at the bar. The receipts amounted to $60,000. There was spent on provisions ($36,000); cigars, ($3,200); wines, etc. ($11,000.

CORONATION DIAMONDS

The coronation of King George will see the Cullinan diamond take its place among the Crown regalia for the first time. Since it was quite impossible to cut this wonderful stone as a whole, it was split into two main portions, each of which is considerably larger than any other diamond the world has ever seen. The larger of the two has just been placed in the centre of the front of the crown that the King will wear next June.

TO DEVELOP INTELLIGENCE

A New Left-Handed Movement Has Been Started

A movement has been started in Germany for the cultivation of ambidexterity. The idea is that developing the power to use both hands equally well means developing the intelligence in general and the memory in particular. It is said to have been scientifically ascertained that while right-handed people have the organs of speech on the left side of the brain, and vice versa, people who are ambidexterous have two language centres, one in each lobe of the brain. The infant begins life with two speech centres, but as the right hand is generally trained, and the left neglected, the right speech centre gradually grows torpid and useless. The extraordinary claim is now made that by the cultivation of the left hand the capacity of the right speech centre of the brain can be revived, and to that extent broaden the intelligence as ambidexterity increases the use of the human being's hand. Instances are quoted by supporters of the movement in which practising the left hand has restored a power of speech until then paralysed. One patient in question was stricken by paralysis of the left organs of speech, and with the paralysis of the right hand. The doctors started teaching the patient to write with the left hand, with the astonishing result that in a short time the power of speech was awakened in the hitherto torpid organ of speech. An even more astonishing case was that of a boy, who, at the age of 12, lost his left hand, and soon learned to do fairly well with an artificial member. At the age of 20 he suffered a stroke of paralysis, which robbed him of the power of speech, but by means of a small ring with a pen attached to it, fixed to the artificial limb, he could practise writing, and thus not only recovered power over his original speech, but over French and Russian, which he had forgotten. As a matter of fact, ambidexterity is necessary in several professions and occupations, of which surgery and piano-playing may be given as examples.

BALMORAL

King George is as fond of Scotland as was his grandmother, Queen Victoria, before him, and loses sportsman as he is, says the Countrywoman, enjoys shooting and fishing nowhere so much as on Deeside. His children, too, are all devoted to Scotland, and it will be a great change for them, after having always stayed at Ashridge, to be housed at Balmoral. The late King and Queen did so much for the castle that it needs no putting in order. The rooms and rollowish paint that disfigured the passages, yet satisfied Queen Victoria, was made to go, and Balmoral, all white, and rose, and green, the colors believed in jurisprudence by Francis Bacon, and adopted by Queen Alexandra in many of her schemes of decoration, hardly knew itself.

"So Sam's started, eh?" queried the nearest neighbor.

"Started! I should say so. Why, didn't he go inter town yesterday an' blow in half a dollar for a toothbrush."

This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operations of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business. It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $3,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

Low Water in Lakes.

Minden Echo: We have been informed on good authority that there will be no great rush of water this year, as a result of the melting snow. In fact the lakes out north are not full, and the snow is all gone. There was no frost in the ground, and much of the water was taken up by absorption. The creeks are low and unless rains make up the deficiency the water will be practically all gone when the drives are through.

The lawn bowlers are gain in line, the grounds being in good shape.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

CONVICTS HAUNT HOUSE

A Ghost Story From an Australian Township

Just a hundred years ago, outside one small Australian township, now the capital of one of the States, a clearing had been made, and the work of building a large residence was in hand. The Government official in charge of the convicts who were employed to do the work, was most inhuman in his treatment of his laborers. Hampered as they were by their heavy chains, which bound one to another, they might work as hard as they could, but they never satisfied him.

He was a sullen, cruel tyrant, and on the slightest excuse, and sometimes absolutely without provocation, he would order the convicts to chain one of their fellow-prisoners to a tree, and then compel them to watch while he thrashed the helpless man with a leather-thonged whip. Fatigue alone would stop the inhuman brute from wielding the lash.

At last the house was finished, and was tenanted for the first time. But these occupants soon left, and no one since has remained for long; for the anguished cries of the tortured man and the sounds of their clanking chains haunt the house, sounding out in the stillness of the night at irregular periods, and proving more than a match for the most strong-minded man or woman. To-day that great house stands desolate, haunted by the restless spirits of those men who were tortured in the building of it.

New C.G.E. Building.

The construction of another fine building for the C. G. E. Co., has been begun. This building will be used for the new lamp department. It will make a substantial and imposing addition to the Company's splendid array of buildings already in existence.

THE NEAREST STAR

Is Alpha Centauri, but It Is Quite a Distance Away

Alpha Centauri, a conspicuously bright point of light in the constellation of the Centaur, is the nearest to our own world of all the stars. Not only so, but it is the nearest by a colossal span. The next in distance from the earth, a faint star known as 61 Olygni, is almost twice as remote. So in the great company of the stars we must regard Alpha Centauri as, comparatively speaking, close at home. Yet, neighbor as it is, its distance is such that it is very difficult to convey to the mind any really adequate idea.

Light, everyone realises, travels at some incredibly fast pace. It can be accurately measured, and it is found to traverse a distance of 186,300 miles in a single second of time. Even at such a speed, the light leaving Alpha Centauri takes three years to reach the earth. If the star were suddenly blotted out from its place in the sky, three whole years would pass before we became aware of the loss. The star is 275,000 times more distant from our solar system than is the sun from the earth. In other words, to reach Alpha Centauri, the nearest star, would require a measuring rod twenty-five million millions of miles in length.

Professor Todd has suggested an ingenious method for realising such vast distances. Imagine the solar system—the sun, and all the planets circling round it—as represented by the dot over this letter i. Even the sun itself, on this exceedingly reduced scale, could not be detected with the most powerful microscope ever made, or dreamed of. But on the same scale, the vast circle having the sun as its centre and reaching to Alpha Centuri would be represented by the longest circle that could be drawn on the floor of a room ten feet square.

A NEW ENDORSEMENT

"I want this cheque cashed," said a fair young matron at the window of the paying teller.

"Yes, madam. You must endorse it first," exclaimed the teller.

"Why, my husband sent it to me! He is away on business," she said.

"Yes, madam. Just endorse it—sign it on the back so we will know, and your husband will know, that we paid it to you."

She went to the desk and in a few moments presented the cheque triumphant, having written on its back, "Your loving wife, Edith"!

BETTER LEFT UNSAID

Scene: A wedding breakfast.

Mr. Muddlehead (who has been asked to propose the health of the bridesmaids, thinks he sees an opportunity of distinguishing himself in his character of a would-be wit): "In conclusion, ladies and gentlemen, allow me to express the fervent hope that the charming sisters of the bride—the Misses Green—may be evergreens."

Great laughter and applause, and Mr. Muddlehead sits down, a wiser, though not a happier man.

There are many complaints being made regarding the dust. It is understood, however, that oil is being procured as rapidly as possible.

AN IRON ISLE

Discovery of Ore on Sassay, an Island Near Skye

A new mining centre may be opened up as a result of the discovery of iron ore in the little island of Rassay, which lies between Skye and the mainland of Scotland. The island covers an area of about twenty-eight square miles. The investigations, it is said, have been so satisfactory that a Scotch steel firm has secured an option for the purchase of the entire island. It is believed that recent developments have been considered sufficiently important to justify the erection of blast furnaces for the smelting of ore. The discovery may mean extensive employment for the inhabitants of Rassay, the adjoining Isle of Skye, and the mainland of Ross-shire. Skilled labor will be in demand, but a certain proportion of unskilled labor will also be required.

SOLDIER AND SCULPTOR

Adrian Jones Understands a Horse From Tail Tip to Nostril

It is said of Captain Adrian Jones, who has designed the four-horse war chariot, weighing upwards of thirty tons, which is to be erected in London as a memorial to "Peace," that he is probably the only living sculptor who understands a horse from tail-tip to nostril. As a boy he loved and studied horses, and would have liked to become an artist, but his father had other plans, and he entered the Army. He saw much active service, and was then advised to become a sculptor, having devoted most of his spare time when in the Army to painting and sculpture.

ONE MAN, SEVENTEEN VOTES

What a champion pluralist was the Rev. Washbourne West, a late Senior Fellow of Lincoln College, Oxford, who in 1892, at the age of eighty, recorded seventeen votes in different parts of the country and still left half-a-dozen unused. A hundred and twenty votes in four years was Mr. West's achievement; and very proud he was of it, as he more than once told his friends. His only regret was that he could not live to make it two centuries. He recorded eight of his 1892 votes in two consecutive days at places as far apart as Sevenoaks and Mid-Oxford. But this feat was beaten by the seventy-year-old Mr. W. J. Haywood, of Herne Hill, who, at a recent election actually voted in six county constituencies in one day, covering something like 250 miles in his motor-car.

A TRAGIC SIGHT

Mr. Asquith in speaking recently in Edinburgh said: "One of the most tragic sights in our town life is that of a boy sitting in the tail-end of a van reading some trashy story, rapidly graduating, as soon as his present precarious and short-lived occupation comes to an end, for a place in the unemployable. For years past this has been the darkest blot and the most fatal gap in our educational system."

VANCOUVER

THE METROPOLIS OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Where fortunes are being made by investment, which cannot be equalled anywhere else in Canada. The position that Vancouver occupies, the same on the Pacific, as Montreal occupies on the Atlantic, also the fact that Vancouver is an open port the whole year round, means beyond a possible doubt, that Vancouver will be the greatest city in the Dominion.

Vancouver is the only gateway to the Orient from the whole of Canada, which demonstrates that this will be the greatest Canadian shipping port, owing to the enormous development of western Canada. This together with the fact that the immense wealth of the natural resources of the province of British Columbia, its timber, fisheries, fruit, coal and other minerals, must make it clear, that you can invest your money here to better advantage than elsewhere.

Vancouver offers to-day, the opportunity of a life time for both the small and the large investor, and if you will act on our advice we will positively guarantee to make returns for you that will surprise you. We have a reputation that we are proud of, and can furnish the very best references. Do not delay, write us at once.

County Maps.

The Times has almost ready for delivery a very fine wall map of the united counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengary. This map is printed in four colors, and will supply a long felt want. Last year we issued a very fine map of Victoria County and also one of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham. Copies of any of these maps may be had at The Times office.

Post office employees throughout the country no doubt feel quite jubilant these days, as they are to get an increase in their salaries. The Peterborough P. O. staff are earning it.

Lift Lock Now Open.

The lift lock was opened yesterday for the season, and works like a charm.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

SOME SMOKE

Mistress (to maid):—"I understand that you had company yesterday afternoon, Mary. Who was it?"

Mary:—"Only my Aunt Nelly mum."

Mistress:—"Well, when you see her again, Mary, kindly tell her that she left her tobacco-pouch and matches on the piano."

VERY GOOD REASON

Two young men were lunching together when one of them mentioned a mutual acquaintance.

"Brown is a good fellow, no doubt," said the other a little stiffly, "but somehow or other he never appealed to me."

"I suppose he knew it wouldn't be any use," murmured the first speaker. "You are equally broke!"

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Should Be Looked Into.

Our old friend, Mr. Wm. Snowdon, writes The Times in regard to the poor grade of oil which is being used on the streets. Mr. Snowdon's letter appears elsewhere, and speaks for itself. This should be looked into without delay, and we are sure it is only necessary to call the Mayor's attention to it to have the matter investigated.

When a medicine must be given to young children, it should be pleasant to take. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is made from loaf sugar, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it pleasant to take. It has no superior for colds, croup and whooping cough. For sale by all dealers.

"Nerviline" Cures Rheumatism

And Here is the Proof—A Solemn Statement From a Four Years' Cripple, Who Says "Nerviline" Did It.

"If I had lived through my sufferings another year it would have been a miracle." This is the opening sentence of the declaration made by Mr. J. Enslee Squires, member of one of the best known families for twenty miles round Sydney. "My hands were drawn out of shape, even my fingers were gnarled and crooked—my helplessness, stiffness and inability to get about at all showed the havoc Rheumatism made with my health. The blessing of it all is that I have heard of Nerviline, and now I am able to tell and advise others how they may get well, too. My system was so weakened that I had to build up with a good tonic, so I took Ferrozone at meals. But I never stopped rubbing on Nerviline—it had a magic influence on my stiff, painful joints, and bottle after bottle was rubbed on the painful parts. Nerviline cured me. I am well today—have been well for 4½ years."

CURED IN 4½ YEARS

You also can cure rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia or any pain or stiffness in the muscles or joints—to do so use Nerviline. Don't let your druggist substitute. Get Nerviline only; large bottles, 25c, or five for $1.00; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Trip to Springville.

The members of St. Paul's church guild, to the number of about 50, drove out to Springville on Monday evening, where they were the guests of the Young People's Society of the Springville Presbyterian Church. Perrie, chairman; Miss Dawson, solo; Miss Walker, reading; Harry Cook, mandolin solo; Allan Brown, reading; Miss M. White, solo; Miss L. Lamb, violin solo; R. Beavis, reading. After the concert refreshments were served and the visitors departed after receiving a hearty vote of thanks from the Springville Society for their visit, and for the splendid entertainment provided.

Away Went Fifteen Good Dollars.

While housecleaning yesterday a certain well known lady in the west end of the city, discarded an old pair of stockings, throwing them into the stove. With the stockings went fifteen good Canadian dollars, which she had carried in her stocking, but which the good lady forgot to remove before consigning the hosiery to the flames. The sad part of it is, she had been saving up to purchase a new summer hat.

Body Not Yet Recovered.

Mr. Am. Huffman met with a painful accident at the C.G.E. yesterday morning, when he got his left hand caught in the cogs of a wheel. The fingers were badly crushed and broken, the fourth being completely severed while the third had to be amputated when he was taken to the Nicholls Hospital. He may also lose the thumb. The remaining two fingers were broken.

Rushing the Grain Line.

Lindsay Post: Quite a number of the townspeople took advantage of the fine day yesterday, and went out to see how the new C. P. R. work, north of the town was progressing. The bridge across the river has not yet been begun, although some of the piers are laid. Owing to the C.P.R. track having to be about twenty or twenty-two feet above the G. T. R. the amount of filling in between the river and the G.T.R. and also slightly north of the G. T. R., will be something immense. This will mean that the track will run nearly sixty feet above the water.

OBITUARY

Arthur Greenwood.

A young man 18 years of age, passed away at Nicholls Hospital on Monday, the result of an operation. The deceased was born in Yorkshire, England, coming to Canada a year ago with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Greenwood, and brothers and sisters.

Of a bright and cheerful disposition he will be sadly missed by his many friends and acquaintances among the younger people of the city, and especially by the employees of the Brinton Carpet Factory, of which he was a trusted servant. The deceased was a member of the A.K. Bible Class of Knox Church, which he attended, although he was a member of the church of England.

The Times joins in extending its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved parents and family.

The funeral will take place at 1.30 this afternoon from 164 Lansdowne avenue to All Saints' church, and thence to Little Lake cemetery.

The Late Miss Alexander.

One by one the old residents of the city are disappearing. The latest being Miss Mary Alexander, who passed away yesterday, at the age of 72 years. The deceased lady was the daughter of the late James S. Alexander, of Stirling, Scotland, and was born in Otonabee. She always resided with her brother in Peterborough. Her only sister, Mrs. George Schneider, predeceased her about four years ago.

For over 50 years Miss Alexander was a resident of Peterborough. With her brother, Mr. Charles A. Alexander, they conducted a grocery and bakery business on the corner of London and George streets. The deceased lady suffered a stroke of paralysis a couple of years ago, and was confined to her home through its effects. A second attack which occurred yesterday morning proved fatal. She lived an exemplary life and was very much esteemed by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She attended St. John's Church.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from her late residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

VOL XXXIV NO 110 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, THURSDAY MAY 11 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

BISHOP O'CONNOR MAY GO TO LONDON AND REV. J. KIDD MAY BE APPOINTED TO SUCCEED HIM

Following the death at midnight of Archbishop McEvay, the question of his successor is already a topic in church circles. The most persistent report is that Bishop Fallon of London will be promoted to the vacant Archbishopric in Toronto, Bishop O'Connor to go from Peterborough to London, while Rev. John T. Kidd of Toronto, may be appointed Bishop of Peterborough. It was stated by a prominent Roman Catholic gentleman this morning, that the promotion of Bishop Fallon would be popular in Toronto.

LATE ARCHBISHOP M'EVAY FORMERLY LIVED IN THIS CITY

THE ARCHBISHOP'S CAREER IN BRIEF.

Born in Lindsay in 1856.
Educated in county schools, St. Michael's College, and Toronto University.
Took theological course at Grand Seminary in Montreal.
Ordained at Trenton in 1883 by late Archbishop Cleary.
Began duties as priest at Kingston.
Given charge of missions at Bobcaygeon, Galway and Fenelon Falls.
Made Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, in 1887.
Renovated Cathedral, bought site for hospital, and purchased houses for parochial use.
Transferred to Hamilton, as rector of Cathedral and private secretary to the bishop.
Appointed private chamberlain to the Pope.
Made Vicar-General of Hamilton in 1899.
Followed Bishop O'Connor as Bishop of London, 1900.
Appointed Archbishop of Toronto, May 22, 1909, on the death of Archbishop O'Connor.
Last public act was laying of corner stone of St. Augustine's Seminary, Kingston road, Oct. 23, 1910.
Eight new parishes opened during the three-year administration of Toronto diocese.
Catholic Church Extension Society established through his instrumentality.
Built new Archbishop's Palace on Earl Street.
Made addition to Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Sherbourne Street.

The late Archbishop McEvay, who passed away in Toronto early yesterday morning, spent his early years in Peterborough, where he made many friends and where his early education was secured. After being ordained to the priesthood, he became Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, and his great ability and earnest Christian ministry gained for him rapid promotion. During his active ministry, he had charge of the missions at Bobcaygeon, Galway and Fenelon Falls. While in the midst of these labors, Father McEvay went to Hamilton, where he occupied the dual position of secretary to the bishop, and rector of the cathedral. During his stay in Hamilton honors came to him from Rome. He was appointed private chamberlain to his holiness Pope Leo XIII., and later domestic prelate and vicar-general of the diocese.

But Archbishop McEvay seemed destined to follow in the wake of his predecessor in Toronto, for when the then Bishop O'Connor was called from London to the larger diocese in Toronto, Father McEvay was elevated to the Bishopric of London. On the 22nd of May, 1908, his further elevation to the Toronto diocese was announced by Bishop Dowling of Hamilton, the ex-senior Bishop of the Province of Canada. Archbishop McEvay was the sixth in the episcopal succession to the Toronto see, the first appointment being that of the Right Reverend Michael Power in 1841.

Archbishop McEvay was of a striking and forceful personality. He carried the dignity of his high office well. A profound scholar and clear thinker, he was nevertheless just and firm. Popular with all classes, his advent to Toronto was hailed with much pleasure, and among a wide circle his face will be missed.

DIRECT EVIDENCE FROM NOVA SCOTIA

NUMEROUS CASES OF KIDNEY DISEASE CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. Stillman Perry Adds His Experience to the Many That Have Given Rise to the General Statement, "There is no Case of Kidney Disease Dodd's Kidney Pills Cannot Cure."

Cape Negro Island, Shelburne Co., N. S., May 10 — (Special) — That Dodd's Kidney Pills are continuing to do grand work in Nova Scotia is evidenced on every side, and Cape Negro Island can provide direct testimony that there is no case of Kidney Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure. Among those who are talking in this strain is Mr. Stillman Perry. "Yes," Mr. Perry states, "I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills are all that is claimed for them. My son had trouble with his Kidneys. I sent for some Dodd's Kidney Pills and since taking them he has had no return of his trouble. They certainly did him good."

It is tales of this kind, heard on every side, that make for public faith in Dodd's Kidney Pills. People suffering from Kidney Disease have used Dodd's Kidney Pills and been cured. That's why from one end of Canada to the other it has become almost a national saying. "There is no case of Kidney Disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills cannot cure.

HON. ADAM BECK GIVES AN ADDRESS ON POWER BEFORE REPRESENTATIVE AUDIENCE

Peterborough's Natural Advantages Makes Her the Envy of Other Municipalities

Power for Domestic Use Could be Supplied in Peterborough at half It's Present Cost.

Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, addressed 150 or 175 representative citizens in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall last night on the vital question of power. Seated on the neatly decorated platform in company with the distinguished visitor, was Mayor Morrow, Judge Huyoke, ex-Mayor Kendry, the City Aldermen and President Gillespie of the Board of Trade.

The honorable gentleman's utterances claimed the undivided attention of his audience throughout, and his lucid review of the Hydro-Electric Commission's cheap power accomplishments in Ontario since its inception elicited enthusiastic applause. Mr. Beck is a clear and forcible speaker, who clinches his arguments in an irresistible and convincing manner. He spoke for about an hour and a half, and the citizens who had availed themselves of the opportunity of getting light on the question of power, had their expectations fully realized.

Both His Worship and Alderman Bradburn, the Council's power committee, committed themselves to taking this matter up energetically, with a view to securing for Peterborough power controlled by the municipality for the peoples' benefit.

THE MAYOR'S OPENING REMARKS.

His Worship Mayor Morrow opened the meeting with a brief but appropriate address as follows:

"Gentlemen,—

"I am highly gratified this evening to be able to welcome to Peterborough and introduce to you the Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, the Hon. Adam Beck. Mr. Beck's name is well known throughout this Province, and in this respect is second only to that of the Premier. We have been hearing and reading for a considerable time of what the Commission, of which Mr. Beck is the energetic and efficient Chairman, has been doing for Western Ontario, and we have read of what it has accomplished with appreciation and approbation. In fact, we were on the verge of becoming a little jealous, but we are glad that now Mr. Beck has turned his eyes and his energy eastward, for we know that where he goes there will be something doing and something accomplished. That was the reason why the Power Committee of the City Council, acting for the Council, asked the Commission for a report on the question of power for Peterborough, and I am glad that they have given attention to that question, for, along with the members of the Council, I am anxious that the city should have power controlled by the municipality for the benefit of the people. Mr. Beck, with the experience he has had and the knowledge he possesses, will be able to give us light on this question and it is with pleasure that I introduce him to you." (Enthusiastic applause.)

HON. ADAM BECK'S ADDRESS.

The Hon. Adam Beck prefaced his address by expressing his high appreciation of the reception and entertainment offered him by Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Canal, and others. He was much struck in his trip over the Lift Lock and up the canal and river, with their power possibilities, which advantages go to make Peterborough the envy of other municipalities not similarly situated. He then went on to say that his visit was not a political mission. The work he is identified with has not and never will become a political issue. So far as the press and municipalities are concerned the Commission has had hearty support, irrespective of party affiliations. The Hydro-Electric Commission is not the creation of any one man or government; it is a public and municipal undertaking, the government being the bankers, and the Commission the medium between the government and the municipalities. Its work is to transmit power to municipalities at cost for the benefit of users of electric light and power.

In reviewing the work of the Commission in developing and transmitting power at and from Niagara Falls the honorable gentleman characterized Niagara Falls and other power as Ontario's "White Coal," the use of which is of paramount importance in industrial competition, the coal available for Ontario being situated in a foreign country, and far distant, which places our manufacturers at a disadvantage in the matter of transportation rates and import duties. When the Commission launched its power scheme, opponents claimed that it was created for Toronto's benefit. But the Commission began, not with Toronto, but with twelve municipalities in the Niagara district "We are now," he said, "supplying 24 municipalities, including Port Arthur, and Midland and Penetang will shortly have contracts with us."

Continuing the speaker said, the success of this power scheme is due to the confidence of the people in the Hydro-Electric Commission and in themselves. Unless public men have the confidence of the people they can accomplish but little in the interests of that people. To get the best from Canada's natural advantages, confidence must exist between governments and people, and in the Dominion. This creation of cheap power is a great work that is going to mean much to the country in general. Ontario is the industrial province of Canada; we are well in advance of any other province. We are paramount, and in order to retain our position must develop our natural advantages. Ontario has water power enterprise, thrift, fertile lands, a manufacturing people, and Ontario's citizens are not lacking in intelligence or honesty of purpose. All that is needed is cheaper power to operate our industries and for domestic use. The work of the Hydro-Electric Commission is that of furnishing power to the people at cost.

POWER TO EXPROPRIATE.

The honorable gentleman here went on to say: "We have power to expropriate the water dams and any plant that comes under the Ontario government's jurisdiction. This act was never intended to be a drastic measure, and we have never intimidated, cohersed, or brought undue pressure upon any power company we desired to deal with in furtherance of our cheap power scheme."

BIG SAVING EFFECTED.

Mr Beck here went on to say that at the inception of the Hydro-Electric Commission operations it appeared ridiculous to many that we should offer power at $9 per h.p., for the Niagara district; but we have found it sufficient to pay all expenses and provide a sinking fund besides. "And you," he said, "in the Trent district, are more fortunate that that of Niagara, where power has to be conveyed 250 or 300 miles if necessary from one source of supplies. But Peterborough and district has power at its doors, and are able to own your own power, and that you who are so blessed by nature should be one of the last municipalities to seek for municipal ownership of power is a matter I regret exceedingly. Hamilton, before the creating of our power scheme was paying 10c per K. W. hour for domestic purposes, and 12c for commercial, while in Toronto the price stood at 8c and 10c. And yet Hamilton stood with pride and called itself the electric city (laughter). This was the result of company control of power. The Hydro-Electric Commission have all the money necessary to install their systems wherever agreed upon. Our object is to create one transmission system and one distributing system. We have connected westward with Windsor and Sarnia; eastward with Toronto and onward. We shall shortly run along the lake front to Brockville, Kingston, Morrisburg and further east.

Continuing, the speaker contended, that more than one company system of power, phone or telegraph companies ducive to high rates. For instance, there are two telegraph companies in Peterborough, and 25c is paid for a message that can be sent in England for 12½c by the only telegraph system in operation there—a government controlled one.

Turning to prices again, Mr. Beck said that in Ottawa the price paid for power for domestic and small users was at one time 15c per K.W. hour. "The large users, you are not concerned in." The Hydro-Electric Commission made a contract with Ottawa and cut that price down to 7 1-5c per K.W. hour with a further reduction to 3c. No gas has been connected with Ottawa's new houses the past year, and the city promises to develop into a smokeless city as electricity is being generally adopted for lighting, heating and cooking purposes. And Peterborough is paying 10c per K.W. hour for light with 30 per cent off for cash. What is possible in Ottawa is possible in Peterborough, and it in the latter's own fault if it is not a reality electric city in the future and a smokeless one at that.

Hamilton was paying $60 per lamp per annum for street lighting by an out-of date system; the Commission is now doing the lighting for $42½ per lamp that gives twice the amount of illuminating power than the old one.

London is being supplied with power for domestic purposes at 4½c per K.W. hour, "and" said the speaker, "if power can be transmitted from Niagara Falls to London and sold at 4½c, why should Peterborough pay 10c, when the opportunity for owning its own power is at hand?"

The honorable gentleman went at length into facts and figures, which time and space will not permit of publishing in this issue.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Butler, a vote of thanks to the Hon. Adam Beck for his presence and able address. This was carried unanimously.

Ald. Bradburn in moving the foregoing, promised that the power question would be actively gone into by the Council, and some project arrived at with Mr. Beck's assistance and submitted to the people. Such a measure, he felt sure would be carried with but few dissenting votes.

Three cheers were enthusiastically given for the King and Hon. Adam Beck.

Mr. Paget refereed the game to the satisfaction of all.

Goal—Webb.
Backs—Collett and Ray.
Half-backs—Biddle, Marks and Pitcher.
Forwards—Follis, Tooley Kennedy, Briscow and Thorne.
Reserves—Foster, Leal, and Theobald.

YESTERDAY MORNING'S FIRE WAS VERY DESTRUCTIVE

The loss by the fire which took place yesterday morning, was considerable. Just how it originated is a mystery. The Heudry family, who occupied that part of the building which was entirely destroyed, had an insurance of $10,000. A policy for $8,000 expired on the first of the month, and was not renewed.

The Canadian Canoe Company lost a carload of twenty canoes and skiffs valued at $1,500.

Three automobiles were destroyed, valued at $4,000 without insurance. The automobiles belonged to Messrs. W. F. Doan, G. L. Stevens and R. Hicks. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Doan, owing to the fact that his auto had been in use only a couple of weeks.

HEALEY FALLS POWER IS STILL AVAILABLE FOR PETERBORO'

COMMISSION WILL REPORT ON OTHER WATER POWERS IF NEEDED.

Hon. Adam Beck Clears the Atmosphere of Any Friction Existing Over the Reading of His Report. Commission Has Nothing to Hide

Concerning the fact that Hon. Adam Beck read his power report before a citizens' committee a few weeks ago, the honorable gentleman said last night, at the conclusion of his address in the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall, that he had no apology to offer. He had had no intention of ignoring the City Council, by whose request, together with that of Peterborough's member, T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., he had prepared the report on Peterborough's power possibilities in question. It was not as fully as he would have liked, as his staff has been working night and day at the request of over a 100 applications for similar reports. "Such reports," he continued, "sit stock and shut and forward to the citizens of the municipality to which they belong." In this instance, however, the honorable gentleman said, he deviated from his customary procedure as the occasion seemed to warrant. "Your Industrial Commissioner," he said, "has been in touch with my department, and had access to our offices, as an official of Peterborough City. We have nothing to hide; everything is open to the world. On the date in question, Mr. Bergan invited me to come down to Peterborough and see you on the question of power. That afternoon I decided to do so in the eleventh hour, and came down on the 5 o'clock train. The report was ready, I brought it with me, and read it before a body of citizens, whom I judged to be thoroughly representative, and who appeared just as anxious as I in the question of municipal ownership of power. If any friction has been created thereby, I am the one to blame. My intention was good, and I had no thought of embarrassing the city authorities in any projects they had in hand."

HEALEY FALLS AVAILABLE.

The honorable gentleman stated emphatically last night that power from Healey Falls was still available for Peterborough. Then there is some at Lakefield and at the Otonabee Power Co's dams and plant. Whether or not all are available, that at Healy Falls certainly is. The Province of Ontario claims the right to develop power at that point. Besides the City of Peterborough there are two companies seeking leases at Healeys Falls, and the Hydro-Electric Commission is prepared to instal their apparatus and transmit power to Peterborough, Lakefield or any other contingent point.

The advantage of acquiring the Otonabee Power Co's plant, Mr. Beck contended, lays in the doing away with one franchise, although it may not be the cheapest. He wanted Peterborough to prepare for big things, and hoped to see electricity as common as water in every home in this city. The Commission will report on all other water powers you have, and give the Council every assistance in developing power as a public undertaking. If the power available is not absorbed by Peterborough City it will be by the other company or companies. The government is prepared to furnish all the money necessary to transmit power to wherever needed.

WHERE MR. BECK WAS ENTERTAINED.

Hon. Adam Beck dined with Mayor Morrow last evening, and after his address in the Assembly Hall, he was the guest of Mr. R. W. Travers, manager of the Bank of Montreal.

A BOON TO STOCK RAISERS

To Know How to Cure Colic, Distemper, Colds, Swellings, Etc.—Saves Thousands Each Year.

Stomach dosing was found ineffective, and the principle of inhalation was finally perfected. Even the Romans and the Ancient Greeks used it, but not in the scientific manner that the physicians prescribes to-day. The most wonderful results have been secured with a new treatment known as "Catarrhozone," which sends germ destroying vapors directly into the air passages of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs.

Catarrhozone proves especially good in those chronic cases where mucus drops down the throat, sickens the stomach, and pollutes the breath. When the nostrils are stuffed, only a few breaths through the inhaler are needed to clear the passages, and where there is coughing and sore bronchial tubes, the soothing, healing properties of Catarrhozone act almost as magic.

Once you stop taking medicine into the stomach and get the healing oils and pure balsams of Catarrhozone at work you can be sure of quick and lasting cure for nose colds, catarrh, weak lungs, bronchitis and speaker's sore throat.

CATARRHOZONE.

Beware of imitations. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1, the latter being guaranteed. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

THOMAS EDISON WAS PERSEVERING

Overcoming Difficulties in His Youth, He Was Enabled to Rise to Fame

For three months Thomas Edison, the famous inventor, had attended the public school at Port Huron, Michigan, where his parents lived; and at the end of that time his teacher described him as "an addle pated boy." And Edison himself has confessed that he was always at the foot of the class, and had come almost to regard himself as a dunce, whilst his father entertained anxieties as to his stupidity.

Mrs. Edison, however, had faith in the intellect of her boy. She insisted on taking him away from the school and teaching him herself, with the result that before he had reached the age of twelve he had read, with his mother's help, such works as Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," and the "Dictionary of Science."

Experiments in the Cellar

But before he reached this age, according to Frank Lewis Dyer and Thomas Comerford Martin, he had begun experiments in chemistry. And much mysterious work did he do in the cellar of the house; but he found himself handicapped by want of pocket-money. He therefore became a newsboy, overcoming the reluctance of his parents, particularly that of his mother, by pointing out that he could, by this means, earn all he wanted for his experiments and get fresh reading in the shape of papers and magazines free of charge.

The Grand Trunk Railway had been extended from Toronto to Port Huron, and he was successful in getting permission to go on the local train as a newsboy.

"After being on the train for several months," to quote Edison's own words, "I started two stores in Port Huron—one for periodicals and the other for vegetables, butter, and berries in the season. These were attended by two boys who shared in the profits. The periodical store I soon closed, as the boy in charge could not be trusted. The vegetable shop I kept up for nearly a year. After the railroad had been opened a short time they put an express, which left Detroit in the morning and returned in the evening. I received permission to put a news boy on this train." It was about this time that the Civil War broke out, and as the war progressed Edison found that the daily newspaper sales grew so rapidly that he could give up the vegetable store.

A New Use for Smoking-Cars

In those days we are told the smoking compartment, as there was no ventilation, and it was turned over to young Edison, who not only kept papers there and his stock of goods as a 'candy butcher,' but soon had it equipped with an extraordinary variety of apparatus. There was plenty of leisure on the two daily runs given for an industrious boy, and there he found time to transfer his laboratory from the cellar and reestablish it on the train. Thereby the country could have pronounced this first movement in a more striking example of the passionate pursuit of knowledge under difficulties than this November, nearly four score years of age, with his jars and test tubes installed on a railway baggage car.

"But while one day, while conducting his experiments in the smoking-car, young Edison nearly set the train on fire, with the result that he was expelled off it, the next station with his entire outfit—laboratory, newspapers, and fruit—being thrown off after him.

and indignant. It was through this incident that Edison acquired the deafness that he has suffered from all through his life, a severe box on the ear from the scorched and angry conductor of the train being the direct cause of the infirmity.

Hard times followed his ejectment from the rolling stock of the Grand Trunk Railroad, and he was down to his last cents when he succeeded, in 1869, in getting a job with a telegraph company in New York. And such good use did he make of his opportunity that he was able to remedy a big breakdown in the system when he had only been in the situation a short time, the result being that he was put in charge of the whole telegraph plant at a salary of $300 a month.

This enabled him to give more scope to his inventive faculties, and, after a little while, the manager of the telegraph company called him into his office one day and said, "Now, young man, I want to close up the matter of your inventions. How much do you think you should receive?" "I had made up my mind," said Edison, "that, taking into consideration the time and killing pace I was working at, I should be entitled to $5,000, but could get along with $3,000. When the psychological moment arrived I hadn't the nerve to name such a large sum, so I said to the manager, 'Well, suppose you make me an offer.' Then he said, 'How would $40,000 strike you?'" Thus, in an inconceivably brief time Edison passed from poverty to independence, made a deep impression as to his originality and ability on important people, and brought out valuable inventions. He then set up in business on his own account, and soon was employing fifty men.

How he ultimately developed the telephone, the phonograph, the incandescent light, and a hundred and one other inventions, has often been told, and the extent of his achievements may be gathered from the fact that a list of Mr. Edison's patents alone occupies twenty pages of his latest biography.

TRACTION-ENGINE HEARSE

Old Showman's Dying Wish Leads to Novel Funeral Scene

There was a novel funeral scene at Cardiff when the remains of Mr. John White, aged seventy-seven, a well-known amusement caterer in South Wales, were laid in the grave. On his death-bed Mr. White asked that his coffin be taken to the cemetery on the huge traction engine "General White," generally used to haul the show to the fair grounds.

Thousands of people assembled on the way to the cemetery to witness the passing of the cortege. The traction engine, beautifully decorated with wreaths, duly drew the hearse. On the front was a large floral heart, in the centre of which was a design of the Prince of Wales's feathers in white flowers. The wheels were draped with crepe.

The police admitted to the cemetery only the actual mourners. This course was taken to prevent a recurrence of the damage done during a recent military funeral, when many graves were trampled on by an unwieldy crowd.

The traction-engine was halted at the cemetery gates, and the coffin carried to the graveside by mourners.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realising handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

AN UNUSUAL OCCURRENCE

Saxon King Takes Pride in His Poor Friend

King Friedrich August of Saxony is the hero of a romantic occurrence which shows him in an unusual light. The King recently celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of the completion of his studies at Strasburg University. At a farewell dinner the Crown Prince, as he then was, promised his comrades that they should all meet some day in the future. Among them were the Kaiser's kinsman Prince Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, Prince Castell-Castell, and other great nobles, as well as several students of less known families, most of whom have since reached high positions. As the twenty-fifth anniversary drew nigh the King invited all the survivors to be guests at Pillnitz. Among those invited were several of whom the King had not heard for years. As the guests, all of whom were in uniform, were beginning dinner, a footman reported to the King that a poorly-dressed man who had arrived on foot was waiting outside, and persisted that he was an expected guest. The hall porter, imagining that he was a harmless lunatic, had tried to put him out. The King immediately rose from his seat and went into the entrance hall. In the poorly-dressed man he recognised one of the college friends whom he had lost sight of, but whose name was, nevertheless, on the list of guests. The man had lately lost his fortune through no fault of his own. He began to apologise for his dress, but the King refused to listen. Instead, he took his arm, led him to the place at the table which was reserved for him, and lavished attentions on him during the whole evening.

BUYS RADIUM

English Institute Director Pays for One Gramme, £15,000

The director of the English Radium Institute, Mr. Alton, this week concluded at Vienna the purchase of one gramme of radium from the Mines Department of the Austrian Ministry of Public Works.

Mr. Alton made the proposal a considerable time ago to the Austrian Government, but then obtained nothing, so there was not sufficient of this valuable material to hand.

The price is £15,000, and the funds for the purchase are being provided by Sir Ernest Cassel, who will place this enormously large quantity of the metal at the disposal of the English Institute for medical purposes.

Half the amount, which is ready for being tested, and will be delivered in January. The other half of the gramme will be accumulated at Jeachimsthall, the process taking three months.

One gramme is equal to .564 of a dram avoirdupois. Sixteen drams go to the ounce, and the price of the radium per ounce may be roughly estimated at £270,000.

THE OLD ARMCHAIR

Sad Story of a Widow, Whose Husband Had Been Fond of Chair

A pathetic tale of an old armchair was related at St. Pancras Coroner's Court recently. An inquest was being held on a hawker's widow, who had been compelled through poverty to sell her household goods, including an armchair of which, it was said, her husband had been "very fond."

A neighbor purchased the armchair, and a few days ago the widow went to her, complaining of cold and hunger. She was given food and shelter and allowed to sleep in the favorite armchair. She was found dead sitting in the chair before the kitchen fire.

The coroner said the case showed how good the poor were to the poor. Here was a woman with no means of subsistence, and her friends took her in and cared for her. This was a charity that gave something. These people really did give something out of their own pockets—often out of their own stomachs.

MILL GIRLS MISTAKEN FOR DUCHESSES

Attention is again being focussed on the remarkable prosperity of Huddersfield. Almost every other man you meet in the town either owns a motor car or has a brother who owns one. Operatives—the unsophisticated stranger is told—drive to their work at their mills in magnificent automobiles. While many employers are about to take to aviation.

This is an exaggeration, however. More well-founded, it would seem, is the story that two Huddersfield mill girls, as they wandered through the grounds of the Brussels exhibition, were mistaken for English duchesses. Wearing costumes which Paquin would be proud to have designed, and hats that a society beauty would have envied, they had momentarily left their father and mother seated in one of the exhibition halls, and had wandered out to view the exhibition grounds. Good looking as well as smartly dressed, they made an attractive picture. "They must be duchesses," whispered in broken English one attendant to another as they passed. The workpeople at the mill in Huddersfield where the girls work are still re-telling the story.

Victoria Park, under charge of Mr. McIntosh, is beginning to assume a very inviting appearance.

SENSITIVE CELLS

Did Not Work as Prisoners Suspected a Trap was Set

A reminder of the Pearl Bryan murder case, in which the headless body of the girl was found near Ft. Thomas [illegible] has been removed from the city hall. The two sensitive cells that were built expressly on the order of the late Chief Deitsch, in order to hear what Jackson and Walling might have to say when placed together, were torn out and sold to a neighboring town. After Jackson and Walling had been arrested, efforts were made to have them tell where the head of Pearl Bryan was. They both declared they did not know. Chief Deitsch heard of the sensitive cells and had one of them built. They had sounding boards and a canopy of sensitized steel that was guaranteed to carry sound a long way. The cells were built in the basement of the city hall, next to the storage room of the police department. The two men were placed in the cells and Chief Deitsch and a corps of detectives stationed themselves in the House of Detention, where the sound pipe ended. They heard something like this: "This is a scheme, Walling. Be careful what you say. Deitsch has kept us apart for some time and now he suddenly places us in the same cell. There is a scheme of some kind."

"I believe you are right," replied Walling.

"I know I am right. Look at this ceiling. It is different from anything else. We will just pay our compliments to Col. Deitsch and if he is listening he will hear what we think of him."

The prisoners then said some things that caused the chief to turn red. Turning to Detective Billy Jackson, now chief of police, he said: "Here, Billy, you listen a while."

Jackson listened for a time and then turned away.

"What are they saying?" asked the chief.

"They are talking about minor matters."

"Yes, they are calling the chief of police names, eh?"

"Yes, sir; that is it."

Jackson and Walling were in the cell about 24 hours, but during all that time they did not say a single incriminating word. The fact that the cells were in existence soon became noised about and no one would be trapped in them. As they had outlived their usefulness Inspector Callahan recommended that they be sold.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

SOME CURIOUS WATCHES

Not so Complex Nowadays as Formerly—Queer Old Ones

With all our modern improvements we rarely hear nowadays of watches so fancifully complex as used to be made for great folks in the times when all watches were expensive and comparatively novel.

King George III., in the year 1760, received a present of a watch that was a kind of mechanical almanac. It pointed out the date, and also had a device to show the varying lengths of the days, according to the season. It was not bigger than other watches of the time, but than they were all what we should call turnips now.

The Emperor Napoleon I. had a watch which wound itself by means of a weighted lever, which, at every step His Majesty took, rose and fell, and having a gathering click to it wound up a ratchet attached to the barrel. Pedometers were afterwards made on the same principle. The Duke of Wellington had a watch which was given to him by the King of Spain, from which the time could be told by the touch, the hours being marked by studs. In the back of the case was placed an index which, when moved forward, would stop at the portion of the hour indicated by the watch, and then by means of the studs the time could be approximately computed in the dark.

Catharine of Russia had a watch constructed by an ingenious peasant which played a chant, and had within it tiny mechanical figures which, moving about, were supposed to represent the scene of the resurrection of the Saviour; the chant was then heard all over Russia at Eastertime. But this watch was bigger than a hen's egg.

INN NAMES IN GERMANY

Scattered throughout England are some curious inn names, but Germany probably keeps the record for out-of-the-way signs and fantastic names. The most absurd results are usually obtained by the name of some animal with a more or less unsuitable object. The Comfortable Chicken and the Cold Frog, both of them in Berlin, are certainly left in the shade by the Angry Ant (Ort, in Westphalia) and the Stiff Dog (Berlin). The Lame Louse is an inn in a suburb of Berlin, and not far from it is the Thirsty Pelican. The Dirty Parlor, the Bloody Bones, the Musical Cats, the Four-hundredweight Man, and the Boxers' Den are all in Berlin or the neighborhood, and the Old Straw Bag in Leipsic. The Open Bunghole is in Stadtohsa, in the Palatinate, and the Shoulder-blade in Jericho. The Last Tear is a landlord's notion for the name of his inn, situated near a graveyard, visited by returning mourners, and is of frequent occurrence throughout the Fatherland.

WHEN HE'S AT WORK

A medical correspondent writes to the editor of the "Sporting Times":—Possibly the following anecdote, which actually happened at my medical inspection of school children last week may be worth repeating. I may mention that the first question we put to the children is "What is your father's occupation?"

Enter bright looking boy.

"What's your father's work, laddie?"

"Please, sir, 'e's not workin' now."

"But what does he do when he is working?"

"Please, sir, 'e goes out an' sups ale all day long."

Suffragette Ceremony Takes Place at London—Rings Are Exchanged.

London, May 9.—A suffragette wedding took place yesterday in a church at Brighton. Suffragists gathered in force, with trichrome flags emblematic of freedom, purity and hope.

The bride and bridegroom exchanged rings and there was a specially arranged marriage service, in which it was declared that the couple united themselves on grounds of perfect equality as comrades and helpmates, whatever the circumstances of life might bring them.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

MILITARY PUNISHMENTS

Code of Old was Very Stern—Some Strange Ways of Punishment.

In times past the military code was no less stern and uncompromising than the civil. Sentence of death was readily decreed and as promptly executed. Where offences multiplied, and wholesale executions would have weakened the Army numerically, decimation—the slaughter of every tenth man—was the rule, or the troops gambled for their lives by casting dice upon a drumhead or drawing lots under the gallows-tree.

Lesser penalties, not capital, but physical, and causing pain with permanent degradation, were maiming, branding the cheek or forehead, boring the tongue, or cutting the nose and ears. These last-named were retained upon the military statute book until the reign of Queen Anne. The "trapgado" was a fiendish device by which a delinquent was hoisted on high by a rope fastened to his arms, and then dropped down by a sudden jerk that often dislocated his shoulders. Hanging by the thumbs, sometimes called "picketing," was also practised; when the body was raised to such a height and its whole weight rested on one toe, and that again on a sharp-pointed spike.

To "ride the wooden horse" was to be mounted on a razor-edge, with weights fastened to the extremities.

Running the gauntlet, or "gantelope," was as old as the Cromwellian army, and it is thus described in an Army order about 1649: The culprits (who had been guilty of blasphemy as well as deer-stealing) were to be "stripped naked from the waist upward, and a lane made by half the Lord General's regiment of foot and half Colonel Pride's, with every man a cudgel in his hand. They were to be run through in this posture, so that every soldier might have a stroke at their naked backs, breasts, or arms, wherever it might alight."

"CHEER UP JEREMIAH"

An Incident of the Days When John Burns Was in Jail

It is, of course, well known that Mr. John Burns, the President of the Local Government Board, spent some weeks in prison in the early days of his career as a result of his prominence in labor wars, and it is in connection with that experience that he recently told the following amusing story. "I was once," he said, "for the benefit of my health, interned in a building somewhat monastic in character, with a celibate population, and with cellular accommodation which enabled me to be alone. There was there one book called the Bible, and I noticed that my predecessor was a great student of it. With a pin which had probably been concealed in his cabman he had pricked comments in the margin. Opposite this passage in Jeremiah, 'Mine heart within me is broken; all my bones shake; I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine hath overcome,' he had pricked, 'Cheer up, Jeremiah!'"

ALFONSO'S QUEER MUSEUM

Making Collection of Articles With Which His Life was Attempted

King Alfonso XIII. of Spain is forming a curious, although somewhat ghastly, museum, where are grouped the various articles which have been used in attempts against his person, together with objects which have placed his life in danger.

Among other things in the museum is to be seen the teat of a baby's feeding bottle, with which an attempt was made to poison him at the tender age of eight months. Also a large glass vase, which he fell over and broke at the age of five years, sustaining injuries which placed his life in danger; the walking-stick of a discontented member of the Court, who made an attempt to strike him; pieces of the bomb of Barcelona; the skeleton of one of the horses which was overturning him and a fragment of the carriage in which he was seated by the side of President Loubet at the time of the attempt in the Rue de Rivoli, at Paris; various articles found in the street after the explosion of the infernal machine, hidden in a bouquet, which was thrown against his coach on the day of his wedding—in fact, daggers, firearms, and projectiles of all kinds which have been used in unsuccessful designs against his life—unsuccessful, thanks to the careful precautions taken by the police.

PRINCE AND LECTURER

Hitherto absolute ruler, the Prince of Monaco has granted the 20,000 subjects of his eight-square-mile kingdom a Constitution. The Prince is one of the most interesting personalities in Europe. He is a millionaire, drawing ample resources from the Casino at Monte Carlo, the authorities of which pay him about $250,000 a year for permission to run the place. And, like the Duke of Abruzzi, he has frequently lectured before learned societies; for the Prince is an authority on marine biology, and over a score of volumes record the results of his deep-sea dredging. At Monte Carlo he has built an oceanographical museum, at a cost of $1,500,000, which is the largest of its kind in the world.

A FOUR-FOOTED PATIENT

A dog was brought to the West London Hospital, Hammersmith, for treatment. Its owner, a young woman, stated that the poor animal had been run over, and she feared the bone of its foot was broken. Being unable to pay for the advice of a veterinary surgeon, she had brought it to the West London. The hurt was carefully washed and dressed by the casualty officer, and the patient was then allowed to be taken home. The owner left full of gratitude for the care and attention bestowed on her pet.

Every man believes his experience would make an interesting book.

A separation suit between two physicians in which a woman physician was accused by her husband of taking away all his patients and compelling him to quit medicine for the clothing business came up in New York Supreme Court.
York Supreme Court.

After being accosted by a stranger and stabbing him with a hatpin, Miss Henrietta Maguire, a Neenah, Wis., district girl, forgetting she had on a new hat, very easy Easter bobble skirt, escaped the man when he ran, tripped on turning a corner and fell, breaking her arm.

RECORD RAINFALLS

The Past Year in Great Britain Goes Down to Posterity as One of the Wettest of Seasons

The autumn and winter of 1910 seem to have gone down to posterity as record wet seasons. Not since the days when Noah gathered them in two by two has there been so much wrath directed against the Clerk of the Weather. And not without reason. The average rainfall for the last twenty-five years, for the last three months of the year has been 8.44 inches. The average had been exceeded in 1910 when December was a fortnight old. During the thirteen weeks ending December 12th, 1909, there were 301 hours of sunshine and but 8½ inches of rain. Last year for a similar period there were 8¼ inches of rain and but 287 hours of sunshine; and for three weeks of that period "King Sol" shone for four an a half hours only.

The significance of an inch of rain may be gathered from the fact that it is equal to 100 tons of water for every acre, or 64,000 tons for every square mile. From the beginning of October to the middle of December about 8 inches of rain had fallen in the Thames Valley, which meant that the Thames in just over two months had to negotiate a downfall of water equal to 1,951,744,000 tons, which would fill a channel 8,000 miles long, 10 feet deep, and 250 feet wide. The Thames Valley covers an area of 3,812 square miles, so that a fall of one inch over the whole valley is equal to 243,968,000 tons of water, which has been calculated to equal a river 10 feet deep, 250 feet wide, and 1,000 miles long. It is computed that the weight of rain that falls in the Old Country in the course of a year averages 3,000 tons to every acre, and, as there are 77,143,936 acres in the United Kingdom, this computation shows us that 231,431,814,000 tons of rain fall on its surface in the course of twelve months.

One of the heaviest rainfalls yet recorded in the British Isles was 2.24 inches in 40 minutes in Portarkiro, during a severe thunderstorm on June 18th, 1857. On August 1st, 1846, 3.12 inches fell in 2 hours, 17 minutes at Camberwell, London. Of heavy falls during one day the following might be mentioned: Ben Nevis Observatory, 7.29 inches, on October 3rd, 1890; Newport, Wales, 5.33 inches, July 14th, 1875; and Camusinas, Argyllshire, 5.60 inches, January 24th, 1868.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

DEATH SENTENCE PASSED ON YOUNG ITALIAN WOMAN

Sault Ste Marie, Ont., May 9.—Angelina Napolitana, an Italian woman, was found guilty this afternoon of the murder of her husband on Easter Sunday last, and was sentenced to be hanged on August 9th. She is 28 years of age and will become a mother within two months.

U. McFadden, counsel for the prisoner, made a strong plea claiming that the husband had threatened the woman with desertion if she did not resort to prostitution to obtain money for him.

T. C. Moodith, for the Crown, said the woman in her own evidence admitted having lived with a man named Nish for a week, while her husband was absent. Justice Britton charged strongly against the prisoner.

Mrs. Napolitana murdered her husband with an axe as he lay sleeping in his bed. She immediately gave herself up and affirmed that she had killed him because he had ill-treated her.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES FORESHADOW AN ELECTION

Ottawa, Ont., May 9.—Mr. Fielding brought down to-day supplementary estimates which denote the near approach of a general election.

They amount to seventeen millions, of which $8,746,931 goes to consolidated fund and $8,274,046 to capital fund.

The main estimates are for $130,-869,200 so that the total expenditure for the year is to be $155,684,180. The estimates for public works are $5,717,621, making total appropriations for this department of $23,-425,039.

There are two votes of a million dollars each for intercolonial branch lines, one in Guysboro and the other in Halifax counties. There is a vote of $2,000,000 for construction in the Hudson Bay Railway. There is an appropriation of $35,000 to make a survey for the Prince Edward Island tunnel. Port Arthur and Fort William improvements get $500,000. Quebec harbor gets $639,000 and St. John harbor $500,000. Toronto gets $6,000 for a garage at the Post Office, $4,000 for the Customs house and $25,368 to settle claims in connection with the harbor and $22,573 in connection with the Post Office motor trucks.

REBELS GET INSIDE CITY OF JUAREZ AND FEDERAL CAVALRY EVACUATE IT

El Paso, Tex., May 9.—At the Madero headquarters a report was received by courier from the front that the Federal cavalry had evacuated Juarez, and were proceeding south toward Ranche. It is believed, however, the cavalry intends to flank the rapid influx of the rebels into town.

TOWN SOON TO FALL.

El Paso, May 9.—Dr. Vasquez Gomez, who is in charge in the Madero headquarters, while Madero is in the field, announced at 12.30 o'clock that the insurrectos probably would take Juarez within three hours. He has received news from the front that the insurrectos occupy most of the points of vantage in the town.

El Paso, May 9.—A general engagement between the revolutionary forces of Gen. Madero and the Federals under command of Gen. Navarro at Juarez is raging to-day under a burning sun, and a heavy fusillade of musketry and cannon. The entire rebel army has broken camp during the night, and up to noon to-day were rapidly swarming into town. The prospects of a rebel success are dependent on the ability of the Federals to use their twelve machine guns within the town.

The insurrectos, it was reported, had silenced some of them, but this report has verification only in the fact that the Federals were not shelling the insurrectos as extensively in the last few hours as they did earlier in the morning.

Gen. Madero was at his headquarters receiving the reports from the front, and with him were the various political chiefs, confident of an incorrecto victory.

HAVE ENTERED TOWN.

Efforts of go-betweens to stop the fighting have failed because of the difficulty of handling the insurrectos who had already stormed Juarez.

Bullets poured into El Paso since the attack began at 4.30 a.m., but the United States troops kept sightseers three blocks away from the river front.

Privates Emilio Garcia and Casseday, of the American legion with the insurrectos, came to El Paso this morning to get food. They stated that fifteen Americans already had been killed and wounded, and the Mexican losses would probably reach 200 killed and wounded, and that the Federal loss was more than double that amount.

"In one trench I counted 47 dead Federals, and in another 30. They were stripped of most of their clothing."

MADERO GOES TO FRONT.

El Paso, May 9.—Gen. Madero has left his headquarters for the front. He wishes to observe the progress of the battle, but will not be in active command.

THE METROPOLIS OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Where fortunes are being made by investment, which cannot be equalled anywhere else in Canada. The position that Vancouver occupies, the same on the Pacific, as Montreal occupies on the Atlantic, also the fact that Vancouver is an open port the whole year round, means beyond a possible doubt, that Vancouver will be the greatest city in the Dominion.

Vancouver is the only gateway to the Orient from the whole of Canada, which demonstrates that this will be the greatest Canadian shipping port, owing to the enormous development of western Canada. This together with the fact that the immense wealth of the natural resources of the province of British Columbia, its timber, fisheries, fruit, coal and other minerals, must make it clear, that you can invest your money here to better advantage than elsewhere.

Vancouver offers to-day, the opportunity of a life time for both the small and the large investor, and if you will act on our advice we will positively guarantee to make returns for you that will surprise you. The fire is now raging through the limits of the Prince Albert Timber Co.

Wild rumors are in circulation of loss of life, but as yet these need confirmation, but it is certain some of the settlers in the outlying sections will be cut off. The fires have been raging for the past four days and are the worst in the history of Saskatchewan.

COVER 100 MILES.

Winnipeg, Man., May 8.—Prairie fires are working destruction on the line of the Canadian Northern, from Dauphin north of Prince Albert, a distance of 100 miles. For two days they have been fanned by a furious wind. The situation continues very serious this morning.

The Canadian Northern Company's telegraph wires are down throughout the menaced district. One of several relief trains of the C.N.R. left Dauphin this morning for Kelwood, where a new fire has broken out.

The chief damage is to the lumber camps and to the small towns. At Big River, where the C.N.R. has a million dollars invested in lumber mill plant, grave conditions exist.

Throughout the entire district citizens and lumberjacks are fighting the flames.

While grading a lawn at Great Barrington, Mass., a man dug up three ancient English pennies bearing 1742 and 1777 dates for which he has refused an offer of $1,000.

New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the We-We hotel, Britannia Point Head, Portage, Dorchester and other important outing parts on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will become an assured reality for season 1911, during the months of July and August, and which will be known to week-enders during that time to the city for business men of Toronto.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operations of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business. It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. There is no personal liability. An issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market in Vancouver and a considerable amount has already been taken up.

Can't Get Away From It

Is it possible to nourish, strengthen and Rebuild the Brain by Food?

Every man who thinks uses up part of the brain each day. Why don't it all disappear and leave an empty skull in say a month of brain work? Because the man rebuilds each day.

If he builds a little less than he destroys, brain fag and nervous prostration result sure. If he builds back a little more each day, the brain grows stronger and more capable. That also is sure. Where does man get the material to rebuild his brain? Is it from air, sky or the ice of the Arctic sea? When you come to think about it, the rebuilding material must be in the food and drink.

That also is sure.

Are the brain rebuilding materials found in all food? In a good variety but not in suitable proportion in all.

To illustrate: we know bones are made largely of lime and magnesia taken from food; therefore to make healthy bone structure we must have food containing these things. We would hardly feed only sugar and fat to make healthy bone structure in a growing child.

Likewise if we would feed in a skilfull manner to insure getting what the brain requires for strength and rebuilding, we must first know what the brain is composed of and then select some article or articles (there are more than one) that contain these elements.

Analysis of brain by an unquestionable authority, Geoghegan, shows of mineral Salts Phosphoric Acid and Potash combined (Phosphate of Potash) 2.01 per cent of the total, 6.89 of all mineral Salts.

This is over one-half.

Benzoin, another authority, shows "Phosphoric Acid combined" and Potash 73.44 per cent from a total of 101.07.

Considerable more than one-half of Phosphate of Potash.

Analysis of Grape-Nuts shows: Potassium and Phosphorus (which join and make Phosphate of Potash) is considerable more than one-half of all the mineral salts in the food.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey, an authority on the constituent elements of the body, says: "The gray matter of the brain is controlled entirely by the inorganic cell-salt, Potassium Phosphate (Phosphate of Potash). This salt unites with albumen and by the addition of oxygen creates nerve fluid or the gray matter of the brain. Of course, there is a trace of other salts and other organic matter in nerve fluid, but Potassium Phosphate is the chief factor, and has the power within itself to attract, by its own law of affinity, all things needed to manufacture the elixir of life."

Further on he says: "The beginning and end of the matter is to supply the lacking principle, and in molecular form, exactly as nature furnishes it in vegetables, fruits and grain. To supply deficiencies—this is the only law of cure."

The natural conclusion is that if Phosphate of Potash is the needed mineral element in brain and you use food which does not contain it, you have brain fag because its daily loss is not supplied.

On the contrary, if you eat food known to be rich in this element, you place before the life forces that which nature demands for brain-building.

Mind does not work well on a brain that is broken down by lack of nourishment.

A peaceful and sunny poised mind is necessary to good digestion.

Worry, anxiety, fear, hate, etc., etc., directly interfere with or stop the flow of Ptyalin, the digestive juice of the mouth, and also interfere with the flow of the digestive juices of stomach and pancreas.

Therefore, the mental state of the individual has much to do (more than suspected) with digestion.

Brain is made of Phosphate of Potash as the Principal Mineral Salt, added to albumen and water.

Grape-Nuts contain that element as more than one-half of all its mineral salts.

A healthy brain is important, if one would "do things" in this world.

A man who sneers at "Mind" sneers at the best and least understood part of himself. That part which some folks believe links us to the Infinite.

Mind asks for a healthy brain upon which to act, and Nature has defined a way to make a healthy brain and renew it day by day as it is used up from work of the previous day.

Nature's way to rebuild is by the use of food which supplies the things required. Brain rebuilding material is certainly found in

Grape-Nuts

VOL XXXIV NO. 110 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY MAY 12 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

INSANE CHINAMAN THREATENED TO KILL MR. J. C. EATON

A DANGEROUS MAN WITH AN EVIL DELUSION WAS ARRESTED IN TORONTO.

Toy Sewy Told Members of Chinese Colony That Mr. Eaton Owed Him $300,000.

Toronto, May 11.—"He went round telling the members of the local Chinese colony that Mr. John C. Eaton owed him $300,000 and that he would "get" him.

"At the same time he would reach around to his pistol pocket as though to draw a weapon. On one occasion he showed a knife. Always his delusion was that he would "get" the head of the president of the great departmental store."

Stripped of the peculiarities of the tongue, this is the startling story told by J. P. Sam, the wealthiest Chinaman in Toronto, concerning an insane fellow countryman, Toy Sewy, 34 Mutual street, who was arrested by policeman McIntosh, (36) this morning in a Spadina avenue laundry.

The arrest of Sewy took place after he had threatened to kill a friend in that laundry about midnight.

A DANGEROUS MAN.

Sewy is one of the most dangerous lunatics that ever lived in the Chinese colony. He has terrorized the Chinese of the city for four months, during which time he has intimated that he intended to kill others. He has a wife and three children in China and declared that if Mr. Eaton would pay him that odd $300,000 he would go back to them.

HUNTING FOR HIS MEN.

J. P. Sam says that Sewy would go around ostensibly hunting for Mr. Eaton. He would enter a laundry or Chinese Club and say mysteriously:

"Where is he?"

"Where is who?" they would ask.

"The man I am looking for," he would reply in a tragic whisper.

The arrest was made not an hour too soon. He is a dangerous character.

IN TORONTO 8 YEARS.

Sewy has been in Toronto 8 years. He is 39 years old. His children are 16, 14 and 10, the youngest is a girl.

He is a quiet, dangerous lunatic of a type most likely to be prompted to kill as a result of his delusions. Insanity first manifested itself six months ago and he has been growing worse all the time.

For soreness of the muscles whether induced by violent exercise or injury, Chamberlain's Liniment is excellent. This liniment is also highly esteemed for the relief it affords in cases of rheumatism. Sold by all dealers.

IF I WERE MAYOR
What I Would Do

Under the above caption The Times invites correspondence. The letters will appear in the Saturday edition only and must deal with local matters, and not political questions. In this way suggestions in regard to local affairs will be in order, and we are sure will be taken in good gre sure will be taken in good part by Mayor Morrow and the members of his Council.

TAKING THE CENSUS
MR. LEARY'S BIG JOB

The Enumerators Have Received Their Instructions in the Work.

The taking of the census is no light task, and those appointed to the position of Commissioners have a large amount of responsibility in connection with their work. Mr. R. H. Leary, one of the ten census commissioners for Ontario, has received his full instructions, and has been busily engaged in instructing the enumerators.

The census will be taken on June 1 and following days, the decisive hour of reckoning being 12 o'clock midnight between May 31st and June 1st. Anyone born before that hour or dying after that hour will be taken in the census.

Provisions have been made for enumerating up to 8,000,000 population. All information is collected under oath of secrecy, each collector being sworn in before he starts his work, and no one questioned need fear that answers may be used for taxation or any other purposes.

The census, as is well known, forms the basis of redistribution of the seats in the House of Commons at Ottawa.

Enumerators are not confined to any specified hours during the day and are not paid by the day. All returns must be made through the commissioners to the census officer at Ottawa.

There are thirteen schedules of questions and the head of each household will be required to give all information about his family, household, business, deaths, diseases, in fact, almost every feature worth mentioning.

CONSTABLE FISHED WOMAN OUT OF THE NIAGARA RIVER

Niagara Falls, N.Y., May 11.—There is little hope for the recovery of Mrs. Elizabeth Hartley, the aged Buffalo woman who was rescued from the very brink of the American fall late yesterday afternoon. She is suffering from the shock.

Mrs. Hartley was an inmate of the Buffalo State Hospital, from which she escaped yesterday morning. Dr. Hurd, the superintendent, said that he knew nothing of her family. No trace has been found of Mrs. Leswing, to whom Mrs. Hartley left a note with this message:—

"No longer to be treated as a thing demented."

The rescue of Mrs. Hartley was one of the most thrilling in the annals of the river, the second of which there is any record. The other was Amos Schweitzer, a demented Toronto man, who, on June 6, 1906, was taken out at the same point. His rescuers, Police Sergeant Harry Batts and fireman Thos. Conroy received Carnegie gold medals and $1,000 each in money.

Application will be made for a Carnegie reward for Constable Harrington, who brought Mrs. Hartley ashore with a pike pole, toiling in a shore eddy in imminent peril of his life.

OBITUARY

Rev. William Bennet.

Rev. William Bennet is another old resident who has just passed away. His death took place at the family residence, 566 Gilmour street, on Wednesday, 10th inst. The deceased gentleman was a veteran minister of the Presbyterian Church, and spent his life in work for the Master. He was ordained by the Presbyterian Church, of Ireland, and came to Canada in 1866. His first charge was in New Brunswick, and afterwards in Windsor, Winchester, Kemptville, and Springville. In the latter place he ministered for many years and built up a large congregation. For 27 years Rev. Mr. Bennet was clerk of the Presbytery of Peterborough. He was a Christian gentleman in every sense of the word. His life was full of good deeds and his memory will long remain in the hearts of those who knew him in life, during which time he discharged the duties of the position in a most satisfactory manner. In September, 1909, he celebrated his ministerial jubilee, and on that occasion the Presbytery honored him with an illuminated address, as a recognition of his long and faithful duties. In 1902, Rev. Mr. Bennet was elected Moderator of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church in New Brunswick, and in 1903, he was elected to the responsible position of Moderator of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston. In 1905 he retired from active work of the ministry, and took up his residence on Gilmour street. The great sorrow of his life was the decease of his wife, which took place in May, 1909.

He leaves behind him two sons and one daughter, Mr. J. W. Bennet, barrister, city, and Rev. Orr Bennet, Presbyterian minister of the Almonte charge, and Miss Bennet, at home.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock; service at the residence, 566 Gilmour street at 2.30 p.m.

The Late Mr. John Wood.

There passed away yesterday afternoon an old and esteemed resident of the city, in the person of Mr. John Wood, at the ripe old age of 87 years. Mr. Wood has been a resident of Peterborough for almost 64 years, and was held in the highest regard by everyone with whom he came in contact. About a month ago he developed trouble that required a serious operation, and although this was successfully performed, the shock was too much for one of his years, and he gradually sank until the end came as above.

The deceased gentleman was born in the County of Fermanagh, Ireland. He came to Peterborough from the Old Country in 1847, and has resided in the vicinity ever since. For about 30 years he taught school in the township of Douro, N. Monaghan, and in the village of Ashburnham. For many years he filled the responsible position of Clerk of the latter municipality. He was also Magistrate, and was frequently called upon to dispense justice from the bench.

PUBLIC OPINION

STREET RAILWAY TO ASHBURNHAM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I was greatly pleased with the suggestion regarding a new bridge over the river on Hunter street, and the plan proposed by your paper to pay for it. I would imagine that this scheme would appeal to all concerned. I hope, Mr. Editor, that Ald. Metheral, chairman of the committee on streets, will make a move to put this into effect.

I have been told that our Council lacks the ability to adopt a policy of "Constructive" progress. I am inclined to the opposite theory, and therefore, call on them to "make good," by undertaking this work. This project should appeal especially to Ald. Morgan. A good bridge, with street car connection, would be a big thing for those residing on the East side of the river. It would increase the value of their property, I believe 50 per cent, and would cause the vacant lots, of which there are many, to be built on.

I believe this matter should receive prompt attention. In fact it is now ripe for action.

Progress.

PUBLIC CONTROL OF PUBLIC UTILITIES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Public control of a public utility in these days is regarded as an ideal condition, and many towns and cities, and even the farmers in the schemes of the Hydro-Electric Commission are enjoying their first experience of public ownership in a big way by the progress of the plans and mission. The address given by the Hon. Adam Beck on Wednesday last was exceedingly interesting and useful. The great work along the line of giving municipalities cheaper electricity and cheaper power, has been made possible, first, by the friendly co-operation of various Ontario municipalities; secondly, by the sympathy and aid given by the Ontario Government, and thirdly, by the ardor of the Government Commissioners and their engineering staff.

It is to be hoped that Peterborough will soon be enjoying cheap power. A Lindsay paper in discussing the matter of cheap power, puts it this way: The position of the Government has been clear-cut and definite from the first. It is certain that the task of maintaining a stiff upper lip has not been easy, but when Sir Jas. Whitney makes up his mind, persuasion and threats are alike useless. It was made abundantly plain to Sir James that the people wanted Niagara power as a public owned utility. That was sufficient for him. Mr. Beck, as chairman of the Commission has done hard and conscientious work and did not stop with the Niagara project, but took up the important matter of dealing with other power concerns and projects.

It is a "growing season" for all municipalities who desire to take advantage of the new conditions as presented by Mr. Beck. Let Peterborough not be in the back-ground, but let her secure the best of what is left after the monopolists have had their serving.

SAVED FROM DROWNING BY A BOY SCOUT

Roy Carpenter Performs a Heroic Deed While Scouting.

Roy Carpenter, a member of St. Luke's Boy Scouts, performed a heroic deed Wednesday while scouting. A number of young lads, scholars of the Public school in Otonabee, about two miles from the city boundary, were playing on the banks of Hair's Pond, when one of the little fellows fell in. He would undoubtedly have been drowned but for the timely arrival of the boy scout.

NOVA SCOTIA ELECTIONS WILL BE HELD ON JUNE 14

Halifax, N.S., May 11.—A local paper states that the dissolution of the Legislature will be gazetted today, and that polling will take place on June 14. Premier Murray, on being asked for confirmation of this, indicated that the exact date had not been decided.

There is no doubt however, that the elections will be held on or near that date.

VIRGIN BIRTH AND CHRIST'S DIVINITY MOOT QUESTIONS

Montreal, May 11.—Rev. Dr. Workman was closely examined yesterday afternoon regarding his theological views, in the course of a hearing on his $10,000 libel suit against the Wesleyan Theological College. Dr. Workman at first objected to this examination, claiming that his religious belief was not germane to the case, since he had formally denied the allegations made against him and which had led to the loss of his position as a professor at the college. Judge Weir, however, held that it was important that Dr. Workman should state his views on doctrinal points.

He was examined regarding the Virgin birth of Christ, and expressed the opinion that the contentions of Matthew and Luke that Joseph was the father of Jesus were unhistorical, and declared that he had an open mind regarding the virgin birth, it being a question yet to be settled. The virgin birth was not a cardinal doctrine of Methodism.

DOCTRINE OF ATONEMENT.

With regard to the doctrine of the atonement, Dr. Workman said he did not regard the crucifixion as a propitiatory or expiatory act on the part of Christ, and that the effects of the atonement were on man, not God. As to the resurrection, Dr. Workman said he accepted it. But there were four theories as to whether Christ rose in his earthly body or in a spiritual body, all of which were left open by the Methodist Church, the general viewing being that of a spiritual body. As to Christ having eaten bread and fish after his resurrection, Dr. Workman was inclined to view this as allegorical, and this view, he contended, was not at variance with Methodist doctrines. He supported this by declaring that the writings of Luke on the subject did not concur with those of Paul, who was a theologian.

40 CHORISTERS TURNED OUT LAST NIGHT FOR FIRST PRACTICE OF THE CORONATION MUSIC

The first practice for the Coronation service in St. John's Church, on June 22, was held last night, when 40 members of the choir turned out to practice Handel's Coronation Anthem, "Zadock the Priest." This is the anthem that will be sung in every cosmopolitan city of the Empire. In addition to the fact that it is the great anthem to be sung in Westminster Abbey at the Coronation ceremony. In spite of the magnitude of the work the choristers practiced for one hour and a half and left off delighted with the undertaking.

STOPPED A WHITE GIRL'S MARRIAGE TO KOREAN

New York, May 11.—A Seattle despatch to the Herald says: "I am not good looking, and a girl in my fix is not apt to get many chances to marry. I'm not going to become a joke to my friends, so when I chose to marry John Youn, despite his yellow color, it was my own funeral, if you please."

This was the reply of Lydia Osterlund, a wealthy Ballard girl, to those who prevented her marriage to Youn, a Korean, by causing the arrest of the couple when they were about to go aboard a steamship for a British Columbia port, at Tacoma to-day.

On the other side of the line they expected to obtain the marriage license for which they were afraid to apply in King County, because the girl's parents were watching closely to prevent the union.

IS AN INSULT TO THE PROTESTANTS

Would Repeal the Law—Whole Question Should be Under Control of Federal Power.

Sherbrooke, Que., May 10.—At the monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association of Richmond County held at Danville strong resolutions were passed anent the recent judgment annulling the marriage of two Catholics by a Protestant minister. One resolution protests to the Government against the attack made on Protestant ministers in the Province of Quebec, when acting as officers of civil status. Another resolution says that "Inasmuch as the Province of Quebec is a part of the British Empire and under British law and inasmuch as British law provides that the bishop of Rome has no jurisdiction in said Empire, and, whereas a recent judgment in the court of Quebec lends legal sanction to the position of the Roman Catholic Church, enunciated in the Ne Temere decree of Pius X., declaring that no marriage ceremony performed by a Protestant minister between parties either of whom is, or even has been a member of the Roman communion, is a legal marriage.

"This association does most solemnly and indignantly protest against the above mentioned judgment as an infringement of British liberties, an insult to the Protestant citizens of his Majesty's realm, and a serious menace to the moral health of the community.

THE POPE'S CONDITION IS CAUSING MUCH ANXIETY

Rome, May 11.—It was learned today that the three sisters of the Pope are virtually acting as his nurses, owing to his enfeebled condition. The Pope displays symptoms of arterial degeneration, and is rapidly losing his powers of resistence. His general condition excites apprehension.

Either Dr. Pottazi or Marchia Fava is always within call.

ANNOYING

SIR WILFRID—"Now What Did He Wake Up For? I Found This First and Let Him Have It."—Advt.

ELOPING WIFE FORGIVEN BY AGGRIEVED HUSBAND

CHARGE AGAINST MRS. J. P. KENNEDY WITHDRAWN AND SHE GOES HOME ON HUSBAND'S ARM.

Seagreaves, the Man With Whom She Eloped Also Returned to Niagara Falls on the Same Train.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 11.—Mrs. Kennedy, the eloping wife of the Rev. J. P. Kennedy, former pastor of the Morrison street Baptist church returned home last night in the custody of Provincial Officer Thomas Delaney, was arraigned before Magistrate Fraser, discharged and was welcomed to the bosom of her husband.

SEAGREAVES ALSO RETURNS.

Ralph Seagreaves, with whom she eloped ten days ago, returned to this city on the same train, and was present in police court when the woman was arraigned and discharged. He accompanied her and her custodian all the way from Winnipeg, where they were apprehended a week ago to-night.

TAR AND FEATHERS MENTIONED.

Feelings here runs exceedingly high against Seagreaves, and there is considerable talk of tar and feathers for the young Englishman.

Delaney with the woman arrived in Toronto yesterday afternoon about 3.30 o'clock. They were met at the Union Station by the woman's husband, who accompanied them to this city. Seagreaves was on the same train, riding in the day coach. Delaney told last night that they were a day out from Winnipeg before he had any intimation that Seagreaves was on the train. Then Mrs. Kennedy said to the officer: "I believe my friend is on the train."

Seagreaves left the train at Toronto and saw the greeting between husband and wife and rode in the same coach from Toronto to Merritton, where the woman, her husband and the officer left the train. He continued to this city and they proceeded from Merritton by trolley. At the city line they left the trolley and were met by a hack, which carried them to the City Hall, where Seagreaves had proceeded them. He saw the coach drive up and the party got out. He followed them into the police court room.

ENGLISHMAN IS NERVY.

After the arraignment and the couple had departed for the clergyman's home Seagreaves was accosted by Chief of the Provincial Police, William H. Mains. Mains told Seagreave that he was possessed of an unusual brand of "nerve" to return to this city on the same train, and he only regretted that he was not answerable to the law for some crime. "You are a detriment to the respectibility of the city and I wish there was some way of getting rid of you," Mains told the man.

Kennedy is 49 years old. His wife is 29. He met with an accident some years ago and has since been a partial invalid.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

The resignation of the Rev. J. P. Kennedy, from the pastorate of the Morrison street Baptist church, has been accepted with regret by the congregation. A meeting of the Church Board was held and a letter drafted to the pastor. It read in part:

"A resolution was unanimously past appointing a committee to draft a memorial to express to you the hearty appreciation of your work during the thirteen years in which you have labored patiently, conscientiously and faithfully among the members of the Church, and convey to you their heartfelt sympathy in this your present sorrow and distress."

VICE AMONG CHILDREN VICIOUS MEN WANT GAIN

"Different forms of vice have been let loose among the children," stated Mr. H. E. Irwin before yesterday morning's session of the Toronto and Kingston Presbyterian Synod in St. James Square Presbyterian Church, Toronto.

"This question is of personal purity. It has been brought home to us, and the question was first raised in London. The men should have stood behind that woman instead of against her statements. It is a matter of intense seriousness. It is a case of the greed of man. These different forms of vice have been let loose for the getting of gain.

"The children must be protected from these fiends. The Public schools affords a way to education. When the Government says that we must take care of them!

PHYSICAL DAMNATION.

"They must be protected, for literature is being circulated which leads to physical damnation.

"There are organized gangs of boys who meet each week and compare their pilferings to see who are the victors."

PAY OF THE MINISTERS.

In submitting the report on systematic giving Rev. James Buchanan, of Dundalk, applied the big stick in connection with ministers' salaries.

"Could we not relieve the pastor of the financial work of the Church?" he asked, in pointing out the advantages and increased givings under the new system.

He intimated that the ministers must have more money to live on, stating that they must have more than "a Toronto policeman and a Toronto window cleaner." The ministers are handicapped in every sense. Men are leaving the ministry time and again. There is a shortage even in the colleges.

MUST HAVE MONEY.

"We will not solve our missionary problem until we have sufficient money to pay. Under the systematic giving the Algoma Presbytery increased their givings one hundred and twenty per cent., while Temiskaming increased their givings sixty per cent. Toronto is handicapped and burdened we understand.

"How can we lay aside a bank account when you get up to the dead line of fifty giving to fifteen spotlites outside of your own church, when you only get a salary of $900 a year?" he asked.

"There are so many rich men in Toronto, shelling out each year that they will have to come to Dundalk and have me board them for a few weeks. We know how to handle societies, but we don't know how to handle money. We have no business methods. If we go after the money through men who are not afraid of their clothes and boots, we will get it."

GUILTY OF CRIME.

Mr. W. A. Charlton followed dealing with the same matter. "We are guilty of crime in the way in which we pay our ministers," he stated. "The very first move should be to make an increase of 50 per cent., and later on another increase of 50 per cent. It is the laymen who are to blame.

"If we can get money we can get young men. They have the heart to do it, but we haven't the means."

Under systematic givings he pointed out that there was a large increase. In 1907, the fiscal year of the system the total income was $635,000, while in 1909, the income was $935,000.

It was decided to change the time of meeting from the spring to the fall of each year. The next meeting will be held in St. James' Church a year from next October.

SNOW AND RAIN STORM

Winnipeg, Man., May 11.—As a result of the most extraordinary summer snow and rain storm in the history of Manitoba, Winnipeg to-day is completely tied up, the street railway company being out of business and all electric power in Winnipeg cut off. The transformer transmitting tower from the company's hydro electric plant at Lac du Bonnet was struck by lightning this morning, in the midst of a tremendous electric storm.

In spite of Winnipeg's discomfort, the storms means many millions gained to the entire West. A huge volume of water fell during the night.

At nine o'clock this morning the mercury stood at 35, and the coldest of the night was 33, so no damage can result from the cold.

At five o'clock the rain turned to soft snow, which lasted all morning.

Coughs, Colds,

Bronchitis

If there is an ailment in the throat or chest, it is surely essential that the remedy be conveyed direct to the affected part. It's because the healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed into the sore, irritated throat and bronchial tubes, because its balsamic fumes kill the germs and destroy the cause of the trouble. These are the reasons why Catarrhozone never yet failed to cure a genuine case of Catarrh Asthma, Bronchitis or Throat Trouble.

The wonderful soothing vapor of Catarrhozone instantly reaches the furthest recesses of the lungs, produces a healing, curative effect that is impossible with a tablet or liquid, which goes merely to the stomach, and fails entirely to help the throat and lungs.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing, and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substitutor and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only, 50c and $1, at all dealers.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

What is Going on in the North Part of County.

The warm weather we had a week or two ago made some of the boys think summer was right here and the local barbers were busy for a few days. But alas, it turned cold, very cold, and now they who were shorn, are complaining of all kinds of head trouble, stiff necks, etc. Never mind boys, such things happen every spring. Better keep your hair on next time until June.

Our genial friend Ned is back again to the land of promise. Welcome back old boy. He was tendered a reception on his arrival and the freedom of the city.

Forest fires are raging in several directions and seem from Apsley to be pretty extensive. The dry weather and high winds are carrying it fast in a northeasterly direction from Jacks lake and there is another north west of Apsley.

Bruce Coones, the enterprising jobber is going into the lumbering again this summer, having bought the timber on several hundred acres near Apsley.

The Apsley cheese factory will commence work Monday, the 15th. Norman has things in good shape.

The run of suckers is pretty near past. There was a large party drove down one evening last week and got a fair number of fish. Some would have a sleep while others were fishing. One of the drowsy ones on waking up found a nice large sucker gently tapping him on the mouth with his tail. Will thought he would take his spear and lantern and get out on what seemed a nice rock and a likely place for good spearing. Alas it was only a piece of stump and it went down. Also Will, on top of his lantern. He sure got wet. After the boys helped him out he said something. The boys think it best not to print his remarks.

There are quite a few prospectors through this locality just now and have made some good finds. A party went out to the Tucker mine, Township of Lake, last week. A prospector who is here representing a Pittsburg Co., was one of the party. He reports it No. 1, and there will likely be a deal made for the purchase of the mine by the company.

Anvil Jim is doing a rushing business just now, repairing waggons, buggies, implements, &c. He says the business is all right, but thinks of going into poultry and would like to ask the g.f.j. if a cross between a salmon and a black Spanish hen would not be a great egg producer. If successful he says he will flood the American market.

The regular meeting of the Wise men was held in the hall Thursday evening. The debate on the marriage question was fought out for an hour but no decision was reached. Duncan thought that there was really no relationship. Simon maintained in a lengthy speech it should be left over for three months or until after the Coronation. Jumbo suggested a delegation should be sent up to Cobourg University to interview the principal of the University. Anvil Jim said he was sure it would be legal if the parties were married by three ministers of different denominations, assisted by a justice of the Peace. However on a vote being taken, it was decided to adjourn the debate until the reciprocity bill was passed and then consult the Hon. J. P. Stratton.

The indications now are, that summer has come for sure, as William has moved his arm chair out to the balcony and enjoys his pipe and books in the sun between meals.

There was quite a few more prospectors through here the past week or so, and indications are bright for a good find of more than iron. Several small samples of gold and silver were found.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

THE INDIAN AS A STUDENT

Average Attendance is Higher in Unorganized Northwest

In the report which has just been issued by the Department of Indian Affairs, the statistics of attendance at Indian schools show that enrolled Indian pupils in the Western provinces attend school more steadily than do enrolled Indian pupils in the Eastern provinces. Ontario has 2,065 pupils enrolled, British Columbia 1,985, and Manitoba, Northwest provinces, etc., have 4,149. Ontario, it will be noted, has an average attendance of enrolled Indian pupils of 52.57 per cent., while British Columbia has 63.37 per cent. But Saskatchewan maintains an average attendance of 80.61 per cent. of her enrolment of 1,251, and Manitoba's average is 59.41 per cent. of 1,759 enrolled pupils. The unorganized northern in this respect, for with an enrolment of 163 Indian pupils in five schools—three of which are boarding schools—the average attendance is 96.42 per cent. Probably the boarding and industrial schools are responsible for the better average, for in Ontario there are nine of these schools and 78 day schools. Alberta maintains a high average attendance of 76.97 per cent., with 925 pupils enrolled. In New Brunswick there are nine day schools, and the average attendance of 322 Indian pupils was 60.61 per cent. Prince Edward Island has a solitary day school with 42 pupils enrolled, and average attendance was 18, or 42.86 per cent. The total enrolment in Indian schools for the year was 10,635, and the percentage of average attendance 62.34 per cent. for all Canada.

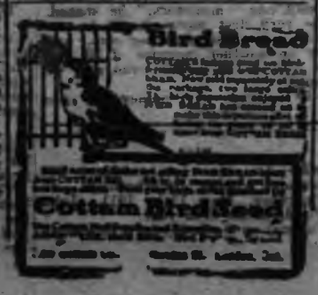
Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment



AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a largp store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

CURES CATARRH

Rich, Pure Essences are Breathed Right to the Spots That Are Sick. Cure Follows.

It is a matter of vital importance to every farmer, horse-owner and stock raiser to know exactly what to do when one of his animals is taken suddenly sick.

The letter of Mr. Frank F. Fullerton, which we print below, gives information of inestimable value, and tells of his experience in curing ailing stock during the past thirty-eight years:

SAVED $1,000 BY NERVILINE

"Several years ago when my horses took colic I used to give them Cayenne Pepper in hot milk, but in a few cases only did it help, and because I had no proper means at hand I lost several valuable animals. Someone told me of the success Mr. Wendling, of Brockville, Ont., had in his racing stables with "Nerviline," so I laid in a supply. It wasn't very long before Nerviline saved the life of a valuable stallion of mine, which was worth at least $1,000.00. This horse was taken with colic, and would have died, had it not been for Nerviline. I have used Nerviline for reducing swellings, for taking out distemper lumps, and easing a bad cough, and always found it worked well. I recommend every man who owns horses or cattle to keep Nerviline on hand."

Mr. Fullerton is one of the best known residents of Stormont, and his recommendation as an experienced and practical horseman proved beyond question how valuable Nerviline really is.

Give Nerviline a trial. It's good for man or beast, internally or externally. 25c per bottle or five for $1.00. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

PENSIONS ROMANCE

Love in a Workhouse Ends in Marriage of the Parties Concerned

Many a romantic union has been brought about by the old age pensions. It was reported at a meeting of the Huntingdon Board of Guardians that a man named Daniel Peacock, who had been in the workhouse since 1897, and would now become entitled to an old-age pension, intended to leave in order to marry another inmate, who would also be entitled to a pension. He wrote thanking the board for the kindness he had received, and said he would like a small memento of the happy time he had spent in the workhouse. The chairman said he thought the men and women were kept separate in the workhouse. The master of the workhouse stated that they were kept separate. A hope was expressed that the man would send the board a piece of wedding cake, and it was decided to subscribe to give him a wedding present. Peacock, who is a widower, was formerly a saddler, and while in the workhouse he has assisted the porter in charge of the door. His bride-elect, a widow named Susannah Wright, first entered the workhouse in 1906. The officials are puzzled to know when the courting was done. Peacock had his periodical day's leave and went to give the necessary notice of the marriage. The registrar, who is also clerk to the guardians, promised to marry the couple for nothing.

LONG TRAMP IN VAIN

Man of 86 Who Walked Nearly 2,000 Miles on Vain Errand

The London Telegraph tells the story, which comes from Mobile, Alabama, of a man of ninety-eight who has tramped nearly 5,000 miles on a vain errand. Frank Schrom, the hero of this feat, at the beginning of the year, received a letter from his daughter living in San Francisco asking him to go to them. Schrom had been wealthy, but his business had failed, and he had lost all his possessions. Too proud to ask for assistance, he set out to walk from New Orleans to the Californian city. Arriving there, he found his daughters, who, in the absence of any word from the old man, had come to the conclusion that he was dead, had left the city, and that their whereabouts was uncertain. Schrom, being disappointed and almost heart broken by his failure, turned his face eastward again and walked back to New Orleans, covering altogether a distance of 2,500 miles. Now he is housed in a home for aged men.

TO PUT DOWN DUELLING

Abbe Lemire has introduced in the Paris Chamber a Bill to make duelling a punishable offence. The penalty varies from imprisonment for six days to five years and fines from $20 to $2,000, according to the gravity of the offence. The severest punishment is for the duellist who kills his man; the lightest for taunting a man for not fighting.

MEMORIES OF THE PAST

The sergeant was drilling a dozen recruits, and after a few days he found that he had not made any impression on them whatever. He decided to tell them a tale:

"When I was a boy my mother bought me a dozen wooden soldiers, which I drilled and tried to instruct, but without any result, of course. Then I lost 'em one by one, and now I have found you again, you wooden ——"

THE "DANGER" CART

Special Vehicle for the Conveying of Bombs, Alleged or Real

Few members of the general public are aware of the method adopted by the Home Office when a bomb, alleged or real, comes into the possession of the London, England, police.

It is generally known that the article under suspicion is at once put into a pail of water, but the after proceedings have, so far, been left to the imagination. Here is what actually happens after a thorough soaking of the objects under suspicion is assured.

What is known as the "danger" cart is sent from the Magazine in Hyde Park, where it is kept, to the point where the "bomb" may be, and not many who might chance to see a small hand-cart, painted a brilliant red, being drawn along the street would imagine that it possibly contained an instrument of destruction, which had been intended to blow up some public place or other.

The cart itself is built on two finely-balanced springs, and has suspended underneath it a smaller, box-shaped receptacle in which the suspected article is placed.

The cart and the suspended box are built with the greatest care, so that, no matter how great the jolting may be, the contents of the lower chamber will be in no way disturbed.

The "danger" cart is generally drawn along by two men in plain clothes, whose duty it is to see the cart and its contents safely housed in the laboratory of the Magazine. There the examination by experts takes place.

ON BOARD A LINER

A Captain Dilates on How the Passengers as a Rule Pass the Time

"I suppose that celebrities crossing the Atlantic are subjected to a good deal of impertinent scrutiny and lionizing," said a man to the captain of an Atlantic liner recently during the course of a conversation concerning life aboard the huge greyhounds which carry thousands of passengers to and from North America every year.

"Not necessarily," was the reply. "As a matter of fact, the first-class passengers may be as exclusive in regard to other folk as if he or she were at home. In the old days, of course, the cabins and saloons on liners were so small and stuffy that passengers spent a lot of their time on deck, with the result that most of them became acquainted with each other on the voyage. Nowadays, however, deck suites of rooms, which include a parlor and a bath-room, are so airy that one can get along very comfortably without quite goin gon deck at all."

"But isn't it usual for passengers to sit about in deck-chairs to enjoy the fresh air?"

"Well, the habit is not quite so popular as many people imagine. There is plenty of ozone in any of the deck cabins, and, as I heard a passenger say on one occasion, the spectacle of men and women spread out asleep with their mouths open is not exactly picturesque. After dinner in the evening passengers will promenade the deck for a while, but fashionable folk seldom show themselves on deck except for this walk. They amuse themselves in their own cabins or play bridge in the private rooms."

THE "SILENT ADMIRAL"

Sir Arthur Wilson Has Entered the Navy Controversy

For the first time in his life Sir Arthur K. Wilson, First Sea Lord and chief expert adviser to the Admiralty, has entered into the public controversy regarding the strength of the Navy. A man who prefers deeds to words, "Tug" Wilson, as he is popularly termed in the Service, is recognized as being without equal as a strategist and tactician. He is one of the very few naval officers who have earned the coveted V.C. This was at the Battle of El Teb in 1884, when the Arabs broke the square formed by the Naval Brigade, and he sprang into the breach and engaged the enemy with his bare fists, having broken his sword. Sir Redvers Buller described the act as "one of the most courageous he had ever witnessed." Sir Arthur is known in the Navy as "the man who never takes a holiday," for he rarely goes ashore, even when his fleet or flagship visits any port. He regards every moment spent away from the Service as wasted.

LONDON GIRLS WERE PRETTIEST

Sir Francis Galton, the last of the great Victorian scientists, who died recently, had a curious bent of mind at times. For instance, he made an instrument for carrying in the pocket by which he could tick off, as he passed in the street, the number of girls who were "good," "medium," or "bad" in regard to looks. "I found," he said, "London to rank highest for beauty and Aberdeen lowest." On another occasion, when he had his portrait painted, he beguiled the tedium of sitting by counting the strokes of the brush that went to make his picture, and the total, to his great surprise, amounted to 30,000.

RUSSIAN WOMEN REVOLUTIONISTS

Goaded Into Anarchism by the Horrors of Czardomism—Careers of Some Leaders

"Let the Great Powers intervene and insist upon a comprehensive reform of Russian monarchical methods in that unhappy country, and we shall hear no more of Anarchism, of Nihilism, nor of the terror that turns men and women into murderers."

And like the writer of this paragraph, which is quoted from a London newspaper many others, since the terrible Stepney tragedy, have pointed out that a great measure of the responsibility for the presence of Anarchists in England lies at the door of Czardomism. Russia breeds Anarchists and Nihilists—high-minded men and women who sacrifice their freedom and lives because of their hatred of the despots who grind down the common people with prison and the knout, and others who, having suffered cruelty and torture, pursue a systematic course of revenge on all society.

A striking illustration of the manner in which Russians are goaded into Anarchism is to be found in the fact that, according to statistics, 35 per cent of all Russian Revolutionists and Nihilists are women. Not ignorant, uneducated women, but in many cases women of culture, wealth, and good breeding, who are so stirred by the wrongs suffered by their countrymen and countrywomen that they gladly join the Revolutionists, well knowing that sooner or later they will be forced from a luxurious home and surroundings to a living death in Siberia.

The death was recently reported, for instance, of Vera Bassolitch, a woman martyr, whose work and fate have inspired thousands of followers. She, together with Vera Figner—both young women of high ideals and education—were arrested as Revolutionaries after the assassination of Czar Alexander II. For nearly twenty years they were confined in the solitary dungeons of Schlusselburg, the Russian Bastille in the middle of the Neva, from which no one has ever escaped; and then they were sent to Siberia. Ultimately, when they were aged, grey-haired, and broken in health, Czar Nicholas gave them a pardon and they were released.

One of the most picturesque figures amongst women Revolutionists of Russia is Vera Figner, whose father was one of the distinguished generals of the Napoleonic wars. Betrayed by a traitor, she was condemned to twenty years in the Schlusselburg fortress for alleged participation in every one of the attempts on the life of the late Czar. Those incarcerated in this fortress are considered as buried alive, no intercourse or communication with the outer world being allowed, not even with their own nearest relatives. But Vera Figner survived the horrors of twenty years' solitary confinement and exile in Siberia, and is still working for the enlightenment of ignorant Russians.

Flogged to Death

A name revered by all Russian Revolutionists is that of Mme. Sigida, who, aroused to a frenzy of indignation through seeing an invalid female prisoner in the Siberian colony of Kara, to which they had both been exiled, flogged by a warder, was herself flogged to death because she struck him. In the prison records it is written, "Mme. Sigida committed suicide by poisoning herself," but truth, like murder, will out, and the crime of the warders of Kara has been fully proved.

Terrible indeed were the tortures and cruelty meted out to Marie Spiridonova, who three years ago shot Colonel Lushanovsky, who flogged the peasants when they were unable to pay taxes, or ordered the Cossacks to shoot down the strikers and to torture their wives and children. She was condemned to death, but the inhuman treatment she had suffered before her trial induced the authorities to commute the death-sentence, although it would have been more merciful to have carried out the extreme penalty of the law, for to-day she is working out a miserable existence in a Siberian mine, and is said to be the only chained woman convict in Siberia.

A Princess in Exile

One of the most remarkable incidents in the history of the Russian movement was the sentencing to Siberia of M. Lopukhin, President of the Police Department until 1906, who was accused of sympathising with the Revolutionists. His wife, born a princess and a friend of the Czarina, followed her husband into exile, and the once leader of fashionable society in St. Petersburg is now a member of a colony of Siberian convicts.

These are but a few of the women Nihilists of Russia, who, in the word of M. Prelooker, "have given up their homes, sold their costly gowns and furs, and have gone bravely out to face death, and worse than death."

Of these women, Catherine Breshkovskaya is the honored leader. She is known as the "well-beloved grandmother of the Revolutionists." For twenty-three years she was incarcerated in various prisons in Siberia, sometimes in solitary confinement, sometimes with a few companions in an Arctic climate surrounded by an eternity of snow, but undaunted in spite of all. "We may die in exile, and our children may die in exile, but something will come out of it at last," she says.

HOW CROCKETT SCORED

Among popular present-day novelists whose work was condemned as the first place by publishers is Mr. S. R. Crockett, of "Stickit Minister" fame. When he offered his first volume to a Scotch firm it was returned with a polite note assuring him that there was no market for that sort of thing. The letter was marked "No 13th." In later years when the same publishers asked him for one of his manuscripts he politely requested them to refer to their previous correspondence with him marked "296th."

A FOUR-FOOTED PATIENT

A dog was brought to the West London Hospital, Hammersmith, for treatment. Its owner, a young woman, stated that the poor animal had been run over, and she feared the bone of its foot was broken. Being unable to pay for the advice of a veterinary surgeon, she had brought it to the West London. The hurt was carefully washed and dressed by the casualty officer, and the patient was then allowed to be taken home. The owner left full of gratitude for the care and attention bestowed on her pet.

Every man believes his experience would make an interesting book.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Price of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

THE U. S. SENATE MAY KILL IT, SAYS W. J. BRYAN

Woodstock, Ont., May 10.—"Wait until the reciprocity measure reaches the Senate, it would not surprise me at all if the United States Senators slaughtered it when they come to consider it."

William Jennings Bryan took time to say this this morning. He arrived from St. Thomas on the morning train with a heavy grip which he jocularly declared was full of reciprocity arguments. He would enter upon no discussion of reciprocity other than to express the opinion that the Senate would kill the bill. Mr. Bryan was met at the station by Y.M.C.A. officials, and given an auto drive into the country. At noon he addressed a business men's luncheon on Y.M.C.A. work, and to-night will deliver his address on the "Prince of Peace," at Knox Church.

ANY UNTOWARD INCIDENT ADJOURNS THE TRIAL

Any little untoward incident during the trial of the Camorrists at Viterbo, Italy, is followed by adjournment of the sitting. For instance:

March 10—Opening day—Two men fight in the cage. Loud cries. The court adjourns.

March 14—Four jurors drawn. One laughs "demoniacally." The court adjourns.

March 15—Erricone, one of the prisoners, spits in a photographer's face and threatens to kick him into the next world. The court adjourns a while. Later, when the twelfth juror is drawn, the whole band of Camorrists in the cage laugh "ironically" in chorus, whereupon the court again adjourns.

March 20—A bearded juryman reads in a paper that a clairvoyant has prophesied a bearded juryman will die. He raises a clamor. Five other bearded jurymen shriek at their beards and howl. The court adjourns.

March 21—Erricone hurls verbal insults at Abbatemaggio, who has a cage by himself, and the informer "collapses in a burst of rage and tears." Court adjourns. Later, Vittozzi, the priest throws a fit. The court adjourns again.

March 27—The prisoners in the cage "jump to their feet and shake their fists at the witness." Someone yells. The court adjourns.

March 28—The prisoners scream at Abbatemaggio when he is testifying. The sitting of the court is "suspended in confusion." Later, Abbatemaggio writhes in rage at the gibes of the prisoners. Again the court adjourns.

April 1—Vittozzi and Garofalo faint. The court adjourns.

April 5—Vittozzi feints. The court adjourns.

April 9—Somebody blows a whistle. The court adjourns.

April 20—Esposito, a prisoner, hurls his glass eye at the judge's feet. The court adjourns.

May 4.—Two Camorriste yell at each other. The court adjourns.

VANCOUVER

THE METROPOLIS OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Where fortunes are being made by investment, which cannot be equalled anywhere else in Canada. The position that Vancouver occupies, the same on the Pacific, as Montreal occupies on the Atlantic, also the fact that Vancouver is an open port the whole year round, means beyond a possible doubt, that Vancouver will be the greatest city in the Dominion.

Vancouver is the only gateway to the Orient from the whole of Canada, which demonstrates that this will be the greatest Canadian shipping port, owing to the enormous development of western Canada. This together with the fact that the immense wealth of the natural resources of the province of British Columbia, its timber,: fisheries, fruit, coal and other minerals, must make it clear, that you can invest your money here to better advantage than elsewhere.

Vancouver offers to-day, the opportunity of a life time for both the small and the large investor, and if you will act on our advice we will positively guarantee to make returns for you that will surprise you. We have a reputation that we are proud of, and can furnish the very best references. Do not delay, write us at once.

New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the WaWa hotel, Britannia, Forest Mead, Portage, Dorcaster and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Monday.

CURES CATARRH

Rich, Pure Essences are Breathed Right to the Spots That Are Sick. Cure Follows.

It is a matter of vital importance to every farmer, horse-owner and stock raiser to know exactly what to do when one of his animals is taken suddenly sick.

The letter of Mr. Frank F. Fullerton, which we print below, gives information of inestimable value, and tells of his experience in curing ailing stock during the past thirty-eight years:

"Several years ago when my horses took colic I used to give them Cayenne Pepper in hot milk, but in a few cases only did it help, and because I had no proper means at hand I lost several valuable animals. Someone told me of the success Mr. Wendling, of Brockville, Ont., had in his racing stables with "Nerviline," so I laid in a supply. It wasn't very long before Nerviline saved the life of a valuable stallion of mine, which was worth at least $1,000.00. This horse was taken with colic, and would have died, had it not been for Nerviline. I have used Nerviline for reducing swellings, for taking out distemper lumps, and easing a bad cough, and always found it worked well. I recommend every man who owns horses or cattle to keep Nerviline on hand."

SAVED $1,000 BY NERVILINE

Mr. Fullerton is one of the best known residents of Stormont, and his recommendation as an experienced and practical horseman proved beyond question how valuable Nerviline really is.

Give Nerviline a trial. It's good for man or beast, internally or externally. 25c per bottle or five for $1.00. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Runaway.

Assisted the Firemen.

Chief Howard and the members of the Fire Brigade are exceedingly grateful for the assistance rendered them at the big fire Wednesday morning. Amongst those who deserve special mention are Messrs. G. Hurtubuise of the C.G.G., Archie Barbeau, of the Fuel and Cartage Co., James LeBar and Robt. Stargeon. Firemen should always receive help when needed, and we trust the example set in this case by the above named citizens will be generally followed hereafter.

Children Are Ill.

The Times was informed yesterday that there is considerable sickness at the Children's Shelter just now, caused by a leakage in a tank situated about ten feet to the west of the building. The attention of the proper authorities has been called to it two or three times but without result. This condition of things should not be permitted to continue, and it will doubtless lead to a serious outbreak of sickness. We hope immediate action will be taken to have the evil remedied.

Mr. Phelan's Appointment.

Ex-Ald. Harry Phelan has been appointed agent for Peterborough district, for the B. & R. Company, of Calgary. This company is large dealers in western city and farm property, and no doubt will do a big business here. Mr. Phelan has opened an office at 430 George street, opposite the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company, where he will be pleased to see all those interested in western lands.

No Oil for the Streets.

Owing to the high winds and the lack of oil, nothing but clouds of dust was to be seen on the streets yesterday. City Engineer Hay had all the watering carts available out, but still the dust raged. Oil cannot be received quick enough to cover the streets. Mr. Hay expects a consignment almost any hour and feels confident of being able to master the dust once he secures a sufficient supply to sprinkle the streets of the city thoroughly.

Walter Green, accompanied by Brothers Dr. Morrow, ex-Mayor Rush and Mr. Ralph Edwards. Mr. Mantell wishes to thank his many friends for the kindness he has received. He may be seen about any day, working in his garden, and walking about the city with his little three year old grandchild.

Father Gets Children.

In our issue of Tuesday last there appeared particulars of a kidnapping case which occurred in this city. Two children aged two and six respectively, were taken from the home of their grandmother on Sunday morning, by the children's mother, who it appears is living apart from her husband, Mr. Chas. Boyles, the father of the children who lives in Toronto, was notified by our Police Department, and the result was that the woman and children were arrested on their arrival in Toronto, and the youngsters were subsequently returned to their father. Mr. Boyles had the children photographed yesterday morning, so as to be ready in case they should be stolen from him at any future time.

HIS FOOT UNDER AXE!

Zam-Buk Proved Very Useful.

Mrs. H. Sawers, of Keene, Ont., says:—"I must write you in praise of Zam-Buk, a proof of the merits of which we have just had. My husband is engaged on a farm, and one day, while chopping wood, the top of the axe broke and fell upon his foot, cutting a nasty gash. The wound was so bad that we first thought we would have to get a doctor, but we finally decided to dress the cut with Zam-Buk. Well, the Zam-Buk treatment proved a success. It not only eased the pain, but it prevented any inflammation; and right from first applying it, the cut began to heal. It is now completely healed, and my husband says he will never be without a box of Zam-Buk in the house, for we are sure it saved us a great deal of expense."

Over and over again Zam-Buk has been proved to be the worker's best remedy. As soon as applied to a cut a burn, a scald, or any skin injury, it relieves the pain and sets up healing. It also sterilises the wound and prevents blood-poisoning or inflammation.

It is a sure cure, too, for eczema, piles, ulcers, old wounds, bad leg, ringworm, scalp sores, festering, running sores, boils, eruptions, chafings, insect stings, sore feet, etc. It's absolutely pure solute purity, also, makes it the ideal balm for babies. Zam-Buk Soap should be used along with the balm for washing all sore places. This soap will be found excellent for baby's bath, even where the balm is not being used.

All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c box, and Soap at 25c tablet, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. Refuse substitutes and imitations.

His life had always been an exemplary one, and his kindly disposition and friendly manner gained for him friends innumerable. It may be said about Mr. Wood that he was a man without an enemy.

While a young man, Mr. Wood was united in marriage to Miss Porter, daughter of the late David Porter, and sister of Mrs. J. T. Wright, of East City. Mrs. Wood survives, together with seven of the twelve children born to the union. These are: Mr. George A. Wood, of Messrs. Hermann & Co., Rhode Island; Mr. E. R. Wood, managing director, Dominion Securities Corporation, Toronto; Mr. R. W. Wood, of Messrs. Trites-Wood Co., Fernie, B.C.; Mr. F. P. Wood, of Messrs. Bailie Wood & Co., Toronto; Mr. W. C. Wood, of Messrs. Wood, Barnett & Co., Toronto; and Misses Annie L. and A. E. Wood, at home.

The splendid traits of character with which he was endowed, seems to have been handed down to his children, who are all holding high positions in the business and financial world. The family were always attached to their parents, and did everything possible to comfort and cheer Mr. Wood in his declining years, and especially during his last sickness.

The funeral will leave the family residence, 464 Rubergt avenue, tomorrow afternoon, at 3.30 p.m., and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

In cases of rheumatism relief from pain makes sleep and rest possible. This may be obtained by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by all dealers.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operations of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business. It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. There is no personal liability. An issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market in Vancouver and a considerable amount has already been taken up.

PRESBYTERIANS SAY ROMAN CATHOLICS ARE LEAVING CHURCH IN QUEBEC.

Over 40,000 Protestants—Church has Many Communicants—Mixed Marriage Law an Evil.

Perth, May 10.—That the French Protestant vote in Quebec was no longer a negligible quantity was the declaration made to-day at the Presbyterian Synod of Montreal and Ottawa. It was also declared that French Canada, like old France, was slowly, but surely drifting away from Catholicism.

The discussion arose in connection with the report on French evangelization, which was the most important one presented. Rev. James Taylor, of Chelsea, Quebec, presented the report. He said that the Roman Catholic Eucharistic Congress had been designed by God to show the progress of true religion. It had displayed the difference between Catholicism and Protestantism to the advantage of the latter.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER SAILED YESTERDAY FOR LIVERPOOL

PREMIER CHATTED WITH STAR CORRESPONDENT AT THE CHATEAU FRONTENAC.

Says He is Feeling Well—Messrs. Borden and Brodeur and Col. Sam Hughes All Goll on Same Ship.

Quebec, May 12.—Sir Wilfrid, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. C. J. Lemaire, arrived this morning from Ottawa and registered at the Chateau Frontenac. He received many visitors, among them them the new Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Francois Langelier, and Hon. Justine Carroll.

When the Toronto Star correspondent called upon him at the hotel to interview him this morning Sir Wilfrid received him cordially. The Prime Minister looks healthy and nimble, and does not seem at all tired by the sessional work. When the correspondent asked Sir Wilfrid if he had something to say to the Canadian people before leaving Canada for such an important mission, he smiled and said: "I would like very much to oblige you in that way but this is a thing I have never done. I am sorry, but I cannot make any statement to newspapers. This is a principle that I have always kept, and that I will always keep."

Sir Wilfrid added that he was feeling very well, and that he was anxious to get back to Canada as soon as possible, Mr. Robert Laurier, the Prime Minister's nephew, is with him.

Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. Mr. Brodeur arrived also to-day. Colonel Sam Hughes, M.P., Lindsay, Ont., registered also at the Chateau. All leave this afternoon at 3 o'clock on board the SS. Virginian.

The treasurer's report for the year was read and it was very encouraging the total receipts being $652.

IF I WERE MAYOR
What I Would Do

CLEAR OFF THE BUGS.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If I were mayor I would bring the whole police force from Chief Thompson down, on the carpet for allowing the police premises to become so filthy that the "bugs are chasing each other up and down the walls of the cells," as Chief Thompson graphically puts it. Let them take a scrubbing brush and some good soap and water and occasionally clean the place. What nonsense, to offer this as a reason why new premises are needed. What really is required is a little elbow grease applied with a scrubbing brush, and the "bugs" would soon disappear.

Soap and Water.

PUBLISH THE ROLLS.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If I were mayor I would try and give the ratepayers a square deal by publishing the assessment rolls, so that they would be in a position to know what others are contributing towards the civic treasury.

Taxpayer.

CLEAN UP THE YARDS.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—You ask for suggestions as to what the mayor should do as a public official. If I were mayor I would see that all the streets, lanes and back yards were cleaned and kept in that condition.

Amos.

CLOSE THE NICKLE SHOWS.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If I were mayor, I would close the cheap shows that are rapidly spoiling the youth of the city. Not only are they doing this, but they are taking all the loose change in sight from the youngsters as well as older ones.

D.R.H.

THE CHIMES.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If I were mayor I would insist on having the ownership and care of the "People's Chimes" vested in the City Council. They in turn might hand them over to the Industrial Commissioner, who might take sufficient time from his complex and onerous duties to see that they are kept in tune. This might mean the

MR. J. H. McCLELLAN AS DEPUTY MINISTER.

According to The Toronto Star, Mr. A. W. Campbell, has resigned his position as Deputy Minister of Railways and Canals at Ottawa. If this is true, and we have no doubt that the report is correct, The Times would suggest that Mr. J. H. McClellan, Superintendent of the Trent Canal, be promoted to the vacant position. That he possesses the necessary qualifications, everyone who knows him will admit. He would perform the duties of deputy minister with credit to himself and advantage to the whole country. The removal of Mr. McClellan to Ottawa would prove a loss to the Trent Canal, which has developed so wonderfully under his capable and energetic management. He would carry with him, however, to his new and greater field of activity, a full knowledge of the value of this waterway as a means of transportation.

In the selection of Mr. McClellan the government would be making no mistake, as the appointment not only would be popular with both political parties, but what is better still, it would be in the best interests of the country.

POPE SUSPENDS PUBLIC AUDIENCE
HE FEELS EFFECTS OF GOUT

Rome, May 12.—Pope Pius is feeling the effects of his recent attack of gout, and the public audiences planned for this morning were suspended.

Those who had obtained invitations were turned back when they reached the Vatican.

The general condition of his Holiness, is however, giving little alarm to his physicians, who permitted the private audiences set for to-day. At one of these the Pontiff had a long conversation with Bishop Bianooni of Ferentino.

YOUNG MAN MET WITH A BAD ACCIDENT AT HEALEY'S FALLS

Cobourg, May 12.—A young man of the name of Clark, who resides near Havelock, met with an accident at Healey's Falls on Wednesday, in which he lost his leg just below the knee. He was engaged in construction work and was riding on a small engine. In jumping off he slipped and the wheel passed over his leg. He was married three weeks ago.

U. S. SENATE WILL PASS SOME SORT OF A RECIPROCITY BILL

St. Catharines, Ont., May 12.—Congressman Sammers, Republican, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who has just returned from Washington, last evening told the Canadian Press that he was pretty sure that the United States Senate would pass some sort of a reciprocity bill.

"The present bill," said he, "will be greatly amended, because so many different interests are being brought to bear upon the Senate."

PARK ST. CHURCH IN GOOD CONDITION

Rev. Mr. Riddiford occupied the chair at the annual meeting of the congregation of the Park street Baptist church, held on Friday evening. There was a good attendance, and a spirit of buoyancy prevaded the meeting.

The annual reports of the clerks showed that forty-six new members had been added to the church during the year, which places the membership over the two hundred mark.

After the reading and adopting of the various reports, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, and the following were elected to fill the various positions in a most harmonious manner:

Pastor—Rev. W. C. Riddiford.
Clerk—Harold Foster (re-elected).
Treasurer-Deacon—Wm. Barrie, re-elected.
Deacons—Deacons Gillespie, Kemp, Barrie, Inkpen, Burstin, re-elected.
Brethern Geo. Whaley and Boyce elected to fill vacancies.
Choir Leader and Organist—Harold Foster, (re-elected).
Sunday School Superintendent—Mr. W. Moore.
Janitor—George Lily.

The following brethern will constitute the financial board for the year: Garside, Barrie, sr., Kemp, Hobel, Gillespie, Burstin, Whatley, Jackson, Boutt, Loomis, Inkpen, Taylor, sr.

Deacon Wm. Kemp was re-elected to represent the Park street church on the Charity Board.

The ushers for the year are as follows:

Chairman Geo. Whatley, C. Tuffman, D. Loomis, A. Inkpen, F. Barrett, C. Cuddes, Gordon Kidd, Harold Fallis, R. Castle, John Brown.

Owing to the lateness of the hour the roll call was postponed for two weeks. Refreshments were then served and all went home feeling that the prospects were bright for a happy and prosperous year together.

AN OILY SUBJECT.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Enclosed please find a letter from Mr. A. S. Rogers, General Manager, "Queen City Oil Company, Limited," (from whom we get our road oil),—which I received this morning, and which you will kindly publish as promised.

T. A. S. HAY, City Engineer.

Mr. T. A. S. Hay,
City Engineer, Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—Our representative, Mr. Clancy, forwards yours of the 9th, with clipping of a letter which appeared in the Peterborough "Times" charging that your city authorities were buying oil, (for the streets), which the writer says, "I believe fully half water." It is strange that any sane man would rush into print such an absurd statement, and suggest, as he does, that "It should be examined by a competent party to let us know exactly how much water it contains." If there were any water in the oil it would not take an expert to see the dividing line between the two. Has the gentleman ever tried to MIX OIL AND WATER?

As you are aware, we are shipping to you Road Oil in tank carloads. This is pure Petroleum Oil absolutely. Of course, we do not know what you do with it after you receive it, but presume that you put it on the streets as it is received. The charge that you are buying oil largely mixed with water as oil is too absurd to merit any reply, as any one of your citizens, who is sufficiently interested to take a sample from the street wagon, could personally prove the falsity of the letter which appeared in The "Times."

Yours truly,
(Signed) A. S. ROGERS,
General Manager, The Queen City Oil Company, Limited.

MR. BAILEY IS RIGHT.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A letter from Mr. W. A. Bailey in the Examiner a few days ago is along the right lines. People should always be able to get to the water front, and rows of dirty, cheap looking boat shacks should not be permitted to spoil the beauty of our river.

PROTESTANTS TO UNITE.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I see by the Toronto papers that a mass meeting is to be held in Massey Hall to protest against the ne temere decree of the Roman Catholic Church, and also to form a powerful Protestant organization to fight the Church's aggression.

Peterborough already has a Protestant Federation, and one that is doing quiet but excellent work. It

WERE INSTANTLY KILLED AT NORWOOD

Norwood, May 12.—Frank McMillan, aged thirty eight years, and his wife, aged thirty-three, well known residents of the township of Dummer, were instantly killed here at 11 o'clock this morning, when the waggon in which they were riding, was struck by a westbound C.P.R. freight train. The unfortunate couple were hurled some yards and were dead when picked up.

It appears that Mr. and Mrs. McMillan were in Norwood on business and were driving home, when the accident happened. As they approached the station crossing a Canadian Pacific freight train, going at a considerable rate of speed, was coming along from the east. Apparently Mr. and Mrs. McMillan did not mark the approach of the train, but drove on right in front of the engine, which caught the waggon fairly in the middle, smashing it to pieces, and throwing the occupants out with such force that death was instantaneous. The horses had gotten clear of the rails and were not injured.

The victims of the double fatality were widely known and most highly respected by the people of this district and the accident, the news of which spread rapidly, has been a shock to the community.

The bodies are being kept at the station until the arrival of Coroner Dr. Kindred of Havelock, who, it is expected, will likely order an inquest.

Two children, a son and daughter, survive the unfortunate couple.

REV. DR. LANGFELDT PRESENTED WITH PURSE

ON THE EVE OF HIS DEPARTURE FROM PETERBOROUGH.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was waited on at his home by a committee representing a number of his friends in Peterborough, and presented with a purse of gold, together with the following address:

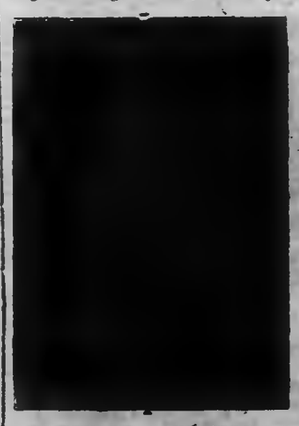
The Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, D.D.,
Peterborough.

Dear Doctor Langfeldt,—The undersigned, representing a number of your friends in Peterborough, request your acceptance, on the occasion of your leaving Peterborough, of the enclosed, as some expression of appreciation of the many acts of kindness which characterized your work here.

We wish for you in your new field of work much success, and for Mrs. Langfeldt and yourself every possible happiness. On behalf of donators.

GEORGE F. WARD.
E. A. PECK.
F. ADAMS.

Dr. Langfeldt, with much feeling, expressed his heartfelt thanks. As our readers already are aware, Dr. Langfeldt resigned the Rectorship of



REV. DR. LANGFELDT
Formerly Rector of St. Luke's Church, East City.

St. Luke's church, which position he filled since September, 1901, and has been appointed Rector at Innisfil, Simcoe County, by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese. He has already entered on his work in his new field of labour. In the departure of Mr. Langfeldt, Peterborough loses one of its most esteemed and valued citizens. As a preacher of the Gospel, Dr. Langfeldt has few equals and we believe no superiors in this part of the country at least. Eloquent and impressive, his sermons were the means of leading many into the better way, and did much for the uplifting and betterment of the people generally. He is a cultured speaker and has a wonderful command of the English language, although German-born, is marvellous. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was born in Gustrow, in the Duchy of Mecklenburg, Germany. He was educated in one of the excellent gymnasia of Germany and in due course entered the University of Rostock, where he studied medicine for a time but abandoned it for arts, and advanced to the degree of M.A., and later gained the degree of Ph.D. In 1895 he paid a visit to Canada, and coming under religious influences that led to his studying for holy orders, in 1896 he entered upon his studies at Wycliffe College, and with no little knowledge of English, that in the beginning he had to use an English-German dictionary to translate his English text books. He was ordained as deacon by the late Bishop Sweatman in 1899, a priest in 1900. His first parish was Omemee, where he remained till 1901 when he became Rector of St. Luke's. While Dr. Langfeldt is a man of scholarly attainments, his highest quality is his generosity and large heartedness. He is not only large in sympathy with those in trouble, sorrow, need, sickness or any other adversity, but generous in his relief, and in departing from Peterborough, he will leave behind him many grateful hearts, big with memories of his practical kindness and unostentatious charity. The Times joins his hosts of friends here in wishing Dr. Langfeldt and family a prosperous and happy future in his new home.

ALEXANDRA IN GOOD HEALTH, THOUGH STILL SORROWFUL

London, May 12.—Queen Mother Alexandra, who returned a week ago from a cruise in the Mediterranean, has taken up her residence at Sandringham Palace, where she will remain until after the Coronation.

During the cruise and since her return, the Queen Mother has enjoyed good health. She reached here just in time to be present at the memorial service on the anniversary of the death of King Edward, and her distress during the service was marked.

As yet she has scarcely recovered from the strain, but otherwise the royal widow is in excellent health.

London, May 12.—King George today formally opened the Festival of Empire at Crystal Palace, it being the first ceremony in which he has taken part since his accession.

The King and Queen left Buckingham Palace early in the afternoon for a processional ride to Crystal Palace. The opening ceremonies lasted nearly three hours. A chorus of 4,500 persons and an orchestra of 500 welcomed the King and Queen at the Palace.

The Festival of Empire exhibition includes a magnificent display of the Empire's produce, manufactures, art, treasures, and historical relics. The exhibit of diamonds alone is valued at $10,000,000.

The chief feature of each day's programme will be the pageant of London and Empire, a series of thirty-two scenes, depicting great historical events in which London or any of the colonies have [illegible].

Five thousand performers, 500 horses, and 500 oxen take part in each spectacle.

A Well Deserved Honor.

Mr. J. A. Calverwell, of Port Hope, the "Electric Power King," has been made a life member of the Engineers' Club of Toronto, the leading engineering society of the Province of Ontario. The Times congratulates Mr. Calverwell on this new honor. Mr. Calverwell has made a complete engineering and financial success of his power companies in Central Ontario, both on the Trent and Otonabee Rivers, and in which although not now actively engaged, he has still a very large financial interest in the electric merger. Mr. Calverwell is also an associate member of The American Institute of Electrical Engineers of New York, and recently was made a member of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association of Philadelphia, having delivered an address at Atlantic City on "The Trent Canal and the benefits of water transportation" while there taking a holiday. A prominent legislator has stated that Mr. Calverwell has secured stronger ministerial official endorsation for his undertakings than any man in the history of Canada.

DEARER TEA

Is Likely—Rubber Monopolizing Attention in Ceylon

There are distinct signs which point to a rise in the price of the cup that cheers but does not inebriate. In the first place, the use of tea in foreign countries is rapidly increasing, the result being a bigger demand on the resources of the tea plantations of India, Japan, China, and Java. Last year, for instance, there was altogether an increase in the shipments of tea to foreign countries of 14,000,000 pounds as compared with 1909.

On the other hand, there was a decrease in the shipments from India to the United Kingdom of over 9,000,000 pounds last year, which is partly explained by the greater demand for tea abroad; and, although Indian production has shown a good increase during the last two years, apparently it is not sufficient to meet the steadily growing demand, and one really short crop in India might make tea dear for years, so closely are supply and demand now adjusted.

Some of the Indian companies hold much spare land, and some of it is suitable for tea, but they have been, and still are, deterred from extension by difficulty in getting labor. Then, again, for increased production growers have mainly to rely upon good weather. There is always the risk of hailstorms and floods, blight and drought, which have to be faced, while working expenses are likely to increase by degrees, owing to the difficulty of finding all the labor for the various branches of tropical agriculture now being developed in the East.

There is another reason why the supply of tea is only just enough to equal the demand. In Ceylon, for instance, only 10,000 acres have been added during the last four years, rubber having monopolised attention. And rubber estates are competing with tea for the coolies of India that both need. Moreover, the yield of the plantations is beginning to diminish by reason of the rubber trees interplanted amongst 75,000 acres of tea. It is now proved, says an expert, and recognised that the heavy shade of rubber trees amongst tea is seriously affecting the output of the latter product, and as time goes on a sharp shortage in the output of tea so situated must be looked for. This would mean an increase in price to the consumer.

AGED TWINS

Two Brothers Celebrate Eighty-First Birthday Anniversary

The other day two brothers, John and William Anstwick, of Selby, Yorkshire, celebrated their eighty-first birthday.

The brothers were born at Burn, a village three miles to the south of Selby. They are the sons of a farm laborer, and were christened at Brayton, near Selby. They are twins, and are two of eight children, four of whom still survive, the oldest being a sister aged eighty-six and the youngest another sister of seventy.

William Anstwick has been a stonedresser and has worked all his life in the quarries. John was appreticed to a tailor at Thorpe. He afterwards went to Selby, where for over forty years he has followed his occupation. He resided in one house nearly half a century.

Both brothers have married and have grown-up families—in fact, grown-up grandchildren. They are both now enjoying the old age pensions.

DICKENS AND THE GHOST

The eldest surviving son of the famous novelist, Mr. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, tells an amusing story in his lecture, "My Father's Life and Works," about life at Gad's Hill. It relates to a ghost which haunted a neighboring piece of waste land, on which stood a monument to a Cavalier named Charles Larking. As the maidservants all threatened to leave, Dickens, armed with a double-barrelled gun, and his two sons with blunderbusses, set out to find it. Suddenly they saw a white object and heard an awful noise. Dickens cried, "Stand fast, or I fire!' It proved to be an asthmatical old goat.

FOR PIPE SMOKERS

M. de Watteville, of Paris, is a collector of pipes, and his study of the question has enabled him to judge people by their pipes. The pipe, he tells us, is characteristic of the race, while the cigar and cigarettes are cosmopolitan. The activity of a race is proportional to the length of the stem of their pipes.

The shorter the pipes the more laborious the people, and, inversely, the longer the pipe the more slothful the people. The more economic the people the shorter the pipe-stem, and, inversely the more prodigal the race—the more gluttonous it is—the bigger is the bowl of the pipe. His last deduction regarding the smoking of pipes is perhaps the most assailable. It is: "The main point in regard to pipes is not to break them."

No one who enjoys the old English or Irish clay will dispute this.

"NONSENSE"

Whilst Lord Archibald Campbell was at Eton, he and his elder brother, the Duke of Argyll, and Lord Ronald Gower were commanded to Windsor by Queen Victoria. Her Majesty turned to Lord Gower and asked what form he was in. "In the fourth, ma'am," he replied. She put the same question to Lord Lorne, and received the same answer. "And what form are you in, Archie?" her Majesty said to Lord Campbell. "Nonsense, ma'am," he replied. The Queen was puzzled. She repeated the question. "Nonsense," repeated Lord Archibald, unabashed. Eventually it was explained that "Nonsense" was really the name of the form, to distinguish it from the "Sense" form, the difference between the two being that in the latter the Latin verses had to make sense, and in the former the boys might write nonsense so long as it scanned.

Alleging that his wife never got his breakfast before 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning, the Rev. Albert B. Schneider, pastor of the Second Reformed Church, Readville, Ind., has filed suit for divorce.

Seven members of the Lindsay Council refused to take the Initiative, Referendum and Recall, so that the electors of that town will be able to look after their own affairs.

AN IRON ISLE

Discovery of Ore on Ramsay, an Island Near Skye

A new mining centre may be opened up as a result of the discovery of iron ore in the little island of Ramsay, which lies between Skye and the mainland of Scotland. The island covers an area of about twenty-eight square miles. The investigations, it is said, have been so satisfactory that a Scotch steel firm has secured an option for the purchase of the entire island. It is believed that recent developments have been considered sufficiently important to justify the erection of blast furnaces for the smelting of ore. The discovery may mean extensive employment for the inhabitants of Ramsay, the adjoining isle of Skye, and the mainland of Rossshire. Skilled labor will be in demand, but a certain proportion of unskilled labor will also be required.

SOLDIER AND SCULPTOR

Adrian Jones Understands a Horse From Tail Tip to Nostril

It is said of Captain Adrian Jones, who has designed the four-horse war chariot, weighing upwards of thirty tons, which is to be erected in London as a memorial to "Peace," that he is probably the only living sculptor who understands a horse from tail-tip to nostril. As a boy he loved and studied horses, and would have liked to become an artist, but his father had other plans, and he entered the Army. He saw much active service, and was then advised to become a sculptor, having devoted most of his spare time when in the Army to painting and sculpture.

ONE MAN, SEVENTEEN VOTES

What a champion pluralist was the Rev. Washbourne West, a late Senior Fellow of Lincoln College, Oxford, who in 1892, at the age of eighty, recorded seventeen votes in different parts of the country and still left half-a-dozen unused. A hundred and twenty votes in four years was Mr. West's achievement; and very proud he was of it, as he more than once told his friends. His only regret was that he could not live to make it two centuries. He recorded eight of his 1892 votes in two consecutive days at places as far apart as Sevenoaks and Mid-Oxford. But this feat was beaten by the seventy-year-old Mr. W. J. Haywood, of Horne Hill, who, at a recent election actually voted in six county constituencies in one day, covering something like 250 miles in his motor-car.

A TRAGIC SIGHT

Mr. Asquith in speaking recently in Edinburgh said: "One of the most tragic sights in our town life is that of a boy sitting in the tail-end of a van reading some trashy story, rapidly graduating, as soon as his present precarious and short-lived occupation comes to an end, for a place in the unemployable. For years past this has been the darkest blot and the most fatal gap in our educational system."

THE PLATELAYER

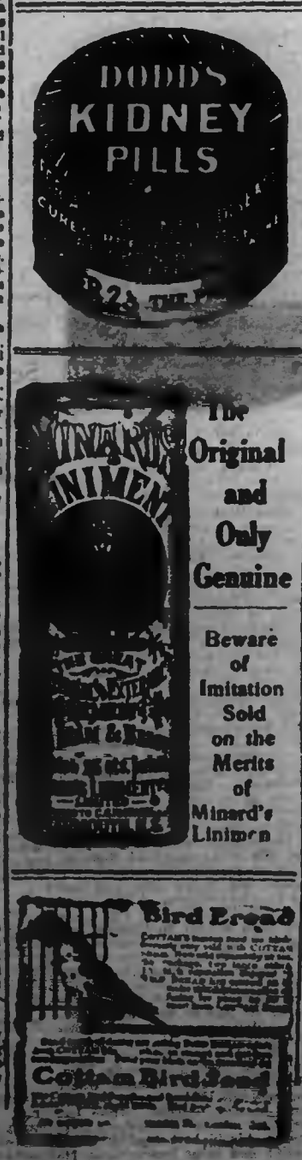
A certain big railway company had occasion to advertise for a platelayer. The day after the advertisement appeared, the candidates were waiting outside, when a well-dressed man, in high hat, etc., rushed up to see the manager.

He was shown in, and was asked his business. The manager was abashed when he was informed that the man had come in answer to the advertisement.

"But what experience have you?" asked the manager.

"Oh, ten years as waiter in a city restaurant," coolly answered the man.

He was politely ordered out.



The Original and Only Genuine

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

A STRANGE RECOVERY

How a Gentleman Came Into Possession of an Ancient Clock

A gentleman who occupies a responsible position under the Birmingham City Council is responsible for the following story: "Some time ago business took him to Sunderland where circumstances brought him into a side street. Here his attention was attracted by a small clock of unusual design exhibited for sale in a second-hand shop. An irresistible impulse prompted him to stop and examine the clock, vainly trying to recall where he had seen it before. As he did so, the vigilant tradesman came forward. The clock was produced, and upon opening the door the strange interest the clock possessed for the Birmingham visitor was explained. Inside was a brass plate, which the prospective purchaser instantly recognized as bearing the name of his grandmother. As a boy-visitor to his grandmother's house some forty-eight years ago, the clock had always exercised a peculiar fascination for him, and upon the death of the old lady he understood that it had been claimed by some relatives of her husband. How it found a place in the Sunderland second-hand shop is a mystery, for the old lady had died in her quiet native Devonshire village. The clock now adorns my informant's Edgbaston residence."

ALCOHOL FROM SAWDUST

A Story About Mark Twain and the Table-leg

There is a story of Mark Twain to the effect that he was once asked whether he was in favor of Prohibition, and he replied that he was not, adding, "What is the use of Prohibition when a man can saw off the leg of a table and get drunk on it?" He was, of course referring to the fact that alcohol has been made from sawdust.

For quite a century past chemists have been experimenting with a view to seeing whether alcohol could be obtained from wood and other cellular substances in commercial quantities. Despite the many experimenters who have engaged in the task with a zeal worthier, perhaps, of a better cause, their efforts have been hitherto unsuccessful. All they have been able to do has been to transform the wood into sugar by hydrolysis, and to convert the sugar thus obtained into alcohol by fermentation; but these processes are too costly to render them practicable from a commercial point of view.

RAISING SUNKEN SHIPS

Filled with Air Which Drives Out the Water

The French submarine boat Narval, which was wrecked and sunk some time ago, has been raised, and has served for some interesting experiments which prove the unreliability of the often recommended method of raising sunken ships by filling them with air. The Narval was sunk by admitting water, and was then filled with air under pressure by the torpedo pumps of two other submarines. Before sufficient water could be expelled the cover of the manhole, which was connected with a view of resisting external pressure alone, was forced open, and the water rushed in. The cover was then made fast by divers, and air was again pumped into the hull. Suddenly the stern of the boat appeared above the surface of the water, while the bow still touched the bottom, so that the boat assumed an almost vertical position. Finally the bow was also raised from the bottom by pumping in still more air. In contrast with this the process actually used in the practical raising of the vessel was far simpler and easier. A scow was anchored over the sunken boat, to which it was attached by chains at low tide. The rising tide lifted the scow and the submarine, and at high tide they could be towed to port. It was shown that it was possible to raise the submarine without making use of the tide by sinking the scow to a certain depth by means of water ballast, making it fast to the submarine, and then pumping out the water.

MYSTERIOUS ACCIDENT

Railway Employe's Substantial Compensation

Of a singular character was an accident on the London and North-Western Railway which was described at Wigan in a claim for compensation made by a lineman named William Beswick, of Rockroad, Latchford, Warrington. Judge Bradbury, in giving judgment, said that after repairing a defect on the line applicant left Bryan Junction by train to return to St. Helens. He was alone in a third-class compartment, and he put his head out of the window to look at the line wires. Something happened—applicant did not know what it was, but he became unconscious. That was the only evidence to show how the accident did happen. At another station applicant was found hanging out of the carriage window on the left-hand side. The injuries were of a most serious character. The only defence set up was that the injuries were not caused by an accident arising out of and in the course of applicant's employment. In his Honor's opinion it was clearly an accident arising out of the man's employment, and there must be judgment for applicant for £44 11s. arrears of compensation and 4s. 6d. a week.

LABOR EXCHANGES.

So vital to the future of this country is the question of the proper distribution of immigrants, and the placing of the unemployed in fields where they are most needed, that our students of social economics might do well to take note of success in Great Britain of an act passed a little over a year ago creating a central and district labor exchanges.

This act was based on the belief that while employment agencies do not create any demand for labor, they do aid properly in adjusting the supply and demand, and so it was decided to establish government labor agencies that should seek to provide work for all applicants, and send them, if necessary with money advanced by the State, to the place where their services were most needed.

In operation little more than a year the report of these agencies in Great Britain has come to us quite recently. From this report it would seem that employers of labor freely sought the aid of these governmental agencies and have found them markedly needed. Employers made about 400,000 applications for labor, and of these 276,000 were filled. The number of applicants for employment at all the labor exchanges average 100,000.

Naturally, more unskilled than skilled workmen find employment through these exchanges, and many of the unskilled laborers have to find employment away from home. Where this was the case, the Mayday necessity to transport the laborer to the place was advanced to him to be repaid out of his wages. So successful have been these governmental agencies, that trades unions, employers' associations and commercial bodies are heartily co-operating with the exchanges, and it seems probable that their number will be materially increased before long.

If Canada could adopt such plan has been advanced and with the example of Great Britain before us, we should have, some practical step might be taken to establish similar agencies here. The present employment agencies found in every large city are in many cases immoral, and in some cases, particularly detriment, on that account especially to labor, are frequently misused and often defrauded.

There is certain large centers of population there is a horde of unemployed, while at the same time the farmers there are crying loud for help. Could the two be brought together, to the mutual advantage of both? It is hard to conceive that will add more to the prosperity and general welfare of this country than a proper system of labor exchanges.

...ory Life of George Gordon Bennett, New York

The famous proprietor of the "New York Herald," Mr. Gordon Bennett, is reputed to be the hardest-worked journalist alive; and although he finds time to go in for yachting, motoring, and sport of all kinds, it is only because he begins his working day at five o'clock in the morning and gets through so much work in one hour as the average man could get through in six. Mr. Bennett will be seventy in a few months, but seems only to grow more energetic as the years pass by; and he can navigate a yacht, steer a motor, or fire a gun with all the accuracy of a man half his age.

"LUCKY LAMBTON"

The Life and Soul of Ladysmith Garrison

So Sir Hedworth Lambton has often been referred to on account of his many extraordinary escapes from death, and the nickname will be revived now that Lady Meux has bequeathed to him $100,000 and the rest of her estate. One of the conditions of the bequest, however, is that he must assume the name and arms of Meux within a year. Sir Hedworth joined the service as a boy of fourteen, and was present at the bombardment of Alexandria and the Battle of Tel-el-Kebir. It is in connection with the siege of Ladysmith, however, that he is especially noted. Sir George Wilkie describing him as the "life and soul of the garrison."

SUGAR-BEET PRODUCTION

Sugar beets are grown most extensively in Ontario and Alberta, where they supply roots for three sugar factories. The area in crop this year is 16,000 acres, which is a substantial increase upon last year. The yield per acre is 5.60 tons, the total yield 153,-000 tons, and the quality 93.15 per cent. The roots supplied to the Berlin factory are testing 17 per cent. of sugar, and at the Wallaceburg factory 16 per cent.; but a product of 5,000 acres in Ontario is being shipped to factories in Michigan. The product of 2,200 acres in that Province is marketed at Wallaceburg and Berlin, where the average price is about $5.95 per ton or better than $67.90 per acre.—Census and Statistics Monthly for October, 1910.

WORKING ON THE C.N.O. RAILWAY

MR. BERT GOSTICK ALMOST BE-CAME A CRIPPLE.

But His Trouble Was Caused by the Kidneys, and He Found Quick Relief and a Complete Cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Barnedale, Lake Joseph, Ont., May 12.—"Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, I am in perfect health again." So says Mr. Bert Gostick, a well known resident of this place. "Before I left the old country," he states, "My breath was bad and my urine was milky. When I came to this country I worked on the C. N. O. Railway, and while there I was taken with pains in my back and Kidneys. I went to a doctor but he did me no good.

"I got so bad that when I came home from work I could not stand up straight and my limbs seemed twice their usual size.

"Reading of Dodd's Kidney Pills I decided to try them, and after taking five boxes I find myself perfectly cured of all my troubles."

Notice how gradually but surely Kidney Disease was getting Mr. Gostick into its clutches. First the urine, then pains in the back, then swollen limbs! But the cure was swift and certain when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Some Stories Told of the Well-Known Lord Fisher

There was no greater admirer of the qualities of Lord Fisher, who, having attained his seventieth birthday, retires from the active list of the Navy, than Queen Victoria. A delightful story is told of how, when a certain French admiral was about to pay a visit to Portsmouth—this was when Sir John was Admiral Superintendent of the dockyard—the Queen requested him to be sure and "be very nice" to the visitor. With a face as impassive as a Chinese mandarin the Admiral replied, "I'll kiss him if you wish it, ma'am!" Devoted to duty, Lord Fisher would brook no shirking from any man under him. A certain captain once sent word that it was impossible to get his ship to such and such a place on a given date. "Umph!" replied "Jacky Fisher," as he is known in the service. "Tell Captain Blank that if he is not ready to leave X—— on the day named I'll have him towed there."

"THE BETTER LAND"

Composed by Dr. Cowen, Who Always Has the Aid of His Pianette

Dr. F. H. Cowen, the famous musician, whose latest work, "The Vow," has been heard for the first time in London, was a young man of twenty-five when he wrote the music of "The Better Land." It was written in an hour or two, on the suggestion of the late Mme. Antoinette Sterling. Dr. Cowen was calling one day upon the popular vocalist, when she read Mrs. Hemans's poem to him, saying she thought it would make a beautiful song for her. When the score was sent to her next morning, Mme. Sterling liked it so much that she offered to buy the copyright from the composer—an unusual course for a singer to take; but to this, fortunately for his pocket, Dr. Cowen would not agree. Dr. Cowen has a mascot which he would not part with for untold gold. This is a little pianette which he has had since he was a boy of fourteen, and every work he has composed has been written with the aid.

LABOR EXCHANGES.

So vital to the future of this country is the question of the proper distribution of immigrants, and the placing of the unemployed in fields where they are most needed, that our students of social economics might do well to take note of success in Great Britain of an act passed a little over a year ago creating a central and district labor exchanges.

This act was based on the belief that while employment agencies do not create any demand for labor, they do aid properly in adjusting the supply and demand, and so it was decided to establish governmental labor agencies that should seek to provide work for all applicants, and send them, if necessary with money advanced by the State, to the place where their services were most needed.

In operation little more than a year the report of these agencies in Great Britain has come to us quite recently. From this report it would seem that employers of labor freely sought the aid of these governmental agencies and have found them markedly useful. Employers made about 650,000 applications for labor, and of those 370,000 were filled. The number of applicants for employment at all the labor exchanges average 100,000.

Naturally, more unskilled than skilled workmen find employment through these exchanges, and many of the unskilled laborers have to find employment away from home. Where this was the case, the money necessary to transport the laborer to the place was advanced to him, to be repaid out of his wages. So successful have been these governmental agencies, that trades unions, school authorities and commercial bodies are heartily co-operating with the exchanges, and it seems probable that their number will be materially increased before long.

In Canada some such plan has been advocated, and with the example of Great Britain before us, we should hope that some practical step might be taken to establish similar agencies here. The present employment agencies found in every large city are in many cases ineffectual, and in some cases markedly dishonest, so that laborers, especially aliens, are frequently misled and often defrauded.

Always at certain large centers of population, there is a horde of unemployed, while at the same time the harvest fields are suffering from want of workmen. It would be the work of governmental exchanges to correct this ill, and it is hard to imagine anything that will add more to the prosperity and general welfare of the country than such agencies properly supervised and managed.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operations of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business. It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $3,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. There is no personal liability. An issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market in Vancouver and a considerable amount has already been taken up.

Price of Shares Advance MAY 15TH, 1911

We Now Have Over 200 Stockholders

Foreword

E. W. SMITH

As Manager of the Bankers Finance Co. I want to personally call your attention to what I consider the very best investment opportunity I have found in all of my financial experience, and my customers know by dividends and profits distributed that I have a record of several years' success.

In the first place I will not sell stocks in any company until I have satisfied myself that there seems to be assured success for the company. Furthermore, I always want my clients to buy stocks when there is a splendid probability of their advancing to a price that will let each one make a handsome profit.

THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL CO., at the present price of THREE cents a share, I think, is a big money-maker, The stock is just as sure to rise as human being can deplet, and it would not surprise me to see an advance to 75 cents or $1 in the near future.

Such policy has caused the great success of the Bankers Finance Company extending over a long period, and having on its books the most prosperous investors of any similar western institution. It isn't often we offer speculative stocks which are likely to double and treble in price, and rapidly making several hundred per cent. profit, but when we do it's a pretty safe guess that we know absolutely whereof we speak, and in no instance have we yet failed. I have personally investigated the following proposition and firmly believe we have the richest and most marvelous offering in the West, and if you will join us, even for a small amount, I will endeavor to show you profits thereby that will make you permanent customers.—E. W. Smith.

When investing your money in any security it is always well to investigate the basic facts underlying the business back of the security.

The production of crude oil from the ground has for ages proven to be a very profitable industry, and therefrom has arisen many of the richest men of the world. Corporations engaged in this industry have amassed enormous profits and paid large dividends to shareholders.

Geologists schooled in their profession are enabled to determine in what localities crude oil may be secured by drilling wells. In some localities oil is secured at a depth of a few hundred feet, while elsewhere it is necessary to drill to a depth of several thousand feet. This to a certain extent regulates the expense of reaching oil.

Again, the quality of oil secured is an important factor in the ultimate profits which may be realized. Among the most valuable oil wells are those containing the largest percentage of paraffin, naptha, gasoline, lubricating, and other ingredients for which there is a ready market at substantial prices.

In the Pennsylvania fields there was formerly produced a large amount of high-grade oil which sold at several dollars per barrel, and millions of barrels made millions of dollars for the owners; but of late years this supply has diminished, and it has become a serious question among oil men as to where the future supply would come from, especially since the introduction of automobiles and gasoline engines has created an enormous demand for gasoline at high prices.

THE RANGELY OIL FIELD, located in Rio Blanco county, Colorado, is destined to fill the necessity now so much in demand. Doubtless this field would have become prominent many years ago but for the fact that Rio Blanco county has been practically without railroad transportation. In fact, at present only one railroad touches the county, and that merely across one corner, thus serving only about ten miles of the county, leaving other portions thereof nearly 35 miles from the railroad. Now that paraffin and gasoline oils are being produced, this situation will be speedily remedied. Already the Uintah Railway, the Grand River, Meeker & Salt Lake Railroad, the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway, and the Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific Railway are projected through this county, and soon Rio Blanco with its tremendously rich, undeveloped resources of high-grade oil, coal, gilsonite, mineralized rubber and other valuables, will reap its reward.

It is a well-known axiom that those who get into a country "ahead of the railroads" will get the greater profits. The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is now firmly entrenched as one of the factors of the Rangely Oil Field, and its 80 acres are considered as good as any in the district. However, other companies did the pioneering work. Six companies have already secured oil in 50 wells. In all of them have been found the same high-grade paraffin and gasoline oil and most of these wells strike oil at from 600 to 1,000 feet deep, proving it a shallow field.

The essentials of success and profit are clearly defined in the Rangely field: 1. Inexpensive drilling. 2. Shallow wells throughout. 3. High-grade valuable product. 4. Oil analyzed by the Standard Oil Company. 5. Oil analyzed by the U. S. Government experts. 6. Geologists of the U. S. examined the entire field.

Property—Eighty acres choice territory in the Rangely oil district, Rio Blanco county, Colorado, a field celebrated for its valuable paraffin and gasoline oils commanding four times the price of asphalt oils of California Texas and Oklahoma. The corporation has a 20-year lease, royalty only 10 per cent. of oil secured, and $1,200 ($15 per acre) cash when oil is struck, otherwise nothing is to be paid lessor.

The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is among the first in the field, reaching there "ahead of the railroads", and selected first choice of leases, and began drilling its first well. For the purpose of determining the value of this high-grade oil by expert analysis samples were taken from nearby wells, results of which are herewith submitted. They prove conclusively every claim made for Rangely high-grade oil.

EXPERT OPINIONS ON THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT.

The followiog are brief extracts from some of the most complimentary reports ever made upon an oil field, all of the parties in question having visited the Raven Park Field and subjected it to the most rigid and crucial investigation:

Mr. Samuel Baker says of the Raven Park Oil Field: "The field is a true anticlinal dome. The oil is a rich, golden brow color, and is very foamy, showing the presence of large quantities of gas and gas-forming materials."

Prof. Wm. B. Potter, the well-known geologist and mining engineer of St. Louis, who occupied the chair of Geology in the Washington University at St. Louis for over 12 years, says: "One of the marked and most favorable characteristics of the Raven Park field is the well-developed dome structure. Such dome structure is especially favorable for the storage of oil. And the natural pressure should insure powerful gushing wells when the oil sands are penetrated in drilling."

Mr. Robert L. Lund, upon the strength of whose report a St. Louis syndicate entered into a contract for extensive work in the field says: "The Raven Park oil field consists of an anticlinal dome, remarkable alike for its enormous size and the perfection of its foldings. The conditions in the field, it is believed, insure flowing wells under heavy pressure."

Prof. F. V. Hayden, than whom no more scientific geologist ever visited the Raven Park Oil Fields, in his report to the government says: "Raven Park has a quaquaversal shape. The dip of the strata is in all directions from the middle of Raven Park." (A quaquaversal dip is an anticlinal dome.)

EXPERT OPINIONS OF THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT

Is The Government's Expert's RECOMMENDATION Good Enough For You ?

ALREADY A GOING CONCERN

This company has already begun drilling its second well, hence you are not invited into an unknown proposition. Work has begun in earnest and daily progress is being made. Hearing of the great excitement caused by the discovery of high-grade paraffin oil in Rio Blanco County, Colorado, our Mr. Smith made a careful personal investigation of the field last November. What he found was almost unbelievable. At a few hundred feet deep in this field, designated by the government as the Rangely Oil District, they were bringing in wells of oil worth $2 a barrel as it came from the ground. Compare this with California, Texas and Oklahoma crude oil worth about 50 cents a barrel and figure the large profits in sight. Fifty wells with the same high-grade paraffin oil prove absolutely the truths contained in the official government report on this district, "BOOK No. 350, RANGELY OIL DISTRICT," copy of which can be obtained free by writing the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Smith was fortunate in securing 80 acres of choice land, sufficient for 80 wells. Upon his return to Denver the latter part of November arrangements were perfected to begin immediate work and show our good faith by starting well No. 1 before asking anyone to put a cent into the proposition.

HERE IS A PROPOSITION

which for quick and large profits surpasses anything ever before offered by this financial house—a house with a record of success in every investment offering, and whose clients are making large profits, while others were losing their money in purely wildcat securities.

The prompt response from those who received our recent announcement of the opportunity to secure pre-organization stock resulted in quickly securing ample funds for present requirements. Engine, boiler and complete outfit was secured, and expenses promptly paid, and we still have money in the treasury. Work in the field is being actively pushed, and success seems assured. Reports are exceedingly favorable for large profits to each shareholder. In future stock will only be sold from time to time at higher prices to provide for further development. In the near future we will need only to meet our pay roll and other expenses. For this purpose we will accept a few more subscriptions at three (3) cents a share, payable in five equal monthly installments. As only a limited amount of installment stock will be reserved at three cents a share, prompt application is necessary.

NEW CLIENTS INVITED

We want YOU with us in this great opportunity, no matter how small your investment. No one is allowed more than $200 worth at three cents a share, as the stock is thus limited so all will participate pro rata in this distribution, destined to make profits large enough to please each member.

Don't wait until you can send the maximum amount of $200, but take what you can at once, for the opportunity to-day offered you will be a matter of history, TOO LATE. We invite you to become a stockholder now, before price of shares advance.

An Invitation to the Reader

The corporation offers for sale a limited amount of treasury shares upon exceptional terms to investors who may desire to secure an interest in this great proposition. Funds received from this subscription offering are to be used in further extending the development work in the Rangely field, and with surplus constantly in its treasury, unusual opportunities of acquiring valuable holdings may be taken advantage of as they arise.

Immediately subscriptions have been received for this allotment of treasury stock it will be withdrawn from the market.

MILLIONS MADE IN OIL

Of course, you know of many men who have made their millions in oil fields. Many of you know that the leading and most successful oil operators have, for the past few years, been exploring the fields of Colorado. It is stated upon good authority that this field is destined to become one of the greatest fields in the world.

MONTHLY PAYMENT 20 PER CENT. WITH ORDER AND 20 PER CENT. A MONTH APPLICATION

As only a limited amount of stock will be sold at Three Cents a share, each subscriber will be limited to not exceeding $200 worth, so all can secure atleast a little of this original issue and participate in the advance in price of shares.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

"FAKING UP" OLD BIRDS

Dealers Use Potash and Other Chemicals for the Purpose

According to a Paris contemporary, one of the inspectors under the French Department of Agriculture has discovered a new system of fraud perpetrated in the markets by some of the wholesale dealers. The plan is to sell old and barely eatable partridges for young birds. The young birds carry at the tip of the wing some white spots, which disappear as the birds increase in age. To sell the veteran birds as young the dealers have impressed the services of the chemist—and what is it that the chemist is unable to do?—so with the judicious application of potash, or some other chemical, the old birds are given the appearance of youth. For the chemist's embellishment the consumer has to pay about fifteen pence more than he would for the birds in a state of nature unadorned.

A ROSEBERY ROMANCE

To those who love romance, the romantic and unusual episode in the life of one of Lord Rosebery's ancestors will appeal. It occurred in the eighteenth century, when the young Lord Dalmeny was a young man. He fell in love with a very pretty girl, and eventually a secret marriage was contracted. The pair spent their honeymoon on the Continent, and the bride becoming seriously ill, confessed that she was the wife of the Rector of Thorpe, from whom she had run away. Dying shortly afterwards, her husband had her body embalmed with a view to bringing it to England for burial. However, the Customs House officials opened the case in which the grim burden was packed, and it was only to avoid a far more serious tragedy that the truth was made known. The body was eventually buried at Thorpe in the presence of both "husbands."

A STRANGE COLONY

The Colonia Cosme, on the Paraguay above Asuncion, is one of the most curious in the world. The members of the colony make or grow everything they want, and import nothing. The workmen have seven hours' work a day, and earn, not money, but time. Their wages are hours and half-hours. These they sometimes save up till they have a week in hand, and then go off on an excursion. If a man wants a chair or table, he pays for it in hours of work, which are deducted from the balance to his credit.

Three men went off up the river in a canoe for a three weeks' holiday. They sold their canoe at Asuncion for a pound, and came home overland in ten days, lodged in the best houses in the villages on the way, and yet had some money in hand at the end.

THE DIFFERENCE

A certain truant officer recently made a call at the home of a pupil whose absence had extended over a week and inquired of the lad's mother, a genial-looking Irishwoman, the cause.

"Why," she said, 'he's now past his thirteenth year, an' me an' 'is father-r think he's afther-r having schooling enough, sur."

"Schooling enough!" repeated the officer. "Why, I did not finish my education until I was twenty-three."

"Be that so?" asked the mother, in amazement. Then, reasoningly, after a moment's thoughtful pause: "Well, sur, yez see, that bay of ours has b-brains."

SOME CURIOUS WATCHES

Not as Complex Nowadays as Formerly—Queer Old Ones

With all our modern improvements we rarely hear nowadays of watches so fancifully complex as used to be made for great folks in the times when all watches were expensive and comparatively novel.

King George III., in the year 1764, received a present of a watch that was a kind of mechanical almanac. It pointed out the date, and also had a device to show the varying lengths of the days, according to the season. It was not bigger than other watches of the time, but then they were all what we should call turnips now.

The Emperor Napoleon I. had a watch which wound itself by means of a weighted lever, which, at every step His Majesty took, rose and fell, and having a gathering click to it wound up a ratchet attached to the barrel. Pedometers were afterwards made on the same principle. The Duke of Wellington had a watch which was given to him by the King of Spain, from which the time could be told by the touch, the hours being marked by studs. In the back of the case was placed an index which, when moved forward, would stop at the portion of the hour indicated by the watch, and then by means of the studs the time could be approximately computed in the dark.

Catharine of Russia had a watch constructed by an ingenious peasant which played a chant, and had within it tiny mechanical figures which, moving about, were supposed to represent the scene of the resurrection of the Saviour; the chant was then heard all over Russia at Eastertime. But this watch was bigger than a hen's egg.

INN NAMES IN GERMANY

Scattered throughout England are some curious inn names, but Germany probably keeps the record for out-of-the-way signs and fantastic names. The most absurd results are usually obtained by the name of some animal with a more or less unsuitable object. The Comfortable Chicken and the Cold Frog, both of them in Berlin, are certainly left in the shade by the Angry Ant (Ort, in Westphalia) and the Stiff Dog (Berlin). The Lame Louse is an inn in a suburb of Berlin, and not far from it is the Thirsty Pelican. The Dirty Parlor, the Bloody Bones, the Musical Cats, the Four-hundredweight Man, and the Boxers' Den are all in Berlin or the neighborhood, and the Old Straw Bag in Leipsic. The Open Bunghole is in Stadtoben, in the Palatinate, and the Shoulder-blade in Jericho. The Last Tear is a landlord's notice for the name of his inn, situated near a graveyard, visited by returning mourners, and is of frequent occurrence throughout the Fatherland.

WHEN HE'S AT WORK

A medical correspondent writes to the editor of the "Sporting Times":—Possibly the following anecdote, which actually happened at my medical inspection of school children last week may be worth repeating. I may mention that the first question we put to the children is "What is your father's occupation?"

Rather bright looking boy.

"What's your father's work, laddie?"

"Please, sir, 'e's not workin' now."

"But what does he do when he is working?"

"Please, sir, 'e goes out my cups an all day long."

ONLY A PIN

A Glance at the Trade of Pin-Making —Complex Machinery Used

A very long bridge of years, indeed, spans the time since a lady's "pin money" was really used for the object its name suggests. And there is an equally wide difference between the pins used by "my lady" of those days and the almost invaluable little article we should find it so hard to do without to-day.

At one period in our history the importation of pins into this country was forbidden by law, although so august a personage as Queen Catherine received hers from France, where, at that time most of the pins were made. They were expensive articles, and "pin money" was a consideration, and one with which no lady of any pretentions to fashion could afford to dispense.

Another law with regard to pins was passed in 1543, and it enacted that the sale of pins should be prohibited unless "double-headed," or with "heads fast soldered to the shank." As, unless it be provided with a firm head, a pin is practically useless to us. This law will be read with considerable amusement by ladies of to-day.

When, in 1626, the pin-making trade was introduced into Great Britain by one Tilsby, the manufacture of the article was for some time confined to Strond, but it quickly spread to London, Bristol, and Birmingham; and it is at the great metropolis of the Midlands that most of our pins come from nowadays, although some are still made in Warrington and Dublin.

Most complex is the machinery used now in pin-making. It is a wonderful thing where all the pins go to, and how scarce they are when they are wanted. And the wonder becomes all the greater when we remember that a large factory will turn out many millions of pins in a day and that there are many factories keeping up this output.

In older pattern machines there used to be eighteen processes, but these have superseded, and now the wonderful mechanisms not only make the pins complete, but stick them in the familiar pale blue papers that everyone knows so well.

Black pins and ladies' hairpins are given their hue by being placed in a revolving chamber, so that they are kept on the move all the while the japanelling process is going on. By this means the enamel settles quite evenly, and a smooth black lustre on the pins is the result.

"It's only a pin," is a remark sometimes heard. Yes, it's only a pin, but it represents, nevertheless, the outcome of one of the greatest triumphs man's inventive genius has ever won, and an article, humble though it be, that few would care to be without.

A DANGEROUS HANDFUL

Alligator Hunting Not a Suitable Occupation for Timid

That one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives is a good deal truer than some people imagine. There are dozens of strange ways of earning a living which those following the more common-place occupations never dream of. Among these surely alligator catching is one on the strangest.

The commercial value of these strange reptiles is, of course, their skins, and for this reason quite a small army of men hunt them regularly in the tropical regions among the rivers and swamps of the Nile and Ganges. They live to a great age—some are known to be 500 years old, and by the tremendous strength which they can exert when occasion calls for it, one would imagine that the older they live the stronger they grow.

Besides an unusual amount of pluck and resource in handling the alligator, one needs to have a keen eye and a sharp hand. For holding shut the jaws of an alligator one and a half times your own length is life with the key left in; trying to hold those same jaws open is experience gained too late to be of use. And the alligator in its native land is not as it appears to be at the Zoo, a sleepy and slow-moving creature, but very quick and lively in all its movements.

NOT A HENRY VIII.

A Good Story in Which Bonar Law Figured

As his name indicates, Mr. Andrew Bonar Law, M.P., who has completed his fifty-second year, is a Scot. However, he can also claim to be a Canadian, for he first saw the light in the Dominion, his father being the Rev. James Law, M.A., of New Brunswick. Mr. Bonar Law first entered Parliament in 1900. At a demonstration in Glasgow he referred to Mr. Balfour's attitude on the fiscal question. He pointed out that "the English people love a compromise," and instanced the course taken by Henry VIII. at the time of the Reformation, whereupon the following question was handed up to be answered: "Is the candidate aware that Mr. Balfour is a bachelor, and that Henry VIII. was much the reverse?" "Yes," replied the candidate, "but possibly Mr. Balfour might not be a bachelor if he could be sure of getting rid of his wives as easily as Henry VIII."

HOW A LICK SAVED A LICKING

Daniel Webster was frequently punished when a boy for appearing at school with dirty hands. On one occasion it occurred to him as he was nearing the school that his hands were hardly likely to pass muster, and having no other means of cleaning them, proceeded to lick one of them as clean as he could. On reaching school he was interrogated as to the condition of his hands, both of which were carefully concealed behind him, whereupon he produced the cleaner of the two for the inspection of the master.

"Daniel," said the master sternly, "if you can find a dirtier hand than that in all the school, I'll let you off."

The answer was immediate.

"Here it is, sir," said Daniel, and with the exclamation he produced the dirtier hand from behind his back.

LONDON GIRLS WERE PRETTIEST

Sir Francis Galton, the last of the great Victorian scientists, who died recently, had a curious bent of mind at times. For instance, he made an instrument for carrying in the pocket by which he could tick off, as he passed in the street, the number of girls who were "good," "medium," or "bad" in regard to looks. "I found," he said "London to rank highest for beauty and Aberdeen lowest." On another occasion, when he had his portrait painted, he beguiled the tedium of sitting by counting the strokes of the brush that went to make his picture and the total, to his great surprise, amounted to 20,000.

SMASHED STATUETTE

Artist Disgusted—Paintings Have Also Been Destroyed

A celebrated French sculptor invited a number of his friends to come on Sunday and see a statuette which he had just completed, and which he himself announced to be the most perfect thing in the world. His comrades in art, anxious to see such a wonderful production, came in a crowd and examined the beautiful piece of sculpture with admiration. At length, however, one of them exclaimed, "I say! I thought you said this statuette was perfect, yet there are only four toes on the left foot!" It was perfectly true. Yet the missing toe, from the peculiar position of the foot, had entirely escaped the notice, not only of the artist, but all his friendly critics. So disgusted was the artist with this amazing discovery that he raised his mallet above his head and, before he could be stopped by his friends, smashed the beautiful statuette to fragments.

London has been talking lately about the pictures at the Grafton Gallery by the School of French painters who call themselves Post-Impressionists. These men go considerably farther in their contempt for all art conventions that the Impressionists who preceded them, and of whom Claude Monet was the great leader. But Monet was by no means a slap-dash painter, and even when he had won his way, not only into the Salon but into the Louvre, and when his pictures were going up in price by leaps and bounds, he voluntarily and deliberately destroyed $30,000 worth, because he did not consider them worthy of him or likely in the future to enhance his reputation.

Rejected by the Academy

There was no more patient, painstaking, or conscientious painter ever lived in the world than Holman Hunt. He thought nothing of spending years over one canvas, and of travelling thousands of miles for his local color. He fixed up his easel on the arid shores of the Red Sea in order to paint "The Scapegoat," and he travelled through all the cities and villages of Palestine to find a suitable model for his "Shadow of Death," and, after spending seven years on his great picture, "The Triumph of the Innocents," he calmly set to work to paint it all over again.

It was no unusual thing with Millais, if he did not get the exact effect he wanted, to destroy, by a few strokes of his brush, the result of weeks of hard work, and many an artist whose picture, upon which much loving care had been spent, has been rejected by the Royal Academy has destroyed it upon its return to the studio. Even a famous artist who became an R.A. did this very thing. He says: "When my 'Hamlet and Ophelia' was rejected by the Academy, I was so disgusted with it that I tore it into strips and watched it disappear in the flames." The artist who thus used his picture so badly was Mr. Briton Riviere.

COMMERCIAL SLANG

Some Odd Expressions Used in Great Britain to Describe Salesmen

Many persons are unaware that there is quite an undeveloped mine of slang in the world of commercial travellers in the Old Country, who, by the way, are generally referred to as "knights of the road," or "highwaymen." For instance, the gentleman who travels in high-class jewellery is dubbed a "Black Maria man," while the cheap jewellery man is a "brass bounder."

Continental travellers are "Channel rats," tea travellers are "leaf and lead men," and the cocoa commercials are designated "sediment sellers." The representative of a soap firm is a "bubbler," whilst the man who takes orders for candles is said to be a "will-o'-the-wisper."

The traveller in educational books is playfully spoken of as a "kid-killer," in drugs a "shake-the-bottle man"; the itinerant vender of stationery is a "cream-laid cruiser," of oil a "fat-forcer," and a coffee traveller is a "mahogany converter."

A FINE MUSICAL COLLECTION

An interesting character in the musical world has just passed away in the person of Dr. Henry Watson, well known in the North of England as a lecturer on musical history and instruments. The son of a factory worker, Dr. Watson, at the age of nine, received a present of a dulcimer, and quickly taught himself to play some 300 tunes. Obtaining a few piano lessons when eleven years of age, he soon became known as an accompanist, and at local fairs and functions earned $1.50 a night by playing solos in public-houses. Then he secured a situation as an errand boy in a Blackburn music-shop, and ultimately became a partner in a music business in Manchester. During his life he collected 30,000 volumes of musical literature and 300 different instruments, which he presented to the Manchester Corporation.

"HINTS TO ETON PARENTS"

A beautiful, witty woman, and very clever with her pen, Lady Desborough, one of the Ladies of the Bedchamber of Queen Mary, wrote a very amusing article a short time ago, entitled "Hints to Eton Parents," which appeared in a little paper published at the school. In this article she advised parents, when introduced to their boys' friends, "not to be sprightly, knowing, hearty, youthful, slangy, arch, sporting or witty. Humility," said her ladyship, "is the only wear for parents. Apologise for your existence, and explain it as far as you can." The popularity of Lady Desborough in society may be gathered from the fact that her numerous friends call her "that divine being." Her husband, Lord Desborough, is the "Admirable Crichton" of sport.

NEARLY HANGED AS A SPY

Perhaps the most remarkable incident in the career of the late Senator Elkins occurred when, as a young man, he was fighting for the Union in the Civil War. He was captured by a guerrilla band, and would have been promptly hanged as a spy had it not been for the intervention of a member of the band, who recognized him as a boyhood friend. Many years later when Senator Elkins was rich and famous, he heard that the man who had saved his life was serving twenty years in prison for robbing a bank, and he used his influence to bring about the release of his former benefactor.

Fire Outside City Limits.

The property of Mr. Succe, North Monaghan was saved yesterday afternoon by the prompt action of Mr. Succe and his neighbors. A Hint for Peterborough.

Rural School Boards may now hold their annual meetings in the evening. A teacher shall be entitled to his salary notwithstanding his absence from duty on account of sickness on the certificate of a Licentiate of Dental Surgery as well as that of a physician. Provision is also made for a Senior High School entrance examination.

Our Oiled Streets.

The high wind of Friday, says the Lindsay Warder, caused many of the citizens to chase their hats and also blew the dust about in a very objectionable manner. Such weather as this brings up the old question of oiling the street. A local citizen was in Peterboro a few days ago and made enquiries which resulted in information stating that they were using a crude oil which was really cheaper than water and ever so much more effective in allaying the dust. If such is the case it might be tried with profit in town as the dust today was very objectionable, the wind drying up the water on the streets very rapidly, leaving the dust as bad as before being sprinkled.

A spark from a nearby chimney started a fire on the dwellings over J. D. Cook's store, on the corner of Dublin and George streets yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. HUNTER STREET BRIDGE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—You hit the nail squarely on the head in your remarks in The Times a few days ago, regarding a new bridge over the river on Hunter street. If I were mayor I would try and push a scheme like this through. It would be an everlasting monument to him for generations to come, just as the Smith street bridge is to City Engineer Hay. The latter will, in all probability be on duty when generations yet unborn will have passed away.

I congratulate The Times for its clever suggestions regarding the proposed structure, including the details of how it should be paid for, which I think is the cleverest part of the proposition.

Dying of Cholera

Local Physician Says Thousands Dying in Europe Can Be Saved with Proper Medicine.

What is it that keeps down cholera, cramps, and summer complaints in America? Ask any doctor or live druggist and he will tell you "Nerviline." Just fancy, a million bottles are sold every year to people who use Nerviline for stomach disorder, cramps, flatulence, and summer complaint. For fifty years in most Canadian homes no other pain-relieving medicine but Nerviline is kept. Nothing cures the aches, pains and sickness of the entire family so quickly as Nerviline.

LETTER NO. 4672

"As far back as I can remember, at least 50 years ago, there was never a time that our house was without "Nerviline." In the summer time, when the children ate green apples and got sick with diarrhoea and cramps, it was Nerviline that cured them. My father used Nerviline frequently to cure gas on his stomach and acute indigestion. There are but few minor ailments that Nerviline does not cure, and I know of no medicine so useful; in fact, so indispensible around the home as Nerviline."

This letter, written by Mrs. N. C. Butcher, a well-known resident in Battersea, shows the high opinion entertained of Nerviline by those who have used it constantly for nearly half a century.

You'll never regret using Nerviline. Get it to-day, keep it on hand for an accident or sudden case of sickness in your home. Refuse anything else offered you instead of Nerviline. 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00. All dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

RICH GOLD MINE

FURTHER PAYMENTS REQUIRED

The First $5.00 Pays It All

THIS IS TO BE A QUICK-ACTION PROPOSITION. You pay $5.00 with your subscription. That is all. You will be called upon for no more. This membership entitles you to a vote in all the affairs of the syndicate, and to participate pro rata in all the benefits. It is a small amount, but I don't need very much to accomplish all I am going to try for. I made the price $5.00 so as to allow everyone to get in. In order to keep any one individual from acquiring control I have limited the subscription of any one person to no more than ten memberships. We are all going to get the same fair, square deal. There are to be no favorites and no special privileges. When money enough has been raised to do the work the members will be notified, and THEY will decide whether it will be necessary or not to incorporate a company and, if so, for how much. THEY will elect their own officers and direct the affairs of the company. I will have no time to fool away in doing office work. I am a miner, not a bookkeeper, and as soon as I get this thing organized the officers of the company will have to dictate the business policy. Now it is not very often that you have an opportunity of investing as small an amount as $5.00, and especially where it has such splendid chances for making a big profit in a short time. It can't be beat, and the proposition offers more for the money than anything of its kind in the market. I want you to help me in this and I promise you won't be disappointed if you do.

We Will Divide the Profits

THIS IS MY MONEY-MAKING PLAN

I have secured a lease on the famous EMMA MINE OF EMPIRE, COLORADO. I used to work in this mine, and I know there is ore there. I feel sure that a few dollars expended in developing the vein already opened will give us a big body of rich ore. I am the man to do it. Of course I will need a little help in a financial way. I am organizing a syndicate to handle this proposition. I invite you to join me. We will all club in together and push the development work as hard and as fast as possible, and as the ore is taken out and marketed we will divide the profits. Memberships in this syndicate will be sold for $5.00 each and no more than ten will be sold to any one individual. I will own no more myself. I am determined to make this a small investor's enterprise, and it will be run by the membership holders and for their benefit alone. The amount is so small that anyone can afford to go in, and I am so sure in my own mind that it will be a success—a big success, and earn enormous profits for us—that I am willing to go back to the camp, take off my coat and go in and work from early in the morning until late at night to get the ore opened up and ready for the mill. I am satisfied that we can produce results in less than a year. All I want you to do is to let me have your immediate subscription for one or more memberships, and I will buy a stock of powder, go back to the mine and get to work. May I count upon your co-operation?

QUICK RETURNS ON YOUR MONEY

THIS IS THE DAY OF QUICK ACTION. No man wants his money tied up in a proposition that only has a promise of paying out in the sweet bye and bye. Get your money in and your profits out. That is my idea, and I think I am right. I feel pretty sure that I can give you your money back and your share of the earnings inside of a year. Possibly sooner. In any event, you may be assured that I will not delay a minute longer than is necessary. I want my share as soon as I can get it, and you will get yours at the same time. I believe that these memberships will be snapped up in a hurry, and so I advise you to not delay your order. Better be a little early than too late. Your certificate will be forwarded to you upon receipt of your order and remittance. There will be no delay at this end. Frequent reports will be sent to the membership holders telling of the development at the mine, and if you have any suggestions to offer send them along. I am a miner, a practical miner, and know the business as well as any of them, but I am not fool enough to think I know it all. I am always anxious and willing to learn, so if you think you can give me any pointers that will help me I will thank you to let me have them. Now I have given you about all the important details in regard to the proposition. It is now your move. If you want something in an investment that looks a little bit better and a little bit quicker than anything else in the market, I want to hear from you. If you are a pessimist, and believe that you are doing well enough, you will just be wasting your time and mine in writing to me. Otherwise, clip and send in the attached coupon to-day—NOW. I will do my best to make money for both of us.

A large amount of rich ore has already been taken out of this mine, and a nice little streak of it is in sight now. The mine is all wired for electrical power and a power line passes only a few feet from the portal of the tunnel. Give me an electric power drill and I will go after that vein of ore in a way that will surprise the membership holders, and there will be no fooling around waiting for this, or for that, BUT I WILL PRODUCE RESULTS. I have to get my profits in this enterprise from the same source that you do: FROM THE ORE PRODUCED, and you may be assured that I will not lay around doing nothing until our money is all used up. Opening up the pay streak means as much to me as to any other membership holder: and I am going into the proposition to make it pay. If nothing unforseen occurs I will do it, too. Our profits should be very substantial, for there will not be many to divide the earnings among. I know all about the veins of ore in this camp; I know the character of the ore, and I know the quickest way to reach the ore bodies. If you will come into the proposition with me now, when I need your co-operation, I will give you your share of all I take out.

Something About Myself

I am a practical mining man; have had years of experience in the business, and have never made a failure of anything I have taken up. For several years I have worked in the mines in and about Empire, Colorado. Being familiar with the location of the mineral veins of this district, knowing the character of the ores, etc., I have been on the lookout for a good property that I could operate under lease for some time. It was only recently that I found the big lead veins in the famous Emma mine, and I immediately took action in an effort to secure a long-time lease from the company owning the property. Well, to make a long story short, after a deal of negotiating I was successful and secured a lease on this splendid property which runs until 1915. The company was anxious to have a certain amount of development work done and I was lucky enough to catch them at just the right time and secured just what I wanted. This is the proposition I am now inviting you to join me in—the development of this lease on the RICH EMMA MINE.

The Small Investor's Opportunity

Usually a small investor has but little show to earn more than a very ordinary profit on his investment. I conceived the idea of making this a company of small investors. Just a few of my friends, and their friends. I am so confident of the outcome that I am taking no more big capital in with me, and instead of having a company controlled and dominated by a few big stockholders, I want to make it more of a family affair. We will all put in a small amount. With the money thus subscribed I will begin work at the mine and, following the present vein, I am sure I will be able to cut the big American lode within a distance of a few hundred feet. If my plans are successful I will be into a big ore body in less than three months, and that means a small fortune for us all. There are all kinds of tools at the mine to work with except, perhaps, a power drill, and that will be one of the first things that I will buy. After that it will be easy to drive the tunnel, and I expect to make good progress.

I Don't See How You Can Lose

In this proposition I honestly don't see how you can lose. In the first place the amount invested is so small and the promise of big profits so exceptional that only a small amount of ore would have to be produced to at least get your money back. But if I thought getting my money back would be the best I could do I would not waste a minute's time on it. In other parts of this mine former operators took out large amounts of ore, and they never required any depth to speak of. Now, every miner in the Empire District knows that as depth is attained the ore bodies enlarge, and the values increase. The American lode that I have mentioned before is known to be very rich, and from on top of the hill, just a little ways north of this property, it dips directly towards us and down into the mountain. I think by driving the tunnel straight in that we will cut it in less than 200 feet. The vein now uncovered in the tunnel is evidently a stringer of the American lode.

No More Than Ten Memberships to Anyone

A square deal, fairness and equality for all. An honest disbursement of the syndicate's funds. Those are the principles and basic standards of this enterprise. I am going in on the same basis as yourself. If I make any big money out of the proposition I will have to get it from the same source that you do—THE EARNINGS FROM THE MINE. I will only own ten memberships, the limit for any one individual, and when the proposition is financed the membership holders shall say whether or not we shall incorporate. If so, for how much; and they shall elect their own officers from among their own number. The enterprise shall belong to the membership holders and they shall run it to suit themselves. All I want to do is work the mine. That is as much or more than one man can attend to properly, and I don't want to be bothered with any office work. Now, my friends, if you have faith in me and my proposition, I want your co-operation, and I will ask you to send me your subscription. If you haven't, you won't do me any good and I can't do anything for you.

VOL XXXIV NO. 112 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY MAY 15 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

MILLIONS TO BE SPENT IN THE FAR WEST

TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS WILL BE EXPENDED ON PUBLIC WORKS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA IN THE NEXT FOUR YEARS, SAYS PREMIER McBRIDE.

The British Columbia Premier Sailed on Saturday to Attend the Coronation of King George.

New York, May 13.—(Special)—The premier of British Columbia, the Hon. Richard McBride, K.C., sailed from here this morning to attend the coronation of King George in London. He will go there as the representative of some of the most remote of the King's subjects. There are parts in the great region where McBride comes from that lie several weeks distant from the capital at Victoria.

"We came through in fine time," said the premier, and added that a little trip such as from Victoria to New York seemed nothing compared to some of the journeys that a government officer up in those parts has to take. "We came through in the greatest comfort. Didn't we?" which his companion, Hon. Wm. J. Bowser, attorney-general of British Columbia confirmed. "The Canadian Pacific has berths an inch or so longer than those in the standard sleeping cars," added the premier by way of explanation.

In British Columbia, according to Mr. McBride, it is still largely a matter of the future. The government and railroads, if his hopes are realized, should spend within the coming four years a matter of $200,000,000 in developing the region.

This sum is to be put chiefly into railroads, into power enterprises and waterworks, and into municipal improvements. Premier McBride figures the present population of the provinces as 400,000, and on that basis the improvements contemplated, as he points out, run in the proportion of $500 each inhabitant.

PUBLIC OPINION

COUNCIL MUST STAND FIRM.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If the Council are at all desirous of keeping in line with the wishes of a vast majority of the ratepayers, they will refuse to consider their action regarding the office of Industrial Commissioner. The people feel that it is a wilful waste of money to try and secure industries when we have nothing to offer in the way of power. Get cheaper power, and then the foundation for success will be laid. Mr. Duggan or any other man cannot persuade manufacturers to locate in Peterborough under present conditions.

Common Sense.

BUILD NEW BRIDGE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Your proposal regarding a new overhead bridge across the Otonabee river on Hunter street, is exactly in line with common sense. This is the best proposition yet presented to the City Council. If they do not do something along the lines suggested they are not the men I take them to be.

FIRE AT KEENE.

General Store of George Gall Was Totally Destroyed.

The frame store of Mr. George Gall one of Keene's general merchants, was destroyed by fire on Friday night at about 11 o'clock. It was thought at one time that the whole village would be wiped out, but by the combined efforts of the bucket brigades the remaining property was saved. Mr. Gall's loss is very considerable, but we understand that it was partly covered by insurance.

UNVEILING OF MONUMENT BY W.O.W. YESTERDAY

The W.O.W. paid a loving tribute to the memory of a departed brother yesterday afternoon, when they unveiled a monument that marks the last resting place of the body of the late Thomas J. Bloss, who lost his life by drowning while fishing at Rice Lake last fall.

About one hundred members marched to the Little Lake cemetery, where the ceremony took place. Mr. A. Graham of this city, acted as master of ceremonies. Dr. W. S. Harriston of Toronto, also spoke a few words.

NURSE FOUND HIM KNEELING, DEAD

SAYS SHE LOVED HIM PASSIONATELY, AND SHE QUITE LOST HER HEAD.

Climbed Through Window to get Her Hat and Coat—Doctor Had Used Revolver and Poison.

New York, May 12.—Despite the fact that Coroner Fernberg says W. R. C. Latson, specialist, killed himself in River Drive Apartment, the police are far from satisfied, owing to the strange tale of Miss Alta Marhelka, a trained nurse. In police headquarters to-day, Miss Marhelka, who admits she loved the doctor "passionately," says she found the doctor dead in his office, and that the sight so unnerved her that she fled in terror, later returning to climb in and out a window for a coat.

"I have loved the doctor a long time," said the girl, "and I was not only his attending nurse, but also his secretary and assistant editor of a magazine he published, 'Health and Culture.' I went to his office last night to help him finish an editorial. I let myself in without ringing, as I had a key. When I got into the room he was kneeling beside a sofa. I saw a revolver by his side, and went over and felt his head. It was cold.

"Then I don't know what happened I think I went out in the hall and said something to the boy. He asked me if I was going away without my hat and coat, and I realized I had shut the door and left the key inside. I was very nearly crazy and I climbed into the window and got them, and then came out the same way. Of course I could have come out of the door, but I didn't know what I was doing."

The coroner said that Dr. Latson had also taken poison as well as shot himself. After listening to Miss Marhelka's story, the police permitted her to go home.

CANADIANS WILL RAISE IMPERIAL QUESTIONS

Premier and Colleagues Intend to Initiate Some Discussions at Conference

Ottawa, May 15.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues who left to attend the Imperial Conference, propose to initiate discussions on two or three subjects of particular interest to Canada in addition to taking part in the discussions of all subjects on the agenda.

Canada is anxious to secure the speedy realization of the all-red route scheme, and with Premier Ward, of New Zealand, Sir Wilfrid will urge upon the Imperial and Australian governments the desirability of pressing forward this great project, by coming to some definite agreement looking to the inauguration of this service at as early a date in the future as possible.

Naturalisation Laws.

The adoption of the uniform naturalization laws will be urged upon the conference by Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues who will urge that the time has arrived for imperial reciprocity in naturalization, which could be brought about by an agreement that naturalization papers taken out in one part of the Empire would hold good in other parts of the King's dominions.

The question of the status of foreign consuls in the capitals of British colonies will also be introduced by the Canadian delegates. At the present time they have no official status and all diplomatic negotiations must be officially conducted through the Imperial Home and Foreign offices. It is proposed to give them an official status in keeping with the dignity of their positions.

Imperial Conference.

While in England Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. L. P. Brodeur will confer with the war office and the admiralty in regard to various problems pertaining to the working out of the scheme of Imperial Defence as they affect both the naval and military aspects of the question. Mr. Brodeur and Mr. Geo. Desbarats, head of the naval branch, who accompanies him, will confer more particularly with the Admiralty in reference to the organization of the Canadian navy and the construction of the vessels which constitute that navy. Conferences will also be held with the heads of the firms which have tendered for the construction of the ships in reference to the plants which the successful firms must establish in Canada.

ARBITRATION TREATY HAS ADOPTED DEFINITE FORM

Washington, May 13.—The first draft of the proposed arbitration treaty between Great Britain and the United States is practically complete. The State Department officials, after many weeks of patient work have succeeded in crystalizing the main ideas of the project of the pact, and after the elimination of many unnecessary suggestions, the treaty has been brought to concrete form.

The principal difficulty encountered was in the consideration of matters excepted from the scheme for general arbitration, but it was found that the desired object could be attained satisfactorily by the exchange of notes between the two governments, explanatory of the plan and scope of the treaty, leaving the convention itself very simple in outline. This was regarded as desirable in view of the fact that the treaty may serve as a model for similar conventions with other powers.

Ambassador Bryce will transmit a draft of the treaty to the Foreign Office in London for consideration. If the Privy Council acts promptly, the Senate may have an opportunity to approve the treaty.

KAISER'S DAUGHTER TO MARRY THE PRINCE OF WALES

London, May 13.—The heir apparent to the British throne, Edward, Prince of Wales, whose meeting to-morrow with the beautiful daughter of the Emperor and Empress of Germany, Princess Victoria Louise, at the dedication of the great Queen Victoria Memorial, is regarded by those close to the throne, as a virtual betrothal of the young people.

It has long been known in royal circles that the Kaiser is searching for an eligible mate for his beautiful daughter and his decision to attend the coming dedication ceremonies coupled with a well known diplomatic desire to strengthen the friendly feeling now existing between Germany and England is regarded as a significant step toward the union.

GAUTHIER MAY BE FOR THE TORONTO DIOCESE

PROTEST AGAINST BISHOP FALLON RE BILINGUAL SCHOOLS MAY PREJUDICE HIS PROMOTION.

Senator Belcourt in Rome With Brief Against the London Ecclesiastic. The Brief is an Extensive One.

Ottawa, May 13.—(Special)—An echo of the now historic clash between Bishop M. F. Fallon of the London diocese, and the French-Canadians of the western part of the province is heard just now. There is just a faint suggestion that the London man will not be raised to the archbishopric of Toronto, an honor which was considered his before the fight started. Instead it is hinted that his grace Archbishop Gauthier of Ottawa may be brought to Toronto. Archbishop Gauthier has already made himself quite popular even among those who were wont to look upon him with indifference at the outset.

The archbishopric of Toronto is considered in the light of the senior archbishopric of Ontario. This would therefore, be a promotion for his grace of Ottawa. Just what other changes this might involve is not known.

Incidentally, the protest against Bishop M. F. Fallon, which has been so long discussed, will arrive at Rome about the same time as the announcement of the death of His Grace Archbishop F. P. McEvay. There was considerable delay in forwarding this document, because the French-Canadians wish to follow the usual diplomatic channels of the Church. The brief, which has been prepared and which is an extensive one, was submitted to Mons. Stagni, the new papal delegate, shortly after his arrival in Canada. It is understood that the delegate, wishing to keep free from any entangling alliances, referred the matter "higher up."

Coincident with this, too, comes the rumor that the presence of Senator N. A. Belcourt in Europe has no other purpose but to prosecute the charges at Rome that were prepared against the London bishop some months ago.

All these circumstances, occurring just at this particular time, will, it is claimed, be prejudicial to the suggested promotion of Bishop M. F. Fallon.

The French-Canadians are not inclined to show the bishop any quarter.

FIRES RAGE IN ONTARIO FORESTS

Bala, May 15.—William Carr started a fire Thursday to clear the corner of a shopping. After dinner it was beyond his control, and is now across the C.P.R. track. The fire is raging before a high wind eastward along Shanty Bay towards Bala. Buildings will be in danger if it crosses the swamp north of Robertson's Point. There is no provision of any kind for fighting it.

Orillia, May 15.—At Longford, a village across the lake from here, fire started in the Standard Chemical Works building and threatened the destruction of the village. Through the brave work of the employes of the chemical works it was brought under control with a loss of one building and about two hundred cord of wood. Total loss $2,000.

NASTY BUSH FIRE.

Kingston, May 15.—Yesterday afternoon the Kingston Fire Department were asked to send aid to the Lavant station, around which bush fires were raging. An engine and several firemen left on a special train over the K. and P. Railway for the scene of the fire, seventy miles north.

FOREST FIRE NEAR PERTH.

Perth, May 15.—Farmers of the whole district in Bathurst Township, about twelve miles from Perth, are out fighting bush fires, which started on the farm of George Hunter, who was engaged in burning brush.

Its Wonderful Power In Curing Sick Cattle and Colicky Horses Makes "Nerviline" Worth Its Weight in Gold.

The stockman or farmer that does not know of the thousand and one uses of "Nerviline" around the stable has a great deal to learn. "Why, I wouldn't think of looking my stable door at night without knowing I had a supply of "Nerviline" on hand. I always get a dozen bottles at a time from my druggist.

NERNILINE CURES COLOCKY HORSES

"To cure colic, indigestion and bad stomach in a horse or cow there is no remedy on earth in the same class as 'Nerviline.' Last summer I had a $250 horse that got the scours, and I would have lost him if I hadn't been able to give him Nerviline. I poured a full bottle of Nerviline in a pint of water down his throat and saved his life. I know of neighbors who have saved many heads of valuable stock, stricken with colic, just by using Nerviline. It is equally good as a rub-on liniment, and I know from my experience that for man or beast, internally or externally, 'Nerviline' is worth a dollar a drop."

You will not regret using Nerviline—but see you get it and not something else, 25c per bottle, or five for $1.00, at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

GENERAL BOOTH IS PREPARING FOR A VISIT TO U. S. AND CANADA

London, May 15.—General Booth, who attained his 82nd birthday on Monday, April 10, assured an interviewer at his Hadley Wood home, that as regarding health, he was gradually creeping back to his old condition and vigor. He hoped to have the impediment on his other eye removed, and, then to be largely himself again.

COMING TO CANADA.

The General's plans include visits to Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, possibly St. Petersburg, and to Canada and the United States.

Speaking for his schemes for reforming criminals in Great Britain, he said Mr. Churchill seemed afraid to go right over to his views, and modifications had been rendered necessary but the Salvation Army was still at work.

The only physical trouble of the aged leader of the Army is occasioned by the almost entire loss of sight, which has proceeded from the growth of cataract, but notwithstanding this drawback, which is naturally very serious to a man of active temperament, the amount of work he can still undertake, both at his desk and on the public platform, is surprising.

Only thirty-three years have elapsed since the Salvation Armt first came into being. A great picturesque figure, a dominant personality, a great "human," and an intense religious force are embodied in the patriarchal General, who received on his birthday the congratulations of tens of thousands of his followers.

He is now in England at his home at Hadley Wood, but after the Social Congress of the Salvation Army he has arranged to go abroad.

BODY OF LITTLE EDDIE TAYLOR WAS RECOVERED YESTERDAY

The body of little Eddy Taylor, who was drowned two weeks ago Saturday, was recovered yesterday evening about 5.30 near Rye's boat house. Dragging of the river to recover the body has been going on for some days. The supposition is that the poor little fellow's clothing had been caught on something in the bed of the river, which prevented the body from rising, and when the clothing became disentangled it rose to the surface.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock, from the home of his parents, Weir street.

FOOTBALL.

A fair-sized crowd watched the game between St. John's and Park Street Saturday afternoon. The game commenced a few minutes past four. Both teams played well, St. John's team being the most aggressive, and scoring the only goals in the first half. A pleasing feature of these matches is the increased attendance. Those from the old country should support the Church League matches, and by so doing encourage their fellow countrymen who are playing. Result St. John's 3, Park Street 2.

The St. James' Football team defeated the "Y" team in a well-contested game at Riverside Park Saturday afternoon, the score being 1—0. Owing to some misunderstanding, the teams only played a half an hour.

MILITARY FATALITY IN DARKEST RUSSIA

Antwerp, Belgium, May 13.—A news despatch reports the capsizing of two barges laden with Belgian soldiers, during a storm on the Lualaba River, one of the head streams of the Congo River, near Lokandu, Belgian Congo. Thirty lives were lost.

LATE JOHN WOOD LAID AT REST

The funeral of the late Mr. John Wood took place from the family residence, Belmont avenue, on Saturday last, to Little Lake cemetery, and was attended by a large number of his old friends and acquaintances, who thus paid their last tribute of respect and affection to one whom many of them had known so well in life. In the passing of Mr. Wood, Peterborough loses one of its oldest and most esteemed citizens—one who was known far and near for his many sterling qualities and his high character.

The services at the house were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Couch, pastor of the George street Methodist Church, of which Mr. Wood was a member, assisted by Rev. Mr. Henderson, of the Charlotte street Methodist Church.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Robert Fair, Wm. Scott, Frank Adams, Dr. Wightman and Mayor Morrow.

Toronto Rowing Club Minstrels.

The Toronto Rowing Club Minstrels arrived in the city on Saturday, and with their brass band paraded the streets. They gave a performance on Saturday night, which was not very largely attended, owing to the fact that they were poorly advertised.

CHILD OF BONDAGE

By James T. Skinner

Old Eli Strassky was tired and worn with his long day's tramping. As he turned into the by-streets of the Ghetto his step faltered, and a heavy sigh came through his grey, patriarchal beard.

"Still there is no relief from the merciless hand of the tyrant," he muttered, as he passed along the narrow deserted thoroughfares. "Are my people to be forever the serfs and footstools of these God-forsaken despots? Are they never to be released?" He shook his head mournfully, and a tear started to his failing eye. "It is impossible to believe that God has abandoned them," he said. "Some day— and yet—"

Presently he paused at the door of one of the houses in a dark street close by. Raising his hand to a long, narrow piece of metal nailed to the doorpost, he touched it reverently, and raised his fingers slowly to his lips. With that he passed through the door way.

A venerable, God-fearing Hebrew Eli Strassky was one of the best known and most respected dwellers in that wide and densely populated districts of East London, which is known as the Ghetto. He had not come as a poor man, for he had been thrifty and of fairly high position in the country he renounced. With him he had brought his wife and daughters, the latter two handsome girls with wonderful dark eyes and raven-black tresses. They had settled among their compatriots in the "Jewish City of the East," had lived and thrived there, and become respected for their generous assistance to new arrivals from the land of oppression.

Eli had only one wish now. His daughter Ruth had left behind in Poland the sole joy of her life—one Gregory Zarmoff, an overseer of her father's late property. Eli had not known of this attachment when he left for England, as Ruth had been afraid to approach him on the subject. Since, he had learnt the truth, and seeing that his daughter had no heart for any other, the old Jew longed, in his own way, to see them come together. There could be no objection to the attachment; on the contrary, Gregori was a tall, upright, honest young man, with every right to ask for his daughter's hand. The young man's father, too, had saved old Eli once from the wolves in the forest of Sukhona, and they were the staunchest friends. But Gregori had had to wait. In order to come to England he must have money and only hard work could win it for him.

After many years of waiting Gregori was at last on his way to London—to London—that great city of the unoppressed, the free!. Ruth had waited long and patiently, and now Gregori, her loved one, was leaving Poland, with its cruel despotism, its tyrannical masters, its pitiless slaves, for England—would be with her on the morrow.

That evening Eli had bought his newspaper and learnt therefrom that another massacre among the Jews had taken place at Sukhona. He guessed the cause of the outrage. This man Dmitri Markovitch's fierce oppression had caused revolt among the Jewish peasants. The Poles, needing only the slightest incentive to an outburst, had taken immediate advantage of the opportunity and fallen on their neighbors like wolves on a flock of sheep.

Eli Strassky joined his family with a blessing. How wonderful his daughters had made the place! Surely they must have spent hours in getting the little rooms to look their very best. Gregori would be here soon, and—but why anticipate.

On the table lay a cloth of snowy whiteness. A double portion of white bread, a little fish, a small decanter of raisin wine, with a couple of lighted candles in tall brass candlesticks, were placed upon it—the latter to signify the number of his children.

After they had eaten, Eli broke the silence with his story of the massacre.

"So many of our friends must be there," he said. "Gregori, too, but he—thank God, he had left before this happened!"

Ruth, a fine, handsome girl of twenty-five, shuddered slightly.

"He will be here to-morrow," she said, as if this was news. "Oh, father, you cannot tell how glad I am."

Leah, Eli's other daughter, sighed. It was a little sigh, just audible, but nobody seemed to notice it.

Eli explained at length the details of the terrible calamity that had befallen his compatriots.

On the following day Eli and Ruth went down to the Alien Immigration Offices in Great Tower Street, the girl tripping with joy all the way. Everything now was ready for her lover; a feast had been prepared, their home had been made to look its best—everything was ready to receive the immigrant as soon as the general inspection should be over. Ruth waited anxiously, her heart beating wildly all the time. They saw batches of fellow-countrymen going away with their friends, watched happy reunions, and noticed the light step with which each stranger reached the street. Yet Gregori came not. An hour passed, and there was still no sign. Then Eli proposed that they should make inquiries. A terrible shock awaited them.

"Gregori Zarmoff had been deported," the officer said, "from failure to comply with the necessary demands."

That was all.

* * * * * *

Two or three months later Eli bought a newspaper, and sat down to read the news. In a prominent position there he found a paragraph to this effect:—

"Serious anti-Semitic riots have again broken out in the district of Sukhona, in Polish Russia. General Markovitch, the governor of the district, has been assassinated by a Jewish peasant named Gregori Zarmoff, who declared that the former had ill-treated his mother. The Polish peasants slew Zarmoff without mercy before the eyes of his own parents."

Alleging that his wife never got his breakfast before 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning, the Rev. Albert H. Shoemaker, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Rushville, Ind., has filed suit for divorce.

Some members of the Lindsay Council propose to have the frosting removed from the windows of the billiard rooms, so that the public will be able to look inside.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

FELT GUILTY

A smart looking gentleman carrying a bag was accosted by a boy near a London railway-station.

"Carry your bag, sir?"

"No, thank you."

"Carry it to the station for five cents, sir."

The gentleman replied again:

"No thank you."

"Carry it for two cents, sir?" questioned the boy.

Again the reply came:

"No, thank you."

Whereupon the youngster got into the road, and shouted at the top of his voice three or four times:

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself to ask me to carry that heavy bag to the station for a cent."

And the scornful glances of the crowd made the gentleman feel quite guilty.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

"See here, waiter," said Mr. Grouch, scowling deeply over his plate, "I ordered turtle soup. There is not even a morsel of turtle flavor in this!"

"Of course not," returned the waiter. "What do you expect? Shakespeare said there was nothing in a name. If you ordered cottage pudding would you expect a cottage in it? In Manchester pudding would you look for a ship canal, or a cotton exchange? Any tea, sir?"

HE SPECULATED

The banker dismounted at a certain place, and got a small boy to hold his horse. Returning in ten minutes, he was surprised to find another—smaller—boy standing at the horse's head.

"How is this?" he said. "You are not the boy I left my horse with."

"No, sir," replied the youngster. "I speculated, and bought off the other fellow for a cent."

BABY PRISONERS

Infant of Eighteen Months Charged as a Wanderer

A baby of eighteen months, Frank Warwick, was charged in London, England, under the Children's Act, with wandering, and was carried into court by the matron. The magistrate remarked that it seemed ridiculous to charge one so young, but the police inspector replied that he had had to charge babies under twelve months old. A further remand was ordered.

When taken into court on a previous occasion young Frank caught sight of his mother, who is charged with exposing her children in a manner likely to cause them injury, and there was no further peace until he was allowed to cling round her neck.

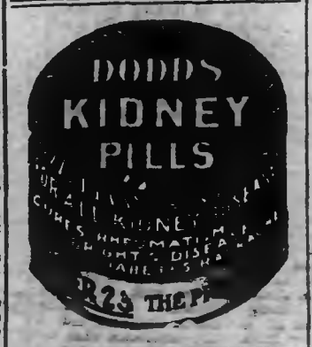
The magistrate thought it absurd to charge children of that age, and ordered them to be sent to the workhouse.

There was another scene when an attempt was made to separate little Frank from his mother. Both mother and child had to be taken out together and when the actual separation took place the little boy's sobs could be heard throughout the court.

THE LEANING TOWER

The Famous Structure is in Danger of Collapsing

Unless remedial measures are taken, it is possible that the famous leaning tower of Pisa may ultimately collapse as did the Campanile at Venice a few years ago. Measurements taken by an English engineer in 1839 showed the tower to be 15½ feet out of the perpendicular. Measurements taken recently show that the divergence has increased to 16½ feet. It should be within the resources of modern engineering to excavate below the tower, bring it gradually back to the vertical, and place beneath it an absolute ly secure foundation.



The Original and Only Genuine

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

* * * *

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

* * * *

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

* * * *

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

* * * *

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

* * * *

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

* * * *

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

* * * *

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

* * * *

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

* * * *

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

* * * *

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

* * * *

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

* * * *

Now, then, be up and thinking.

* * * *

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

* * * *

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

* * * *

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

* * * *

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

* * * *

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

* * * *

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

* * * *

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

* * * *

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

* * * *

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

* * * *

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

* * * *

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

HOPE OF WALES

Mr. Lloyd George on the Religious Activity of the Day

Lloyd George, in opening a bazaar in Wales, in which Mrs. Lloyd George is president, said of late he had had some experience of extracting money, and he hoped the promoters of that bazaar would not meet with his difficulties, and that their efforts would not arouse resentment, as he seemed to have done, among the customers at his little bazaar. (Laughter).

Within recent years, he said, he had motored more than ever through the sterile and wild parts of Wales, across great mountain moors, with hardly a habitation in sight, perhaps only a shepherd's cot, but he has never gone very far without seeing a little chapel somewhere or other in the wilderness. (Hear, hear.)

"I am also struck by the way Nonconformity is dealing with the rapid changes which are taking place, not so much in the character of the population as in its training and outlook. There are two conditions in the life of Wales which contain elements of peril to the spiritual life of any nation. One is the great access of material prosperity and the other is the enormous improvement in the educational outfit and facilities of the people. Both are full of peril to the spiritual life of the people unless they are properly dealt with, and unless measures are adapted of utilizing them.

"For all the education was very much like carrying a lamp in the darkness. It illumined all the immediate vicinity, enabling one to see everything that was near with greater clearness, but it was very apt to darken the vastness around. At the great centres of learning on the Continent students saw material things with greater clearness, and thus for a moment darkened or thickened the darkness of impenetrable mysteries around them. Nonconformity realized the perils. Its ministry had become a better trained and educated one, and one which was quite adequate to cope with the new generation which was springing up in Wales with an intellectual awakening which was on of the greatest features of its national life at the present moment. These were things that filled the heart of anyone loving Wales with a great sense of hope and of confidence as to the future of the country." (Cheers.)

SOFT SHELLED EGGS

Experiments That Were Carried On at a Kansas Station

It is a general belief that soft-shelled eggs are due to a deficiency in the supply of lime to the laying hens. At the Kansas Experimental Poultry Farm, experiments were carried out to throw some light on the subject. It appears that hens subject to much nervous excitement are liable to lay soft-shelled eggs, due to nervous shock and analogous to abortion in other animals. It is known that on the ordinary diet a hen's system usually contains enough lime for the shells of five or six eggs. If lime is withheld, then, after laying five or six eggs, the hen will cease laying; but if lime in limited amounts be given the hen will lay eggs in proportion to that amount, though the shells on examination may prove to be somewhat thinner than usual. In addition to grit, lime must be supplied in the form of shell-grit or oysters. Old plaster is also very satisfactory.

CANDID CRITICISM

Said the Actor's Voice Was Like a Rasping Saw

Mr. Willie Garvey, who, as Aladdin's mother at the Kennington Theatre, has been manufacturing laughter wholesale, and who, by the way, has been engaged by Mr. Robert Arthur for five years, has earned considerable distinction as an opera singer as well as comedian. Indeed, he is far prouder of his operatic record than he is of his pantomime performances. "But I received a nasty jolt the other night," he said to the writer during an interview. "While leaving the theatre I heard one man ask another what he thought of the man who played Aladdin's mother. 'Oh, he's all right,' was the reply, 'but he's got a voice like a rasping saw.'"

THE CHOICE OF A WIFE

Jeremy Taylor very aptly summed up his opinion of the unwise choice of a wife in the following words: "A very fool is he that chooses for beauty principally; his eyes are witty, but his soul is sensual. It is an ill band of affection to tie two hearts together by a little thread of red and white."

These are indeed true sentiments, and the man is both unwise and unlucky who merely selects his wife because she is a pretty girl. Prettiness alone never yet made for happiness; the girl who can be a true friend, a devoted companion and a loving wife is worth a great deal more to her husband than "the little thread of red and white"—which the old-time divine condemns so strongly.

Another Case Proving That Catarrhozone Cures When All Else Fails.

The case of Mr. James H. Barton the well-known publishing agent, of Strafford, is most remarkable. For seven years he suffered from weak throat, treated with numerous physicians, used a score of remedies—but was not cured. Among the symptoms from which he suffered were:

Frontal Headache	Sore Chest
Influenza	Bronchitis
Nasal Catarrh	Hoarseness
Weak Throat	Croupy Cough

"For years I suffered from a chronic weakness of nose, throat and lungs. My chest was sore, my throat irritable, and I had a harsh, croupy cough that was always worse in the morning. During bad weather I was completely prostrated with Catarrh, bronchial irritation, and all the manifold discomforts of influenza.

"When I began using Catarrhozone a beneficial effect was noticeable at once. My breathing became free and easy, I slept better, my chest was eased, and the thick phlegm and coughing that made me so sick passed away. Once, when my son was threatened with malignant tonsilitis, Catarrhozone cured him in two days."

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath direct to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucus, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes.

To those in fear of changgble weather—those who easily catch cold—those who work among the lung-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog, or damp can effect them—let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily. Large size, sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. Beware of imitators and substitutors, and insist on getting "Catarrhozone" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company Kingston, Ont.

DIGNATARIES OF CHURCH AND STATE AT FUNERAL

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT ST MICHAEL'S CATHEDRAL—THE VAST EDIFICE WAS FILLED TO OVERFLOWING.

Requiem Mass Solemnly Celebrated By His Excellency the Papal Delegate—Two Hundred Priests from the Archdiocese Walked in the Procession.

Toronto, May 12.—"Fergus Patrick McEvay, late Archbishop of Toronto, ever a priest of the Church of Jesus Christ. Farewell from all of us until we meet again with God in heaven."

Such is the tribute paid by Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, Bishop of London to the memory of the Most Rev. Fergus Patrick McEvay, late Archbishop of Toronto, whose funeral was conducted from St. Michael's Cathedral to Mount Hope cemetery this morning.

THE GARB OF THE BODY.

The scene within the spacious sanctuary of the church was one that will live long in the memory of the thousands who witnessed it. In the centre reposed the remains of the dead prelate, raised so as to appear as if he were gazing out upon the congregation. The body was garbed in purple dalmatics, with a white mitre upon the head. The hands were covered with purple gloves, and were crossed upon his breast. In the right one was held a large ebony cross, while upon his third finger was his archiepiscopal ring, which glistened and shone in the dim light that came from the candles placed on each side of the bier.

Within the sanctuary were seated the highest dignitaries of the Roman Catholic Church in Canada, while without the railing were representatives of the Dominion and Ontario Governments, the judiciary, the City of Toronto, a dozen societies, and men and women from all walks of life.

On the right hand side of the sanctuary was erected a throne, with a canopy, all covered in purple, for his Excellency, Most Rev. Pelegrino Francis Stagni, Apostolic Delegate to Canada. Across it, on the Gospel side, was the permanent throne of the Archbishop of Toronto, which the late prelate occupied on so few occasions. To-day it was unoccupied.

SEATED IN ORDER OF RANK.

Within the sanctuary the dignitaries of the Church were seated in order of rank. Starting at the Gospel corner of the altar they were: Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal; Archbishop Begin, of Quebec; Archbishop McCarthy, of Halifax; Bishop Hickey, of Rochester; Bishop Feehan, of Fall River, Mass.; Bishop Dowling, of Hamilton; Bishop LaTulippe, of Temiskaming.

On the Epistle side were: Archbishop Webber, head of the Catholic College at Berlin, Archbishop Gauthier, of Ottawa; Bishop Bruneau, of Nicolet; Bishop Casey, of St. John; Bishop Macdonnell, of Alexandria; Bishop O'Connor, of Peterborough; and Bishop Fallon, of London. Then came the monsignori, Vicar-General Cann, of St. Mary's Church; Aikins, of London, and Masterson, Coadjutor of the Diocese of Ottawa. In the front seat on the Epistle side, without the sanctuary railing, were seated Mr. Eugene O'Keefe, Peter Chamberlain, and beside him Mr. Frank Kelly.

In the next were: Premier Whitney, A. C. Macdonell, M.P., South Toronto; Edmund Bristol, M.P., of West Toronto; Hon. Dr. Reaume, M.P., Minister of Public Works; Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands and Mines; Hon. J. J. Foy, Attorney-General of Ontario, and Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary.

Behind them were seated Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, representing the Dominion Government; George Clare, M.P., Waterloo, and George Gordon, M.P. Nipissing.

Next came Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and Mr. Justice Latchford, Sir Chas. Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice, and Mr. Justice Anglin, of the Supreme Court were unable to attend, owing to a sitting of the court.

Behind them were seated Mayor Geary, Controllers Ward, Spence and Church, and Aldermen McCausland, McBride, and O'Neill. Ald. T. N. Phelan had a seat among the Knights of Columbus.

On the right hand side of the centre aisle were the mother of the dead prelate and other near relatives in the front seat. Behind them were seated the clergy from all over the Province and beyond, the Christian Brothers, the sisters of the different orders and the religious societies.

Father McEvay had become Bishop, and finally Vicar-General.

"His heart was tender towards the parents who followed where he had worked."

Bishop O'Connor had been moved from London to Toronto. It remains unannounced to appoint a successor there.

MAYOR MORROW EXPLAINS ACTION OF THE COUNCIL

His Worship Deals With the Matter of the Industrial Commissioner and Gives at Length the Reasons of the Council in Deciding To Dispense With the Services of the Industrial Commissioner---The Power Report Episode.

Editor of The Examiner,—

Dear Sir:—The decision of the city council not to engage Mr. Duggan as Industrial Commissioner has been freely and severely criticized in some quarters, and while it will not be necessary to reply to all that has been said and published, yet, with your permission, it might not be amiss to present some of the facts by which the action of the council was influenced and determined.

There were two main factors to consider when the question came up. One was, what had been accomplished by the Commissioner during the past year, and, judging from that, whether the council would be justified in spending sufficient of the peoples' money to continue him in the office as an official of the council. Mr. Duggan has pointed to two industries as the fruit of his work: The Bonnerworth Co., and Gold Medal Camp Furniture Co. As to the first, Mr. Bonner wrote me, and I handed his letter over to the Commissioner, who invited Mr. Bonner to visit Peterborough. Mr. Bonner and Mr. Worth came, met members of the council, and the whole matter of the bargain between them and the city was made and concluded by the members of the council. As to the other firm, which we hope will build a factory here, its representatives visited Peterborough, and selected a site, before Mr. Duggan came to Peterborough. On this phase of the matter, therefore, there did not appear to be sufficient result to satisfy the council.

The other main factor was his actions in the power matter, in which his course has not been straightforward. Leaving out the scheme which he took up last year, and in connection with which he visted lake front towns, but which apparently fell through, let us consider what occurred this year. At the organization meeting of the council, Ald. Bradburn and myself were appointed a Power Committee. We promptly took action in more than one direction, and while the members of the council are aware of what has been done by the committee, it would not at present be in the public interest to refer to more than the application made to the Hydro-Electric Power Commission. In January I, as Mayor, wrote to the Hon. Adam Beck and asked him to have that Commission make a report on the powers from Lakefield to Hastings, for the purpose of advising the Council as to which of the powers it would be best for the city to secure, or from which to procure power. Mr. Beck replied the Commission would do so. Later the City Solicitor saw Mr. Beck in Toronto, urged an early report and was assured that no time would be lost, and that the engineers would consult me when they came to Peterborough. I also interviewed Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., about the expected report, and he saw Mr. Beck more than once to make doubly sure that no time would be lost. Then Mr. Bradburn informed me that the report was about ready, and that Mr. Beck would be pleased to assist the council further in any way that he could. The members of the council were called together, and Mr. Bradburn was asked to meet them, which he did, and repeated to them the information, and Mr. Beck's offer. The council decided that it would be well to have Mr. Beck meet the council, and give any explanations in connection with the report that he might consider useful, and Mr. Bradburn was asked to convey the invitation to the Minister, which he readily consented to do.

Permit a digression here. Mr. Duggan knew that the application had been made for this report within a couple of days after the application had been sent in, yet he had members of the council come to his office, when he talked to them about power, and gave them to understand that the Power Committee would not do anything, because I was in some way interested in the Electric Power Co., and was opposed to securing power for the city.

Again later, once at any rate, he repeated this and endeavored to cause suspicion and division in the council, and to make my colleagues believe that I was acting contrary to the city's interests; his reasons for this can be readily imagined. At the same time, he knew one of the steps Ald. Bradburn and I had taken, and his insinuations in regard to myself were entirely untrue. I have not, directly or indirectly, near or remote, any interest in the Electric Power Co., or any other electric or power company, and if any relative or business associate of mine has any interest in any such company, I am not aware of it. No one has ever tried to influence me, nor, so far as I know, Ald. Bradburn, in the matter: and as I said, Mr. Duggan knew one of the steps we had taken and must have known that in interfering with the action of the council, he was acting in an improper and discourteous manner.

Returning to the direct subject of the power report, Mr. T. E. Bradburn went to Toronto and tried to see Mr. Beck, but as is well known he is one of the busiest men in the province, and Mr. Bradburn did not see him that day. Mr. Duggan was in Toronto the same day, remained over the second day, and finally saw Mr. Beck, and got him to come to Peterborough with the report to a meeting of citizens, privately invited to a private house. Mr. Beck, however chivalrous he may be in the matter understood that Mr. Duggan represented the city, and that he (Mr. Beck) was coming to an authorized meeting. The report was read there and published before it reached the council.

Mr. Duggan obtained possession of a report that he knew belonged to the Council, and made use of it as he saw fit.

There have been several explanations given in defence of this. At the gathering where the report was presented Mr. Duggan was given credit, as the newspapers reports show, for having the report made by the Hydro-Electric Commission, and accepted it. He treated the report as if it were his by giving it out. Yet he knew that the Mayor had made the application, on behalf of the council that secured the report. Then we were told at the council meeting by the deputation from the Board of Trade, that Mr. Duggan did not know that Mr. Beck was bringing the report, although Mr. Duggan had informed citizens that it would be at the meeting, several days before it was held, and before he knew Mr. Beck would come, showing that his getting possession of the report was premeditated. He also, according to his advocate, Mr. O'Connell, says, that he asked me in January to apply for the report. That is untrue. He did not suggest a report from the Commission, and the obtaining of that report was an act entirely due to the Committee alone, in conjunction with Mr. T. E. Bradburn.

Further, when the engineers came to the city and saw Mr. Duggan, who was aware the council had taken action in the matter, in some way it happened that the engineers did not call on me or any member of the council, as Mr. Beck said they would do, and expected they would do, and in addition to this the public was led to believe that the city held an option on the Otonabee Power Co's property, which was not correct.

The council is censured by the learned counsel who has advocated Mr. Duggan's cause, because they did not take measures to have the votes brought out on the Independent Tire Co. Bylaw, but Mr. Duggan had a meeting to organize for that purpose, and the meeting was reported in the press, but I was not informed of the meeting, nor I believe was any member of the Council. If, then, the council had attempted to take any action it would have been in conflict with the Commissioner's efforts, and would have caused confusion, which would have done no good.

Mr. O'Connell says the members of the council have misconceived the position they occupy. Again, he is wrong. We know that the city is not yet governed by Commission, but that we have been elected by the people to transact their business; that we have taken an obligation to do it to the best of our ability, and that we are doing, and we do not propose to be driven by a few citizens, however estimable they may be, into any action that we are convinced would be contrary to the interests of the citizens, whose trustees we are. We are responsible to the people for our course—and let me tell Mr. O'Connell that not for the position of Mayor of the city, and it is one I am very proud of holding, would I take a course that I was convinced was not in the interests of the ratepayers. And further let me tell him that I believe the action of the council meets with approval of a large majority of the electors, and that most of those whom he or Mr. Duggan has succeeded in enlisting as his supporters in this matter have become so because they had been misled, and, still further, that he (Mr. O'Connell) has been seriously misled himself.

It is said that the members of the council are displeased because they were ignored by the Commissioner in the matter of the report. That is quite true; the report should have come to the council. The council is a representative body; its members are chosen by the people, and it represents the people. The members consequently resent being ignored, and their business taken out of their hands. The report was asked for by me for the council, and Mr. Duggan had not a shadow of a claim to it, and no reason whatever for the course he pursued.

But this is not merely a question of the dignity of the council, neither does the question stop with the important question of the effect on the business and the interests of the city. That is one reason that has so far kept me silent.

In the report it is stated that the price of the Otonabee Power Co's property is $225,000, and that price is reasonable, and details are given. Such a statement in the report coming into the hands of council would be quite proper. The council could then take up the matter with the company, make further enquiries, and endeavor when that report is placed in the hands when the report is placed in the hands of the Otonabee Power Co., as it was through Mr. Duggan's interference, there is no longer any probability of the council making any bargain with that company except by paying them

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operations of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business. It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. There is no personal liability. An issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market in Vancouver and a considerable amount has already been taken up.

PORCUPINE NEWS

The opening up of spring has brought the usual spring freshetts and news comes from Porcupine City that the district is flooded in many places. All the Townsites are flooded and row-boats are being used to get about except in the case of Porcupine City which on account of being some 50 feet above the surrounding country is free from water. Building operations are proceeding briskly as there is nothing to prevent getting around.

No one who knows the district can doubt for a moment that the only place to secure building lots in the district is in Porcupine City, but you had better communicate at once if you want to secure some thing good at reasonable prices with

Price of Shares Advance

MAY 15TH, 1911

We Now Have Over 200 Stockholders

Foreword

E. W. SMITH

As Manager of the Bankers Finance Co. I want to personally call your attention to what I consider the very best investment opportunity I have found in all of my financial experience, and my customers know by dividends and profits distributed that I have a record of several years' success.

In the first place I will not sell stocks in any company until I have satisfied myself that there seems to be assured success for the company. Furthermore, I always want my clients to buy stocks when there is a splendid probability of their advancing to a price that will let each one make a handsome profit.

THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL CO., at the present price of THREE cents a share, I think, is a big money-maker. The stock is just as sure to rise as human being can depict, and it would not surprise me to see an advance to 75 cents or $1 in the near future.

Such policy has caused the great success of the Bankers Finance Company extending over a long period, and having on its books the most prosperous investors of any similar western institution. It isn't often we offer speculative stocks which are likely to double and treble in price, and rapidly making several hundred per cent. profit, but when we do it's a pretty safe guess that we know absolutely whereof we speak, and in no instance have we yet failed. I have personally investigated the following proposition and firmly believe we have the richest and most marvelous offering in the West, and if you will join us, even for a small amount, I will endeavor to show you profits thereby that will make you permanent customers.—E. W. Smith.

When investing your money in any security it is always well to investigate the basic facts underlying the business back of the security.

The production of crude oil from the ground has for ages proven to be a very profitable industry, and therefrom has arisen many of the richest men of the world. Corporations engaged in this industry have amassed enormous profits and paid large dividends to shareholders.

Geologists schooled in their profession are enabled to determine in what localities crude oil may be secured by drilling wells. In some localities oil is secured at a depth of a few hundred feet, while elsewhere it is necessary to drill to a depth of several thousand feet. This to a certain extent regulates the expense of reaching oil.

Again, the quality of oil secured is an important factor in the ultimate profits which may be realized. Among the most valuable oil wells are those containing the largest percentage of paraffin, naptha, gasoline, lubricating, and other ingredients for which there is a ready market at substantial prices.

In the Pennsylvania fields there was formerly produced a large amount of high-grade oil which sold at several dollars per barrel, and millions of barrels made millions of dollars for the owners; but of late years this supply has diminished, and it has become a serious question among oil men as to where the future supply would come from, especially since the introduction of automobiles and gasoline engines has created an enormous demand for gasoline at high prices.

THE RANGELY OIL FIELD, located in Rio Blanco county, Colorado, is destined to fill the necessity now so much in demand. Doubtless this field would have become prominent many years ago but for the fact that Rio Blanco county has been practically without railroad transportation. In fact, at present only one railroad touches the county, and that merely across one corner, thus serving only about ten miles of the county, leaving other portions thereof nearly 35 miles from the railroad. Now that paraffin and gasoline oils are being produced, this situation will be speedily remedied. Already the Uintah Railway, the Grand River, Meeker & Salt Lake Railroad, the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway, and the Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific Railway are projected through this county, and soon Rio Blanco with its tremendously rich, undeveloped resources of high-grade oil, coal, gilsonite, mineralized rubber and other valuables, will reap its reward.

It is a well-known axiom that those who get into a country "ahead of the railroads" will get the greater profits. The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is now firmly entrenched as one of the factors of the Rangely Oil Field, and its 80 acres are considered as good as any in the district. However, other companies did the pioneering work. Six companies have already secured oil in 50 wells. In all of them have been found the same high-grade paraffin and gasoline oil and most of these wells strike oil at from 600 to 1,000 feet deep, proving it a shallow field.

The essentials of success and profit are clearly defined in the Rangely field: 1. Inexpensive drilling. 2. Shallow wells throughout. 3. High-grade valuable product. 4. Oil analyzed by the Standard Oil Company. 5. Oil analyzed by the U. S. Government experts. 6. Geologists of the U. S. examined the entire field.

All stock fully paid and non-assessable.
Entire capital stock, 1,000,000 shares, placed in treasury.

Property—Eighty acres choice territory in the Rangely oil district, Rio Blanco county, Colorado, a field celebrated for its valuable paraffin and gasoline oils commanding four times the price of asphalt oils of California Texas and Oklahoma. The corporation has a 20-year lease, royalty only 10 per cent. of oil secured, and $1,200 ($15 per acre) cash when oil is struck, otherwise nothing is to be paid lessor.

The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is among the first in the field, reaching there "ahead of the railroads", and selected first choice of leases, and began drilling its first well. For the purpose of determining the value of this high-grade oil by expert analysis samples were taken from nearby wells, results of which are herewith submitted. They prove conclusively every claim made for Rangely high-grade oil.

EXPERT OPINIONS ON THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT.

The following are brief extracts from some of the most complimentary reports ever made upon an oil field, all of the parties in question having visited the Raven Park Field and subjected it to the most rigid and crucial investigation:

Mr. Samuel Baker says of the Raven Park Oil Field: "The field is a true anticlinal dome. The oil is a rich, golden brow color, and is very foamy, showing the presence of large quantities of gas and gas-forming materials."

Prof. Wm. B. Potter, the well-known geologist and mining engineer of St. Louis, who occupied the chair of Geology in the Washington University at St. Louis for over 12 years, says: "One of the marked and most favorable characteristics of the Raven Park field is the well-developed dome structure. Such dome structure is especially favorable for the storage of oil. And the natural pressure should insure powerful gushing wells when the oil sands are penetrated in drilling."

Mr. Robert L. Lund, upon the strength of whose report a St. Louis syndicate entered into a contract for extensive work in the field says: "The Raven Park oil field consists of an anticlinal dome, remarkable alike for its enormous size and the perfection of its foldings. The conditions in the field, it is believed, insure flowing wells under heavy pressure."

Prof. F. V. Hayden, than whom no more scientific geologist ever visited the Raven Park Oil Fields, in his report to the government says: "Raven Park has a quaquaversal shape. The dip of the strata is in all directions from the middle of Raven Park." (A quaquaversal dip is an anticlinal dome.)

Is The Government's Expert's RECOMMENDATION Good Enough For You ?

MILLIONS MADE IN OIL

Of course, you know of many men who have made their millions in oil fields. Many of you know that the leading and most successful oil operators have, for the past few years, been exploring the fields of Colorado. It is stated upon good authority that this field is destined to become one of the greatest fields in the world.

ALREADY A GOING CONCERN

This company has already begun drilling its second well, hence you are not invited into an unknown proposition. Work has begun in earnest and daily progress is being made. Hearing of the great excitement caused by the discovery of high-grade paraffin oil in Rio Blanco County, Colorado, our Mr. Smith made a careful personal investigation of the field last November. What he found was almost unbelievable. At a few hundred feet deep in this field, designated by the government as the Rangely Oil District, they were bringing in wells of oil worth $2 a barrel as it came from the ground. Compare this with California, Texas and Oklahoma crude oil worth about 50 cents a barrel and figure the large profits in sight. Fifty wells with the same high-grade paraffin oil prove absolutely the truths contained in the official government report on this district. "BOOK No. 350. RANGELY OIL DISTRICT." copy of which can be obtained free by writing the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Smith was fortunate in securing 80 acres of choice land, sufficient for 80 wells. Upon his return to Denver the latter part of November arrangements were perfected to begin immediate work and show our good faith by starting well No. 1 before asking anyone to put a cent into the proposition.

which for quick and large profits surpasses anything ever before offered by this financial house—a house with a record of success in every investment offering, and whose clients are making large profits, while others were trusting to their money in purely wildcat securities.

The prompt response from those who received our recent announcement of the opportunity to secure pre-organization stock resulted in quickly securing ample funds for present requirements. Engine, boiler and complete outfit was secured, and expenses promptly paid, and we still have money in the treasury. Work in the field is being actively pushed, and success seems assured. Reports are exceedingly favorable for large profits to each shareholder. In future stock will only be sold from time to time at higher prices to provide for further development. In the near future we will need only to meet our pay roll and other expenses. For this purpose we will accept a few more subscriptions at three (3) cents a share, payable in five equal monthly installments. As only a limited amount of installment stock will be reserved at three cents a share, prompt application is necessary.

NEW CLIENTS INVITED

We want YOU with us in this great opportunity, no matter how small your investment. No one is allowed more than $200 worth at three cents a share, as the stock is thus limited so all will participate pro rata in this distribution, destined to make profits large enough to please each member.

Don't wait until you can send the maximum amount of $200, but take what you can at once, for the opportunity to-day offered you will be a matter of history, TOO LATE. We invite you to become a stockholder now, before price of shares advance.

An Invitation to the Reader

The corporation offers for sale a limited amount of treasury shares upon exceptional terms to investors who may desire to secure an interest in this great proposition. Funds received from this subscription offering are to be used in further extending the development work in the Rangely field, and with surplus constantly in its treasury, unusual opportunities of acquiring valuable holdings may be taken advantage of as they arise.

Immediately subscriptions have been received for this allotment of treasury stock it will be withdrawn from the market.

MONTHLY PAYMENT 20 PER CENT. WITH ORDER AND 20 PER CENT. A MONTH APPLICATION

As only a limited amount of stock will be sold at Three Cents a share, each subscriber will be limited to not exceeding $200 worth, so all can secure atleast a little of this original issue and participate in the advance in price of shares.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognise the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

ONLY A CURL

The Governor of Dartwell Prison was passing out of the gate when he noticed a poor little girl of about twelve years standing in the street and gazing earnestly at the great black walls surrounding the prison.

"Oh, please, sir," she said, "may I go inside and see my father? He's in there, and I've brought something for him."

The Governor, who was a kind-hearted man, took the little girl to his office, and sent for the convict—a notoriously bad man—to be brought thither.

When he came he bore a sullen, angry expression. There was no word of welcome for his child.

"Oh, father!" she cried, bursting into tears, "Aren't you glad to see me?"

The man's head dropped, and his eyes were moistening. The little girl went on—

"And father, I've brought you something. It was all I could think of, and all I could get. I live in the Workhouse now."

Her trembling fingers began unwrapping a bit of thin paper, and revealed a soft shining curl of golden hair.

"I wouldn't give this to anyone on earth but you, father. You used to love little Johnny."

The man fell on his knees with both hands clasped over his face.

"I did love him!" he said hoarsely, "and I love him still!"

"I knew you did," said his daughter, going up close to him, "and I thought you would like this, now that Johnny's dead."

"Dead!" shrieked the man. "My little boy dead!"

"Yes," said his daughter; "Johnny died in the workhouse, and there's none left but me, but I'm not going to forget you, father."

Then the rough man put his arms round the child's neck and kissed her again and again.

After that he was never the same man. He turned from being one of the worst men in the prison to be one of the best, and the warders never had any more trouble with him at all; and when he went out of jail it was to lead an honest life for the sake of his loyal little girl.

KISSED THE JUDGE

Little Girl Expressed Appreciation in a London Court

A little London, Eng., girl of eight years, ragged but chubby, appeared at Old-Street Children's Court in the care of a matron, having been found wandering and begging. Standing at tea-shop doors, enticed by the bright light and the passing in and out of strangers, many of whom thoughtlessly drop a coin into the outstretched hands of the little beggars in waiting, the little girl was only one of many who beg, or often are sent to beg, in that way.

Her father came into court and said he did not know she did it.

The Magistrate (Mr. Dickinson) turned a half-laughing, half-severe countenance on the child and said: "See how naughty you can be without your father knowing it. Are you not very naughty?"

The Child: "Nooo."

The Magistrate: "Oh, but you are, if you are not, mind you will be sent away from your father."

The Child: "I want to go with daddy now."

The Magistrate: "But will you be good?"

The Child: "Yes. Please may I go with daddy?"

The Magistrate: "Well, yes, this time I think you may."

The Child (who had been standing close to the magisterial chair): "Oh, you are good now,; I should like to kiss you."

The magistrate turned upon the child a face which blushed a rosy red, and, bending sideways to her, said: "Would you? Well, you may, because you are going to be a good girl." The little child, in no way perturbed, prettily kissed the cheek of the magistrate and then, walking down to her father, took his hand, and left the court, saying, "Good-bye, sir; good-bye."

A GRATEFUL K.C.

English Lawyer Saved From Death Was Not Forgetful

The fact is not generally known that Mr. Tobin, K.C., who worked so hard on behalf of Crippen, once had a marvellous escape from death. On January 3rd, 1893, he was at Hooton Railway Station, Cheshire, and started to cross the line for the down train without noticing the approach of the up train. A porter, George Greenhouse, saw the danger, and with remarkable quickness dragged Mr. Tobin into safety. The latter gave the porter $25, and on each anniversary of the day sends him a sum equal to 25c. per week. And as long as Greenhouse remained in the service of the company he was allowed an extra shilling a week. He is now driver of the post-office mail cart from Leominster to Weobley.

LONG TRAMP IN VAIN

Man of 90 Who Walked Nearly 2,000 Miles on Vain Errand

The London Telegraph tells the story, which comes from Mobile, Alabama, of a man of ninety-eight who has tramped nearly 2,000 miles on a vain errand. Frank Schrom, the hero of this feat, at the beginning of the year, received a letter from his daughter living in San Francisco asking him to go to them. Schrom had been wealthy, but his business had failed, and he had lost all his possessions. Too proud to ask for assistance, he set out to walk from New Orleans to the Californian city. Arriving there, he found his daughters, who, in the absence of any word from the old man, had come to the conclusion that he was dead, had left the city, and that their whereabouts was uncertain. Schrom, being disappointed and almost heart broken by his failure, turned his face eastward again and walked back to New Orleans, covering altogether a distance of 2,000 miles. Now he is housed in a home for aged men.

TO PUT DOWN DUELLING

Abbe Lemire has introduced in the Paris Chamber a Bill to make dueling a punishable offence. The penalty varies from imprisonment for six days to five years and fines from $20 to $2,000, according to the gravity of the offence. The severest punishment is for the duellor who kills his man; the lightest for taunting a man for not fighting.

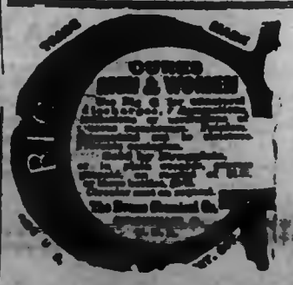
New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the Wa-Wa hotel, Britannia Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.



THE FIRST BORN

The Briggs were a young married couple, and the first year of their married life had drawn to a close with the arrival of the baby—the only baby in the world—and it is with this precious baby and an old married couple that this story is concerned.

It so happened that a fresh supply of coal was ordered by the Briggs' just five weeks after the baby came into this troublesome world, which accounts for the doors and windows being shut, for in this part of the world the baby is kept in the upper room till it is a month old, after which the cradle generally finds its way to the kitchen fireside.

When old Griggs, the coalman, knocked at the door of Hailey Villa he was greeted with a shriek that nearly lifted his head off. He stepped back astonished. Then he heard a coarse, warning whisper—

"You must wait, Mr. Coalman, until I have dear baby washed and in his cradle again. If I opened the door the cold might kill him!"

"Ortright, mum! Never mind me; I ain't in no 'urry. You jest make sure o' the young 'un—us old 'uns can take care of ourselves," replied old Griggs through the key-hole, after which he sat down on an upturned bucket, lit up his short clay pipe, and puffed, and puffed, and ruminated on the peculiarities of young babies and young mothers generally.

Twenty minutes later the door was opened, and the coal was allowed to enter the coal store, after which the young mother invited the coalman to partake of a glass of beer and some biscuits.

"You see, my good man," said Mrs. Briggs, "our baby is very valuable, and it would never do to let the cold come to him—it might kill him!"

"Delicat' cratura, mum," mumbled old Griggs in reply as he munched his biscuits. "I 'spec's they want a lot o' lookin' arter now, mum?"

"Oh! But my baby isn't delicate at all!" protested the young mother, proudly.

The old man gulped— "I didn't mean weak-like," he hastened to say; "I meant valiable—like gold, ye know."

"Oh, yes, he is," said Mrs. Briggs, somewhat mollified. "Would you like to see him?"

"That's wot I'm lookin' forr'd to, mum, if I might make so bold," declared Griggs, solemnly. "'Babies,' I 'ses to my ole woman this mornin', 'ain't much in our line now, 'an we don't often see 'em, but I 'spec's I shall see the best in the werld to-day!'"

"Did you now?" (beaming). "So you haven't got any babies?"

"Nary one, mum," muttered the old man.

"Poor man! Well, just wash your hands at the sink out there, and then you can see the baby, and after that perhaps you would like another glass of beer?"

"Thank ye, kindly, mum. I'd better hev the beer now, I'm thinkin', 'cause I don't like goin' back on crusts arter eatin' cake, an' that's what it 'ud be mum, I reckon, seein' the baby would be the cake, d'ye see, an' the beer would be the crusts."

The young mother was so pleased with her visitor that she would have done anything he asked her to do. After he had put away his second glass, washed his hands, and ditto his face, she told him to carefully pull back the cradle coverlet. Trembling violently, Griggs slowly drew back the coverlet and disclosed to view the sleeping baby.

"Well," he exclaimed in a hoarse whisper, "that is a baby an' no mistake! Might I be so bold as to touch 'is cheek with me finger, mum?"

The young mother looked at the knotty fingers with some alarm.

"Only just touch him," she said reluctantly.

"Velvet, mum!" he muttered, and his hairy, withered face went lower and lower, until, hastily parting his beard and moustache, he hurriedly snatched a kiss before he could be prevented. Then he assumed an upright position, whilst great tears commenced to roll down his furrowed cheeks.

The baby did not wake, and this fact combined with the tears saved old Griggs from a scolding.

"Poor man!" exclaimed the young mother; "you must have fallen in love with our baby."

Old Griggs fumbled blindly for his cap, and, having got it, tottered towards the door, muttering as he went—

"Best—best baby in the world, mum!"

"Poor man!" she repeated, as she watched him drive away. "How funny it is that some people have babies and some do not!"

And late that night as old Griggs and his ole 'oman sat by the fireside the old man related to his wife his morning's adventure; and as he went on Mary gradually drew her chair nearer to that in which her ole man sat.

"And, Mary," he said, brokenly, "I kissed it—I couldn't 'elp it! And when I kissed it I 'membered the ole kitchen in the ole 'ome an' the—the cradle—an' yin, Mary, ole gal I jist couldn't 'elp it—I blubbered! It's fifty years agone, ain't it, Mary, since we brought 'im downstairs for the first time?"

And, sobbing softly, the mother of eleven children said it was just forty-eight years and three months that day since the historic event recalled. Then they were silent for some minutes, save for Mary's sobbing.

"Git 'is pictur', Mary; I'd like to see it."

The picture was produced, and the old couple sat close together and gazed at it—the photo of a sailor in the Royal Navy, the original of which was drowned through a boat capsizing.

"Mothers is mothers," muttered old Griggs," as he slipped his left arm round Mary's neck, "an' if I 'members rightly, I think I heard the mother o' this 'un a-sayin' 'andreds o' times as there was never sich a baby afore!"

After that the silence was only broken by an occasional deep-drawn sob as the two sat and sat, and gazed at the photo of their first-born.

LONDON GIRLS WERE PRETTIEST

Sir Francis Galton, the last of the great Victorian scientists, who died recently, had a curious bent of mind at times. For instance, he made an instrument for carrying in the pocket by which he could tick off, as he passed in the street, the number of girls who were "pooh," "medium," or "bad" he regarded as ladies. "I found," he said in "London to rank highest for beauty and Aberdeen lowest." On another occasion, when he had "his portrait painted, he beguiled the tedium of sitting by measuring the strokes of the brush that went to make his picture and the teeth, to his great surprise amounted to 30,000.

DEARER TEA

Is Likely—Rubber Monopolizing Attention in Ceylon

There are distinct signs which point to a rise in the price of the cup that cheers but does not inebriate. In the first place, the use of tea in foreign countries is rapidly increasing, the result being a bigger demand on the resources of the tea plantations of India, Japan, China, and Java. Last year, for instance, there was altogether an increase in the shipments of tea to foreign countries of 14,000,000 pounds as compared with 1909.

On the other hand, there was a decrease in the shipments from India to the United Kingdom of over 9,000,000 pounds last year, which is partly explained by the greater demand for tea abroad; and, although Indian production has shown a good increase during the last two years, apparently it is not sufficient to meet the steadily growing demand, and one really short crop in India might make tea dear for years, so closely are supply and demand now adjusted.

Some of the Indian companies hold much spare land, and some of it is suitable for tea, but they have been, and still are, deterred from extension by difficulty in getting labor. Then, again, for increased production growers have mainly to rely upon good weather. There is always the risk of hailstorms and floods, blight and drought, which have to be faced, while working expenses are likely to increase by degrees, owing to the difficulty of finding all the labor for the various branches of tropical agriculture now being developed in the East.

There is another reason why the supply of tea is only just enough to equal the demand. In Ceylon, for instance, only 10,000 acres have been added during the last four years, rubber having monopolised attention. And rubber estates are competing with tea for the coolies of India that both need. Moreover, the yield of the plantations is beginning to diminish by reason of the rubber trees interplanted amongst 75,000 acres of tea. It is now proved, says an expert, and recognised that the heavy shade of rubber trees amongst tea is seriously affecting the output of the latter product, and as time goes on a sharp shortage in the output of tea so situated must be looked for. This would mean an increase in price to the consumer.

AGED TWINS

Two Brothers Celebrate Eighty-First Birthday Anniversary

The other day two brothers, John and William Austwick, of Selby, Yorkshire, celebrated their eighty-first birthday.

The brothers were born at Bura, a village three miles to the south of Selby. They are the sons of a farm laborer, and were christened at Brayton, near Selby. They are twins, and are two of eight children, four of whom still survive, the oldest being a sister aged eighty-six and the youngest another sister of seventy.

William Austwick has been a stonedresser and has worked all his life in the quarries. John was apprenticed to a tailor at Thorpe. He afterwards went to Selby, where for over forty years he has followed his occupation. He resided in one house nearly half a century.

Both brothers have married and have grown-up families—in fact, grown-up grandchildren. They are both now enjoying the old age pension.

DICKENS AND THE GHOST

The eldest surviving son of the famous novelist, Mr. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, tells an amusing story in his lecture, "My Father's Life and Works," about life at Gad's Hill. It relates to a ghost which haunted a neighboring piece of waste land, on which stood a monument to a Cavalier named Charles Larking. As the maidservants all threatened to leave, Dickens, armed with a double-barrelled gun, and his two sons with bludgeons, set out to find it. Suddenly they saw a white object and heard an awful noise. Dickens cried, "Stand fast, or I fire!" It proved to be an asthmatical old goat.

FOR PIPE SMOKERS

M. de Watteville, of Paris, is a collector of pipes, and his study of the question has enabled him to judge people by their pipes. The pipe, he tells us, is characteristic of the race, while the cigar and cigarettes are cosmopolitan. The activity of a race is proportional to the length of the stem of their pipes.

The shorter the pipes the more laborious the people, and, inversely, the longer the pipe the more slothful the people. The more economic the pipe the shorter the pipe-stem, and, inversely the more prodigal the race—the more gluttonous it is—the bigger is the bowl of the pipe. His last deduction regarding the smoking of pipes is perhaps the most assailable. It is: "The main point in regard to pipes is not to break them."

No one who enjoys the old English or Irish clay will dispute this.

"NONSENSE"

Whilst Lord Archibald Campbell was at Eton, he and his elder brother, the Duke of Argyll, and Lord Ronald Gower were commanded to Windsor by Queen Victoria. Her Majesty turned to Lord Gower and asked what form he was in. "In the fourth, ma'am," he replied. She put the same question to Lord Lorne, and received the same answer. "And what form are you in, Archie?" her Majesty said to Lord Campbell. "Nonsense, ma'am," he replied. The Queen was puzzled. She repeated the question. "Nonsense," repeated Lord Archibald, unabashed. Eventually it was explained that "Nonsense" was really the name of the form, to distinguish it from the "Sense" form, the difference between the two being that in the latter the Latin verses had to make sense, and in the former the boys might write nonsense so long as it scanned.

NEARLY HANGED AS A SPY

Perhaps the most remarkable incident in the career of the late Senator Elkins occurred when, as a young man, he was fighting for the Union in the Civil War. He was captured by a guerrilla band, and would have been promptly hanged as a spy had it not been for the intervention of a member of the band, who recognised him as a boyhood friend. Many years later when Senator Elkins was rich and famous, he heard that the man who had saved his life was serving twenty years in prison for robbing a bank, and he used his influence to bring about the release of his former benefactor.

OBITUARY

Robert Sheridan.

Robert Sheridan, assistant caretaker of the Lift Lock passed away yesterday after a short illness. Death was attributed to pleurisy and heart failure. Mr. Sheridan had not been feeling well for some time, and he worked up to Thursday last attending to his duties as assistant master of the Lift Lock. Mr. J. H. McClellan, the superintendent of the Trent Canal, who happened to be over on Thursday, saw that Mr. Sheridan was not at all well and sent him home, putting another man temporarily in his place.

Mr. Sheridan was about 60 years of age, and was a life-long resident of Ashburnham. Before the village became a part of the city he filled the position of village councillor for several years and also was elected on the school board for several terms.

For a considerable time Miss Hazlitt has not been in good health. About a year ago she took a trip to the West in the hope that her health would be benefitted thereby, but this result was not, unfortunately, achieved. She became worse after her return, but bore her pain and sufferings with true Christian fortitude, and in the full confidence of a glorious hereafter. Miss Hazlitt was a consistant member of St. Paul's church and during her ten years' residence in Peterborough entered into church work most heartily. She is survived by one brother, Mr. T. G. Hazlitt, of Otonabee and six sister, Mrs. Howson, Quill Lake, Mrs. Millar, Toronto, Mrs. Lancashire, Otonabee, Mrs. Dickson, Quill Lake, Mrs. Sanderson, Smith and Mrs. Johnston, Lakefield.

Sneath, of Broadview avenue, Toronto, and Mrs. John Gilchrist, of Palmerston avenue, are sisters; and Mr. Joseph Applebe, the well-known merchant of Windsor, Ont., is a brother.

MAYOR MORROW EXPLAINS

the full $225,000, or more. This is one consideration that weighed with the members of the council, and it is not a matter of etiquette or dignity but a serious matter of business.

It has been said by his friends that Mr. Duggan may have made a mistake, but that, even so, one mistake should not be sufficient to cause the council to take the course it did. That would depend on the character of the mistake, if such it were, and the consequences of it, and whether it was such as to cause such a want of confidence that the council would not feel justified in employing him.

Let me illustrate, and I hope I am not doing wrong in making public a piece of secret history of the past. When the council began negotiations with the Peterborough Water Company some years ago to purchase the waterworks system they had an engineer make a valuation of the property. The engineer reported that it was worth to the town $225,000, but that report was not made public; and the town purchased the property for $20,000 less. Would they have got it for that price if the Water Company had known what the engineer had reported? The publication of the report would have cost the town $20,000 or more in all probability a great deal more. But the late Henry Best, who was chairman of the committee in charge of the negotiations, knew how to handle a matter of business. Yet by Mr. Duggan's unwarranted interference, a similar report on the power matter was made public, even before it reached the council, and the city has to bear the consequences.

As a further illustration of Mr. Duggan's official conduct, we might refer to the fact that even this week he asked for the use of the council chamber for a meeting of the Board of Trade. The request was granted, but the fact was that neither the president nor vice-president had authorized the request for a meeting, and the meeting was not a meeting of the Board.

The council took the action it did deliberately, in the performance of its duty acting for the ratepayers, and I fully believe that the great majority of the people are satisfied with that action. And while the council is convinced it acted rightly, I do not believe it will reverse its decision upon requests made by citizens who have no responsibility in the matter, nor be influenced by resolutions passed or petitions signed on the strength of representations that were not correct, and without a full knowledge of the circumstances. If it did it would not be true to its trust, nor worthy of the confidence of the ratepayers.

Yours truly,
W. G. MORROW,
Mayor.

J. M. Howell, a popular druggist of Greensburg, Ky., says, "We use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in our own household and know it is excellent." For sale by all dealers.

FURTHER PAYMENTS REQUIRED

The First $5.00 Pays It All

THIS IS TO BE A QUICK-ACTION PROPOSITION. You pay $5.00 with your subscription. That is all. You will be called upon for no more. This membership entitles you to a vote in all the affairs of the syndicate, and to participate pro rata in all the benefits. It is a small amount, but I don't need very much to accomplish all I am going to try for. I made the price $5.00 so as to allow everyone to get in. In order to keep any one individual from acquiring control I have limited the subscription of any one person to no more than ten memberships. We are all going to get the same fair, square deal. There are to be no favorites and no special privileges. When money enough has been raised to do the work the members will be notified, and THEY will decide whether it will be necessary or not to incorporate a company and, if so, for how much. THEY will elect their own officers and direct the affairs of the company. I will have no time to fool away in doing office work. I am a miner, not a bookkeeper, and as soon as I get this thing organized the officers of the company will have to dictate the business policy. Now it is not very often that you have an opportunity of investing as small an amount as $5.00, and especially where it has such splendid chances for making a big profit in a short time. It can't be beat, and the proposition offers more for the money than anything of its kind in the market. I want you to help me in this and I promise you won't be disappointed if you do.

Something About Myself

I am a practical mining man; have had years of experience in the business, and have never made a failure of anything I have taken up. For over four years I have worked in the mines in and about Empire, Colorado. Being familiar with the location of the mineral veins of this district, knowing the character of the ores, etc., I have been on the lookout for a good property that I could operate under lease for some time. It was only recently that I found the big lead veins in the famous Emma mine, and I immediately took action in an effort to secure a long-time lease from the company owning the property. Well, to make a long story short, after a deal of negotiating I was successful and secured a lease on this splendid property which runs until 1915. The company was anxious to have a certain amount of development work done and I was lucky enough to catch them at just the right time and secured just what I wanted. This is the proposition I am now inviting you to join me in—the development of this lease on the RICH EMMA MINE.

The Small Investor's Opportunity

Usually a small investor has but little show to earn more than a very ordinary profit on his investment. I conceived the idea of making this a company of small investors. Just a few of my friends, and their friends. I am so confident of the outcome that I am taking no more big capital in with me, and instead of having a company controlled and dominated by a few big stockholders, I want to make it more of a family affair. We will all put in a small amount. With the money thus subscribed I will begin work at the mine and, following the present vein, I am sure I will be able to cut the big American lode within a distance of a few hundred feet. If my plans are successful I will be into a big ore body in less than three months, and that means a small fortune for us all. There are all kinds of tools at the mine to work with except, perhaps, a power drill, and that will be one of the first things that I will buy. After that it will be easy to drive the tunnel, and I expect to make good progress.

We Will Divide the Profits

THIS IS MY MONEY-MAKING PLAN

I have secured a lease on the famous EMMA MINE OF EMPIRE, COLORADO. I used to work in this mine, and I know there is ore there. I feel sure that a few dollars expended in developing the vein already opened will give us a big body of rich ore. I am the man to do it. Of course I will need a little help in a financial way. I am organizing a syndicate to handle this proposition. I invite you to join me. We will all club in together and push the development work as hard and as fast as possible, and as the ore is taken out and marketed we will divide the profits. Memberships in this syndicate will be sold for $5.00 each and no more than ten will be sold to any one individual. I will own no more myself. I am determined to make this a small investor's enterprise, and it will be run by the membership holders and for their benefit alone. The amount is so small that anyone can afford to go in, and I am so sure in my own mind that it will be a success—a big success, and earn enormous profits for us—that I am willing to go back to the camp, take off my coat and go in and work from early in the morning until late at night to get the ore opened up and ready for the mill. I am satisfied that we can produce results in less than a year. All I want you to do is to let me have your immediate subscription for one or more memberships, and I will buy a stock of powder, go back to the mine and get to work. May I count upon your co-operation?

QUICK RETURNS ON YOUR MONEY

THIS IS THE DAY OF QUICK ACTION. No man wants his money tied up in a proposition that only has a promise of paying out in the sweet bye and bye. Get your money in and your profits out. That is my idea, and I think I am right. I feel pretty sure that I can give you your money back and your share of the earnings inside of a year. Possibly sooner. In any event, you may be assured that I will not delay a minute longer than is necessary. I want my share as soon as I can get it, and you will get yours at the same time. I believe that these memberships will be snapped up in a hurry, and so I advise you to not delay your order. Better be a little early than too late. Your certificate will be forwarded to you upon receipt of your order and remittance. There will be no delay at this end. Frequent reports will be sent to the membership holders telling of the development at the mine, and if you have any suggestions to offer send them along. I am a miner, a practical miner, and know the business as well as any of them, but I am not fool enough to think I know it all. I am always anxious and willing to learn, so if you think you can give me any pointers that will help me I will thank you to let me have them. Now I have given you about all the important details in regard to the proposition. It is now your move. If you want something in an investment that looks a little bit better and a little bit quicker than anything else on the market, I want to hear from you. If you are a pessimist, and believe that you are doing well enough, you will just be wasting your time and mine in writing to me. Otherwise, clip and send in the attached coupon to-day—NOW. I will do my best to make money for both of us.

A large amount of rich ore has already been taken out of this mine, and a nice little streak of it is in sight now. The mine is all wired for electrical power and a power line passes only a few feet from the portal of the tunnel. Give me an electric power drill and I will go after that vein of ore in a way that will surprise the membership holders, and there will be no fooling around waiting for this, or for that, BUT I WILL PRODUCE RESULTS. I have to get my profits in this enterprise from the same source that you do: FROM THE ORE PRODUCED, and you may be assured that I will not lay around doing nothing until our money is all used up. Opening up the pay streak means as much to me as to any other membership holder; and I am going into the proposition to make it pay. If nothing unforseen occurs I will do it, too. Our profits should be very substantial, for there will not be many to divide the earnings among. I know all about the veins of ore in this camp; I know the character of the ore, and I know the quickest way to reach the ore bodies. If you will come into the proposition with me now, when I need your co-operation, I will give you your share of all I take out.

I Don't See How You Can Lose

In this proposition I honestly don't see how you can lose. In the first place the amount invested is so small and the promise of big profits so exceptional that only a small amount of ore would have to be produced to at least get your money back. But if I thought getting my money back would be the best I could do I would not waste a minute's time on it. In other parts of this mine former operators took out large amounts of ore, and they never acquired any depth to speak of. Now, every miner in the Empire District knows that as depth is attained the ore bodies enlarge, and the values increase. The American lode that I have mentioned before is known to be very rich, and from on top of the hill, just a little ways north of this property, it dips directly towards us and down into the mountain. I think by driving the tunnel straight in that we will cut it in less than 200 feet. The vein now uncovered in the tunnel is evidently a stringer of the Americus lode.

No More Than Ten Memberships to Anyone

A square deal, fairness and equality for all. An honest disbursement of the syndicate's funds. These are the principles and basic standards of this enterprise. I am going in on the same basis as yourself. If I make any big money out of the proposition I will have to get it from the same source that you do—THE EARNINGS FROM THE MINE. I will only own ten memberships, the limit for any one individual, and when the proposition is financed the membership holders shall say whether or not we shall incorporate. If so, for how much; and they shall elect their own officers from among their own number. The enterprise shall belong to the membership holders and they shall run it to suit themselves. All I want to do is work the mine. That is as much or more than one man can attend to properly, and I don't want to be bothered with any office work. Now, my friends, if you have faith in me and my proposition, I want your co-operation, and I will ask you to send me your subscription. If you haven't, you won't do me any good and I can't do anything for you.

Mrs. Forrester Had Rheumatism and Other Kidney Diseases for Two Years, But Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Her Well.

One More of the Pioneer Women —

Dinsmore, Sask., May 15.—(Special)—One more of the pioneer women of Saskatchewan, relieved of pain and suffering by Dodd's Kidney Pills, has given her statement for publication in order that other suffering women may profit by her experience. This time it is Mrs. John Forrester, well known and highly respected in this neighborhood.

"My trouble started from a severe cold," Mrs. Forrester states: "My sleep was broken and unrefreshing. I perspired freely at the slightest exertion. I had pains in my back and Rheumatism developed, from which I suffered for two years.

"I do not need to tell you that I was far from being a well woman when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. But now I am thankful to say my troubles are gone. I recommend all suffering women to use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Suffering women can learn from the experience of others that the one sure way to health is to cure their Kidneys, and Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the Kidneys.

Workmen Find a Human Skeleton.

While excavating for the foundation of the post office extensions, the men working there came upon the skeleton of an adult, buried seven feet in the earth. With the bones were found a dirk and a buckle of a leather belt. The skull was well preserved, with the teeth sound and firm. Whose the remains are, is a mystery. The bones were placed in a box and will be interred.

Between the years of 1842 and 1855 a hotel was situated near the spot where the bones were found, and as a drinking place it was notorious. Captain Crozier, who lost his life while exploring the Arctic regions with Sir John Franklin, had a twin brother who lived here, and one who led a very erratic life, and who is reported to have fallen down stairs in a Hunter street hotel in a drunken spree, breaking his neck.

HOPE OF ROMAN CATHOLICS IS TO CONQUER CANADA, SAYS ARCHDEACON CODY

WARNS PROTESTANTS TO BECOME WELL GROUNDED IN THEIR BELIEFS.

Must Not Underestimate the Power of the Church of Rome—Protestants Awakened by Attacks.

Toronto, May 15.—"During the last twelve years within our land, a movement has been launched forward by the Roman Catholic Church, which is the first step onward toward the conquest of Canada. We must not under-estimate the power of the Church of Rome, but let us recognize the fact that the Roman Church is strong and great throughout the world, and appreciate the strategic importance of this country as a mission field, and they are making an effort to win Canada to the allegiance of the Pope."

It was absolutely necessary therefore, that Protestants should be well grounded in their faith, said Rev. Archdeacon Cody last night in the first of a series of sermons to be delivered at the Church of the Epiphany by prominent clergymen on the fundamental teaching of the Church of England.

The Roman Catholic Church, he added, might be in difficulties in Italy and France and Portugal, but it was nevertheless a great power which was proving that it had lost none of its aggressiveness or wisdom by the fact that it realized the strategic importance of this continent and this Dominion as a mission field. Protestants, however, had been awakened by the bold attacks on their teachings by the Roman Catholic priests and had been stirred from the indifference wherein they had taken for granted the safety of their ground. Why, therefore, should their attempt to explain to their people why they believed as they did be styled bigotry and so on by their Roman Catholic opponents when they were merely defending themselves from the attacks launched by the Romanists themselves.

Protestantism is not an invention of the 16th century as its opponents declared, said Archdeacon Cody. It was rather a return to the primitive Apostolic church. It had been called a sum of denials and a religion without a soul, but that was not so.

The preacher traced the conditions that caused the Reformation.

There were three great characteristics of the Reformation. It stood for the freedom of the national church from all foreign control. It upheld the continuity of the church in that it retained all the great fundamentals of the apostolic church and merely discarded that which was not catholic and apostolic. It was not a series of denials, but witnessed for great positive truths.

The term Protestant was only a name and was used originally in a political rather than a religious sense but the modern dislike of the name was not shared by the early fathers of the church, who on the contrary, had gloried in it.

"Protestant" meant "witness for the truth," not merely criticism or destruction.

The Protestant Reformation was a resurrection of the fundamental truths as apprehended by the apostolic church. These were the positive principle of jurisdiction by faith alone, which was also a blow at the Roman Catholic doctrine of salvation by works and rites; the belief in the Bible as the absolute standard of Christian doctrine; and the social principle that all true believers were by Jesus Christ made priests before God, which had been otherwise stated in the all-sufficiency of Christ and the immediate access of each individual soul to God through Jesus.

A NEW EXPERIMENT TO ABOLISH DUST

A Substance Called Tarbia Being Tried on Simcoe Street.

The Paterson Manufacturing Company, of Toronto, put down a new mixture, as a test, on Simcoe street, using only five barrels for the purpose. It is said that this stuff hardens at once, and will require only one application each season. It is spread over Simcoe street, between Water and C. M. Brown's store. If it proves satisfactory, and the cost is not too great, it will be used on all the streets of the city. There is no smell and is as hard as rock soon after it is put down.

B.G NEW WHARF TO BE CONSTRUCTED HERE

Hon. J. R. Stratton Gets a Substantial Grant for the Purpose.

It is creditable to Hon. J. R. Stratton the fact that he has secured a grant of $20,000 from the Dominion treasury for the purpose of constructing a new wharf at Peterborough. It shows that he is alive to the requirements in the interests of navigation.

It is proposed to acquire by purchase, or expropriation, the Hatton property, on George street, between the Matthew's property and the McDonald Estate property. Beginning at George street and south of the Creek that empties into the lake at this point, a concrete retaining wall will be extended eastward into deep water in the lake, a distance of 300 or 400 feet. Thence the retaining wall, turning at a right angle, will be continued southward and parallel to George street to land, at the McDonald property. The space thus enclosed by the retaining walls will be filled in with dredgings and other material and made solid for traffic. The Creek will be dredged between the retaining wall and the crib work at the south of the Matthew's property. This channel will be wide enough for two steamers, two of which will be accommodated at one time on the north side of the new wharf and on the east front three more, so that if found necessary the new wharf can, when completed, accommodate five steamers at the same time. The new wharf will be situated opposite the street railway turnout on George street, so that access is thus given directly to the wharf and the steamers it accommodates. As mentioned, the $20,000 appropriation for this wharf is only a beginning. It is expected that in all $35,000 or $50,000 will be needed to complete the work and give Peterborough a wharfage worthy of itself and of the completed canal, and constituting one of the several features of development and improvement of the greater Peterborough.

In addition to the above already mentioned by The Times, Mr. Stratton has also secured further grants amounting in all to $35,000 for a wharf at Julian's, Stony Lake, and three conservation dams.

I started to use Zam-Buk and found it gave me relief, so I continued it and after using three or four boxes I am pleased to say that it has effected a complete cure."

Mr. G. A. Dufresne, of 163-165 St. Joseph Street, St. Roch, Quebec, P. Q., writes:—"I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to everyone who suffers from piles. I have also found it most effective in curing a sore thumb with which my little son was suffering. The thumb had begun to swell, and fester and had lost the nail. I persevered in the application of Zam-Buk and the sore is now entirely healed."

Yesterday the circulation of The Times advanced four, which is the fewest names added to our mailing list in any one day for some time. On Saturday last 34 citizens of the city, ordered the paper, and thus became regular subscribers. We set out to add one thousand to our list before July, and we intend to accomplish it. Then we will at once reach out for another thousand. When this point is reached we will increase the value of The Times by adding a special telegraph wire, so as to enable us to give the same news as is contained in the Toronto morning papers.

HON. W. J. BRYAN WILL BE HERE ON THURSDAY

There promises to be one of the largest audiences in the history of the local Grand Opera House on Thursday evening of this week, when Mr. William Jennings Bryan, the greatest American orator of the present day will deliver his lecture "The Prince of Peace."

Colonel Bryan has been making a tour of the cities of Ontario and has been speaking to crowded houses in almost every city. He has been addressing luncheons at which there have been gathered large numbers of representative business men.

It is not often that the people of Peterborough have an opportunity to hear such a distinguished man as Mr. Bryan. He is distinguished, not merely as an aspirant to Presidential honors, but as a great orator a leading journalist, and a farmer of no mean worth.

Mr. Bryan's lecture "The Prince of Peace," is one of his very best efforts In it he takes his place as a man who has a simple faith in the fundamentals of religion. In his lecture in the city of St. Thomas he said "While to me the science of Government is intensely absorbing I recognize that the most important things in life lie outside of the realm of government." And from this he went on for an hour and a half to instruct his audience in the things that make for sound faith and safe thinking.

In Brantford Mr. Bryan spoke to four hundred men at the luncheon. In St. Thomas the house was packed to the doors. He will be in Toronto to-day and will speak in Massey Hall to-night. The cost to hear him in most other places is 55 to 100 per cent in excess of that charged in Peterborough.

Japanese Auction At China Hall

The auction sale of Japanese art collections and hand-painted china at China Hall, 394 George street, will be continued as usual until instructions are received from the headquarters in Toronto. All new goods are unpacked and ready to sacrifice to turn into cash regardless of cost. Hand-embroidered silk screens, art cabinet, cloisonnes roval and blue Satsuma vases will be sold to the highest bidder to-night, if requested, as well as tea sets, berry sets, chocolate sets, cups and saucers, plates, flower vases, ornamental and useful real hand-painted Japanese china in Royal Satsuma, Tokyo, Nippon, Kaga, Eiraku, Hizamo wares. They claim all the articles are going much below cost on account of lack of competition. However, they are willing to sell to avoid the trouble of repacking them. Hand drawn linens, silk kimonoes are also on sale. The people who have not visited the China Hall auction sale, are missing the best bargain opportunity of their life-time.

PROTESTANTS MUST UNITE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to see by the papers that Protestants are at last uniting in order to fight for their liberties, which is being imperilled by the aggressive and meddlesome policy of the Roman Church. The organization is to cover the whole of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The first steps have already been taken, and the work is therefore assured. It is to be hoped that a sufficient number of well-qualified organizers will be appointed, so that the work may proceed rapidly, and in shape to "sweep the country" at the next Dominion elections.

I cannot conclude without saying a word for The Times: Your papers is being appreciated for the fearless way it is being conducted. Protestants want no favors, but they want and need a press that will also grant none. I hope every Protestant will become a subscriber to The Times, and thus strengthen your hands.

Hundreds of black bass of large size were seen in the river below the Otonabee bridge yesterday and Sunday. The fish were clambering the stream in search of spawning beds.

The G.T.R. trackmen have received an increase of 10 cents per day. They formerly received $1.40 per day, and with the increase they will receive $1.50. The foremen did not get any increase.

There was a good turnout last night to the annual tea given in the Park street Baptist Church. The principal speaker was Rev. Dr. Sowerby, of Toronto, who delivered a stirring address. Other speakers also gave short addresses.

The Lindsay Post says that the Imperial Loan and Investment Company, whose headquarters is in Toronto, has appointed Mr. R. E. Wood of this city, as their representative for Peterborough and Victoria Counties.

CHEST INFLAMMATION

Suffered from a Heavy Cold. Pleuritic Pains in Side—Constant Coughing.

"NERVILINE" CURED QUICKLY.

"Anyone that goes through all that I suffered last winter will appreciate the value of a remedy that cures like Nerviline cured me." These are the opening words of the solemn declaration of E. P. Von Hayden, the well-known violinist of Middleton. "My work kept me out late at night, and playing in cold drafty places brought on a severe cold that settled on my chest. I had a harsh racking cough and severe pains darted through my shoulders. A CURES used different liniments, but none broke CHEST COLDS up my cold till I used Nerviline. I rubbed it on my neck, chest and shoulders, morning and night, and all the pain disappeared. Realizing that such a heavy cold had run down my system, I took Ferrozone at meals, and was completely built up and strengthened. Since using Nerviline I have no more colds or pleurisy, and enjoy perfect health."

It's because Nerviline contains the purest and most healing essences and medicinal principles, because it has the power of sinking through the pores to the kernel of the pain—these are the reasons why it breaks up colds, cures lumbago, stiffness, neuralgia, sciatica and rheumatism. Refuse any substitute your dealer may suggest—insist on Nerviline only. Large 25c bottles, five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co. Kingston, Ont.

SMASHED STATUETTE

Artist Disgusted—Paintings Have Also Been Destroyed

A celebrated French sculptor invited a number of his friends to come one Sunday and see a statuette which he had just completed, and which he himself announced to be the most perfect thing in the world. His comrades in art, anxious to see such a wonderful production, came in a crowd and examined the beautiful piece of sculpture with admiration. At length, however, one of them exclaimed, "I say! I thought you said this statuette was perfect, yet there are only four toes on the left foot!" It was perfectly true. Yet the missing toe, from the peculiar position of the foot, had entirely escaped the notice, not only of the artist, but all his friendly critics. So disgusted was the artist with this amazing discovery that he raised his mallet above his head and, before he could be stopped by his friends, smashed the beautiful statuette to fragments.

London has been talking lately about the pictures at the Grafton Gallery by the School of French painters who call themselves Post-Impressionists. These men go considerably farther in their contempt for all art conventions that the Impressionists who preceded them, and of whom Claude Monet was the great leader. But Monet was by no means a slap-dash painter, and even when he had won his way, not only into the Salon but into the Louvre and when his pictures were going up in price by leaps and bounds, he voluntarily and deliberately destroyed $20,000 worth, because he did not consider them worthy of him or likely in the future to enhance his reputation.

There was no more patient, painstaking, or conscientious painter ever lived in the world than Holman Hunt. He thought nothing of spending years over one canvas, and of travelling thousands of miles for his local color. He fixed up his easel on the arid shores of the Red Sea in order to paint "The Scapegoat," and he travelled through all the cities and villages of Palestine to find a suitable model for his "Shadow of Death," and, after spending seven years on his great picture, "The Triumph of the Innocents," he calmly set to work to paint it all over again.

It was no unusual thing with Millais, if he did not get the exact effect he wanted, to destroy, by a few strokes of his brush, the result of weeks of hard work, and many an artist whose picture, upon which much loving care had been spent, has been rejected by the Royal Academy has destroyed it upon its return to the studio. Even a famous artist who became an R.A. did this very thing. He says: "When my 'Hamlet and Ophelia' was rejected by the Academy, I was so disgusted with it that I tore it into strips and watched it disappear in the flames." The artist who thus used his picture so badly was Mr. Briton Riviere.

COMMERCIAL SLANG

Some Odd Expressions Used in Great Britain to Describe Salesmen

Many persons are unaware that there is quite an undeveloped mine of slang in the world of commercial travellers in the Old Country, who, by the way, are generally referred to as "knights of the road," or "highwaymen." For instance, the gentleman who travels in high-class jewellery is dubbed a "Black Maria man',' while the cheap jewellery man is a "brass bounder."

Continental travellers are "Channel rats." tea travellers are "leaf and lead men," and the cocoa commercials are designated "sediment sellers." The representative of a soap firm is a "bubbler," whilst the man who takes orders for candles is said to be a "will-o'-the-wisper."

The traveller in educational books is playfully spoken of as a "kid-killer," in drugs a 'shake-the-bottle man"; the itinerant vender of stationery is a "cream-laid cruiser," of oil a "fat-forcer," and a coffee traveller is a "mahogany converter."

A FINE MUSICAL COLLECTION

An interesting character in the musical world has just passed away in the person of Dr. Henry Watson, well known in the North of England as a lecturer on musical history and instruments. The son of a factory worker, Dr. Watson, at the age of nine, received a present of a dulcimer, and quickly taught himself to play some 300 tunes. Obtaining a few piano lessons when eleven years of age, he soon became known as an accompanist, and at local fairs and functions earned $1.50 a night by playing solos in public-houses. Then he secured a situation as an errand boy in a Blackburn music-shop, and ultimately became a partner in a music business in Manchester. During his life he collected 10,000 volumes of musical literature and 300 different instruments, which he presented to the Manchester Corporation.

"HINTS TO ETON PARENTS"

A beautiful, witty woman, and very clever with her pen, Lady Desborough, one of the Ladies of the Bedchamber of Queen Mary, wrote a very amusing article a short time ago, entitled "Hints to Eton Parents," which appeared in a little paper published at the school. In this article she advised parents, when introduced to their boys' friends, "not to be sprightly, knowing, hearty, youthful, slangy, arch, sporting or witty. Humility," said her ladyship, "is the only wear for parents. Apologise for your existence, and explain it as far as you can." The popularity of Lady Desborough in society may be gathered from the fact that her numerous friends call her "that divine being." Her husband, Lord Desborough, is the "Admirable Crichton" of sport.

To clear and tone up the system rhubarb pills and small doses of quinine are safe and effective.

Alleging that his wife never got his breakfast before 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning, the Rev. Albert H. Shoemaker, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Rushville, Ind., has filed suit for divorce.

BUYS RADIUM

English Institute Director Pays for One Gramme, £15,000

The director of the English Radium Institute, Mr. Alton, this week concluded at Vienna the purchase of one gramme of radium from the Mines Department of the Austrian Ministry of Public Works.

Mr. Alton made the proposal a considerable time ago to the Austrian Government, but then obtained nothing, as there was not sufficient of this valuable material to hand.

The price is £15,000, and the funds for the purchase are being provided by Sir Ernest Cassel, who will place this unusually large quantity of the metal at the disposal of the English Institute for medical purposes.

Half the amount, which is ready is being tested, and will be delivered in January. The other half of the gramme will be accumulated at Joachimsthall, the process taking three months.

One gramme is equal to .564 of a dram avoirdupois. Sixteen drams go to the ounce, and the price of the radium per ounce may be roughly estimated at £470,000.

THE OLD ARMCHAIR

Sad Story of a Widow, Whose Husband Had Been Fond of Chair

A pathetic tale of an old armchair was related at St. Pancras Coroner's Court recently. An inquest was being held on a hawker's widow, who had been compelled through poverty to sell her household goods, including an armchair of which, it was said, her husband had been "very fond."

A neighbor purchased the armchair, and a few days ago the widow went to her, complaining of cold and hunger. She was given food and shelter and allowed to sleep in the favorite armchair. She was found dead sitting in the chair before the kitchen fire.

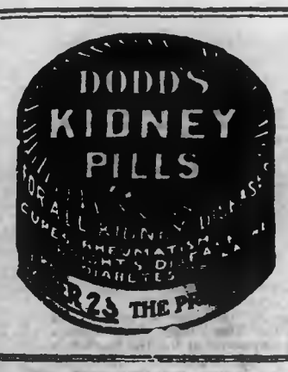
The coroner said the case showed how good the poor were to the poor. Here was a woman with no means of subsistence, and her friends took her in and cared for her. This was a charity that gave something. These people really did give something out of their own pockets—often out of their own stomachs.

MILL GIRLS MISTAKEN FOR DUCHESSES

Attention is again being focussed on the remarkable prosperity of Huddersfield. Almost every other man you meet in the town either owns a motor car or has a brother who owns one. Operatives—the unsophisticated stranger is told—drive to their work at their mills in magnificent automobiles. While many employers are about to take to aviation.

This is an exaggeration, however. More well-founded, it would seem, is the story that two Huddersfield mill girls, as they wandered through the grounds of the Brussels exhibition, were mistaken for English duchesses. Wearing costumes which Paquin would be proud to have designed, and hats that a society beauty would have envied, they had momentarily left their father and mother seated in one of the exhibition halls, and had wandered out to view the exhibition grounds. Good looking as well as smartly dressed, they made an attractive picture. "They must be duchesses," whispered in broken English the attendant to another as they passed. The workpeople at the mill in Huddersfield where the girls work are still re-telling the story.

The tennis courts at the oval will be ready for use to-day. Everything is in good shape.



The Original and Only Genuine

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

LIVED ON 2D. A DAY

Apostle of Plain Living and High Thinking Cult

One of the most distinguished exponents of the simple life has passed away at Cambridge in the person of Professor the Rev. J. E. B. Mayor, professor in Latin at the University. Deceased was for a considerable period of his life a strict vegetarian, and had subsisted at one time on 2d. a day. Professor Mayor possessed one of the finest libraries in Cambridge—all of it, he was fond of saying, bought with the money saved on food. In his rooms up the tower in the second court of St. John's College this bearded scholar has simplified life to its utmost. A bachelor and a teetotaler, in his view one could live well on 6d. a day, and for some considerable time he reduced his nutrition bill to 3d. a day. Originally led to vegetarianism on humane grounds, he continued it for reasons of health and economy. Quite recently, at a dinner party in London, his host, who had forgotten his tastes, sent out for some bananas, of which a single fruit composed his dinner. The story of his starvation programme is well known. When he was completing his magnum opus—his edition of Juvenal—he decided to fast on a progressive scale for the last 48 days of strenuous work. He was to eat only every other day for the first week, every fourth day for the next, and to eat nothing at all for the last fortnight. When doctors compelled him to surrender the programme at the beginning of the last week, he said, "I never felt so well or so eager for work in my life, and I am convinced that I should have suffered no harm by persevering with it." In extent of learning and power of quotation he was conquered by a fellow scholar with the Burns who wrote the "Anatomy of Melancholy," and one of Charles Lamb's favorite authors. He was, first of all, a great classical scholar, thought he was almost as great an authority in general philosophy and Sanskrit. He had a profound disbelief in the specialization of science. He held that the man of science rarely saw life steadily or as a whole. He was fond of lecturing, and was well known at the Victoria Institute in London. He was also an original preacher. It was once said that his studies in Juvenal of the excesses of Roman society drove him to the simple life, but it was a favorite thesis of his that the Romans at their heyday were, like other conquering nations, abstemious, and, at their worst, much surpassed by modern livers.

POTTING BULBS

Bulbs Forced to Bloom Too Soon Become Weakly

The majority of amateurs do not attempt to induce bulbs in pots to flower till well into spring. Much the greatest number bloom in March and April. The advantage of this is that no expense is gone to in forcing, and when the flowers do appear at that season they are in the best possible form and profuse in huge blooms, brilliant colors, and lovely fragrance. Bulbs that are forced to bloom at Christmas and mid-winter under the not first-rate conditions owned by amateurs are usually weakly but retard them to the spring and every quality they possess will be got out of them gloriously. They are all best done before any growth begins. They ought to be kept cool and quiet previously. Hyacinths are often potted singly in three, four or five inch pots. Tulips, narcissi, and others are generally potted in groups. Their style of growth and blooming adapts them to this arrangement. One tulip or daffodil in a small pot is not attractive, but have them in little clusters and they are charming. The pots should all be drained, filled closely up with somewhat rich, gritty soil, the bulbs pushed in till only their crowns are peeping, and then make the soil very firm between them. They should then be placed in the open air or in a coal frame soaked with water. Keep cool and exposed for a week, and then cover over with fine coal ashes to the depth of a foot. Sand may be used in the place of ashes or cocoanut fibre, but ashes are generally obtainable, and suit quite well. They must not be exposed to frost, but they should be kept cool.

THE CHOICE OF A WIFE

Jeremy Taylor very aptly summed up his opinion of the unwise choice of a wife in the following words: "A very fool is he that chooses for beauty principally; his eyes are witty, but his soul is sensual. It is an ill bond of affection to tie two hearts together by a little thread of red and white."

These are indeed true sentiments, and the man is both unwise and unlucky who merely selects his wife because she is a pretty girl. Prettiness alone never yet made for happiness; the girl who can be a true friend, a devoted companion and a loving wife is worth a great deal more to her husband than "the little thread of red and white" which the old-time divine condemns so strongly.

COLDS
QUICKLY CURRED

Everybody has a cold. Some resort to tablets and powders that contain dangerous drugs, and death from heart depressing remedies is not infrequent.

It's poor policy to neglect a cold—especially when it can be cured so quickly without medicine.

You can send the soothing vapor of the pine woods, the richest balsams and healing essences, right to the cause of your cold by inhaling Catarrhozone.

Little drops of wonderful curative power are distributed through the whole breathing apparatus in two seconds.

Like a miracle, that's how Catarrhozone works in bronchitis, catarrh, colds, and irritable throat. You simply breathe its oily, fragrant vapor, and every trace of congestion and disease flees as before fire.

Catarrhozone Cures

No trace of the disease remains after Catarrhozone is used—no more matter to clog up the nose and cause you to cough and spit—no more headache and buzzing ears.

Cure is absolute.

Because Catarrhozone contains such healing balsams and soothing antiseptics it can't help curing every kind of catarrh, throat, lung and bronchial trouble.

Don't experiment longer—Catarrhozone means sure cure. Two months treatment (guaranteed, price $1.00; smaller sizes 50c, at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

WOMEN AND SECRETS

To quote an old saw, "When a man's married his troubles begin." Such a sweeping statement is, on the face of it, utterly ridiculous, for it is tantamount to saying that there is no such thing as happiness after marriage. Think of it! And then think of the couples you meet who are as happy in their married life as it is possible to be in this world. So happy are they that they would not exchange their happy home life for all the single-blessedness in the kingdom!

But when a business man marries he certainly has a nice little problem to face. Should he tell office secrets to his wife?

"Of course," some will say; "a woman can't keep a secret. It is absolutely impossible! She must talk, and if a secret is entrusted to her she is on tenterhooks until she is able to let someone else knew it.

"You won't tell anyone," she says to her most intimate friend. "Promise me not to let a soul know it!" And then the secret is passed on, and is a secret no longer.

Are these people right or wrong? There are men who say that those who talk thus don't know what they are talking about. Those men are few! On the other hand, many men will come forward and say that the above statement is strictly true, and they will bring ample proof in support of it. These statements only increase the difficulty of arriving at a definite conclusion.

Can a woman keep a secret? Ages will come and go, and the same question will be asked, and answered in the same way; some will say "Yes," others "No." In the mind of the average man is entrenched the idea that it is dangerous to entrust a secret to a woman. The talkativeness of a woman and her determination to have the last word are traditional among men, and very few of the male sex will have the courage to declare that they have known women to keep secrets.

"Women will talk," they say. "You can't stop them. You might as well expect a river to flow uphill as expect a woman to keep a secret."

That is the reputation the women have got to live down. It is a reputation not utterly unfounded, for history itself gives us cases where women have disclosed mighty secrets that have wrecked empires.

But the statement that no women can keep a secret is absurd. If there are many women who cannot keep a secret, there are some who can and do. It is entirely safe to say that the average woman is no more apt to reveal an important secret than a man. The training of a business woman teaches her to keep quiet; if she is interested in her work she will not have much time for gossip, and she soon learns that it will be disastrous to herself as well as her firm if she discloses business secrets.

During the last few years men have learned to place great confidence in women. Times are changing. There are lady secretaries to-day who are in charge of all the private details of their offices, and who, if they spoke about the private information they possessed, could easily ruin their employers. Yet they keep as quiet as mice, and say no more than a man would say. They know that it doesn't pay to talk, and consequently they remain dumb.

Of course, if a man is entrusted with a business secret, and gives his word of honor not to reveal it to a soul, then he should keep his word. He is not even justified in telling his wife, despite the assertion that there should be no secrets between man and wife. Naturally, any wife would feel hurt to think that her husband kept anything from her, but office secrets are office secrets, and should be spoken of to no one. It is silly to get angry and say that it shows a lack of trust in his wife. Such is not even implied. But if men and women give their words to keep a secret they should keep the secret, and the only way to do this is not to mention the subject to a living soul.

Women CAN keep a secret.

In a general way it is not wise for husband and wife to keep secrets from each other. It generally leads to trouble if the secret leaks out.

"A still tongue makes a wise head," says the proverb.

But if silence were indeed golden, we should soon become millionaires.

The Addition to the Funds for the year was		$1,134,862

The Rate of Interest for the year on the mean of the Funds at the beginning and end of the Accounts was £4.20 per cent.

During the year now closed the Company obtained an Act of Parliament, entitled The Standard Life Assurance Company's Act, 1910, under which the Company became incorporated on 16th November, 1910.

Quinquennial Investigation. At the close of the quinquennial period on 15th November, 1910, the usual Investigation has been made into the affairs of the Company.

The following is the Report made by the Committee of the Board specially appointed to scrutinize the Investments :—

"The Committee have carefully considered the values to be placed upon the whole of the Assets of the Company as at 15th November, 1910, and having obtained full and recent information as to Heritable Properties, Mortgages, Loans upon personal and other security, Stocks, Shares and Bonds, and all other classes of Assets and Balances, they find that the total amount of Assets at 15th November, 1910, was as stated in the Balance Sheet, $63,549,153.

"In bringing out this value, Assets in foreign currencies have been taken at approximately the rates of Exchange current at 15th November, 1910, full provision having been made for depreciations upon Heritable Properties, Mortgages, and Loans upon personal and other security at home and abroad; Stocks, Shares, and Bonds being taken at their Ledger Values in cases where there has been an appreciation, and at their Market Values where these were less than the Ledger Values.

"The Committee have not themselves examined the security writs for the above-named Assets that duty being laid by the Board upon the Auditor, to whose certificate reference is made.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the last four or five years have been a period of financial disturbance throughout the world, such as has not been witnessed for many years past. British securities in particular have seriously depreciated, and the American Bond Market has fluctuated violently. At the close of the Accounts on 15th November, 1910, values were much depressed, British Government securities having reached almost the record point of depreciation within recent years. American Railway Bonds were also at a low figure, although on the whole a considerably higher one than they had reached during the autumn. Already, however, markets generally are improving, but the Directors are convinced that a conservative policy in dealing with the Investments, as a whole is in the interests of the Company, and for this reason they have adopted the method of valuation outlined in the Report by the Investigation Committee which has just been quoted.

From the Total Assets shown, in the Balance Sheet, amounting to		$63,549,153
in order to arrive at the free Life and Annuity Fund there fall to the deducted the following, viz : Shareholders' Paid-up Capital	$584,000
Family Trust Fund	6,079
Leasehold and Capital Redemption Fund	29,546
Claims outstanding — Life	964,382
Annuities outstanding—Life	13,242
Annuities outstanding—Certain	243
Dividends outstanding	27,781
Bills payable	11,980
Staff deposit fund	61,346
Interest paid in advance, and Deposits to meet Premiums, etc.	89,836
Unclaimed Policy Value Account	56,791
Provision for commission on Agents' Balances, Expenses, etc., outstanding	117,356
		1,951,562
Leaving		$61,597,591

Against this sum has to be set the estimated value of the whole of the Company's Liabilities under Life Assurance and Life Annuity Contracts, and calculations of these have been carefully made by the Company's Actuary, who has reported to the Board.

The Om (or Office Males) Tale with 3 per cent. interest throughout has been employed for all Assurance risks other than those in the East and West Indies, while for East and West Indian risks the Company's own Experience Table with interest at 3 per cent. have been employed.

For Life Annuities the Om (or Combined Offices Experience) Table with 3 per cent. interest has been employed.

It will be observed that the whole of the Company's Life Assurance and Life Annuity business is now valued on a 3 per cent. basis, in place of partly 3 per cent. and partly 3½ per cent as at the 1905 Investigation.

The Liability so brought out by the Actuary amounted to $57,320,004.

The free Life and Annuity Funds as already brought out amounted to $61,597,591
setting against this the Liability as above, viz. : 57,320,004

There is left a Life Surplus of		$4,277,587
Of this the Directors propose to carry forward		211,523
Leaving an available Life Surplus of		$4,066,064

which the Directors propose to deal with as follows :

Available Life Surplus as above		$4,066,064
To this there fall to be added in order to bring out the fund for division the following payments made during the Quinquennium : Dividends to Shareholders	$292,000
Intermediate Bonus to Policyholders	298,975
		590,975
Together making a Fund for division under Section 33 of The Standard Life Assurance Company's Act, 1910		$4,657,039
Interest upon Shareholders' Paid-up Capital of $584,000 at 5 per cent. per annum for 5 years		146,000
Leaving		$4,511,039
whereof 1-10th to Shareholders	$ 451,104
whereof 9-10th to Policyholders	4,059,935
As above		$4,511,039

The Accounts of the Shareholders, and of the Policyholders would stand thus :—

Shareholders' Account : Cr. For Interest on Paid-up Capital for Quinquennium as above		$146,000
For 1-10th of remaining Profits as above		451,104
		$597,104
Dr. For Payments to account during Quinquennium as above		292,000
Balance at credit available for Dividend during Quinquennium—1910-15.		$305,104
Policyholders' Account : Cr. For 9-10th of Profits as above		$4,059,935
Dr. For Intermediate Bonus paid during Quinquennium		298,975
Balance available for Bonus		$3,760,960

The sum now divisible among the Policyholders would be allocated thus :

To the Equal Scheme a Bonus at the rate of $15 per mil. per annum, requiring	$3,541,293
To the Vontine Scheme a Bonus at the rate of 1.80 per mil per annum requiring	219,666
To the Minerva and Victoria Companies a Bonus corresponding to one-sixth of the premiums paid since 15th November, 1905, requiring	9,617
	$3,760,960

The Total Reversionary Bonus corresponding to the Cash Values above proposed to be distributed is $5,701,709.

The Directors propose to declare an Intermediate Bonus upon all With-Profits Policies of five years' standing which become claims by death or mature on or before the 15th November, 1915, at the rate of $10 per mil. per annum under Equal and Tontine Schemes with $5 per mil. per annum under Victoria and Minerva Policies for each full year's premium due and paid after 15th November, 1910.

Under the head of Capital Redemption Policies, business has only been recently resumed, and the transactions during the year have been few. The small profit arising has been carried forward.

The Directors recommend that the Dividend to Shareholders for the year now current be at the rate of $1.46 per $48.67 share ($11.68 paid), payable free of Income Tax on 15th May and 15th November, 1911, this is at the rate of 12½ per cent. per annum.

Owing to the many and pressing calls upon his time, The Right Hon. Charles Scott Dickson, K.C., M.P., has found it necessary to resign his seat upon the Board. The Directors have accepted his resignation with much regret.

The Directors who retire by rotation are Mr. James Ivory, C. A., Sir Ralph W. Anstruther, Bart., and Mr. J. C. Cunninghame. It is recommended that they be re-elected.

The Auditor, Mr. William Home Cook, C. A., also retires. He is eligible for election by the Shareholders.

In terms of the Company's Act of Parliament it is necessary for the Shareholders to fix the remuneration of the Directors and of the Auditor.

By Order of the Board of Directors.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operation of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share ; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. There is no personal liability. An issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market in Vancouver and a considerable amount has already been taken up.

PORCUPINE NEWS

The opening up of spring has brought the usual spring freshetts and news comes from Porcupine City that the district is flooded in many places. All the Townsites are flooded and row-boats are being used to get about except in the case of Porcupine City which on account of being some 50 feet above the surrounding country is free from water. Building operations are proceeding briskly as there is nothing to prevent getting around.

No one who knows the district can doubt for a moment that the only place to secure building lots in the district is in Porcupine City, but you had better communicate at once if you want to secure some thing good at reasonable prices with

This is the story of the Rangley High-Grade Oil Field of Rio Blanco County, Colorado; one of its progressive corporations, THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL COMPANY, and why its stock is an exceptionally attractive avenue of tremendous profits.

Price of Shares Advance

MAY 15TH, 1911

We Now Have Over 200 Stockholders

Foreword

E. W. SMITH

As Manager of the Bankers Finance Co. I want to personally call your attention to what I consider the very best investment opportunity I have found in all of my financial experience, and my customers know by dividends and profits distributed that I have a record of several years' success.

In the first place I will not sell stocks in any company until I have satisfied myself that there seems to be assured success for the company. Furthermore, I always want my clients to buy stocks when there is a splendid probability of their advancing to a price that will let each one make a handsome profit.

THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL CO., at the present price of THREE cents a share, I think, is a big money-maker. The stock is just as sure to rise as human being can depict, and it would not surprise me to see an advance to 75 cents or $1 in the near future.

Such policy has caused the great success of the Bankers Finance Company extending over a long period, and having on its books the most prosperous investors of any similar western institution. It isn't often we offer speculative stocks which are likely to double and treble in price, and rapidly making several hundred per cent. profit, but when we do it's a pretty safe guess that we know absolutely whereof we speak, and in no instance have we yet failed. I have personally investigated the following proposition and firmly believe we have the richest and most marvelous offering in the West, and if you will join us, even for a small amount, I will endeavor to show you profits thereby that will make you permanent customers.—E. W. Smith.

When investing your money in any security it is always well to investigate the basic facts underlying the business back of the security.

The production of crude oil from the ground has for ages proven to be a very profitable industry, and therefrom has arisen many of the richest men of the world. Corporations engaged in this industry have amassed enormous profits and paid large dividends to shareholders.

Geologists schooled in their profession are enabled to determine in what localities crude oil may be secured by drilling wells. In some localities oil is secured at a depth of a few hundred feet, while elsewhere it is necessary to drill to a depth of several thousand feet. This to a certain extent regulates the expense of reaching oil.

Again, the quality of oil secured is an important factor in the ultimate profits which may be realized. Among the most valuable oil wells are those containing the largest percentage of paraffin, naptha, gasoline, lubricating, and other ingredients for which there is a ready market at substantial prices.

In the Pennsylvania fields there was formerly produced a large amount of high-grade oil which sold at several dollars per barrel, and millions of barrels made millions of dollars for the owners; but of late years this supply has diminished, and it has become a serious question among oil men as to where the future supply would come from, especially since the introduction of automobiles and gasoline engines has created an enormous demand for gasoline at high prices.

THE RANGELY OIL FIELD, located in Rio Blanco county, Colorado, is destined to fill the necessity now so much in demand. Doubtless this field would have become prominent many years ago but for the fact that Rio Blanco county has been practically without railroad transportation. In fact, at present only one railroad touches the county, and that merely across one corner, thus serving only about ten miles of the county, leaving other portions thereof nearly 35 miles from the railroad. Now that paraffin and gasoline oils are being produced, this situation will be speedily remedied. Already the Uintah Railway, the Grand River, Meeker & Salt Lake Railroad, the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway, and the Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific Railway are projected through this county, and soon Rio Blanco with its tremendously rich, undeveloped resources of high-grade oil, coal, gilsonite, mineralized rubber and other valuables, will reap its reward.

It is a well-known axiom that those who get into a country "ahead of the railroads" will get the greater profits. The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is now firmly entrenched as one of the factors of the Rangely Oil Field, and its 80 acres are considered as good as any in the district. However, other companies did the pioneering work. Six companies have already secured oil in 50 wells. In all of them have been found the same high-grade paraffin and gasoline oil and most of these wells strike oil at from 600 to 1,000 feet deep, proving it a shallow field.

The essentials of success and profit are clearly defined in the Rangely field: 1. Inexpensive drilling. 2. Shallow wells throughout. 3. High-grade valuable product. 4. Oil analyzed by the Standard Oil Company. 5. Oil analyzed by the U. S. Government experts. 6. Geologists of the U. S. examined the entire field.

THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL CO.

Incorporated February, 1911.
Under the strict laws of Colorado.
Authorized capital stock, $1,000,000
Par value of the shares, one dollar each.
All stock fully paid and non-assessable.
Entire capital stock, 1,000,000 shares, placed in treasury.
No promotion, free, or bonus stock, except 1,000 shares awarded for suggesting name—The Colorado Paraffin Oil Co.

Property—Eighty acres choice territory in the Rangely oil district, Rio Blanco county, Colorado, a field celebrated for its valuable paraffin and gasoline oils commanding four times the price of asphalt oils of California Texas and Oklahoma. The corporation has a 20-year lease, royalty only 10 per cent. of oil secured, and $1,200 ($15 per acre) cash when oil is struck, otherwise nothing is to be paid lessor.

The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is among the first in the field, reaching there "ahead of the railroads", and selected first choice of leases, and began drilling its first well. For the purpose of determining the value of this high-grade oil by expert analysis samples were taken from nearby wells, results of which are herewith submitted. They prove conclusively every claim made for Rangely high-grade oil.

EXPERT OPINIONS ON THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT.

The following are brief extracts from some of the most complimentary reports ever made upon an oil field, all of the parties in question having visited the Raven Park Field and subjected it to the most rigid and crucial investigation:

Mr. Samuel Baker says of the Raven Park Oil Field: "The field is a true anticlinal dome. The oil is a rich, golden brow color, and is very foamy, showing the presence of large quantities of gas and gas-forming materials."

Prof. Wm. B. Potter, the well-known geologist and mining engineer of St. Louis, who occupied the chair of Geology in the Washington University at St. Louis for over 12 years, says: "One of the marked and most favorable characteristics of the Raven Park field is the well-developed dome structure. Such dome structure is especially favorable for the storage of oil. And the natural pressure should insure powerful gushing wells when the oil sands are penetrated in drilling."

Mr. Robert L. Lund, upon the strength of whose report a St. Louis syndicate entered into a contract for extensive work in the field says: "The Raven Park oil field consists of an anticlinal dome, remarkable alike for its enormous size and the perfection of its foldings. The conditions in the field, it is believed, insure flowing wells under heavy pressure."

Prof. F. V. Hayden, than whom no more scientific geologist ever visited the Raven Park Oil Fields, in his report to the government says: "Raven Park has a quaquaversal shape. The dip of the strata is in all directions from the middle of Raven Park." (A quaquaversal dip is an anticlinal dome.)

ALREADY A GOING CONCERN

This company has already begun drilling its second well, hence you are not invited into an unknown proposition. Work has begun in earnest and daily progress is being made. Hearing of the great excitement caused by the discovery of high-grade paraffin oil in Rio Blanco County, Colorado, our Mr. Smith made a careful personal investigation of the field last November. What he found was almost unbelievable. At a few hundred feet deep in this field, designated by the government as the Rangely Oil District, they were bringing in wells of oil worth $2 a barrel as it came from the ground. Compare this with California, Texas and Oklahoma crude oil worth about 50 cents a barrel and figure the large profits in sight. Fifty wells with the same high-grade paraffin oil prove absolutely the truths contained in the official government report on this district, "BOOK No. 330, RANGELY OIL DISTRICT," copy of which can be obtained free by writing the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Smith was fortunate in securing 80 acres of choice land, sufficient for 80 wells. Upon his return to Denver the latter part of November arrangements were perfected to begin immediate work and show our good faith by starting well No. 1 before asking anyone to put a cent into the proposition.

which for quick and large profits surpasses anything ever before offered by this financial house—a house with a record of success in every investment offering, and whose clients are making large profits, while others were trusting to their money in purely wildcat securities.

The prompt response from those who received our recent announcement of the opportunity to secure pre-organization stock resulted in quickly securing ample funds for present requirements. Engine, boiler and complete outfit was secured, and expenses promptly paid, and we still have money in the treasury. Work in the field is being actively pushed, and success seems assured. Reports are exceedingly favorable for large profits to each shareholder. In future stock will only be sold from time to time at higher prices to provide for further development. In the near future we will need only to meet our pay roll and other expenses. For this purpose we will accept a few more subscriptions at three (3) cents a share, payable in five equal monthly installments. As only a limited amount of installment stock will be reserved at three cents a share, prompt application is necessary.

NEW CLIENTS INVITED

We want YOU with us in this great opportunity, no matter how small your investment. No one is allowed more than $200 worth at three cents a share, as the stock is thus limited so all will participate pro rata in this distribution, destined to make profits large enough to please each member.

Don't wait until you can send the maximum amount of $200, but take what you can at once, for the opportunity to-day offered you will be a matter of history, TOO LATE. We invite you to become a stockholder now, before price of shares advance.

An Invitation to the Reader

The corporation offers for sale a limited amount of treasury shares upon exceptional terms to investors who may desire to secure an interest in this great proposition. Funds received from this subscription offering are to be used in further extending the development work in the Rangely field, and with surplus constantly in its treasury, unusual opportunities of acquiring valuable holdings may be taken advantage of as they arise.

Immediately subscriptions have been received for this allotment of treasury stock it will be withdrawn from the market.

Is The Government's Expert's RECOMMENDATION Good Enough For You ?

MILLIONS MADE IN OIL

Of course, you know of many men who have made their millions in oil fields. Many of you know that the leading and most successful oil operators have, for the past few years, been exploring the fields of Colorado. It is stated upon good authority that this field is destined to become one of the greatest fields in the world.

MONTHLY PAYMENT 20 PER CENT. WITH ORDER AND 20 PER CENT. A MONTH APPLICATION

As only a limited amount of stock will be sold at Three Cents a share, each subscriber will be limited to not exceeding $200 worth, so all can secure atleast a little of this original issue and participate in the advance in price of shares.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

A DANGEROUS HANDFUL

Alligator Hunting Not a Suitable Occupation for Timid

That one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives is a good deal truer than some people imagine. There are dozens of strange ways of earning a living which those following the more common-place occupations never dream of. Among these surely alligator catching is one on the strangest.

The commercial value of these strange reptiles is, of course, their skins, and for this reason quite a small army of men hunt them regularly in the tropical regions among the rivers and swamps of the Nile and Ganges. They live to a great age—some are known to be 500 years old, and by the tremendous strength which they can exert when occasion calls for it, one would imagine that the older they live the stronger they grow.

Besides an unusual amount of pluck and resource in handling the alligator, one needs to have a keen eye and a sharp hand. For holding shut the jaws of an alligator one and a half times your own length is life with the toy left in; trying to hold these same jaws open is experience gained too late to be of use. And the alligator in its native land is not as it appears to be at the Zoo, a sleepy and slow-moving creature, but very quick and lively in all its movements.

NOT A HENRY VIII.

A Good Story in Which Bonar Law Figured

As his name indicates, Mr. Andrew Bonar Law, M.P., who has completed his fifty-second year, is a Scot. However, he can also claim to be a Canadian, for he first saw the light in the Dominion, his father being the Rev. James Law, M.A., of New Brunswick. Mr. Bonar Law first entered Parliament in 1900. At a demonstration in Glasgow he referred to Mr. Balfour's attitude on the fiscal question. He pointed out that "the English people love a compromise," and instanced the course taken by Henry VIII. at the time of the Reformation, whereupon the following question was handed up to be answered: "Is the candidate aware that Mr. Balfour is a bachelor, and that Henry VIII. was much the reverse?" "Yes," replied the candidate, "but possibly Mr. Balfour might not be a bachelor if he could be sure of getting rid of his wives as easily as Henry VIII."

HOW A LICK SAVED A LICKING

Daniel Webster was frequently punished when a boy for appearing at school with dirty hands. On one occasion it occurred to him as he was nearing the school that his hands were hardly likely to pass muster, and having no other means of cleaning them, proceeded to lick one of them as clean as he could. On reaching school he was interrogated as to the condition of his hands, both of which were carefully concealed behind him, whereupon he produced the cleaner of the two for the inspection of the master.

"Daniel," said the master sternly, "if you can find a dirtier hand than that in all the school, I'll let you off."

The answer was immediate.

"Here it is, sir," said Daniel, and with the exclamation he produced the dirtier hand from behind his back.

ONLY A PIN

A Glance at the Trade of Pin-Making —Complex Machinery Used

A very long bridge of years, indeed, spans the time since a lady's "pin money" was really used for the object its name suggests. And there is an equally wide difference between the pins used by "my lady" of those days and the almost invaluable little article we should find it so hard to do without to-day.

At one period in our history the importation of pins into this country was forbidden by law, although so august a personage as Queen Catherine received hers from France, where, at that time most of the pins were made. They were expensive articles, and "pin money" was a consideration, and one with which no lady of any pretentions to fashion could afford to dispense.

Another law with regard to pins was passed in 1543, and it enacted that the sale of pins should be prohibited unless "double-headed," or with "heads fast soldered to the shank." As, unless it be provided with a firm head, a pin is practically useless to us. This law will be read with considerable amusement by ladies of to-day.

When, in 1626, the pin-making trade was introduced into Great Britain by one Tilsby, the manufacture of the article was for some time confined to Gresel, but it quickly spread to London, Bristol, and Birmingham; and it is at the great metropolis of the Midlands that most of our pins dated from nowadays, although some are still made in Warrington and Dublin.

Most complex is the machinery used now in pin-making. It is a wonderful thing where all the pins go to, and how scarce they are when they are wanted. And the wonder becomes all the greater when we remember that a large factory will turn out many millions of pins in a day and that there are many factories keeping up this output.

In older pattern machines there used to be eighteen processes, but these have superseded, and now the wonderful mechanisms not only make the pins complete, but stick them in the familiar pale blue papers that everyone knows so well.

Black pins and [illegible] hairpins are given their hue by being placed in a revolving chamber, so that they are kept on the move all the while the annealing process is going on. By this means the enamel settles quite evenly, and a smooth black lustre on the pins is the result.

"It's only a pin," is a remark sometimes heard. Yes, it's only a pin, but it represents, nevertheless, the outcome of one of the greatest triumphs man's inventive genius has ever won, and an article, humble though it be, that few would care to be without.

LONDON GIRLS WERE PRETTIEST

Sir Francis Galton, the last of the great Victorian scientists, who died recently, had a curious bent of mind at times. For instance, he made an instrument for carrying in the pocket by which he could tick off, as he passed in the street, the number of girls who were "good," "medium," or "bad" in regard to looks. "I found," he said, "London to rank highest for beauty and Aberdeen lowest." On another occasion, when he had his portrait painted, he beguiled the tedium of sitting by counting the strokes of the brush that went to make his picture, and the total, to his great surprise, amounted to 10,000.

New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the WaWa hotel, Britannia, Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.

BETSY'S FIRST PLACE

By Owen Lott

The Moffatts, who lived three doors away, had just become the proud owners of a motor-car, and little Mrs. Pendleton's soul was wrung with envy. Mr. Pendleton endeavored to console her by pointing out that she was now indisputably the best-dressed woman in the street; Mrs. Moffatt, till then her greatest rival, having taken to wearing a cap like a German bandsman's, a voluminous dust-coat, and a veil like a perforated blanket.

Mrs. Pendleton refused to be comforted, however; indeed, she was slightly hurt at the nature of the consolation.

"I always did dress better than she!" she declared. "Look at the hats she used to wear! Besides if Mr. Moffatt can afford a motor, I don't see why we can't!"

Mr. Pendleton gruffly pointed out that Moffatt earned twice his income and, furthermore, had no family. He offered to drop into Long Acre and see if he could manage to change the twins for a second-hand car.

Mrs. Pendleton hysterically said it was inhuman of him to suggest such a thing even in fun; if it were meant in fun, she added, darkly suspicious.

Mr. Pendleton, omitting his farewell kiss for the first time since their marriage, stalked out of the room and slammed the door in a manner which hinted that he had gone forever.

As he passed the Moffatt's house he was waylaid by Mr. Moffatt—in pre-motor days the best-dressed man in the city—clad in a blue dungaree overall suit, his face and hands like an impressionist picture in oil.

"Haven't such a thing as a spanner about you?" said Mr. Moffatt.

Mr. Pendleton, with biting sarcasm, regretted that he had forgotten to bring one with him that morning.

"Taking a day off?" he asked, recoiling from Mr. Moffatt's proffered hand.

"Can't find time for the city nowadays," explained Mr. Moffatt. "Chap I bought the car from said a child could look after it. Suppose I'm too old for it, or something. Quite sure you haven't a spanner?"

Mr. Pendleton assured him that the nearest approach he had to anything of that sort was a pair of soft-slippers, and, again avoiding the friendly but greasy hand, continued his journey, leaving Mr. Moffatt gloomily wondering why everybody shunned him nowadays.

Shortly after Mr. Pendleton's departure, Betsy entered the breakfast-room, and found her mistress tearfully sympathising with the twins because they could not go for nice rides in "honk-honks" like other people.

"They'd rather have their pram, mum," said Betsy.

"Prams have to be pushed," said Mrs. Pendleton pessimistically.

"So have motor-cars," returned Betsy; "and they're a deal heavier."

"Good cars," said her mistress, with as much assurance as an automobile advertisement, "practically never break down."

Betsy shook her head sceptically.

Owing to Mrs. Pendleton suffering from an acute attack of motoritis—a malady which keeps the sufferer awake all night, and also the patient's husband—Mr. Pendleton rose the next morning with his mind made up.

"We can't possibly afford to keep a car," he announced at the breakfast-table, "but I'll hire one this afternoon and take you out for a spin."

"Run into a brick wall with it," said Betsy, sotto voce, "and then you'll have to keep it."

"So you and the twins be ready about two o'clock. Mind you're punctual, because I shall hire it by the hour."

Betsy, passing behind her master with a dish of kidneys, nearly upset them down his back in her anxiety to catch her mistress's eye.

Mr. Pendleton, as the dish caught him a crack on the head, turned and eyed her.

"Oh, yes," he said, rubbing his head, "you're to come, too, to look after the twins!"

Betsy smiled her gratification, and it was only with an effort that she restrained herself from giving his head a soothing pat.

Promptly at two o'clock, Betsy, so disguised with an enormous pair of goggles that, to use her own words, "you wouldn't tell her from a real lady," seated herself with the twins in the rear seat.

Mr. Moffatt, as they drove past, hailed them cheerfully.

"Thinking of going in for one?" he asked, with a wave of his hand.

"Yes," said little Mrs. Pendleton, with a bright smile. "Well, we are thinking about it, Ted," she defended herself, as her husband eyed her rebukingly. "When they make you a partner we'll get one."

For several hours they careered along, to Mrs. Pendleton's huge delight, until Mr. Pendleton drew up at a small village to lay in a supply of petrol for the return journey.

While he went into a motor shop, Mrs. Pendleton alighted, and at her suggestion the twins were placed in the front seat to see if they displayed an aptitude for motoring.

Presently Mrs. Pendleton went into the shop to see what was detaining her husband, while Betsy continued the lesson.

"That's the wheel you steer with," she explained, bending over the back of the seat. "I don't know what all those silly handles and things are for. Yes, that's a pretty brass handle, duckie; but don't touch it."

Leaning forward to check the baby's hand, she nearly lost her balance, and, in recovering it, clutched at the starting lever.

Quite unexpectedly the car started, and, with a loud scream, Betsy clambered over and hurriedly seized the steering-wheel.

With a loud cry of "Ted!" Mrs. Pendleton set off in frantic pursuit as the car shot down the road. Mr. Pendleton, seeing what had happened, darted out of the shop, still clinging to a can of petrol, and wildly joined in the chase. The shopkeeper and two assistants, as they saw their petrol disappearing, followed with lusty yells.

WHEN HE'S AT WORK

A medical correspondent writes to the editor of the "Sporting Times":—Possibly the following anecdote which actually happened at my medical inspection of school children last week may be worth repeating. I may mention that the first question we put to the children is "What is your father's occupation?"

Bright looking boy.

"What's your father's work, laddie?

"Please, sir, 'e's not workin' now."

"But what does he do when he's working?"

"Please, sir, 'e goes out an' stops at all day long."

ADVENTURES IN THE ANTARCTIC

Dr. J. B. Charcot Tells of Discoveries in Southern Regions, Which May Be Called South American Antarctica

Dr. J. B. Charcot, London, has given an account of his second Antarctic expedition, from which he returned last year.

He did not set out with any idea of attempting to reach the South Pole. He had a three-masted vessel with an auxiliary engine, specially constructed for the purposes of the expedition, and named the Pourquoi Pas? It was equipped with every care and supplied with the most modern instruments for observation. The crew consisted of 23 men, most of whom had accompanied him on his former expedition. The staff consisted of seven men, each an expert in some department of natural science. The expedition started from Havre on August 15, 1908, and finally sailed from Punta Aernas for the Antarctic on December 16.

On arriving at Petermann Island, off the west coast of Graham Land, Dr. Charcot, with two companions, set out to discover if it was possible to pass between the Biscoe Islands and the coast. As they expected to return the same day, they took no store of provisions and no camp equipment; but their return was blocked by the ice, and they did not reach the ship again till four days later, narrowly escaping death from hunger and cold. From Petermann Island a journey was made towards the south along the coast, the mapping of which, began during the previous expedition, was completed. A hydrographical survey was made of Adelaide Island, which was found to be 70 miles long instead of eight miles, as had previously been stated. To the south of Adelaide Island, in a region which had not previously been visited, a great gulf was discovered and named Marguerite Bay. Still farther to the south the expedition traced and studied the hydrography of 120 miles of unknown coast. After two attempts a passage was forced through the ice to Alexander Land, which was mapped and found to be an island. Then the expedition returned to Petermann Island for the winter. The weather, though comparatively mild, was stormy, a formidable north-east wind blowing during nine months. An immense quantity of snow fell. The conditions were found very trying by the members of the expedition, some of whom were attacked by scurvy, and when the winter quarters were vacated in November a course was steered north to Deception Island. Here the expedition was very hospitably received by the whalers settled on the island, and after a rest, another attempt was made to penetrate south. In spite of unfavorable ice and weather conditions all latitudes previously reached to the south and west of Alexander Island were surpassed. Sailing along the edge of the pack ice, the expedition found Peter I. Island in the situation assigned to it on the charts; but as the voyage was continued the icebergs became so numerous as to be embarrassing and dangerous. It was estimated that something like 5,000 were seen in one day. However, the expedition succeeded in reaching 124 deg. west longitude, and then, as the supply of coal was nearly exhausted, and the health of some of the members gave cause for serious alarm, the course of the Pourquoi Pas was directed northwards.

From the geographical point of view the expedition proved that the west coast of what may be called South American Antarctica is cut up by deep fjords and fringed with islands and reefs.

CELEBRATED BACHELORS

Excuses Some Famous Men Had for Not Getting Married

Among authors we have Pope, Goldsmith, Lamb, and Macaulay. The feeble health of "the wasp of Twickenham" stood, no doubt, in the way of his marrying. Goldsmith had not the same excuse, but in his case it was quite as well that he passed through life as a bachelor. A single man who habitually spends twice as much as he has is never likely to make a wise and prudent husband, even though he has the rare fortune to fall in with a model of feminine sagacity. Lamb, "that frail, good man," as Wordsworth calls him, was a bachelor, not from choice but from affection. The singular loyalty with which he devoted himself to his sister in circumstances of melancholy interest prevented his marrying a girl whom, it appears, he truly loved. Lord Macaulay, though he had warm domestic affections, was never married. He rested content with the loving sympathy of his sister Hannah, the wife of Sir Charles Trevelyan, whose children were to him as his own.

Handel, Reynolds, Turner, Sir Isaac Newton, and Cavendish, were among the men illustrious in art or science who remained bachelors.

SAVED THE KAISER'S LIFE

It is not generally known that General Sir Archibald Hunter, whose marriage recently aroused so much interest, was the means of saving the German Emperor from an accident which might have been attended with fatal results, when His Majesty was paying a visit to Lord Rosebery at Dalmeny a few years ago. At that time General Hunter was in command of the troops in Scotland, and was present in that capacity on the station platform to welcome the Emperor. Lord Rosebery's carriage was waiting, and the Emperor had just taken his seat in it when one of the horses commenced to plunge violently, and in another instant the pair would have bolted. Like a flash, however, General Hunter reached the animal and dealt it a smashing blow on the nose that quickly quieted it. Another pair of horses were soon secured, and Hunter received the hearty thanks of the Kaiser for the smart way he grappled with the situation.

NEARLY HANGED AS A SPY

Perhaps the most remarkable incident in the career of the late Senator Hanna occurred when, as a young man, he was fighting for the Union in the Civil War. He was captured by a guerrilla band, and would have been promptly hanged as a spy had it not been for the intervention of a member of the band, who recognized him as a boyhood friend. Many years later when Senator Hanna was rich and famous, he heard that the man who had saved his life was serving twenty years in prison for robbing a bank, and he used his influence to bring about the release of his former benefactor.

KINGS AND QUEENS IN EXILE

"I am a beggar and a tramp, but one that receives no sympathy. Instead of a throne I am given a dinner, and instead of my people, the ridicule of my conquerors."

Such were the pitiful words spoken to a friend, a few years ago, by Ranavalo, ex-Queen of Madagascar, who, from the position of ruler of a kingdom as large as France, had sunk to the obscurity of an exile in a foreign land. At the time she was lodged in a mean apartment in a third-rate Paris hotel, and allowed to go out only very occasionally. Her only friend was an attendant, whose chief duty was to fetch the ex-Queen's meals from a neighboring restaurant.

A few weeks earlier Ranavalo had arrived at the Gare de Lyon one cold, foggy morning. No red carpet upon the platform, no police-officers in white kid gloves, no palm-decked waiting-room, no baud, no flags, not a soldier, not a cheer greeted her arrival. She descended shivering from her carriage, was unceremoniously hustled into a station-cab by two detectives, and driven away, none noting, none caring, to her dreary home of exile.

Well might Napoleon say, "The lot of a dethroned king must be dreadful." The pomp of the throne, the gewgaws which surround him from his cradle, and which accompany him step by step throughout his life, become a necessary condition of his existence.

It was on a bleak, March morning in 1848 that a respectably-dressed elderly gentleman, accompanied by a lady equally advanced in years, landed at Newhaven from the Express steamer from Havre. They had travelled under the names of Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and none who hustled the insignificant couple dreamed that they were Louis Philippe and his queen, who but a few weeks earlier had been the splendid rulers of France. For a little more than two years "Mr. Smith" lived in obscurity, until death claimed him at Claremont on the 26th August, 1850.

Very different was the reception on our shores of the dethroned Napoleon III., when he landed at Dover on March 29th, 1871, welcomed by an immense crowd shouting "Long live the Emperor!" Not the flicker of a smile lit the sallow, deeply-lined face of the broken

JEAN

By Malcolm Murray

"It's the doctor?"

"It is!"

Old Mrs. Gurney tried to lift herself up on one elbow in bed, as young Dr. Thomas, by far the finest and most popular young man in Breamtane, came with her son, John, into the sick-room. She was very ill, poor lady, but the cheery young doctor always seemed to bring with him a new sense of life's strength.

"And how's Mrs. Gurney?" he asked, going over to the bed.

"Fine!"

"That's good, that's good!" he exclaimed, "that's how I want you to look at things; we'll soon have you up then!"

The old lady laughed shrilly.

"Oh! but it's not you, doctor, it's dear John, there!"

The doctor turned to John.

"What's this?"

"It's the news he has!" answered Mrs. Gurney.

"The news!"

"Yes! I'm saying the news. It's put new life into me, I'll bonnes, Dr. Thomas. He's promised his old mother that, as soon as I'm up and about, he'll marry you Bessie Deane."

"Why, John!" the doctor cried, 'this is good news!"

"Ay! it's a good news, the finest that could be!" the mother rattled on. "It's so good that I already feel better to-day. My John's just one of those dear men, doctor, who wants a lass to look after him and bully him; all men need it, doctor, but some need it more than others—they're the best men! And you Bessie's the sweetest lass, the best in Breamtane!"

"She is!" John eagerly assented; and the doctor nodded his agreement. Then he turned to his patient.

"That's right, Mrs. Gurney; but we must still be very careful. Let me have a look at the eyes!"

"They're all right, doctor!"

"Well, I'm sure they are! But I'll just have a look!"

Downstairs, some ten minutes later, the doctor shook John very warmly by the hand.

"Well done, well done, John!" he was saying. "You've done more than all the doctors in the world could do. After all, a son's love is a very good medicine for his mother. The old lady's far, far better; your marriage will give her another good five years—"

"It will?" John cried, tears in his eyes.

"Certainly; but—"

"But!"

"Well, as I said, mom ust be very careful indeed. The eyes are not so well; I'm only frightened—"

"You don't mean she'll be blind, doctor?"

The other hesitated.

"That, of course, is the danger, John. I wanted your mother to wear glasses five years ago, but, like so many old people she was terribly proud of her 'wonderful eyesight,' and now she's paying the penalty. There's another thing: she must have absolutely no excitement."

"I'll be very sure of that!"

"Yes, do! Her heart is still weak, and to be quite frank, any great shock would mean the end. You must keep her mind easy, happy, and at peace," —he held out a hand. "I'm sure you'll do it, John!"

"Why, of course I will!"

"And good luck to you, John. I'm sure that I hope you will be very happy!"

"Thank you!"

The doctor looked up sharply at John's tone; the young man's face was very grave for that of a happy lover. A thought crossed the doctor's mind.

"It wasn't an excuse, John?" he asked.

"An excuse?"

"You are going to be married soon?"

"Yes, yes," John replied. And with this he showed the doctor out into his trap.

John, as a matter of fact, was sorely troubled; for the first time in his life —he had known her many years—Bessie and he had quarrelled. To him it had seemed the most joyous, the most natural thing in the world that he should go eagerly to his sweetheart to ask her to help him. Besides which, all that he asked was that she would marry him at once instead of waiting until the spring.

It worried him that she should have demurred; that, at the best, her agreement had been a very grudging one. Loving her as he did, he could not appreciate a love which did not grant a favor more easily than this.

"Ah, well!" he sighed. "Bessie always was a strange lass; that's her fascination. The prettiest and strangest lass in Breamtane. It'll all come right."

From that day old Mrs. Gurney's health speedily mended, save that, despite all Dr. Thomas's skill, her eyes remained very weak. The doctor knew that all was hopeless with regard to her eyesight, but he told no one.

And each day Bessie Deane and her sister Jean came to see and cheer Mrs. Gurney. They were two sweetest lasses, as all Breamtane knew; and while Bessie flitted in for a moment, sprightly, ever merry and thoughtful, her twin spent long hours with the invalid, reading to her, chatting with her—ever, if need scarcely be said, of Jean, not self.

With John matters had not mended; he did try as best he could, there was no hiding the fact that he and Bessie were growing farther and farther from each other; he could not tell what was the matter.

"Mother'll be quite o-morrow," he told Bessie one evening, as he was seeing her back home.

"I'm glad of that!"

John was silent for a few moments; he knew that Bessie had understood well what he had meant to convey to her, and it angered him that she should thus calmly ignore the matter.

"Bessie!" he exclaimed, catching her arm rather roughly. "What's wrong with you, lass?"

"Nothing's the matter; nothing that I know of!"

John considered; he knew the folly of trying to draw one never from an obstinate woman.

"Well, dear," he continued gently, "mother'll be out to-morrow, and we must now to meet be day."

"When you will!" she said.

"Then, three weeks to-day?" he asked, his voice still glad.

"Yes."

There was a pause.

"Bessie!"

"Well?"

"Aren't you glad, dear?"

"Of course I am!"

He took her in his arms and kissed her.

The doctor had been to see Mrs. Gurney on the eve of her yearning, and after saying good-bye to his patient he had taken John out with him into the street. His face was serious, and John noticed it.

"Nothing wrong, doctor?"

The doctor turned.

"Look here, John," he said, "you've got to know it, and you must take it well. Your mother will never see again; she is blind for life!"

"Doctor!"

"I'm so sorry, John! You mustn't take it more to heart than you can help. It's part of the scheme and you have everything to be thankful for, in that your mother is still with you."

"And mother is better otherwise?"

"Infinitely!"—the doctor got into his dog-cart. "She's a different woman; but, mind you, John, no shocks! Good-bye!"

John was just entering his house when an mail boy caught him by the sleeve.

"Miss Deane told me to give you this."

John took the proffered letter with a shaking hand; things had got no better with Bessie, and he dreaded to open this letter.

Standing in the garden, he opened it —his mother was indoors with Jean— and he did not want them to see him read the missive.

"Dear John," it ran,—"I don't ask you to forgive me, I don't expect that you can, and I know that I do not deserve it. I am so sorry. You have been quite right; for the last two months there has been something between us, and that—oh, John! forgive me!—has been that I love an other man. The only good thing I have done is to leave Breamtune with him to-day and saved you from marrying me. He is Charles Lugge. We are to be married in Glasgow to-day, and he begs you to forgive us. Dear John, I am sorry, I am sorry, I am sorry! My chief fault is that I have been too much of a coward to tell you, for no woman can help her love. I am so, so sorry!"

The letter dropped from John's hand, and fluttered to the ground. He stood for a moment as still as death, just as pale. He was thinking, not of Bessie, for she had killed his love for her, but of his mother!

The doctor's words: "John, no shocks! One must always keep face to face with a weak heart; a moment's neglect may mean the end."

Indoors he found Jean. His mother was resting. To his surprise, Jean came quickly to him.

"I know all about it, John!" The girl had caught his arm, her voice was broken with grief.

John looked down into her tearful face; he had never realised how beautiful Jean was—as pretty as Bessie, every bit."

"Cheer up! We'll just have to do our best!"

"But mother! You know what the doctor said, John. It would kill her; he said so. She couldn't stand it. The disappointment would be terrible."

"But it couldn't! I wouldn't let it! I—I—" He broke off, and, throwing himself into a chair, buried his head in his hands. Then Jean laid a gentle hand on John's shoulder.

"John," she whispered, "it would kill her!"

"Ay!" he exclaimed, looking up. 'And why remind me of it?"

"There's a way!"

"A way? What way?"

"She need not know, John; she need not be told. I'm very like Bessie, my voice—"

He jumped with a cry from his chair.

"What d'you mean, lass? What madness is this?"

'John—John," she cried, "you understand! Don't make it so hard for me!"

Something of the girl's heroism, something of her beautiful spirit came to him.

"You mean that you'll marry me, Jean, to save mother?"

"Yes; of course I do! You know that it will kill her. The doctor says so. And she'll never see again; the doctor told me as much. We would be going away to-morrow, and when we were back she would not recognize my voice. The folk all would help us, and—"

She hesitated, and John let the silence stand. A thousand thoughts were rushing in a whirlwind stream through his mind.

"I'll try to be a good husband to you, Jean," he said, presently, sealing the bargain."

* * * * *

The next day they stood, man and wife, in the same room.

"You'll have to call me Bessie," the girl was saying.

"But you'll be just my Jean. And some day," the young man stammered lamely, "you will learn to love me, perhaps."

"Perhaps," she said, in the way women have when they need reply in love.

Mr. Thos. Williams, who lives in the south end of the city, was stricken on Saturday last with paralysis. He is in a critical condition.

COAL OIL.

We have opened a depot for the sale of Coal Oil at 169 Charlotte Street, near corner of George Street, from which place we are now prepared to supply our all customers at the old price delivered to any part of the city. Messrs. William Gibson and Percy Pearce leave to-day for Winnipeg, Man., where they will both take up positions.

Tar and Feathers.

A gang of men are busy putting tar on Simcoe street in front of the city buildings. Evidently the town authorities intend to tar and feather the streets, to keep the dust down.

Lost.

Yesterday afternoon, a gold crescent pin, with leaf of pearls. Lost between McDonnell street and G.T.R. Station. Route taken to station was down Water to Hunter, to George, down George to Charlotte, to G.T.R. Station. Finder will please leave at Times Office.

Goes to Montreal.

Mr. Robert Lang and family left on the midnight last night for Montreal, where they will reside in future. Already three of their sons are residents of the Metropolis, where they are engaged in business on their own account, all doing well. Mr. Lang will join his son, Mr. Torrance Lang (or "Torry," as he is known to his many intimate Peterborough friends) in business. Their hosts of friends in Peterborough will wish them all kinds of good luck in their new home.

Horses Arrived Home.

Yesterday morning the Stratton horses returned from Montreal, having been shown at Toronto, Ottawa, and Montreal, where they carried off many prizes.

Have Their Salaries Increased.

The local post office clerks are naturally quite happy over the substantial increase in their salaries, which is to take place at once. It did not come too soon, for if ever there was a class of workers who earned their pay, it is the post office clerks.

Bush Fires.

Bush fires have been raging in many parts of the country north of Peterborough, owing to the dry weather, considerable damage being done. It is said that in some cases the houses of settlers have been destroyed. A good wholesome shower of rain would relieve the situation.

Police Court Notes.

There were only two cases on the docket at the Police Court yesterday morning.

Chas. Schriber was charged with a violation of the new garbage by-law. He was fined $3.00.

Henry Wright, who has been acting very strange of late was remanded until he could be examined by a doctor, in regard to his sanity.

A Close Call.

While at work in the Test Department of the C.G.E. Co., yesterday, Mr. Geo. B. Wilson, of Maitland avenue, had a narrow escape from serious injury. A machine nearby broke and part of it flew past his head, striking the ceiling with terrific force. Had he received the blow, it probably would have been fatal.

THE BOARD OF TRADE FAVOR RETENTION OF MR. DUGGAN AS INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER

At the Annual meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade, held last night, as was expected, formal action was taken regarding the Council's intention not to engage Mr. Duggan as Industrial Commissioner for the ensuing year. Mr. Duggan was appointed by a commission of the Board of Trade last year and his term of office terminated on Monday, May 15th.

At the conclusion of general business, the following resolution was adopted :—

Moved by Mr. W. R. Morris, seconded by Mr. W. S. Dodd, that—

WHEREAS the Board has been informed that it is not the intention of the City Council of the City of Peterborough to employ Mr. Duggan as Industrial Commissioner for the City during the ensuing year, and

WHEREAS we have been ensured by the committee of this Board, having his office in charge, that Mr. Duggan has been a painstaking, energetic and efficient officer, and that a continuation of his services are likely to be productive of much advantage to the City of Peterborough and

WHEREAS we believe that to place somebody else in his position at this time would cause a break in the continuity of his work and result in much waste of the efforts already put forth by Mr. Duggan in procuring industrial concerns for the City of Peterborough.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the members of this Board feel that the industrial interests of the City of Peterborough would be best promoted by a continuation of the services of Mr. Duggan as Industrial Commissioner, if an amicable understanding can be arrived at between the City Council and that gentleman, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that in our opinion the members of the City Council should be requested to meet a Committee of this Board for the purpose of discussing the situation and hearing expression of the opinion of the members of the Board, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that every effort should be put forth by the members of this Board to establish harmonious relationship between the members of the City Council and the Industrial Commissioner, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a committee be appointed, consisting of Messrs. J. J. Turner, jr., W. S. Dodd, A. H. Stratton, R. G. Kingan, President Eastwood and Vice-President D. O'Connell, to interview the City Council in the matter for the purposes heretofore mentioned, and that President Eastwood, be appointed as convenor of the said committee.

The foregoing was passed without general comment, and unanimously.

Mr. W. S. Dodd, however, in seconding the resolution, offered that Mr. Duggan stood exceedingly high in the estimation of Mr. Timmerman, Industrial Commissioner for the C.P.R., who had characterized Mr. Duggan as a man highly capable and able to look after the work pertaining to industrial commission. Mr. Timmerman, after meeting Mr. Duggan on business matters, had qualified him has having more knowledge of industrial affairs than he (Mr. Timmerman) himself, and the latter had expressed his willingness to assist Peterborough's Commissioner at any time in advancing the interests under his jurisdiction.

BISHOP FALLON MAY BE CHOSEN

Ottawa, May 16.—Friends of Bishop Fallon in Ottawa, closely associated with the inside doings of the church, and in touch with the papal delegation here, assert that the Bishop of London is almost certain to succeed the late Archbishop McEvay as Archbishop of Toronto. The Bishoprie of London has always been a stepping stone to that of Toronto, and in Roman Catholic circles, Mgr. Fallon is regarded as the ablest of the hierarchy, especially the English-speaking section.

HIS OPPOSITION.

Nowhere is the situation being followed with keener interest than by the French Catholics of eastern Ontario. The bishop's attitude on the bi-lingual schools has raised much hostility against him, particularly among the clergy. The rumors of his probable appointment are viewed in two ways. One element of the French would welcome it, as the bishop would then be in charge of a diocese where there are no bi-lingual schools, and it is felt his activities in that connection would cease. His successor, they say, might be disposed to drop the agitation. On the other hand there are those who are envious of the bishop, and who will oppose his promotion as justifying his anti-bi-lingual campaign. The hierarchy and clergy are closely watching developments.

MAYOR MORROW.S LETTER.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Permit me, through the columns of your widely read newspaper, to congratulate His Worship Mayor Morrow on the splendid answer which he has given to Mr. Duggan, our late Industrial Commissioner. It is a complete and satisfactory vindication of his position, and the position taken by the City Council.

DESECRATION OF THE DEAD.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In view of the light and airy manner in which the Police Magistrate yesterday handled the case of grave desecration brought before him, I would like to ask you, Mr. Editor, what guarantee have any of us that our poor bodies after death are not to be subjected to indignity? If the law is interpreted as it was yesterday, then the sacreuness of the grave is a myth, and any Tom, Dick or Harry, on any old pretense, may desecrate the dead.

I claim, Mr. Editor, that if this particular instrument had been lined with diamonds of the Koh-i-noor variety, the act would not have been justified. To think that the recovery of an insignificant piece of silver tube would be considered sufficient excuse to re-open a coffin after being sealed and placed in the grave is enough to make one's blood run cold.

V.S.F.

RIGHT MAN IN RIGHT PLACE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice with satisfaction our energetic member, Hon. J. R. Stratton, has secured a substantial sum of money for the purpose of the construction of a new wharf in Peterborough. This is one of the most important undertakings that has been projected in years in this place. I am informed that the wharf and its approaches will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, or $60,000 by the time it is completed. Apart from politics altogether, Mr. Stratton is entitled to unstinted praise in connection with this matter, for it was solely through his efforts that the money for that purpose is being granted.

Publish My Letter The World Over

The Words of Harold P. Bushy, Who Was Permanently Cured of Chronic Lumbago by "Nerviline."

"Three years ago I discovered that a man subject to lumbago might just as well be dead as alive," These words open the sincere straightforward letter of H. P. Bushy, a well known man in the plumbing and tinsmithing business in Portland.

"One attack came after another, and lumbago got to be a chronic thing with me. I could scarcely get in a day's work before that knifing, cruel pain would attack my back. I used a gallon of liniments; not one of them LETTER NO. 4311. seemed penetrating enough to get at the core of the pain. I read in the Montreal Witness about Nerviline and got five bottles. It is a wonderful medicine—I could feel its soothing, pain-relieving action every time it was applied. When I got the disease under control with Nerviline, I built up my strength and fortified my blood by taking Ferrozone at meals. This treatment cured me permanently, and I urge everyone to give up the thick, white, oily liniments they are using, and try an up-to-date, penetrating, pain-destroyer like Nerviline.

"Please publish my letter the world over, I want all to hear of Nerviline."

Don't be cajoled into receiving anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." Large bottles 25c; five for $1.00. Sold everywhere or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

NO CHURCH HAS RIGHT TO ANNUL MARRIAGE

Toronto, May 16.—"Don't fret about it, or fear that the civil law of this country is going to be upset, because no church, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist or Romanist, has the right to say that a marriage performed according to the civil law is invalid."

In these words Mr. Justice Riddell assured a large number of young men and women, members of the "Catch-My-Pal Society" of Cook's Church, last night, that the Ne Temere decree could not override Canadian law.

He said there had been some uneasiness since the decision of a Quebec judge annuling the Hebert marriage in that Province. This was due to the way in which the Quebec Legislature had framed the law.

"If the civil court in Quebec should say that a marriage ceremony is invalid, it is not because a church says so, but because the Legislature itself says so," declared the judge.

Half a century ago, his own church the Presbyterian, took the ground that amarriage between a man and his deceased wife's sister was invalid, but the courts had held that such a marriage was valid. The position of the Roman Church was no stronger.

Judge Riddell was speaking on "The Crown, The Courts, and Our New Canadians," and he took occasion to say a few other things of interest. He showed himself a supporter of votes for women.

WOMEN ON THE JURIES.

"We have not yet," he said, "got women on the juries. I am not so sure that we shall not have them before long. We have already got women lawyers, and I fancy we are going to have some more. The prospects does not alarm me very greatly. There is not the slightest doubt that what women makes up her mind to have she will have, as the old couplet has it.

"And when women seriously desire to have the vote—that is, all women and not just a few—they are going to have it, and nothing on earth will stop them. There's no doubt about that."

Regarding jurors, he said they should weigh the evidence, disregarding public opinion and newspaper talk. There were newspapers that were a curse to the country. He had seen many miscarriages of justice, but mistakes had also been made in medicine and other professions. Commonsense justice was administered in Canada 999 times out of a thousand.

MR. BRYAN WILL BE TENDERED A LUNCHEON AT Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Bryan will be tendered a luncheon at the Y.M.C.A., at 12.30, on Thursday, May 18th, when he will speak on themes which it would not be possible to touch in the lecture in the Opera House. It is likely that those who attend this luncheon, and it is open to all men, will have the privilege of being presented to the distinguished visitor.

After the luncheon the Reception Committee of the City Council will take Mr. Bryan on a tour of the city. He will proceed to the end of the car line and board the Bessie Butler, when he will be shown over the Lift Lock and have the privilege of viewing a part of the beautiful Otonabee River. The trip will be in charge of Mr. McClelland and there is no doubt that Mr. Bryan will be well looked after.

The seats for the lecture in the Grand are selling well and it looks now as if there would be a bumper house. The seats in the Parquet and Balcony are selling at 50 cents and in the Gallery for 25 cents. It is probably not generally known that the ladies will be specially welcomed.

TORONTO GIVES GREAT RECEPTION TO WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Massey Hall was crowded to its capacity Monday night with an enthusiastic audience to hear the great William Jennings Bryan. When the lecturer took his place on the platform the enormous crowd arose as one man and cheered him to the echo. As he proceeded with his address he was repeatedly applauded. Seldom has a pulpit lecturer been given such an ovation as the Democratic leader received in Toronto Monday night.

Mr. Bryan was the guest of honor at a Luncheon given by the Canadian Club at noon. Here, too, he was given a rousing reception and delivered a powerful address.

Mr. Bryan was interviewed by the papers and pointed out some things that were disappointing about the decision handed out by the United States Superior Court in the Standard Oil Trust Case. He thought, however, that the decision would result in a change in legislation which would be beneficial in dealing with the Trusts.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY FOR GOOD INVESTMENT

The O'Kanagan Canneries, Limited, Make Special Announcement.

We again call the attention of investors to the advertisement in this issue regarding the O'Kanagan Canneries, Limited, which speaks for itself. It tells its own story as to the great possibilities of the company, which should, and we believe, will interest Eastern capitalists. Comparatively small investors should examine the merits of this proposition. It is a co-operative institution and it is claimed will revolutionize the fruit growing industry of the O'Kanagan Valley in British Columbia. The stock sells for $1 per share 25c being cash, and balance, two four and six months, without interest. A card addressed to Mr. W. Berryman Cross, fiscal agent of the company, Hutchinson Block, Vancouver, B.C., will get full information.

WILL START ON OLIVER CHARGE TODAY

Ottawa, May, 16.—The special committee of the Commons to whom the Oliver charges were referred will hold its first session to-morrow. There is, however, small probability of anything more than organization taking place. Mr. A. H. Clarke, K.C., will be elected chairman. The list of witnesses to be called will also be submitted, but the formal inquiry will have to go over until the reassembling of the House in July.

MR. VINCENT EASTWOOD ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE

MR. D. O'CONNELL WAS BOARD'S UNANIMOUS CHOICE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine Resigns After 12 Years Faithful and Capable Service. His Successor to be Appointed at Next Meeting.

The Board of Trade met in annual session last night. There were present chairman Geo. H. Gillespie and some twenty or twenty-five members.

Mr. Duggan, the Industrial Commissioner, whose engagement expired on Monday last, was also present.

Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were confirmed as read.

Several new members were added to the roll.

Mr. J. H. Burnham sent in his written resignation as a member.

Mr. Sydney Fisher wrote, saying that the Department of Agriculture would give attention to the Board's resolution that legislation be enacted to prohibit the sale of eggs and other produce unfit for consumption.

Mr. E. J. Lamiere, Sir Wilfrid's private secretary, acknowledged on behalf of the Premier, receipt of the Board's anti-reciprocity resolution, passed at a previous meeting.

Hon. J. R. Stratton also acknowledged receipt of the same resolution, and amongst other adverse reference to same, said he would be sorry to think that the resolution was the sober thought of the majority of the members of Peterborough's Board of Trade. The honorable gentleman could not take any recognition of a resolution brought about under the conditions that surrounded its adoption.

Mr. Pinchin, manager of the Peterborough and Lake Simcoe Navigation Co., wrote suggesting that the Board issue folders re our waterways, embodying the company's time table, as an incedental means of advertising Peterborough.—Received as pertaining to the jurisdiction of the City Council.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

The retiring president Mr. G. A. Gillespie, submitted his annual report as follows :

"Gentlemen :—

"I have the honor, as President of the Peterborough Board of Trade, of presenting to you my second annual report of this honorable body.

"During the past year we have discussed many important questions relating to the welfare of our City. The discussions and resolutions passed by the Board, has, we hope, to some extent, guided and helped the decisions of our Municipal Council with whom we hope to work harmoniously for the best interests of our city.

"Our membership is not as large as it should be and I would urge every business and professional man as well as every labor organization of this city to join the Board of Trade, attend the meetings and take part in the discussions. This is the privilege of every citizen who becomes a member of the Board of Trade. How much more good can be done by coming together discussing and listening to the discussions of these important questions. Getting the information—first handed and correct, than can be obtained by staying at home and "knocking" afterwards.

"Permit me to thank you for the support you have given me during my two years as President.

"In closing I wish to assure my successor, whom you will appoint to-night, of my co-operation in making the Peterborough Board of Trade a strong and useful body for the welfare of our city."

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The retiring secretary, Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, submitted the following :—

"Gentlemen :—

"I have the honor of presenting to you as Secretary the 22nd annual report of the Board.

"The past year we have held seven (7) meetings, viz :—15th March, 1910; 5th April, 15th November, 22nd November, 20th December, 27th February; 1911, and 28th April, 1911. We have also held several committee meetings.

"The following subjects have been discussed at these meetings : Municipal Ownership, By-law to build and equip power-house, etc., Organization of a Provincial Board of Trade, Technical Education, Municipal Government by Commission, Bonner-Worth Co. and Chas. E. Dittman By-laws, Reciprocity and Jubas Motor Co.

"The average attendance was 17, as against 20 members last year.

"The thanks of the Board of Trade are due His Worship Mayor Morrow and the members of the City Council for the use of the City Council Chamber during the past year.

"In conclusion, I beg to tender my resignation as Secretary of this Board, and in doing so I wish to thank the Executive Officers and the members of the Board for the generous support they have so unstintingly given me during the past twelve years that I have been Secretary of the Board.

"With my best wishes for a useful and brilliant future for the Peterborough Board of Trade."

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers resulted as follows :

President—Mr. V. Eastwood.
Vice-President—Mr. D. O'Connell.
Treasurer—Mr. P. Campbell (re-elected.)

Secretary—This election was left over for a future meeting.

The following were the nominees for the office of President :—Messrs. Eastwood, D. O'Connell, R. J. Kingan. The two latter gentlemen declined owing to pressure of business, and the Board fell back upon the first choice—Mr. Eastwood—who graciously acquiesced to unanimous pressure.

In taking the chair, President-elect Mr. Eastwood, in a few appropriate remarks, thanked his colleagues for the honor conferred upon him. He felt unworthy of the high office, but hoped, with the warm co-operation of the Board, to accomplish much the ensuing year in advancement of the city's interests generally. (Prolonged applause.)

Mr. D. O'Connell regretted exceedingly Mr. Quartermaine's retirement after twelve years faithful and capable service as the Board's valued secretary. Mr. Quartermaine had come to be regarded as a fixture, and the meetings would not appeared of an approved nature were he not found in his accustomed place. (Applause.) However, as he had decided definitely to retire, he (Mr. O'Connell) would propose the office being left in abeyance a week or two that a capable secretary might be selected. This was acquiesced in.

Messrs. D. O'Connell, F. H. Dobbin W. S. Dodd and Geo. A. Gillespie were named a committee to appoint the Standing Committee.

VOTES OF THANKS.

On motion of Messrs. D. O'Connell and R. Fair, a vote of thanks was extended the press for the publication of the Board's business last year, coupled with expressed confidence in having the best assistance and encouragement from the same quarter the ensuing year.

On motion of Mr. W. S. Dodd, and W. H. Denham, a vote of thanks was passed to Mayor Morrow and the City Council for the use of the Council Chamber for the meetings of the Board during the past year.

THREE IMPORTANT SUBJECTS.

Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., offered three important subjects for discussion at another meeting :

1. The holding of a winter exhibition of manufactured goods in the Armouries in February, similar to that conducted by the wholesale and retail hardware men recently. This, Mr. Turner offered would prove a medium for bringing thousands of visitors to town and encouraging spring shopping.

2. Active co-operation with the Industrial Exhibition Board with a view to securing ownership of fair grounds and advancing the quality and extent of the annual exhibition.

3. A discontinuance of the Ward system for municipal elections, which Mr. Turner believed to be a step backward and not conducive to the best interests of the city.

The President thought the foregoing subjects might well be discussed with profit. And he offered that the Board of Trade could render valuable assistance to the Exhibition Board.

These subjects will be on the slate for the second meeting from that of last night.

AN ADDRESS FROM MR. RYERSON RITCHIE.

It had been arranged that Mr. Ryerson Ritchie should address the Board on trade matters next Tuesday evening. But Mr. R. Fair pointed out that the utterances of so weighty an authority on trade and commerce as Mr. Ritchie would be of keen interest to the public, who should have an opportunity of being present. He therefore suggested that as next Tuesday will be the eve of a holiday—a bad night to secure an audience—the date fixed for Mr. Ritchie's address be postponed till a later date—a week hence if possible—and that the Collegiate Institute Assembly Hall be secured for the occasion.

These suggestions were agreed to, and President Eastwood will endeavor to arrange with Mr. Ritchie for another date, and announce the results through the press.

THE FIRST BORN

The Briggs were a young married couple, and the first year of their married life had drawn to a close with the arrival of the baby—the only baby in the world—and it is with this precious baby and an old married couple that this story is concerned.

It so happened that a fresh supply of coal was ordered by the Briggs' just five weeks after the baby came into this troublesome world, which accounts for the doors and windows being shut, for in this part of the world the baby is kept in the upper room till it is a month old, after which the cradle generally finds its way to the kitchen fireside.

When old Griggs, the coalman, knocked at the door of Halley Villa no was greeted with a shriek that nearly lifted his head off. He stepped back astonished. Then he heard a hoarse, warning whisper—

"You must wait, Mr. Coalman, until I have dear baby washed and in his cradle again. If I opened the door th cold might kill him!"

"Orlright, mum! Never mind me. I ain't in no 'urry. You jest make sure o' the young 'un—us old 'uns can take care of ourselves," replied old Griggs through the key-hole, after which he sat down on an upturned bucket, lit up his short clay pipe, and puffed, and puffed, and ruminated on the peculiarities of young babies and young mothers generally.

Twenty minutes later the door was opened, and the coal was allowed to enter the coal store, after which the young mother invited the coalman to partake of a glass of beer and some biscuits.

"You see, my good man," said Mrs Griggs, "our baby is very valuable and it would never do to let the cold come to him—it might kill him!"

"Delicat' craturs, mum," mumbled old Griggs in reply as he munched his biscuits. "I 'spec's they want a lot o' lookin' arter now, mum?"

"Oh! But my baby isn't delicate at all!" protested the young mother, proudly.

The old man gulped— "I didn't mean weak-like," he hastened to say; "I meant vallable—like gold, ye know."

"Oh, yes, he is," said Mrs. Briggs, somewhat mollified. "Would you like to see him?"

"That's wot I'm lookin' forr'd to, mum, if I might make so bold," declared Griggs, solemnly. "'Babies,' I goes to my ole woman this mornin', 'ain't much in our line now, 'an we don't offen see 'um, but I 'spec's I shall see the best in the world to-day!'"

"Did you now?" (beaming). "So you haven't got any babies?"

"Nary one, mum," muttered the old man.

"Poor man! Well, just wash your hands at the sink out there, and then you can see the baby, and after that perhaps you would like another glass of beer?"

"Thank ye, kindly, mum. I'd better hev the beer now, I'm thinkin' 'cause I don't like goin' back on crusts arter eatin' cake, an' that's what it 'ud be mum, I reckon, seein' the baby would be the cake, d'ye see, an' the beer would be the crusts."

The young mother was so pleased with her visitor that she would have done anything he asked her to do. After he had put away his second glass, washed his hands, and ditto his face, she told him to carefully pull back the cradle coverlet. Trembling violently, Griggs slowly drew back the coverlet and disclosed to view the sleeping baby.

"Well," he exclaimed in a hoarse whisper, "that is a baby an' no mistake! Might I be so bold as to touch 'is cheek with me finger, mum?"

The young mother looked at the knotty fingers with some alarm.

"Only just touch him," she said reluctantly.

"Velvet, mum!" he muttered, and his hairy, withered face went lower and lower, until, hastily parting his beard and moustache, he hurriedly snatched a kiss before he could be prevented. Then he assumed an upright position, whilst great tears commenced to roll down his furrowed cheeks.

The baby did not wake, and this fact combined with the tears saved old Griggs from a scolding.

"Poor man!" exclaimed the young mother; "you must have fallen in love with our baby."

Old Griggs fumbled blindly for his cap, and, having got it, tottered towards the door, muttering as he went—

"Best—best baby in the world, mum!"

"Poor man!" she repeated, as she watched him drive away. "How funny it is that some people have babies and some do not!"

And late that night as old Griggs and his ole 'oman sat by the fireside the old man related to his wife his morning's adventure; and as he went on Mary gradually drew her chair nearer to that in which her ole man sat.

"And, Mary," he said, brokenly, "I kissed it—I couldn't 'elp it! And when I kissed it I 'membered the ole kitchen in the ole 'ome an' the—the cradle—an' yis, Mary, ole gal I jist couldn't 'elp it—I blubbered! It's fifty years agone, ain't it, Mary, since we brought 'im downstairs for the first time?"

And, sobbing softly, the mother of eleven children said it was just forty-eight years and three months that day since the historic event recalled. Then they were silent for some minutes save for Mary's sobbing.

"Git 'is pictur', Mary; I'd like to see it."

The picture was produced, and the old couple sat close together and gazed at it—the photo of a sailor in the Royal Navy, the original of which was drowned through a boat capsizing.

"Mothers is mothers," muttered old Griggs," as he slipped his left arm round Mary's neck, "an' if I remember rightly, I think I heard the mother of this 'un a-sayin' 'undreds o' times as there was never sich a baby afore!"

After that the silence was only broken by an occasional deep-drawn sob as the two sat and sat, and gazed at the photo of their first-born.

Alleging that his wife never got his breakfast before 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning, the Rev. Albert H. Shoemaker, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, Rushville, Ind., has filed suit for divorce.

BUYS RADIUM

English Institute Director Pays for One Gramme, £15,000

The director of the English Radium Institute, Mr. Alton, this week concluded at Vienna the purchase of one gramme of radium from the Mines Department of the Austrian Ministry of Public Works.

Mr. Alton made the proposal a considerable time ago to the Austrian Government, but then obtained nothing, as there was not sufficient of this valuable material to hand.

The price is £15,000, and the funds for the purchase are being provided by Sir Ernest Cassel, who will place this unusually large quantity of the metal at the disposal of the English Institute for medical purposes.

Half the amount, which is ready for being tested, and will be delivered in January. The other half of the gramme will be accumulated at Joachimsthall, the process taking three months.

One gramme is equal to .564 of a dram avoirdupois. Sixteen drams go to the ounce, and the price of the radium per ounce may be roughly estimated at £270,000.

THE OLD ARMCHAIR

Sad Story of a Widow, Whose Husband Had Been Fond of Chair

A pathetic tale of an old armchair was related at St. Pancras Coroner's Court recently. An inquest was being held on a hawker's widow, who had been compelled through poverty to sell her household goods, including an armchair of which, it was said, her husband had been "very fond."

A neighbor purchased the armchair, and a few days ago the widow went to her, complaining of cold and hunger. She was given food and shelter and allowed to sleep in the favorite armchair. She was found dead sitting in it be chair before the kitchen fire.

The coroner said the case showed how good the poor were to the poor. Here was a woman with no means of subsistence, and her friends took her in and cared for her. This was a charity that gave something. These people really did give something out of their own pockets—often out of their own stomachs.

MILL GIRLS MISTAKEN FOR DUCHESSES

Attention is again being focussed on the remarkable prosperity of Huddersfield. Almost every other man you meet in the town either owns a motor car or has a brother who owns one. Operatives—the unsophisticated stranger is told—drive to their work at their mills in magnificent automobiles. While many employers are about to take to aviation.

This is an exaggeration, however. More well-founded, it would seem, is the story that two Huddersfield mill girls, as they wandered through the grounds of the Brussels exhibition, were mistaken for English duchesses. Wearing costumes which Paquin would be proud to have designed, and hats that a society beauty would have envied, they had momentarily left their father and mother seated in one of the exhibition halls, and had wandered out to view the exhibition grounds. Good looking as well as smartly dressed, they made an attractive picture. "They must be duchesses," whispered in broken English tea attendant to another as they passed. The workpeople at the mill in Huddersfield where the girls work are still re-telling the story.

LONDON GIRLS WERE PRETTIEST

Sir Francis Galton, the last of the great Victorian scientists, who died recently, had a curious bent of mind at times. For instance, he made an instrument for carrying in the pocket by which he could tick off, as he passed in the street, the number of girls who were "good," "medium," or "bad" in regard to looks. "I found," he said, "London to rank highest for beauty and Aberdeen lowest." On another occasion, when he had his portrait painted, he beguiled the tedium of sitting by counting the strokes of the brush that went to make his picture, and the total, to his great surprise, amounted to 24,000

Bush Fires.

Bush fires have been raging in many parts of the country north of Peterborough, owing to the dry weather, considerable damage being done. It is said that in some cases the houses of settlers have been destroyed. A good wholesome shower of rain would relieve the situation.

The Original and Only Genuine

Beware of Imitation Sold on the Merits of Minard's Liniment

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

RIGHTS OF HOSPITALITY

Dr. Johnson, in his tour through North Wales passed two days at the seat of Colonel Middleton, of Gwynnaeg. While he remained there the gardener caught a hare from among some potato plants. He brought it to his master, who was engaged in conversation with the doctor, and received from him an order to carry it to the cook. As soon as Johnson heard this sentence he begged to have the animal placed in his arms, which done, he hurried to the hall open window, and restored the hare to her liberty, directing after her to accelerate her speed. "What have you done?" cried the colonel. "Why, doctor, you have robbed my table of a delicacy, perhaps deprived us of a dinner." "So much the better, sir," replied the humane champion of the condemned hare, "for if your table is to be supplied at the expense of the laws of hospitality, I envy not the appetite of him who eats it. That, sir, was a hare which had placed itself under your protection; and savage, indeed, must be that man who does not make his hearth an asylum for the confiding stranger."

A KITE-FLYING COMPOSER

Sir Edward Elgar, whose violin concerto has aroused so much interest in the musical world, numbers kite-flying amongst his hobbies, but has devoted himself more of late years to chemistry and cycling. He spends much of his leisure time in the laboratory. In writing for the violin Sir Edward is returning to his early love, for he was a fine player himself in his youth. Indeed, it would be difficult to name an instrument which he cannot play. For five years he was bandmaster at the Worcester County Lunatic Asylum, the band being formed by the asylum attendants, and it was thus that he became familiar with instruments, ranging from a French horn to an organ. In these days—and it is not so many years ago—England's greatest composer wrote polkas, waltzes, etc., for which he received 5s. a set, while for minstrel ballads for the use of the asylum inmates he received 1s. 6d. each.

JAPANESE WARSHIP

Contract for Dreadnought is Let to English Firm

Japan's newest Dreadnought will be built at Barrow-in-Furness by Messrs. Vickers, Sons, and Maxim. The contract, which has just been signed, provides that every portion of the warship, including the armor plate and gun mountings, shall be constructed by the same firm, which will not be allowed to sublet any part of the work.

The new vessel will have a displacement of between 27,000 and 28,000 tons and will cost, complete with armament and ammunition, nearly £2,500,000. Thirty months from the signing of the contract the vessel should be ready for sea.

Both Japan and Great Britain have reason to be pleased with the placing of this important contract in England. Japan has always admired British warship construction, and can never forget that the Mikasa, Admiral Togo's flagship, was built by the firm which has now been commissioned to build the new Dreadnought. The Imperial Japanese Government in placing the contract has also wished to give practical expression to the strong regard it has for the alliance with Great Britain.

A COOL REQUEST

"Had I not practised physical exercise night and morning to the present hour I should never have been able to perform the work which has fallen to my lot." In these words Lord Alverstone the Lord Chief Justice, who is sixty-eight years of age, recently paid tribute to the value of sport and recreation. A great athlete in his younger days, he carried off the prize for the mile and two miles in the 'Varsity sports, and distinguished himself in the cricket field. His lordship's running feats were once recalled to him in court in an amusing manner by a prisoner whom he was trying. "I knows yer," said the prisoner, "and many's the time I've given yer a hand when ye've been stopping it round the track like a greyhound; so let's down lightly, like a good cove as yer are."

FOR FAMILY USE

An Ideal Remedy for Coughs, Sore Throat, Catarrh, Weak Chest.

After having made a special study of the treatment of the throat and lungs for twenty years, Prof. D. Jackson, states that in his opinion no preparation for general family use is so efficient, so healing, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone.

All his reasons for making this claim for Catarrhozone, Dr. Jackson says:

"Catarrhozone is free from opium.

"The patient can breathe its rich, balsamic fumes direct to the diseased spot.

"It is a remedy that treats and cures causes—prevents disease spreading.

"Reaches the innermost recesses of the throat, nose, bronchial tubes and lungs.

"Alleviates chest soreness.

"Stops coughing instantly.

"Prevents bronchial irritation.

"Relieves clogged nostrils.

"Cures sniffles and nasal catarrh.

"Prevents La Grippe.

"Has proven itself a cure for weak lungs, loss of voice, speakers' sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, catarrh, coughs, colds, and Winter ills."

Catarrhozone is unquestionably the world's greatest breathable cold, cough and catarrh medicine, and being free from all drowsy drugs, entirely safe for children and old folks; it makes an ideal family remedy. Recommended by the medical profession and sold by all reliable dealers. Beware of imitations, get "Catarrhozone" only; large size lasts two months, and is guaranteed, price $1; smaller sizes 25c and 50. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

ANYTHING TO OBLIGE

Some Stories Told of the Well-Known Lord Fisher

There was no greater admirer of the qualities of Lord Fisher, who, having attained his seventieth birthday, retires from the active list of the Navy, than Queen Victoria. A delightful story is told of how, when a certain French admiral was about to pay a visit to Portsmouth—this was when Sir John was Admiral Superintendent at the dockyard—the Queen requested him to be sure and "be very nice" to the visitor. With a face as impassive as a Chinese mandarin the Admiral replied, "I'll kiss him if you wish it, ma'am!" Devoted to duty, Lord Fisher would brook no shirking from any man under him. A certain captain once sent word that it was impossible to get his ship to such and such a place on a given date. "Umph!" replied "Jacky Fisher," as he is known in the service. "Tell Captain Blank that if he is not ready to leave X—— on the day named I'll have him towed there."

"THE BETTER LAND"

Composed by Dr. Cowen, Who Always Has the Aid of His Pianette

Dr. F. H. Cowen, the famous musician, whose latest work, "The Veil," has been heard for the first time in London, was a young man of twenty-five when he wrote the music of "The Better Land." It was written in an hour or two, on the suggestion of the late Mme. Antoinette Sterling. Dr. Cowen was calling one day upon the popular vocalist, when she read Mrs. Hemans's poem to him, saying she thought it would make a beautiful song for her. When the score was sent to her next morning, Mme. Sterling liked it so much that she offered to buy the copyright from the composer—an unusual course for a singer to take; but to this, fortunately for his pocket, Dr. Cowen would not agree. Dr. Cowen has a mascot which he would not part with for untold gold. This is a little pianette which he has had since he was a boy of fourteen, and every work he has composed has been written with its aid.

POPULAR PHRASES

How Some of Them Originated—Common Expressions

Who first gave utterance to some of the popular phrases of to-day it is practically impossible to say, but it is not so difficult to trace the origin of the sayings. Cheshire cats, for instance, are no different from those of other counties, but because Cheshire cheeses used to be made in the shape of cats with fixed, broad grins, the phrase "Grinning like a Cheshire cat eating cheese," arose.

The phrase, "He's a brick," originated from an Eastern ruler, who, while visiting a neighboring principality, asked his host to show him the fortifications. Waving his hands towards his troops, which were drawn up in soldierly array, the Prince said to his guest: "These are my fortifications; every man is a brick."

The phrase, "Mad as a hatter," really means as venomous as a viper. "Mad as a hatter" is simply a corruption of an ancient form, "Mad as an atter, or adder." Mad in this case is generally synonymous with poisonous.

The clause "It suits to a T," meaning it fits exactly, is as old as the familiar instrument, the T-square, or T-rule (so called from its resemblance to the letter T), used by mechanics and draughtsmen for making angles true and for obtaining perpendiculars. The expression was in common use in the time of Dr. Johnson, who is quoted by Boswell as saying of Warburton, "You see they have fitted him to a T."

THE PLATELAYER

A certain big railway company had occasion to advertise for a platelayer. The day after the advertisement appeared, the candidates were waiting outside, when a well-dressed man, in high hat, etc., rushed up to see the manager.

He was shown in, and was asked his business. The manager was shocked when he was informed that the man had come in answer to the advertisement.

"But what experience have you?" asked the manager.

"Oh, ten years as waiter in a city restaurant," coolly answered the man.

He was politely ordered out.

POOR AUNT MARTHA

It was Miss Martha Midge's birthday, an event which she was quite willing to forget, but which kind relatives insisted upon remembering. Forty-seven birthdays had only mellowed Miss Midge's gentle face. Her grey eyes were as beautiful as ever and her smile as sweet. In the depths of her heart were love and lasting kindness; her truth and honor had never been tarnished; and yet it was generally acknowledged that Aunt Martha "was on the shelf."

It was four in the afternoon, and the little maid was bringing in tea, when Miss Midge's niece, Daphne, rushed in. She was always coming and going like a whirlwind, just as though events were ten minutes ahead of her and she had to catch them. She was a pretty girl, with grey eyes, not unlike what her Aunt Martha had been at twenty, but she lacked the repose and depth of purpose that always charmed those who knew her aunt. She hurried across the room, pecked at her aunt's face, and put a small parcel on the table.

"From all of us, aunt. It's a lace scarf. Hope you'll like it. And how are you? I'm in an awful hurry. Mr. Walton waiting for me outside." And Daphne made signs of a hurried exit.

"And who is Mr. Walton?" Aunt Martha asked, her heart beating a little faster than usual. In her young days a Mr. Walton had entered into her life.

"Oh! awfully rich," cried the girl, breathlessly, "and awfully gone on me. Ma says it's Providence. Rather ancient, but I don't mind."

"But I thought you were engaged to Maurice Blair?" Aunt Martha remarked, a little severely. Daphne's flirtation was not approved by her.

"Oh, I know," her niece answered petulantly, looking out of the window; "but he's impossible. Three hundred a year and no prospects. And—there's Mr. Walton, the old dear—I must fly—good-bye, aunt. Oh! many happy returns. Ta, ta!" The door opened, banged; and Daphne had gone.

Miss Midge went to the window and looked out. A tall man with a stately carriage was walking down the street. Her Mr. Walton had been tall, but ever so much thinner.

She saw his hat lifted as he caught sight of Daphne, and she sighed. Then she went back to the table and poured out the tea. She found herself pouring it into the saucer, and she smiled at her carelessness. It was so ridiculous to let her thoughts stray back—so futile.

She had just sipped the tea when she heard a knock at the door, and a minute later Daphne's voice. Then the little servant opened the door of the sitting-room, and Daphne, followed by the tall gentleman, came in.

"Oh! aunt," the girl cried breathlessly, "I want to introduce Mr. Walton to you. My Aunt Martha! I'd forgotten I'd got to make a call, and I want you to entertain Mr. Wilton for ten minutes. I'm coming back."

And then, like a whirlwind, the girl was out of the room again, and Mr. Walton was still shaking hands with Miss Midge.

"We have surely met before," he was saying—"surely you are the Matty who used to live in Capstone Square?"

"Yes," Aunt Martha acknowledged, blushing like a girl, a habit she had never got rid of. "And to think of your remembering me! And I remember you now."

"I've grown a lot older, but you—" He paused and she became grave in a moment.

"I know; I'm forty-seven to-day," she said bravely, and asked him to have a cup of tea.

"I wish you many happy returns of the day," he said genially and then, "How nice it is to meet an old friend!" And he began to ask after many of those who had been known to them both nearly thirty years before.

They were so very busy chatting over old times, laughing together over old memories, that they never noticed that nearly an hour had passed when Daphne returned. She looked flushed and rather displeased.

"I'm ready, Mr. Walton," she said, "and I'm so sorry I've kept you. I couldn't get away before."

"I've had a delightful chat with your aunt," he answered her, taking leave of Miss Midge.

"Mr. Walton is going to take me to the White City," Daphne explained, "and we're going to have tea there."

"Can't we persuade you to join us?" Mr. Walton asked Miss Midge. But Aunt Martha shook her head. She had not forgotten the old adage, "Two's company, three's none."

"Oh! Aunt Martha doesn't care for going out," Daphne thought fit to explain, and passed out with her elderly swain.

A moment later she came tearing back.

"I suppose you saw who it was I met?" she said. "And I hope you didn't tell Mr. Walton? I couldn't help it."

"No, I don't know," answered Miss Midge, and then Daphne whispered—"It was that dreadful Maurice saw me come in here with Mr. Walton and was waiting for me. I had to rush out and see him and get Mr. Walton out of the way and I could hardly shake him off." And, then, turning she ran out with a shrill "By, bye!" and was gone again.

Aunt Martha watched them from the window, and it occurred to her more dreadfully than it had ever done before how empty and lonely her life was—terribly lonely. A little while since she had felt so happy, and now she was wretched. Then she braced up her heart, and told herself that it was sheer nonsense to repine. She tried hard to think of married couples who were not happy. But even this did not comfort her. The men, had they been anything like the equals of Horace—she still thought of Mr. Walton as Horace—would have been different, and the women did not always go the right way to make married life a success.

She lay awake a good deal that night, and then she made up her mind never to be foolish again; and so in the morning Aunt Martha sat a breakfast as sweet and placid as ever, as though life was worth living.

But to her surprise Mr. Walton called that afternoon and actually insisted upon taking her to the White City. He laughed away her excuses, until at last she gave way, feeling all the time that she was about to lay up a new store of regrets that for many days would have to be endured.

But she went, and, as she told Mr. Walton afterwards, she enjoyed herself more than ever she had enjoyed anything in all her life before. He was a charming companion, too; he had travelled so much and seen so many things that he had a deal to tell her. There was no end to the things they had to say to one another, and Aunt Martha found herself listening to accounts of the Pyramids, of Egypt, of Japan, of Italy, and she found herself wishing that she had been born a man, so that she might have travelled, too. She was so fond of Theatres. But it did not seem fair to Daphne, and she did not mean to go out with Mr. Walton again.

Once, and once only, had she permitted herself to break the even tenor of her life—it was such a delightful change—but a second time might quite unsettle her and, so, wisely, she was adamant.

But he was a terribly determined man. He called next evening and brought her flowers. He told her he had bought the theatre tickets and showed them to her. She asked him to take Daphne, and he informed her that Daphne was unable to use them as he had offered them to her.

So Aunt Martha enjoyed herself immensely once more. She knew that her heart must ache for it later, but she forgot that during the evening. Sometimes she and Mr. Walton almost forgot that they were not still young. Once he called her "Matty," and then apologised. And she almost called him Horace, and had to keep a close guard on her tongue lest she did.

She was rather sad next morning. She had made up her mind during the night that she would not be tempted again, and she had planned a journey to her cousin at Preston Park.

Then later Daphne called, looking radiantly happy.

"I haven't a moment to spare, you old dear," she said triumphantly, "but I thought you'd like to know that Maurice and I are [illegible] engaged. He's got a new berth, and though it's only five hundred a year, there are prospects, and I always liked him best."

Miss Midge kissed her in silence. She felt that if she spoke she would cry, and that would be ridiculous. But a great hope had sprung up in her mind in one moment.

"Maurice has got a holiday to-day, and I've got to meet him, so good-bye, aunt, and if you see Mr. Walton give him my kind regards; and don't you think you could break the news to him? Good-bye." And Daphne had vanished.

Miss Midge decided that she would not go to see her cousin at Preston Park. She remained at home.

In the afternoon Mr. Walton called, and what he said took off twenty-seven years from Miss Midge's age.

At least, he said so himself later. She was in his arms at the time, by the bye.

"Why, you don't look more than twenty, Matty," he said; "let's be young together when we're married."

And they were.

SMASHED STATUETTE

Artist Disgusted—Paintings Have Also Been Destroyed

A celebrated French sculptor invited a number of his friends to come one Sunday and see a statuette which he had just completed, and which he himself announced to be the most perfect thing in the world. His comrades in art, anxious to see such a wonderful production, came in a crowd and examined the beautiful piece of sculpture with admiration. At length, however, one of them exclaimed, "I say! I thought you said this statuette was perfect, yet there are only four toes on the left foot!" It was perfectly true. Yet the missing toe, from the peculiar position of the foot, had entirely escaped the notice, not only of the artist, but all his friendly critics. So disgusted was the artist with this amazing discovery that he raised his mallet above his head and, before he could be stopped by his friends, smashed the beautiful statuette to fragments.

London has been talking lately about the pictures at the Grafton Gallery by the School of French painters who call themselves Post-Impressionists. These men go considerably farther in their contempt for all art conventions that the Impressionists who preceded them, and of whom Claude Monet was the great leader. But Monet was by no means a slap-dash painter, and even when he had won his way, not only into the Salon but into the Louvre, and when his pictures were going up in price by leaps and bounds, he voluntarily and deliberately destroyed $20,000 worth, because he did not consider them worthy of him or likely in the future to enhance his reputation.

Rejected by the Academy

There was no more patient, painstaking, or conscientious painter ever lived in the world than Holman Hunt. He thought nothing of spending years over one canvas, and of travelling thousands of miles for his local color. He fixed up his easel on the arid shores of the Red Sea in order to paint "The Scapegoat," and he travelled through all the cities and villages of Palestine to find a suitable model for his "Shadow of Death," and, after spending seven years on his great picture, "The Triumph of the Innocents," he calmly set to work to paint it all over again.

It was no unusual thing with Millais, if he did not get the exact effect he wanted, to destroy, by a few strokes of his brush, the result of weeks of hard work, and many an artist whose picture, upon which much loving care had been spent, has been rejected by the Royal Academy has destroyed it upon its return to the studio. Even a famous artist who became an R.A. did this very thing. He says: "When my 'Hamlet and Ophelia' was rejected by the Academy, I was so disgusted with it that I tore it into strips and watched it disappear in the flames." The artist who thus used his picture so badly was Mr. Briton Riviere.

COMMERCIAL SLANG

Some Odd Expressions Used in Great Britain to Describe Salesmen

Many persons are unaware that there is quite an undeveloped mine of slang in the world of commercial travellers in the Old Country, who, by the way, are generally referred to as "knights of the road," or "highwaymen." For instance, the gentleman who travels in high-class jewellery is dubbed a "Black Maria man," while the cheap jewellery man is a "brass bounder."

Continental travellers are "Channel rats," tea travellers are "leaf and lead men," and the cocoa commercials are designated "sediment sellers." The representative of a soap firm is a "bubbler," whilst the man who takes orders for candles is said to be a "wick-o'-the-whisper."

The traveller in educational books is playfully spoken of as a "kid-killer," in drugs a "shake-the-bottle man"; the itinerant vendor of stationery is a "cream-laid cruiser," of oil a "fat-forger," and a coffee traveller is a "mahogany exporter."

A FINE MUSICAL COLLECTION

An interesting [illegible] in the musical world has just passed away in the person of the late Henry WATSON. Well known in the North of England as a lecturer on musical history and instruments. The son of a factory worker, Dr. Watson, at the age of nine, received a present of a dulcimer, and quickly taught himself to play some 300 tunes. Obtaining a few piano lessons when eleven years of age; he soon became known as an accompanist, and at local fairs and functions earned $1.50 a night by playing solos in public-houses. Then he secured a situation as an errand boy in a Blackburn music-shop, and ultimately became a partner in a music business in Manchester. During his life he collected 30,000 volumes of musical literature and 300 different instruments, which he presented to the Manchester Corporation.

"HINTS TO ETON PARENTS"

A beautiful, witty woman, and very clever with her pen, Lady Desborough, one of the Ladies of the Bedchamber of Queen Mary, wrote a very amusing article a short time ago, entitled "Hints to Eton Parents," which appeared in a little paper published at the school. In this article she advised parents, when introduced to their boys' friends, "not to be sprightly, knowing, hearty, youthful, slangy, arch, sporting or witty. Humility," said her ladyship, "is the only wear for parents. Apologise for your existence, and explain it as far as you can." The popularity of Lady Desborough in society may be gathered from the fact that her numerous friends call her "that divine being." Her husband, Lord Desborough, is the "Admirable Crichton" of sport.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operation of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. PORCUPINE NEWS

The opening up of spring has brought the usual spring freshetts and news comes from Porcupine City that the district is flooded in many places. All the Townsites are flooded and row-boats are being used to get about except in the case of Porcupine City which on account of being some 50 feet above the surrounding country is free from water. Building operations are proceeding briskly as there is nothing to prevent getting around.

No one who knows the district can doubt for a moment that the only place to secure building lots in the district is in Porcupine City, but you had better communicate at once if you want to secure some thing good at reasonable prices with

We Now Have Over 200 Stockholders

Foreword

E. W. SMITH

As Manager of the Bankers Finance Co. I want to personally call your attention to what I consider the very best investment opportunity I have found in all of my financial experience, and my customers know by dividends and profits distributed that I have a record of several years' success.

In the first place I will not sell stocks in any company until I have satisfied myself that there seems to be assured success for the company. Furthermore, I always want my clients to buy stocks when there is a splendid probability of their advancing to a price that will let each one make a handsome profit.

THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL CO., at the present price of THREE cents a share, I think, is a big money-maker. The stock is just as sure to rise as human being can deplet, and it would not surprise me to see an advance to 75 cents or $1 in the near future.

Such policy has caused the great success of the Bankers Finance Company extending over a long period, and having on its books the most prosperous investors of any similar western institution. It isn't often we offer speculative stocks which are likely to double and treble in price, and rapidly making several hundred per cent. profit, but when we do it's a pretty safe guess that we know absolutely whereof we speak, and in no instance have we yet failed. I have personally investigated the following proposition and firmly believe we have the richest and most marvelous offering in the West, and if you will join us, even for a small amount, I will endeavor to show you profits thereby that will make you permanent customers.—E. W. Smithr

When investing your money in any security it is always well to investigate the basic facts underlying the business back of the security.

The production of crude oil from the ground has for ages proven to be a very profitable industry, and therefrom has arisen many of the richest men of the world. Corporations engaged in this industry have amassed enormous profits and paid large dividends to shareholders.

...

Geologists schooled in their profession are enabled to determine in what localities crude oil may be secured by drilling wells. In some localities oil is secured at a depth of a few hundred feet, while elsewhere it is necessary to drill to a depth of several thousand feet. This to a certain extent regulates the expense of reaching oil.

Again, the quality of oil secured is an important factor in the ultimate profits, which may be realized. Among the most valuable oil wells are those containing the largest percentage of paraffin, naptha, gasoline, lubricating, and other ingredients for which there is a ready market at substantial prices.

In the Pennsylvania fields there was formerly produced a large amount of high-grade oil which sold at several dollars per barrel, and millions of barrels made millions of dollars for the owners; but of late years this supply has diminished, and it has become a serious question among oil men as to where the future supply would come from, especially since the introduction of automobiles and gasoline engines has created an enormous demand for gasoline at high prices.

THE RANGELY OIL FIEI D, located in Rio Blanco county, Colorado, is destined to fill the necessity now so much in demand. Doubtless this field would have become prominent many years ago but for the fact that Rio Blanco county has been practically without railroad transportation. In fact, at present only one railroad touches the county, and that merely across one corner, thus serving only about ten miles of the county, leaving other portions thereof nearly 35 miles from the railroad. Now that paraffin and gasoline oils are being produced, this situation will be speedily remedied. Already the Uintah Railway, the Grand River, Meeker & Salt Lake Railroad, the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway, and the Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific Railway are projected through this county, and soon Rio Blanco with its tremendously rich, undeveloped resources of high-grade oil, coal, gilsonite, mineralized rubber and other valuables, will reap its reward.

It is a well-known axiom that those who get into a country "ahead of the railroads" will get the greater profits. The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is now firmly entrenched as one of the factors of the Rangely Oil Field, and its 80 acres are considered as good as any in the district. However, other companies did the pioneering work. Six companies have already secured oil in 50 wells. In all of them have been found the same high-grade paraffin and gasoline oil and most of these wells strike oil at from 600 to 1,000 feet deep, proving it a shallow field.

The essentials of success and profit are clearly defined in the Rangely field: 1. Inexpensive drilling. 2. Shallow wells throughout. 3. High-grade valuable product. 4. Oil analyzed by the Standard Oil Company. 5. Oil analyzed by the U. S. Government experts. 6. Geologists of the U. S. examined the entire field.

Property—Eighty acres choice territory in the Rangely oil district, Rio Blanco county, Colorado, a field celebrated for its valuable paraffin and gasoline oils commanding four times the price of asphalt oils of California Texas and Oklahoma. The corporation has a 20-year lease, royalty only 10 per cent. of oil secured, and $1,200 ($15 per acre) cash when oil is struck, otherwise nothing is to be paid lessor.

The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is among the first in the field, reaching there "ahead of the railroads", and selected first choice of leases, and began drilling its first well. For the purpose of determining the value of this high-grade oil by expert analysis samples were taken from nearby wells, results of which are herewith submitted. They prove conclusively every claim made for Rangely high-grade oil.

EXPERT OPINIONS ON THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT.

The following are brief extracts from some of the most complimentary reports ever made upon an oil field, all of the parties in question having visited the Raven Park Field and subjected it to the most rigid and crucial investigation:

Mr. Samuel Baker says of the Raven Park Oil Field: "The field is a true anticlinal dome. The oil is a rich, golden brow color, and is very foamy, showing the presence of large quantities of gas and gas-forming materials."

Prof. Wm. B. Potter, the well-known geologist and mining engineer of St. Louis, who occupied the chair of Geology in the Washington University at St. Louis for over 12 years, says: "One of the marked and most favorable characteristics of the Raven Park field is the well-developed dome structure. Such dome structure is especially favorable for the storage of oil. And the natural pressure should insure powerful gushing wells when the oil sands are penetrated in drilling."

Mr. Robert L. Lund, upon the strength of whose report a St. Louis syndicate entered into a contract for extensive work in the field says: "The Raven Park oil field consists of an anticlinal dome, remarkable alike for its enormous size and the perfection of its foldings. The conditions in the field, it is believed, insure flowing wells under heavy pressure."

Prof. F. V. Hayden, than whom no more scientific geologist ever visited the Raven Park Oil Fields, in his report to the government says: "Raven Park has a quaquaversal shape. The dip of the strata is in all directions from the middle of Raven Park." (A quaquaversal dip is an anticlinal dome.)

Is The Government's Expert's RECOMMENDATION Good Enough For You ?

MILLIONS MADE IN OIL

Of course, you know of many men who have made their millions in oil fields. Many of you know that the leading and most successful oil operators have, for the past few years, been exploring the fields of Colorado. It is stated upon good authority that this field is destined to become one of the greatest fields in the world.

ALREADY A GOING CONCERN

This company has already begun drilling its second well, hence you are not invited into an unknown proposition. Work has begun in earnest and daily progress is being made. Hearing of the great excitement caused by the discovery of high-grade paraffin oil in Rio Blanco County, Colorado, our Mr. Smith made a careful personal investigation of the field last November. What he found was almost unbelievable. At a few hundred feet deep in this field, designated by the government as the Rangely Oil District, they were bringing in wells of oil worth $2 a barrel as it came from the ground. Compare this with California, Texas and Oklahoma crude oil worth about 50 cents a barrel and figure the large profits in sight. Fifty wells with the same high-grade paraffin oil prove absolutely the truths contained in the official government report on this district, "BOOK No. 350, RANGELY OIL DISTRICT," copy of which can be obtained free by writing the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Smith was fortunate in securing 80 acres of choice land, sufficient for 80 wells. Upon his return to Denver the latter part of November arrangements were perfected to begin immediate work and show our good faith by starting well No. 1 before asking anyone to put a cent into the proposition.

which for quick and large profits surpasses anything ever before offered by this financial house—a house with a record of success in every investment offering, and whose clients are making large profits, while others were entrusting their money in purely wildcat securities.

The prompt response from those who received our recent announcement of the opportunity to secure pre-organization stock resulted in quickly securing ample funds for present requirements. Engine, boiler and complete outfit was secured, and expenses promptly paid, and we still have money in the treasury. Work in the field is being actively pushed, and success seems assured. Reports are exceedingly favorable for large profits to each shareholder. In future stock will only be sold from time to time at higher prices to provide for further development. In the near future we will need only to meet our pay roll and other expenses. For this purpose we will accept a few more subscriptions at three (3) cents a share, payable in five equal monthly installments. As only a limited amount of installment stock will be reserved at three cents a share, prompt application is necessary.

NEW CLIENTS INVITED

We want YOU with us in this great opportunity, no matter how small your investment. No one is allowed more than $200 worth at three cents a share, as the stock is thus limited so all will participate pro rata in this distribution, destined to make profits large enough to please each member.

Don't wait until you can send the maximum amount of $200, but take what you can at once, for the opportunity to-day offered you will be a matter of history, TOO LATE. We invite you to become a stockholder now, before price of shares advance.

An Invitation to the Reader

The corporation offers for sale a limited amount of treasury shares upon exceptional terms to investors who may desire to secure an interest in this great proposition. Funds received from this subscription offering are to be used in further extending the development work in the Rangely field, and with surplus constantly in its treasury, unusual opportunities of acquiring valuable holdings may be taken advantage of as they arise.

Immediately subscriptions have been received for this allotment of treasury stock it will be withdrawn from the market.

MONTHLY PAYMENT APPLICATION

20 PER CENT. WITH ORDER AND 20 PER CENT. A MONTH

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

AN IRON ISLE

Discovery of Ore on Sassay, an Island Near Skye

A new mining centre may be opened up as a result of the discovery of iron ore in the little island of Rassay, which lies between Skye and the mainland of Scotland. The island covers an area of about twenty-eight square miles. The investigations, it is said, have been so satisfactory that a Scotch steel firm has secured an option for the purchase of the entire island. It is believed that recent developments have been considered sufficiently important to justify the erection of blast furnaces for the smelting of ore. The discovery may mean extensive employment for the inhabitants of Rassay, the adjoining isle of Skye, and the mainland of Ross-shire. Skilled labor will be in demand, but a certain proportion of unskilled labor will also be required.

SOLDIER AND SCULPTOR

Adrian Jones Understands a Horse From Tail Tip to Nostril

It is said of Captain Adrian Jones, who has designed the four-horse war chariot, weighing upwards of thirty tons, which is to be erected in London as a memorial to "Peace," that he is probably the only living sculptor who understands a horse from tail-tip to nostril. As a boy he loved and studied horses, and would have liked to become an artist, but his father had other plans, and he entered the Army. He saw much active service, and was then advised to become a sculptor, having devoted most of his spare time when in the Army to painting and sculpture.

ONE MAN, SEVENTEEN VOTES

What a champion pluralist was the Rev. Washbourne West, a late Senior Fellow of Lincoln College, Oxford, who in 1826, at the age of eighty, recorded seventeen votes in different parts of the country and still left half-a-dozen unused. A hundred and twenty votes in four years was Mr. West's achievement; and very proud he was of it, as he more than once told his friends. His only regret was that he could not live to make it two centuries. He recorded eight of his 1826 votes in two consecutive days at places as far apart as Brownsea and Mid-Oxford. But this feat was beaten by the seventy-year-old Mr. W. J. Haywood, of Herne Hill, who, at a recent election actually voted in six county constituencies in one day, covering something like 260 miles in his motor-car.

A TRAGIC SIGHT

Mr. Asquith in speaking recently in Edinburgh said: "One of the most tragic sights in our town life is that of a boy sitting in the hall-seat of a tram reading some trashy story, regaled by gaudy-illustrations, an escape for his present precarious and short-lived occupation comes to an end, for a pass in the unemployable. For years past this has been the darkest blot and the most fatal gap in our educational system."

The G.T.R. trackmen have received an increase of 10 cents per day. They formerly received $1.40 per day, and now the increase they will receive will be 10 cents. The foremen did not get any raise.

"FAKING UP" OLD BIRDS

Dealers Use Potash and Other Chemicals for the Purpose

According to a Paris contemporary, one of the inspectors under the French Department of Agriculture has discovered a new system of fraud perpetrated in the markets by some of the wholesale dealers. The plan is to sell old and barely eatable partridges for young birds. The young birds carry at the tip of the wing some white spots, which disappear as the birds increase in age. To sell the veteran birds as young the dealers have impressed the services of the chemist—and what is it that the chemist is unable to do?—so with the judicious application of potash, or some other chemical, the old birds are given the appearance of youth. For the chemist's embellishment the consumer has to pay about fifteen pence more than he would for the birds in a state of nature unadorned.

A ROSEBERY ROMANCE

To those who love romance, the romantic and unusual episode in the life of one of Lord Rosebery's ancestors will appeal. It occurred in the eighteenth century, when the young Lord Dalmeny was a young man. He fell in love with a very pretty girl, and eventually a secret marriage was contracted. The pair spent their honeymoon on the Continent, and the bride becoming seriously ill, confessed that she was the wife of the Rector of Thorpe, from whom she had run away. Dying shortly afterwards, her husband had her body embalmed with a view to bringing it to England for burial. However, the Customs House officials opened the case in which the grim burden was packed, and it was only to avoid a far more serious tragedy that the truth was made known. The body was eventually buried at Thorpe in the presence of both "husbands."

New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steam ears for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

On Monday evening boat service from the Wa-Wa hotel, Britannia, Point Block, Bracebridge, Beaumont and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.

HIS LITTLE MILL GIRL

Chapter I.—The Temptation

"Little Nell's going to sing in the competition at the theatre to-night."

The words buzzed through the crowd pouring out of the mill gate, and the workers, contrary to custom, loitered about in little groups, waiting in the hope of seeing their comrade as she passed out on her way home.

"There she is!" called one, and instantly all eyes turned in the direction indicated. She was greeted with a loud burst of cheering, and cries of "Sing up to-night, Nellie, lass! I'm comin' to hear you!" Abashed and taken by surprise at the sight of her assembled chums, the girl drew back, shyly and hid her blushing face, and would have retreated still farther, but a strong arm encircled her slender form.

"Ah, it's you, Jim!" was all that Nell said to her lover as she allowed herself to be piloted through the enthusiastic well-wishers. At last they were left behind. Nellie raised her head and smiled into Jim's eyes, which were just then bent on her.

"Little girl!" he drew her to him with a caress that would brook no resistance, "you must sing to-night as you never sang before, for their sakes," he waved a hand in the direction of the mill they had left behind them. "For their sakes and for my sake you must bring the prize home to Milliden. Let 'em see what a mill lass—my little mill lass—can do."

Ah, if the honest lad could but have guessed the thoughts that surged through that dainty little head of Nellie's! Thoughts of fame and riches; thoughts of titled lovers who were in the dim future to fall captive to the spell of her truly glorious voice. Even now she pushed away his strong arms.

"Let us hurry, Jim, I have to get my tea and dress before seven o'clock—and, please, Jim, don't call me a mill lass."

"But, sweetheart, you are a mill lass, and ought to be proud of—"

"Oh, yes, I know, Jim. But some day I shall be a singer—a great singer—and I should not like it known then that I was once only a—" She hesitated, for Jim was gazing at her with a startled, miserable expression. He finished the words she was about to utter.

"You would not like it known that you were once a mill girl? Is that what you mean, Nell?"

The girl walked on to avoid that stern look in her companion's eye.

"Nell!"

She turned; he had not moved, but stood waiting for her reply.

"Do come along, Jim," she faltered. "I shall be late for the theatre."

For a moment the man's face hardened, then looking at the girl, he relented. "She is but a child," he muttered. With one stride he reached her, and taking the flower face in his hands compelled his sweetheart to look at him.

"Unsay what you have just spoken, darling," his voice was hoarse with earnest feeling. "Tell me that you are not ashamed of being a mill girl."

There was no response; the girl tried, but ineffectually, to free herself.

"Tell me, little girl?" the tone was pathetic. Still no answer. One long pleading look, then Jim's arms dropped stiffly. "Go!" his voice was hoarse and strained. "Go, or you will be late for the competition."

Once, twice, thrice, Nellie Dening looked back. Jim stood where she had left him, staring into vacancy. Presently she passed from sight. He roused himself with a great effort, a look of deep pain on his face.

"Poor foolish little Nell!" he said half aloud. "It is our own fault if she is proud; we have all spoiled her since she was a tiny lass in short frocks and pinafores, and if she wins to-night—but, of course she will—she'll be prouder than ever, I expect." A deep sigh escaped Jim; he quickened his pace; he must hurry or he would not be in time to take her to the theatre.

That night the theatre was packed from floor to ceiling. Not all, of course, but a great many of that vast audience, had come to hear the singing competition which took place at the end of the ordinary performance.

The last "turn" had long ago appeared and vanished, and all the competitors save one had sung, and she, the last of all, was about to be called upon. Silence all over the house, a deep, expectant hush, and now the judge's voice is heard:

"Sing, No. 19."

A buzz of excitement; everyone leans forward, and at that moment a girl appeared before the curtain, a tall, slim girl, in a simple white frock only relieved by a blood-red rose at her breast. It was Nell, the idol of Milliden; they had all worshipped the sweet-voiced little beauty since first she could toddle. And they showed their love in a terrific burst of cheering.

Just one haughty bend of that small head. Hush! She is going to begin.

"'Tis the last rose of summer."

Ah! all was silent now, and remained so until the singer reached the second verse.

"I'll not leave thee, thou lone one,
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Go! sleep thou with them."

With her taper fingers she crushed the rose at her breast; it fell in a shower of petals at her feet. There was a slight tremor in the sweet voice—

"Thus kindly I scatter
Thy leaves o'er the bed
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead."

The beautiful notes died softly away. It was over. The spell was broken. Round after round of applause filled the theatre, and cries of "Nell! Nell!" re-echoed into the streets. A few moments later the adjudicator stepped on to the stage, his hands full of notes. There was no need to read them. Just two words could be heard above the applause—Miss Helen Dening.

"Our little Nell!" was the cry.

Yes, she had brought the prize to Milliden. Radiant and triumphant, she stood bowing her thanks. From the stalls Jim Standish watched the beautiful singer—his singer, with a strange feeling at the heart.

"How will this success affect the child?" he asked himself; but the theatre was now fast emptying; he ceased his gloomy meditations and proceeded to the exit, and from thence to the stage door, where he found Nell in animated conversation with two well-known managers of the vaudeville stage.

"You are simply wasting your time here," one was saying, "when you might be making pots of money with that voice."

"And face," added the other.

Nell flushed, though Jim saw that she was pleased. He stepped forward, and with a hasty "Good-night!" to the two gentlemen, calmly bore Nell away on his arm.

Chapter II.—The Choice

Jim had been just in time, but the poison had entered Nell's soul; she was thirsting for a further taste of admiration and applause such as she had experienced to-night. The bright possibilities these men had spoken of filled her heart and mind. This little mill town, with its limited outlook, would no longer content her.

"Your voice and pretty face," someone had whispered to her. Ah! what a glorious life awaited her could she but take the step—the step that would sever her from home—and Jim!

She stayed away from the mill next day, and the day following. Jim heard a rumor afloat that his promised wife was about to accept a long music hall engagement and leave Milliden for good. He knew nothing of her staying from the mill, and wondered at her not waiting at their usual trysting place in the lane near the foundry where he worked.

If she did not appear to-night, he resolved to go and see her; he wished to hear from her own lips that this horrid rumor was false. He approached the well-known spot near the field gate. Nell was not there. What could it mean? Not a word, not a sign since the competition three nights ago. He determined to go to the house at once; he must know something; anything was better than the suspense of waiting.

Jim remembered the scrap of conversation he had heard at the stage door the other night, and proceeded on his way with grave misgivings.

. . . . . .

The girl stood pale and frightened-looking. What had she said to make Jim look like that?

"So," he spoke at last, "you—you wish to—to give me up with the rest of them. Is that it, Nell?"

She drooped her head.

"Don't look like that, Jim. You frighten me. I—oh, Jim!" she raised her eyes and spoke passionately. "I cannot live here any longer. Mr. French"—the manager who had spoken with her the other night—"Mr. French says I have gold in my voice. He says I am only wasting my time here when I ought to be making pots of money."

Not a sound in answer. Nell spoke entreatingly.

"Why don't you speak, Jim? Oh, you don't know—you can't know, what it is to have a gift and be unable to use it." The words stung him.

"To be unable to use it, Nell? Can't you sing to us—to me? Oh, my darling," he placed his hands on her shoulders. "Mr. French has painted the bright side of this life for you; but there is another side. Believe me, the way to such joys as you hope to attain lies through a hard country, beset with temptations. Think seriously, Nellie, dear, before you leave us all. I know Milliden is not a beautiful place, but there are places far worse, and lives not half so pure—"

"Oh!" Nellie interrupted with an impatient frown. "You say that on purpose to keep me here. I—"

"God forbid!" Jim's voice vibrated with the deep earnestness within him. "Go, Nell! You shall never say that I kept you against your will."

A slight sound, the door had closed. He had gone. With a startled cry Nell realized what she had done; she had driven from her side one of the best and noblest of men. Not one word of reproof had he uttered, and she had this moment accused him of selfishness. More than that, she had trampled the man's life under her feet, had cast it away like a toy too many—all for what? She pressed her hands to her ears, for she heard the voice of conscience cry "Vain glory," and she knew that it was true.

"Can't you sing to us, Nell—to me?" She heard Jim's pleading voice, that and that only was his sole retort for all her base conduct.

With a frightened sob she flung herself down on the couch. "Oh!" she moaned, "if he had called me a bad, wicked girl, I—I could have borne it better. Jim! Jim!" Suddenly she sat up straight and stiff.

"Why—didn't he make me stay. Perhaps he doesn't care." A second fit of wild sobbing utterly prostrated Nell. She realized—it had come to her with blinding suddenness—that she could not go away; she could not give Jim up. He was more to her now than all her voice and beauty.

. . . . . .

Jim walked slowly out of the foundry gates. His fellow-workers laughed and joked all round about him, but he did not seem to hear. Nothing in life seemed to interest him, as with bent head he quickly left the noisy group and turned down the long, straight lane which led from the town to his home and—hers. His heart ached sorely. A white, strained look came over his face now that there were none to see him. Down this lane he and Nell had walked countless nights; she used to wait by the gate yonder, she who was to have been his wife in six short weeks. There he used to look for her eagerly. There— What—who was that in the neat little hat and red shawl? It might—it was Nell!

With a bound Jim started forward, then he recollected that she might be on some errand for the house. His heart beat choklagly as he passed her; he kept his face hidden. Nell, watching eagerly for one coming, trembling as each step lessened the distance between them.

Ah! he was here; he is past. A sob burst from her ashen lips.

"Jim!"

He started violently. Was he dreaming, or did Nell really call him?

"Jim, darling!"

"Nell, you—you called me?" He was at her side. "Don't dare to play with me! You want me?"

His hoarse voice would have frightened one less confident; but Nell laughed joyously and pulled her lover's head down.

"Say you forgive me, Jim; tell me you love me still."

"But—but—" Jim stood amazed, not realizing. "You—I thought you were going away to—to make a lot of money—to be a prima donna, I think they call it?"

"I—oh, Jim!" her voice broke, his arms went around her.

"Tell me now, Nellie," he whispered.

"Just this." She hid her face on his shoulder. "I found out after you went that—that—"

"Go on, darling."

"That I didn't want to be a singer. I mean a—a big singer, Jim."

"H'm!" said Jim, pinching her cheek. "Wanted to be a little singer, did she?"

"No, silly boy! I only want to be your—little mill girl."

A BRAVE WOMAN

Her Wonderful Nerve With a Burglar In the House

A lady of wealth was one evening alone, with only one servant in the house. Being in her chamber, as she laid aside articles of jewellery and placed them in their appropriate places in the bureau, she chanced to raise her eyes to the mirror opposite, and from a light in the other corner of the room she caught in the mirror the reflection of the figure of a man curled up under a large centre table, but hidden from all sight save what was gained by this reflection in the mirror.

In this way she saw one of the hands resting on the floor. This hand was minus two fingers, and she knew at once that close by her was one of the most desperate characters, whose crimes and fiendish deeds had been the terror of the surrounding country for miles.

Now, who could blame her if she had screamed or made a hurried effort to reach the door? Had she done so it would have sealed her fate. But forcing herself to be calm, she finished what she was doing at the bureau, then quietly stepping to the bell, rang for the one servant in the house.

When the girl appeared she quietly said, "Mary, I want you to run over to Mr. —— (a jeweller in the neighborhood), and say I wish he would send back the diamonds he has been resetting; they are the most valuable I have, and I am uneasy to have them so long out of the house. Tell him to send them by you to-night, even if not finished; wait. I'll write a note for fear of mistake."

So seating herself with the greatest apparent composure at the table where the man lay concealed, she wrote the note. Of course, she wrote not for diamonds, but for help. The girl took the note, and alone absolutely, with this great terror concealed close by her, the lady waited.

That no suspicion might be aroused she busied herself putting various things in different places. How terrible must have been that waiting! How full of joy and safety the sound of the bell when the girl returned, and with her the friend and police, who captured the man before he could resist.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

RECORD RAINFALLS

The Past Year in Great Britain Goes Down to Posterity as One of the Wettest of Seasons

The autumn and winter of 1910 seem to have gone down to posterity as record wet seasons. Not since the days when Noah gathered them in two by two has there been so much wrath directed against the Clerk of the Weather. And not without reason. The average rainfall for the last twenty-five years, for the last three months of the year has been 8.44 inches. The average had been exceeded in 1910 when December was a fortnight old. During the thirteen weeks ending December 12th, 1909, there were 301 hours of sunshine and but 3¼ inches of rain. Last year for a similiar period there were 8¼ inches of rain and but 227 hours of sunshine; and for three weeks of that period "King Sol" shone for four an a half hours only.

The significance of an inch of rain may be gathered from the fact that it is equal to 100 tons of water for every acre, or 64,000 tons for every square mile. From the beginning of October to the middle of December about 8 inches of rain had fallen in the Thames Valley, which meant that the Thames in just over two months had to negotiate a downfall of water equal to 1,951,744,000 tons, which would fill a channel 5,000 miles long, 10 feet deep, and 250 feet wide. The Thames Valley covers an area of 5,812 square miles, so that a fall of one inch over the whole valley is equal to 243,965,000 tons of water, which has been calculated to equal a river 10 feet deep, 250 feet wide, and 1,000 miles long. It is computed that the weight of rain that falls in the Old Country in the course of a year averages 3,000 tons to every acre, and, as there are 77,143,938 acres in the United Kingdom, this computation shows us that 231,431,814,000 tons of rain fall on its surface in the course of twelve months.

One of the heaviest rainfalls yet recorded in the British Isles was 2.24 inches in 40 minutes in Fortarshire, during a severe thunderstorm on June 18th, 1847. On August 1st, 1846, 3.12 inches fell in 2 hours, 17 minutes at Camberwell, London. Of heavy falls during one day the following might be mentioned: Ben Nevis Observatory, 7.29 inches, on October 3rd, 1890; Nayport, Wales, 5.23 inches, July 14th, 1875; and Camusinas, Argyllshire, 5.60 inches, January 24th, 1869.

AN UNUSUAL CASE AT POLICE COURT

Removal of Surgical Tubes From Dead Body During Burial.

A case of considerable interest took place in the Police Court yesterday morning. Mr. John Comstock, the local undertaker, was arraigned on a charge of interfering with the dead body of Arthur Greenwood, a young man who died in the hospital on May 9th. Mr. Comstock was represented by his counsel, Mr. F. D. Kerr.

After considering the evidence, His Worship, Magistrate Dumble, stated that he found the accused not guilty. Referring to the matter, he said:—"The law is that any person is liable to five years' imprisonment for interfering with a dead body, but there were different ways of interfering. Some people take the bodies out of the grave to sell them to the doctors and others take them and keep them until the sorrowing friends pay so much to have them returned; while others, whose minds are generally affected, commit indecent offences upon a dead body and such like, but in the present instance no offence was intended. There was some valuable tubes left in the body, and the doctor wanted to get them, and as a consequence requested the undertaker to get them for him. The only way to do this was to get at the body at the cemetery, before the grave was filled in. The body had been operated upon, and these tubes inserted for to try and save his life and there certainly was no object in burying them, as they would be absolutely useless in the grave, but would be quite useful when saved. The undertaker got down into the grave and secured the tubes without any unnecessary offence to the body. And on the strength of this he is arraigned here on a charge of unlawfully interfering and committing and indecency and indignity upon the dead body. I am quite certain that such was not in the mind of the undertaker, and I fail to see where there was any improper interference or anything indecent. There was no intention to offend or wound the feelings of the deceased, or the friends of the same, and the man who did it, thought he was quite within his rights. If the friends had kept their tongues quiet and said nothing about the trivial incident, all this trouble would have been averted. It was a simple act performed with a good intention, and, although we, as Christians, respect our dead, it was quite evident that in this incident there was no intention of showing any disrespect. I find nothing in the evidence to convict Mr. Comstock and I would be doing very wrong if I did so."

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY LISTS TO BE CLOSED—DISTRIBUTION OF PREMIUMS TO BE MADE

The time has arrived when bedding plants may be placed outdoors with a reasonable degree of safety, and it has been decided to make the distribution of premiums to members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society on Saturday, May 20th. Those intending to become members should do so promptly, as the several lists will be closed on Friday night, May 19th, so as to get the complete list in shape and arrange for a prompt distribution of the premiums to the members.

All those paying their membership fee of $1.00 before Friday night will be entitled to their choice of a premium of twelve bedding plants, or twelve window box plants, or one large Boston fern, these premiums are to be distributed immediately. In addition, members will receive a distribution of bulbs in the fall, and a subscription to the Canadian Horticulturist, the horticultural magazine, published in Peterborough.

The total value received, reckoning everything at retail prices is considerably more than $1.00, so that the money spent is an excellent investment as well as serving to help on the good work being done by the Society.

Membership tickets may be secured at any of the following places up till Friday evening of this week only: The Examiner Office, Review Office, Times Office, Office of the Canadian Horticulturist, Simcoe street, E. F. Mason & Co., 429 George street, E. F. Mason & Co., corner Antrim and George streets; F. R. Clark & Son, jewellers, 439 George street; Wesley Bros., dyers and cleaners, 440½ George street; Jordan Bros., florists, 426 George street; W. J. Kent, druggist, 402 George street; E. L. Payne druggist, 369 George street; Roland Dense, flour and feed store, 339 George street; Porter S. White, grocer, 336 George street; Geo. A. Gillespie, dairy supply store, 140 Simcoe street; J. E. Mead, West End Greenhouses, 547 Park street; T. B. Maurice, grocer, 99 Hunter street east, and Frank Wise, 21 Crescent street.

A large addition has already been made to the Horticultural Society, and a most successful year is assured. There are, however, still many who intend to become members, but who have not yet done so. The object of the Horticultural Society is a most worthy one, and it deserves the hearty support of every citizen of Peterborough, apart altogether from the excellent value it gives for the amount spent for the membership ticket.

Members of the society and all persons interested in the work it is doing and in the efforts being put forth for the beautifying and general improvement of our city, are urged to draw this matter to the attention of those who are likely to be interested, but who may not yet have secured their membership tickets. With the completion of our membership campaign, the season's work is just commencing. The success which will attend our efforts depends to a large extent on the support and co-operation of its individual members. All Peterborough expects you to do your share. Frank Wise, secretary.

DAWN OF PEACE IN MEXICO

Juarez, Mexico, May 17.—Provisional Francisco I. Madero Jr., and Dr. Vasquez Gomez, his chief peace commissioner were in conference at 7 a.m. to-day, concerning the signing of a peace agreement. Judge Carbajal, it is expected, would transmit about noon the formal acceptance by the Mexican Government of the peace conditions which have already been taken to mean the beginning of an era of Tranquility in Mexico.

Besides the portfolios of War, Justice and Gobernacion in the Presidential Cabinet it was said to-day the insurrectos would name governors for the following fourteen states:

Chihuahua, Sonora, Sinaloa, Zacatecas, Coahuila, Tepehuan, Tlaxcala, Durango, Hidalgo, Puebla, Guanajuata, Guerrero, Morelos and Jalisco or Tabasco.

Abiding peace yesterday re-entered the hearts of the people of Juarez. Forgetting their looted, bullet shattered homes and the blackened stains that still mark the place where some insurrecto or federal soldier died they flocked to the bull ring. For yesterday the national pastime, the bull fight, was resumed in Juarez.

Four bulls were marked for slaughter, and a celebrated toreador was billed to appear. The pesos taken in at the gate were to be devoted to the needs of the families of insurrectos who had lost their lives and to the destitute wounded.

THE COUNCIL VINDICATED.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have read of the action of the Council concerning the Industrial Commissioner, and I read the Mayor's explanation of their act, Now sir, as a ratepayer I realize that the Council employed the Commissioner for one year at a big salary, as an experiment, and at the end of the year the employment was at an end—and they decided not to re-engage him—is not that the end of it?

Neither the Commissioner or anyone else has any say in the matter. No doubt the Council carefully considered their action. They may have come to a wise conclusion, or they may not, but has every ratepayer the right to contest their prerogative? I know that public opinion sustains the action of the Council, but to me it is of the highest importance that the Council be sustained when they deliberately come to a conclusion on facts perhaps more in their knowledge than it can possibly be in the knowledge of ordinary citizens upon whom there is no responsibility. The duties of the Commissioner must be committed to some one, but it is generally thought that these duties can be effectively performed by some other person, at much less expense.

WATER CUPS FOR DRINKING.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—That our board of Water Commissioners are capable financiers, is, I think, generally conceded, but they lack executive ability, or they would see that suitable drinking cups are provided at places where horses are watered, as well as at Central Park. I am sure it would be appreciated by many, especially during the hot summer days.

Thirsty Pedestrian.

RATEPAYERS TIRED OF IT.
Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—While I think the majority of the ratepayers are tired of the unseemly squabble raised by the Merchants' Association, Mr. O'Connell and now Mr. Denham takes a hand over Mr. Duggan not again being engaged. If Mr. Duggan is such an exceptionally clever man, why does not Mr. Denham take him into the Quaker Oats business, he certainly has made a fizzle of the city's business. He has the $4,000 and the city has the experience (nuff said). Why all this howl now. The people elect the members of the Council to do their business; by what right do these few people butt in. To the average citizen it looks as if there was a nigger on the fence that is being carefully hidden by those very officious gentlemen, the Board of Trade backs them up. Why, the Board of Trade is a dead letter. Fancy a Board of Trade in a city of 15,000 people with an average attendance of 17 people, during the year. The Council is doing fairly well and they can rest assured that they have the large majority of ratepayers behind them in their present action. Stick to it boys, and show you have some sand.

Yours,
A Large Ratepayer.

OBITUARY

Mrs. (Dr.) Cameron.

Mrs. Nora A., wife of Dr. G. S. Cameron, passed away yesterday morning at the family residence, corner of Stewart and Charlotte streets. The late Mrs. Cameron was a daughter of Mr. J. H. West, Yarter, Ont., where she spent her school days until she entered the Ladies' College at Kingston. In September, 1897, she was married to Dr. Cameron and took up her residence in Omemee, removing to Peterborough a few years later. For the last three years Mrs. Cameron has been in poor health. The last year she spent at Saranac Lake, N.Y., where it was hoped she would be benefitted. The disease from which she suffered precluded the hope of ultimate recovery, tuberculosis being the cause of her illness. A pathetic feature of her illness was the removal of Dr. Cameron to the Isolation Hospital some weeks ago, from whence he only returned last Wednesday. Mrs. Cameron was greatly beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, and her demise will be sincerely regretted by many. She bore her sufferings with heroic fortitude and in the assurance of future happiness.

It is needless to say that the whole community sympathize with Dr. Cameron in his bereavement.

The funeral will take place to-morrow morning and will be private. Friends are requested not to send flowers.

Mrs. Adeline Murray.

The death occurred yesterday morning of Adeline Murray, at the age of 86 years. She passed away at the home of her son, Mr. William Murray, 378 MacDonnell street. The deceased was a consistant member of the George street Methodist Church, and was highly esteemed by all who knew her.

Those surviving are two sons, J. D. Carl, Stirling, and Wm. Murray of this city, and two daughters, Mrs. Hugh Gibbs and Mrs. Lindsay, both of this city.

The funeral will take place at ten o'clock this morning from the residence of her son, Wm. Murray, 378 MacDonnell street, proceeding to the Little Lake cemetery for interment. Rev. I. Couch officiating.

For soreness of the muscles whether induced by violent exercise or injury, Chamberlain's Liniment is excellent. This liniment is also highly esteemed for the relief it affords in cases of rheumatism. Sold by all dealers.

MR. W. H. DENHAM ON INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER

As a Member of Special Committee Appointed to Look After the Office He is Able to Endorse the Work Done by Mr. Duggan During His Year Here.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—While I am averse to continuing the newspaper controversy, regarding the Industrial Commissioner, Mr. Duggan, I feel that in justice to the Board of Trade and to myself, it might be well to define my position in the matter, as a reason for the activity I have shown in endeavouring to have the re-appointment of Mr. Duggan considered by the Council.

I wish to state in the first place, that I have not advocated the reappointment of Mr. Duggan for reasons of personal friendship, although I have no reason to count Mr. Duggan as anything but a friend. At the beginning of last year, the Board of Trade appointed a committee, consisting of Mr. D. Hughes Charles, Mr. J. H. Larmonth, Mr. W. H. Moore, Mr. Daniel O'Connell, Mr. Peter Campbell and myself to engage an Industrial Commissioner, to outline and supervise his duties and to also supervise the expenditure of the money appropriated by the City Council and collected from the citizens. The fact that I was appointed on this committee led me to use my best efforts and interests towards a beneficial result for the city of Peterborough, and in doing this, I have spent considerable time and effort and I feel that I have worked as hard to accomplish satisfactory results as any committee of the Council has worked on any other subject in the line of work they had taken up, and towards the close of the Industrial Commissioner's year, we felt that Mr. Duggan had proved himself competent, that he had done a great amount of good work and that while only two industries had been located in Peterborough, still the preliminary work he had done and the prospective propositions, which are still in the course of correspondence, would result in several industries for Peterborough the coming year. This opinion was reached from the fact that we were actively engaged in looking after the office and were well posted on just what Mr. Duggan had done, and therefore, our recommendation to the Council to re-appoint Mr. Duggan

THREE BLIND MICE

DYING HEROES CARED FOR EACH OTHER TO THE LAST

SUFFERED INTENSE HARDSHIPS—GUIDE CARTER WAS COMPLETELY LOST AND DID NOT KNOW ONE RIVER FROM ANOTHER.

Diary of Inspector Fitzgerald of N.W.M.P. and His Will, Written With Burnt Twigs, Reach Ottawa—"God Bless All," He Wrote.

Ottawa, May 17.—The diary of Inspector Fitzgerald, who with Mounted Constables Kenney, Taylor and Carter, lost his life while travelling from Fort McPherson to Dawson city last February, along with his will, written with a burnt twig on a scrap of paper, has been received by the authorities here. It was forwarded by Corporal Dempster, who found the bodies. The will concluded "God bless all."

The report of Corporal Dempster, who commanded the relief party, which discovered the bodies of Fitzgerald and his comrades, is also to hand in an account of the expedition prepared by Commander A. Bowen Perry, of Regina. Corporal Dempster relates that the search party discovered Inspector Fitzgerald's dispatch bag and a parcel of mail evidently cached by the officer about 50 miles from Fort MacPherson in order to lighten his load. Later, tents, dog harness, and other equipment were found and in the bush the bodies of Constables Kenney and Taylor, the former of whom had apparently died of starvation. Near them was a camp kettle half full of pieces of moose hide, of which they had been making a stew. About ten miles further on the bodies of Inspector Fitzgerald and Constable Carter were discovered. Carter had evidently died first, for he was lying on his back with his hands crossed on his breast and a handkerchief over his face.

A PATHETIC WILL.

Fitzgerald's will was evidently drawn as he laid beside the dead body of Carter, whom he had expected to lead the party to safety.

The will bequeathed his papers and property to his mother, who lives in Halifax, and concluded with the words "God bless all."

Fitzgerald was in Ottawa two years ago, and Col. White at that date did not wish to send him back to his post. He preferred to return, however, and was sent back with his commission. He had been selected as one of the Mounted Police to go to the Coronation and on his return from England he would not have gone back to the North-West. "The pitiful thing," said Col. White, "is that poor Fitzgerald had been engaged for eleven years to a Halifax girl. He was about 40 years of age.

CARTER COMPLETELY LOST.

The entry of January 17th, read as follows:

"23 below. Fine in the morning, with strong south-west wind, which turned to a gale in the evening. Did not break camp. Sent Carter and Kinney off at 7 a.m. to follow a river going south by a little east; they returned at 3.30 p.m., and reported that it ran right up in the mountains and Carter said that it was not the right river. I left at 8 a.m. and followed a river running south, but could not see any cuttings on it. Carter is completely lost and does not know one river from another.

"We have now only ten pounds of flour and eight pounds of bacon and some dried fish. My last hope is gone, and the only thing I can do is return and kill some of the dogs to feed the others and ourselves, unless we can meet some Indians. We have now been a week looking for a river to take us over the divide, but there are dozens of rivers, and I am at a loss. I should not have taken Carter's word that he knew the way from Little Wind River."

This is the true explanation of the catastrophe. It is evident that Inspector Fitzgerald had relied upon ex-Constable Carter as a guide to Dawson. The explanation of this is that Inspector Fitzgerald in 1905-6 went from Dawson to MacPherson, following the original route of the Dawson-MacPherson patrol. That was up the McQuesten River, across the divide to the Wind River and down to the Peel River. The new route which has been followed for some years was up Twelve-Mile Creek Blackstone River, Hart River, across Hart River divide into Forest Creek, then down the Little Wind River and on to its junction with the Wind River. Therefore Inspector Fitzgeralds knew the way from Fort MacPherson to the junction of the Little Wind and the Wind River; from that point on he was relying upon ex-Constable Carter.

INTENSE HARDSHIPS.

At the time that the party turned back they were about 264 miles from Fort MacPherson and 211 from Dawson. They had travelled from December 21, 1910, until January 17, 1911, continuously, with only one day off, a distance of 340 miles. From January 18, to February 5, on which date the last entry is made, they travelled 230 miles. The entries in the diary are not very full, but some are very suggestive of the hardships that they were undergoing; the trail was exceptionally heavy, and they were breaking through ice, getting wet and the cold was intense. On January 24, it says: "Killed another dog, and all hands made a good meal of dog meat." On the 26th of January "The going was very heavy, in deep snow, and the hands and dogs getting wet." January 30: "All hands feeling sick, supposed to be from eating dogs' livers." January 31: "Skin peeling off our faces and bodies and lips all swollen and split. Suppose this is caused by feeding on dog meat; everybody feeling the cold very much for want of proper food." February 1: "Killed another dog to-night. This makes eight dogs We have killed, and we have eaten most of them and fed dead fish to the dogs." February 3: "Men and dogs very thin and weak and cannot travel far. We have travelled about 200 miles on dog meat and have still about 100 miles to go, but I think we will make it all right, but will have only three or four dogs left."

THE LAST ENTRY.

February 5 (the last entry): "Just after noon I broke through the ice, and had to make a fire; found one foot slightly frozen. Killed another dog to-night; have only five dogs now and can only go a few miles a day; everybody breaking out on the body and skin peeling off." The last entry was evidently made while the party was proceeding down Trail River to Peel River.

Corporal Dempster, who commanded the relief party, when he found the camps they had made were so close together, began to fear the worst. At Colin's Cabin he found the mail and despatch bag which had been cached there. On March 21, about 3 miles below the portage on the Peel River, he found the bodies of Constables Kinsey and Taylor. There was a camp kettle half full of moose hide which had been boiled for soup. The two men lay side by side, the fire being at their feet. Each lay on his back. Probably Kinney had died first, and Taylor felt there was no hope of relief.

They had three Alaska sleeping bags, one under and two over them. Constable Taylor evidently committed suicide by blowing the top off his head off. It is quite probable that he had become insane with the terrible hardships which he had undergone.

Inspector Fitzgerald had concluded evidently that these men were too weak to travel through, and left them all the camp equipment they had and, with Carter, pushed on towards Fort MacPherson with the hope of getting relief to send back. About ten miles further, he and Constable Carter yielded up their lives. Carter succumbed first, and was laid out by Inspector Fitzgerald, who probably died shortly afterwards.

The explanation of the limited amount of rations taken by the party is that they expected to make a very quick trip, and did not want to load themselves too heavily, and confidently looked forward to receiving food from Indians along the route to Dawson. Had they succeeded in crossing the Hart River divide it is altogether probable they would have encountered some Indians, as game is much more plentiful on the west side than on the east side.

Undoubtedly disaster overtook this party because they lost the trail from Little Wind River. Had they had an efficient guide they would have crossed to Dawson in safety. The Indian Esau whom they employed a few days, is the Indian who reached Dawson later on, and on whose report the relief party was sent out. Had the party turned back as soon as they lost the trail they would have reached Fort MacPherson. Seven days were spent in useless searching, consuming provisions, and exhausting men and dogs. The precious seven days would have carried them back to safety.

Deadly Consumption Starts from Catarrh

Thousands Think Catarrh is Cold, Neglect It and Die.

Last year forty per cent. of all the deaths were from consumption. These people all had catarrh in the first place, but neglected it.

Can't you realize the awful horrible mistake of not curing catarrh now?

To thoroughly root out all taints of Catarrh, nothing can act so beneficially as "Catarrhozone," which is acknowledged by all doctors to be a specific for all forms of Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, throat, nose and chest ailments.

The reasons why Catarrhozone cures when other treatments fail are very simple. In the first place Catarrhozone reaches the true source of the disease. Very few, if any, of the ordinary cures can do this. Catarrhozone is carried along with the air you breathe through the mouth, throat and bronchial tubes. Its antiseptic vapor at once kills any germs that may be lurking in these air passages. No matter how remote these germs may be they can't possibly escape Catarrhozone; it goes everywhere the air you breath goes, and no air cell or air passage can escape its healing influence. The strong point about Catarrhozone is its ability to go direct to the spot where the catarrh germ is working. Every breath through the inhaler means instant death to the microbes, and gives the sufferer relief from the gnawing, destructive action of these parasites. It must be remembered, also, that Catarrhozone is a marvelous healer. It soothes the inflamed membranes, patches up the little sore spots, and removes the sensitive, tender feeling from the nose and throat. Of course, the discharge of mucus stops at once, Catarrhozone prevents this entirely.

Another nasty symptom that quickly disappears is the dropping of vile discharge from the throat into the stomach. Catarrhozone clears out the nostrils so that you don't have to breathe through the mouth. Hawking and spitting stop because the discharge is cleared up. The blinding headache that is caused by nothing else than catarrh is also lifted from your burden, and life begins to look happy once more.

Complete treatment including beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler, and extra supply of liquid, costs $1.00 and is guaranteed to cure or your money back. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c, at all druggists, or by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

THE NEW JAPANESE TREATY.

The text of the new treaty of commerce and navigation between Great Britain and Japan, issued by the Foreign Office, shows that Japan has extended to Great Britain a considerable reduction in her new tariff on certain important classes of manufactured articles, many textile and iron and steel goods, which are of first importance to British exporters to Japan. The new tariff comes into operation on July 17, next year.

In the case of cotton tissues of the classes which specially interest British trade, the new duties on grey tissues are reduced by proportions varying from one-third to one-fourth, with consequential reductions on other kinds; in the case of the more important classes of tissues of pure wool, the deduction varies from a quarter to a fifth; in that of tissues of wool and cotton mixed, and of linen yarns, by about one-fifth; in that of certain classes of iron and steel plates and sheets, including galvanized sheets and tinned plates, the difference between the new Japanese tariff and the tariff to be charged on such merchandise to British manufacturers, under the new treaty, varies from two-ninths to two-fifths; the rate on pig iron is lessened by one-sixth; and in the case of paints, by one-third. The imports of these articles from the United Kingdom into Japan are valued at about three and a half million pounds per annum, or over 80 per cent. of the imports of the like articles from all sources.

In return for these valuable concessions it is granted to Japan that certain articles of her manufacture shall still, as now to all, be allowed free entry. These articles ten in number—include certain silk stuffs, unwrought copper, plaiting of straw, camphor and camphon oil, bamboo ware, rush mats and matting, lacquered wares, rape seed oil and cloisonne wares. The values of the articles imported into the United Kingdom from Japan is about two and a quarter million pounds per annum.

Under article 8 of the Treaty, should either contracting party desire to make a modification in their preferential schedule, negotiations may be entered into forthwith; and if in six months no settlement is arrived at the party which gave notice of revision should then be free to give a further six months notice to terminate the tariff article separately without prejudice to the other stipulations of the treaty. The existing treaty with Japan, which became operative in 1894, falls through on July 16, 1911. This new treaty comes into force the following day, and will remain in force until July 16, 1923.

Count Komura, Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs, gave a dinner in Tokio, which was attended by Sir Claude Macdonald, the British Ambassador, the members of the British Embassy, and a number of Japanese notables, to celebrate the Anglo-Japanese alliance. Count Komura delivered a speech, in which he said that the alliance had well fulfilled its purposes, and was capable of still greater good in its chosen field of activity. They were looking to the future to extend their mutual hospitality with high hopes and confident expectations, because they would draw support and encouragement from the treaty of commerce just concluded. The Minister added that he desired to drink to the alliance and to the success of the commercial treaty as an auxiliary to it. Sir Claude Macdonald replied in similar terms.

Mr. Denham on Industrial Commissioner

was in absolute good faith, believing first, that it would be difficult to obtain a better man; secondly that the preliminary education which Mr. Duggan has received would be saved to the city. I, therefore, felt that the recommendation of this committee should have been recognized in some form, as should also have been the recommendation by the Merchants Association, the recommendation of the number of citizens, who appeared at a meeting held in the Council Chambers Tuesday, May 9th, and the recommendation from the Profession and the Manufacturers.

In all the arguments used against Mr. Duggan, nothing has been substantiated beyond the fact that he was instrumental in having Mr. Beck give an address before a number of citizens in Peterborough, and I look on his action in this matter as following out the instructions of the committee, who outlined his duties, one of which was that he was to obtain all information possible, regarding the advisability of purchasing or developing power for the municipality. In obtaining this information, he simply did as any other efficient occupant of the Industrial Commissioner's office should have done in order to make good with the organization under whose employ he was. He was keen and zealous in the carrying on of this work and if there is any blame attached to the fact that the information was made public it must attach to the Board of Trade. I feel also that certain points in connection with this Industrial Commissionship are being overlooked, one of which is that Mr. Duggan was in the employ of the Board of Trade and under their control, secondly that the Board of Trade is an organization of citizens, and while not elective, they do, to a great extent, represent the citizenship of Peterborough, and their actions have always been strictly in the interests of Peterborough, and it was not the intention in any way to detract from the dignity of the Council, nor to do anything, which would embarass them, but being an organization for the purpose, as stated above, I feel that they were strictly within their rights as citizens to obtain any information they liked on any subject, and that looking at the matter in a broad-minded way, the Council should not have felt ignored.

The fact that the Hydro-Electric report was published has not, in my opinion, prejudiced in any manner the interests of the city, inasmuch as the Hydro-Electric reports were open to inspection by the owners of the several powers mentioned therein, and in addition to this, I am informed on good authority, that the principal power mentioned, namely, the Otonabee Power Company, had previously obtained a report through Mr. C. H Keefer, Ross & Holgate, Mr. W. J. Francis, all of whom are of the highest standing as consulting engineers, and whose opinion will carry equal weight with the engineers working in the interests of the HydroElectric, therefore, the keeping secret of the contents of this report would not have aided the Council in any manner in their negotiations for these powers.

I took the matter up with His Worship Mayor Morrow the other day, endeavouring to satisfy myself what there was against Mr. Duggan, in addition to the publication of the Hydro-Electric report and learned of several criticisms. As the matter now stands, Mr. Duggan tells me that he did not notify the people of Peterborough that the Hydro-Electric report would be read, secondly, that he did not insist on its publication, and thirdly, that the asking for the Hydro-Electric report by the City Council was a continuation of his line of work, in obtaining the information, as the only way in which he could obtain the services of the Hydro-Electric Commission, was through an application b ya municipality. I advised Mr. Morrow at the time I was in conference with him, that if certain criticisms, which were made against Mr. Duggan, could be substantiated, that I would retire from his support, but until they were substantiated that I felt I had no reason to change my opinion, as to Mr. Duggan being an efficient and competent official, and well worth the support and confidence of the citizens of Peterborough. For this reason, I have continued to be active in recommending the reconsideration by the Council, feeling that their decision was made on the strength of information, which had been grossly exaggerated, and that a decision on those grounds was unfair to Mr. Duggan, was unfair to the Board of Trade, was unfair to the Merchants' Association, was unfair to the professional interests, was unfair to the Manufacturers' Association, and was unfair to those who had subscribed towards the support of the office for the past year, and also unfair to the ratepayers of Peterborough, who indirectly paid the $2,000 subscribed by the Council. I earnestly believe that on a reconsideration of the question in its full light, that the seeming discrepancies in statements will be cleared up, leaving but the one point of the Hydro-Electric report being made public, and as regards this, I do not feel that the citizens of Peterborough will find any great fault with the fact of the report having been published. As stated above, the information read in this report was open to inspection by the owners of any of the properties, which the report affects, and therefore, the fact of its not being published, would not have aided the Council in reaching any better terms with these owners.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,
Yours truly,
W. H. DENHAM.

RECORD RAINFALLS

The Past Year in Great Britain Goes Down to Posterity as One of the Wettest of Seasons

The autumn and winter of 1910 seem to have gone down to posterity as record wet seasons. Not since the days when Noah gathered them in two by two has there been so much wrath directed against the Clerk of the Weather. And not without reason. The average rainfall for the last twenty-five years, for the last three months of the year has been 8.44 inches. The average had been exceeded in 1910 when December was a fortnight old. During the thirteen weeks ending December 12th, 1909, there were 301 hours of sunshine and but 3½ inches of rain. Last year for a similiar period there were 8¼ inches of rain and but 237 hours of sunshine; and for three weeks of that period "King Sol" shone for four an a half hours only.

The significance of an inch of rain may be gathered from the fact that it is equal to 100 tons of water for every acre, or 64,000 tons for every square mile. From the beginning of October to the middle of December about 8 inches of rain had fallen in the Thames Valley, which meant that the Thames in just over two months had to negotiate a downfall of water equal to 1,951,744,000 tons, which would fill a channel 5,000 miles long, 10 feet deep, and 250 feet wide. The Thames Valley covers an area of 3,812 square miles, so that a fall of one inch over the whole valley is equal to 243,968,000 tons of water, which has been calculated to equal a river 10 feet deep, 250 feet wide, and 1,000 miles long. It is computed that the weight of rain that falls in the Old Country in the course of a year averages 3,000 tons to every acre, and, as there are 77,143,938 acres in the United Kingdom, this computation shows us that 231,431,814,000 tons of rain fall on its surface in the course of twelve months.

One of the heaviest rainfalls yet recorded in the British Isles was 2.24 inches in 40 minutes in Forfarshire, during a severe thunderstorm on June 18th, 1887. On August 1st, 1846, 3.12 inches fell in 2 hours, 17 minutes at Camberwell, London. Of heavy falls during one day the following might be mentioned: Ben Nevis Observatory, 7.39 inches, on October 3rd, 1890; Newport, Wales, 5.33 inches, July 14th, 1875; and Camusinas, Argyllshire, 5.60 inches, January 24th, 1868.

Farming Prospects Good.

Winnipeg, May 17.—Early in the week the crop was reported as ninety per cent seeded with the seed bed in excellent condition though in need of moisture to some extent. General precipitation throughout the West has removed all danger of harm through dry weather and the 1911 crop should be another record breaker.

C.P.R. Western Shops.

Winnipeg, May 17.—The Canadian Pacific Railway are extending the capacity of their large Winnipeg shops which now employs two thousand five hundred hands, by one-third. This will mean a large expenditure of capital and will afford employment for several hundred more men.

LABOR EXCHANGES.

So vital to the future of this country is the question of the proper distribution of immigrants, and the placing of the unemployed in fields where they are most needed, that our students of social economics might do well to take note of success in Great Britain of an act passed a little over a year ago creating a central and district labor exchanges.

This act was based on the belief that while employment agencies do not create any demand for labor, they do aid properly in adjusting the supply and demand, and so it was decided to establish governmental labor agencies that should seek to provide work for all applicants, and send them, if necessary with money advanced by the State, to the place where their services were most needed.

In operation little more than a year the report of these agencies in Great Britain has come to us quite recently. From this report it would seem that employers of labor freely sought the aid of these governmental agencies and have found them markedly useful. Employers made about 450,000 applications for labor, and of those 370,000 were filled. The number of applicants for employment at all the labor exchanges average 100,000.

Naturally, more unskilled than skilled workmen find employment through these exchanges, and many of the unskilled laborers have to find employment away from home. Where this was the case, the money necessary to transport the laborer to the place was advanced to him, to be repaid out of his wages. So successful have been these governmental agencies, that trades unions, school authorities and commercial bodies are heartily co-operating with the exchanges, and it seems probable that their number will be materially increased before long.

In Canada some such plan has been advocated, and with the example of Great Britain before us, we should hope that some practical step might be taken to establish similar agencies here. The present employment agencies found in every large city are in many cases ineffectual, and in some cases, markedly dishonest, so that laborers, especially aliens, are frequently misled and often defrauded.

Always at certain large centers of population, there is a horde of unemployed, while at the same time the harvest fields are suffering from want of workmen. It would be the work of governmental exchanges to correct this ill, and it is hard to imagine anything that will add more to the prosperity and general welfare of the country than such agencies properly supervised and managed.

WILL START ON OLIVER CHARGE

Ottawa, May. 16.—The special committee of the Commons to whom the Oliver charges were referred will hold its first session to-morrow. There is, however, small probability of anything more than organization taking place. Mr. A. H. Clarke, K.C., will be elected chairman. The list of witnesses to be called will also be submitted, but the formal inquiry will have to go over until the reassembling of the House in July.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

A DANGEROUS HANDFUL

Alligator Hunting Not a Suitable Occupation for Timid

That one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives is a good deal truer than some people imagine. There are dozens of strange ways of earning a living which those following the more common-place occupations never dream of. Among these surely alligator catching is one on the strangest.

The commercial value of these strange reptiles is, of course, their skins, and for this reason quite a small army of men hunt them regularly in the tropical regions among the rivers and swamps of the Nile and Ganges. They live to a great age—some are known to be 500 years old, and by the tremendous strength which they can exert when occasion calls for it, one would imagine that the older they live the stronger they grow.

Besides an unusual amount of pluck and resource in handling the alligator, one needs to have a keen eye and a sharp hand. For holding shut the jaws of an alligator one and a half times your own length is life with the joy left in; trying to hold those same jaws open is experience gained too late to be of use. And the alligator in its native land is not as it appears to be at the Zoo, a sleepy and slow-moving creature, but very quick and lively in all its movements.

NOT A HENRY VIII.

A Good Story in Which Bonar Law Figured

As his name indicates, Mr. Andrew Bonar Law, M.P., who has completed his fifty-second year, is a Scot. However, he can also claim to be a Canadian, for he first saw the light in the Dominion, his father being the Rev. James Law, M.A., of New Brunswick. Mr. Bonar Law first entered Parliament in 1900. At a demonstration in Glasgow he referred to Mr. Balfour's attitude on the fiscal question. He pointed out that "the English people love a compromise," and instanced the course taken by Henry VIII. at the time of the Reformation, whereupon the following question was handed up to be answered: "Is the candidate aware that Mr. Balfour is a bachelor, and that Henry VIII. was much the reverse?" "Yes," replied the candidate, "but possibly Mr. Balfour might not be a bachelor if he could be sure of getting rid of his wives as easily as Henry VIII."

HOW A LICK SAVED A LICKING

Daniel Webster was frequently punished when a boy for appearing at school with dirty hands. On one occasion it occurred to him as he was nearing the school that his hands were hardly likely to pass muster, and having no other means of cleaning them, proceeded to lick one of them as clean as he could. On reaching school he was interrogated as to the condition of his hands, both of which were carefully concealed behind him, whereupon he produced the cleaner of the two for the inspection of the master.

"Daniel," said the master sternly, "if you can find a dirtier hand than that in all the school, I'll let you off."

The answer was immediate.

"Here it is, sir," said Daniel, and with the exclamation he produced the dirtier hand from behind his back.

"FAKING UP" OLD BIRDS

Dealers Use Potash and Other Chemicals for the Purpose

According to a Paris contemporary, one of the inspectors under the French Department of Agriculture has discovered a new system of fraud perpetrated in the markets by some of the wholesale dealers. The plan is to sell old and barely eatable partridges for young birds. The young birds carry at the tip of the wing some white spots, which disappear as the birds increase in age. To sell the veteran birds as young the dealers have impressed the services of the chemist—and what is it that the chemist is unable to do?—so with the judicious application of potash, or some other chemical, the old birds are given the appearance of youth. For the chemist's embellishment the consumer has to pay about fifteen pence more than he would for the birds in a state of nature unadorned.

A ROSEBERY ROMANCE

To those who love romance, the romantic and unusual episode in the life of one of Lord Rosebery's ancestors will appeal. It occurred in the eighteenth century, when the young Lord Dalmeny was a young man. He fell in love with a very pretty girl, and eventually a secret marriage was contracted. The pair spent their honeymoon on the Continent, and the bride becoming seriously ill, confessed that she was the wife of the Rector of Thorpe, from whom she had run away. Dying shortly afterwards, her husband had her body embalmed with a view to bringing it to England for burial. However, the Customs House officials opened the case in which the grim burden was packed, and it was only to avoid a far more serious tragedy that the truth was made known. The body was eventually buried at Thorpe in the presence of both "husbands."

VANCOUVER

THE METROPOLIS OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Where fortunes are being made by investment, which cannot be equalled anywhere else in Canada. The position that Vancouver occupies, the same on the Pacific, as Montreal occupies on the Atlantic, also the fact that Vancouver is an open port the whole year round, means beyond a possible doubt, that Vancouver will be the greatest city in the Dominion.

Vancouver is the only gateway to the Orient from the whole of Canada, which demonstrates that this will be the greatest Canadian shipping port, owing to the enormous development of western Canada. This together with the fact that the immense wealth of the natural resources of the province of British Columbia, its timber,: fisheries, fruit, coal and other minerals, must make it clear, that you can invest your money here to better advantage than elsewhere.

Vancouver offers to-day, the opportunity of a life time for both the small and the large investor, and if you will act on our advice we will positively guarantee to make returns for you that will surprise you. We have a reputation that we are proud of, and can furnish the very best references. Do not delay, write us at once.

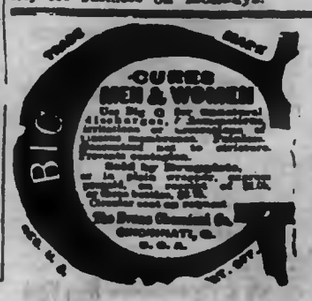
New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the WaWa hotel, Britannia, Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.



AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

HOPE OF WALES

Mr. Lloyd George on the Religious Activity of the Day

Lloyd George, in opening a bazaar in Wales, in which Mrs. Lloyd George is president, said of late he had had some experience of extracting money, and he hoped the promoters of that bazaar would not meet with his difficulties, and that their efforts would not arouse resentment, as he seemed to have done, among the customers at his little bazaar. (Laughter).

Within recent years, he said, he had motored more than ever through the sterile and wild parts of Wales, across great mountain moors, with hardly a habitation in sight, perhaps only a shepherd's cot, but he has never gone very far without seeing a little chapel somewhere or other in the wilderness. (Hear, hear.)

"I am also struck by the way Nonconformity is dealing with the rapid changes which are taking place, not so much in the character of the population as in its training and outlook. There are two conditions in the life of Wales which contain elements of peril to the spiritual life of any nation. One is the great access of material prosperity and the other is the enormous improvement in the educational outfit and facilities of the people. Both are full of peril to the spiritual life of the people unless they are properly dealt with, and unless measures are adapted of utilizing them.

"For all the education was very much like carrying a lamp in the darkness. It illumined all the immediate vicinity, enabling one to see everything that was near with greater clearness, but it was very apt to darken the vastness around. At the great centres of learning on the Continent students saw material things with greater clearness, and thus for a moment darkened or thickened the darkness of impenetrable mysteries around them. Nonconformity realised the perils. Its ministry had become a better trained and educated one, and one which was quite adequate to cope with the new generation which was springing up in Wales with an intellectual awakening which was on of the greatest features of its national life at the present moment. These were things that filled the heart of anyone loving Wales with a great sense of hope and of confidence as to the future of the country." (Cheers.)

FELT GUILTY

A smart looking gentleman carrying a bag was accosted by a boy near a London railway-station.

"Carry your bag, sir?"

"No, thank you."

"Carry it to the station for five cents, sir."

The gentleman replied again:

"No thank you."

"Carry it for two cents, sir?" questioned the boy.

Again the reply came:

"No, thank you."

Whereupon the youngster got into the road, and shouted at the top of his voice three or four times:

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself to ask me to carry that heavy bag to the station for a cent."

And the scornful glances of the crowd made the gentleman feel quite guilty.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

"See here, waiter," said Mr. Grouch, scowling deeply over his plate, "I ordered turtle soup. There is not even a morsel of turtle flavor in this!"

"Of course not," returned the waiter. "What do you expect? Shakespeare said there was nothing in a name. If you ordered cottage pudding would you expect a cottage in it? In Manchester pudding would you look for a ship canal, or a cotton exchange? Any tea, sir?"

HE SPECULATED

The banker dismounted at a certain place and got a small boy to hold his horse. Returning in ten minutes, he was surprised to find another—smaller—boy standing at the horse's head.

"How is this?" he said. "You are not the boy I left my horse with."

"No, sir," replied the youngster. "I speculated, and bought off the other fellow for a cent."

SIGHT REGAINED

Miraculous Recovery of Blind Carpenter of Frome, England—His Faith Was Rewarded

Totally blind for twenty-five years, William Stone, a carpenter, of Frome, England, has just recovered the sight of one of his eyes in a manner little short of miraculous.

He met with an accident nearly thirty years ago which destroyed the left eye, and later the sight of the remaining eye began to fail. Stone sought advice in turn at Bristol, Bath, and the London Ophthalmic hospitals, but soon the world became dark for him, and he was blind.

Almost everybody in Frome knows the blind man Stone, and his recovery has left the town agape with astonishment, for the manner of it is the most surprising thing possible. While washing his face, his finger came into rough contact with the eye. He cried out, but the note of pain changed suddenly to that of joy, for at that instant Stone was able to see his hand. He was soon able to distinguish various objects in the room before he collapsed, overcome by the shock of his sudden restoration to the light.

He still has some difficulty in recognising persons, but he is able to read the advertisements on a hoarding on the other side of the street, and has seen a motor-car for the first time.

"I was able to look my wife in the face again," he said to an interviewer. "I have never ceased to trust in God, and my faith has been rewarded. Henceforth my life will be one long thanksgiving."

NINETY "NOT OUT"

"If I had my life to live over again I would, without hesitation, be a Free Church minister. There never was such golden opportunity for the man with a Christian message as to-day." Thus Dr. Guinness Rogers, the veteran preacher, orator, and politician, who recently entered upon his ninety-first year. Dr. Rogers has a ministerial record of sixty-five years and is the oldest surviving ex-Chairman of the Congregational Union. And, in spite of his great age, his voice is still as clear as a bell, and his energy amazing. Needless to say he has some interesting recollections, and can look back to the time when there was hardly a daily paper in the provinces. In the house of his father, a minister, they had to be satisfied with a weekly journal which cost five-pence a copy. To-day, as he once remarked, porters pitch out of an empty train more newspapers than were taken in a whole town seventy years ago.

LAME BACK

Just the Sort of Case That Proves to the World That the Best Liniment Ever Made Is

NERVILINE.

When it comes to determining the real merit of a medicine, no weight of evidence is more convincing than the straightforward statement of some reliable and well-known person that has been cured. For this reason we print the verbatim statement of Juan E. Powell, written from his home in Carleton. "I am a strong, powerful man, six feet tall, and weigh nearly two hundred. have been accustomed all my life to LETTER lift great weight, but NO. one day I overdid it, 4769. and wrenched my back badly. Every tendon and muscle was sore. To stoop or bend was agony. I had a whole bottle of Nerviline rubbed on in one day, and by night I was well again. I know of no liniment possessing one-half the penetration and pain-subduing properties of Nerviline. I urge its use strongly as an invaluable liniment and household cure for all minor ailments, such as strains, sprains, swellings, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, rheumatism, and muscular pain."

No better medicine for curing pain was ever put in a bottle than Nerviline—over one million bottles used every year—better try it yourself. 25c or five for $1. At all dealers or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Being secretary of the board of Governors of the Wesleyan College. Dr. Young is well acquainted with educational matters.

Might Have Been Badly Crushed.

Mr. Fitzgerald, of Douro, who fell through to the basement of the Peterborough Hardware Co's. Store on Tuesday last, might easily have sustained worse injuries. The elevator operator was taking a barrel of oil to the basement, and the barrel happened to be upside down, so the boy stopped the elevator some distance from the ground in order that the barrel could be righted when he rolled it off. This was lucky for Mr. Fitzgerald who was lying unnoticed underneath the elevator, for had the barrel been right side up the operator would have undoubtedly lowered the elevator to the floor,, crushing the unfortunate man.

It is stated that Mr. Fitzgerald's condition is somewhat improved having regained consciousness yesterday morning.

Bryan Here To-Day.

Hon. W. J. Bryan, the great American orator, will arrive in the city this morning. He will be met at the station and driven to the residence of Hon. J. R. Stratton, where he will take a rest before luncheon, which will be given at the Y.M.C.A., after which he will, it is understood, be taken for a spin around the city. Mr. J. H. McClelhan, superintendent of the Trent Canal, has, we understand, placed the steamer, Bessie Butler at the disposal of the Reception Committee, and Mr. Bryan will probably be taken over the Lift Lock. In the evening, of course, he will speak in the Opera House.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

On account of the lecture by William Jennings Bryan to-night, the rehearsal of St. Paul's Church choir will be withdrawn.

While one of our local milk vendors was making his rounds amongst his customers yesterday, his horse took a notion to start off by himself, and proceeded on a brisk trot down George street until it was stopped at Charlotte street.

The latest thing in cheap shows is moving pictures that really talk. It looks as though the old-time theatre is doomed.

The Baker Lumber Company of Lindsay, has been allowed $15,000.00 damages by the C.P.R. for closing a street which afforded an entrance to their yards.

Tickets for the William Jennings Bryan lecture are selling like hot cakes. Mr. Bryan will arrive this morning and will be given a luncheon at noon by the Y.M.C.A. The lecture will take place this evening at the Opera House.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Interesting Events Transpiring in the Northern Part of the County.

Our friend, J. G. Hardill, representing T. Kennear & Co., of Peterborough, made his regular call Wednesday, 10th, and secured some good orders for his firm. Mr. Sherwood, traveller for the Hopwood Co., Limited, was also in the village. This was his first trip and expects to work up a good trade with the Apsley merchants.

F. E. Cory, representing Fotheringham and Workman, Montreal, made his quarterly visit Friday, 12th, and secured as usual good fat orders. R. J. Linden, agent for D. J. Barker & Co., Picton, dealers in Champion stoves and ranges was here the same day and arranged with a local merchant to handle their goods.

Forest fires are raging around Apsley, in fact all through Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos they are bad. A great deal of damage is being done. Quite a few of the farmers near here had their household goods packed ready for removing and some even had them on the waggon, but fortunately the fire passed by, though in several cases it was very close to the buildings.

Wednesday noon an alarm of fire came from Norman Leans and a quick run was made. A spark from the chimney had set fire to the roof. Fortunately it was on the north end. If it had been on the south end nothing would have saved the house from total destruction as the wind was blowing a gale from the southwest. There was plenty of water and willing hands soon had it under control. Norman wishes to thank the neighbors who so kindly assisted.

Things look pretty serious and unless we get heavy rains soon there will be great loss of property.

There was quite an enthusiastic feeling some time ago as to cleaning up and beautifying the village. Rakes and wheelbarrows were in demand. A good deal was done. Still, there is a lot more to do before the job is completed. Keep at it boys.

Monday morning the milk waggons were on time at the Apsley Cheese factory. Norman has everything in good shape and hopes to have a record season. Alfred Airriess having bought the whey is getting in a good stock of pigs.

Sandy having installed some new machinery in his mill is now prepared to do first class work in sawing, planing, &c.

Mr. Harry Wilson of Chandos, met with a very painful accident to-day, a large stone falling and catching his hand on another, bruised and tore the fingers badly. He had to come out to Dr. Bell to have it dressed.

The stork has been making several calls in this locality with the usual result. More names for the enumerators next month.

There was no quorum at the last meeting of the Wisdom Club. Meeting adjourned for two weeks to allow members to get their planting done.

The long looked for rain is falling to-night and the probs. are that there will be quite a good rainfall.

The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

The opening up of spring has brought the usual spring freshetts and news comes from Porcupine City that the district is flooded in many places. All the Townsites are flooded and row-boats are being used to get about except in the case of Porcupine City which on account of being some 50 feet above the surrounding country is free from water. Building operations are proceeding briskly as there is nothing to prevent getting around.

"Man-Power" and Food

It is customary to measure the capacity of motors, engines, etc., by the number of "Horse-power" they exert.

The motive power of modern industry, science and business is measured by "Man-power."

Modern tests show that the average meat-eater, contrary to the former belief, cannot begin to generate the power possessed by those who abstain from flesh-eating. Training classes at one of our great universities composed of young men who took meat in their training diet, which, they supposed, would increase their strength, could not, for example, hold their arms horizontal for more than fifteen minutes while it was a common thing for flesh-abstainers to hold the arms horizontal for more than an hour, with less pain and fatigue than the meat-eaters experienced in half that time.

This and similar scientific tests have opened up interesting and valuable researches in the nourishment of body, brain and nerves.

One objection to the three-times-a-day flesh diet is the excess consumption of "protein," which produces an over-balanced dietary—one in which the tissue-forming element is greatly in excess of the body needs. This results in a clogging up of the system with material which not only cannot be utilized by the body, but which tends to form uric acid and other poisonous matter, difficult to get rid of.

If there is an excess of such poisonous material, as above explained, the blood is loaded with it and the brain, nerves, and muscles do not receive "pure food" on the one hand, while the body powers are reduced by having to put forth extra exertion to remove or destroy the poison.

Grape-Nuts

with cream contains protein for tissue-repairs and not in excess. The food is sterilized by long baking; is partly predigested by changing a portion of the starch into dextrin and dextrose (grape-sugar) so that it is easily digested and quickly absorbed.

Made of whole wheat and barley, Grape-Nuts contains all of the food elements of these cereals, including the phosphate of potash (grown in the grain) which nature provides for combining with the albumin ("protein") in the food, to rebuild worn-out brain, nerve, and other tissue-cells of the body.

In "training" for sport or business success, Grape-Nuts food for breakfast, with good cream, a soft-boiled egg or two, some cooked fruit, all taken in moderation and with a peaceful mental attitude, will do more toward "putting you in form" than any other dietary yet discovered or devised.

VOL. XXXIV NO. 119 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, FRIDAY MAY 19 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

WILL CARRY THE WAR TO THE BITTER END

NO LET UP IN FIGHT AGAINST THE "NE TEMERE" DECREE.

To Foot of the Throne—Evangelical Alliance of Canada Will Follow Example of the Alliance in England.

Toronto, May 18.—That the war on the "Ne Temere" decree is to be carried, if necessary, to the foot of the throne of George V., was the announcement made by Rev. W. H. Hincks to a crowded mass meeting in the Bond street Congregational church last night, and cheered to the echo.

"Within a few hours the Evangelical Alliance of Canada will take its place on the firing line, as the Evangelical Alliance of England is doing," he declared. The latter body has notified the Pope that unless the decree is lifted in Britain there would be called together this fall the largest body of representative Christian leaders assembled since Cromwell's time, and they would carry their case to the throne. In Canada the interdenominational body would meet and send a monster deputation to ask Sir Wilfrid Laurier to act.

"Shall homes be broken up for purely ecclesiastical reasons, and the men who break them up go unpunished?" This, said Dr. Hincks, was the real issue, and he would like to see some editorials on that point. Some editorial utterances had clouded the issue by making it seem a private matter.

In Italy it has been made an offence for any man to declare invalid a marriage celebrated according to civil laws.

"What we want," declared Dr. Hincks, "is so to harmonize British law with Italian law that that type of men shall be sent to prison. (Applause.) Will you let a man live outside a Canadian prison who says that such a marriage union as yours is invalid because he who has never felt the love of a woman was not present at the marriage? (Cries of "No, No.") Will you allow him insidiously and secretly to break that tie which the civil law says is indissoluble through time and eternity?" (Renewed cries, "No, never.")

"The father of any family who through listening to a priest, breaks up his home and puts his wife on the street and sends his daughters out into the cold world should be treated as a common criminal and should be punished with the priest who was the means of breaking up the home and is equally criminal."

Dr. Hincks, who is a graduate in law, quoted legal authorities to show that the Quebec Legislature had exceeded its powers and overridden the B.N.A. Act to frame its laws so that marriages between Roman Catholics were not legal unless performed by priests.

TO URGE POLICY THAT WILL AVERT DANGERS TO IMPERIAL UNITY

London, May 18.—An important memorandum has been issued by the tariff commission, dealing with the problems of the Empire which will have to be discussed at the forthcoming Imperial conference.

It deals with the complications which have arisen through the reciprocity negotiations, and with the urgency of the adoption at the conference of a policy to avert the dangers to Imperial unity threatened by those developments.

The memorandum insists that preference is indispensable to any policy of closer union of the Empire.

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK, KILLS TWO AND WOUNDS EIGHT

New York, May 18.—John Cain, the big negro who ran amuck with a razor last night on the upper West Side and killed two men and wounded eight others, has admitted, the police say, that he is the man who killed Richard Ball, a newspaper man on Broadway, 11 years ago. Ball's slayer said that he killed his man for stepping on his toes. Cain went wild last night when a white passenger on the platform of an elevated train objected to his smoking. Cain said that he was sentenced to 14 years at Sing Sing for killing Ball and released a few weeks ago after serving between nine and ten years, his term being shortened for good behaviour.

The two who died in the hospital late last night covered with slashes from Cain's razor were John Hall, of Weehawken, N.J., and Saxon Surrell, of Manhattan. Chancey de Graff, a policeman, and August Leiban are in serious condition and may die. Cain himself has a bullet through his lungs but probably will get well.

Too Hoarse to Speak

An American Doctor Tells of the Grand Results Achieved With "Nerviline."

"I had a patient with Quinsy that I found great difficulty in curing," states Dr. Wilson. "Every time he caught cold or got chilled he suffered intensely from sore throat, hushiness, throat and chest soreness. After every attack his throat and chest seemed more sensitive. This patient lived in the country, and couldn't come to the city for treatment. I concluded that the best remedy would be an honest liniment and because of its enormous sale and well-known merit, I advised 'Nerviline.' Morning, noon and night Nerviline was rubbed over the neck and chest, and once a day diluted with water it was used as a gargle. In a day or two my patient reported, an improvement, and by continuing the treatment with Nerviline he was cured. I can recommend Nerviline for breaking up colds, for chest tightness, throat inflammation, quinsy, tonsilitis and similar conditions."

PAVE THE STREETS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If Peterboro is to get rid of the dirty, filthy streets, and awful dust, she will have to do as other cities are doing, and commence a system of paving. Let us begin with George street, from the C. P. R. station to Smith street. Then take Water and Aylmer streets, the former from the market square north to Smith, and the latter from say King street to London. Then do Hunter-street from Queen to Aylmer and the same with Brock, Simcoe and Charlotte-streets. This would give the business section a neat, clean and tidy appearance, and would make it comparatively free from dust.

However, before any pavement was undertaken it will be necessary to have the forest of poles removed from the streets. It would be exceedingly foolish to proceed until this was done. Let the Council prepare an estimate of the cost of the above, and submit it to a vote of the ratepayers, for their approval. It is a big proposition and one that should and no doubt will receive the earnest consideration of the taxpayers.

ILLEGAL FISHING.

Editor Morning Times:

Sir,—Being a resident of Smith and residing close to Chemong Lake, I am in a position to know something of what is going on in the way of illegal fishing. I saw a letter in The Examiner a few days ago, complaining of the apathy on the part of the Fishery Inspector of this district. If he was really anxious to stop it, he would soon find out who the guilty parties are. I hope The Times will publish the above, and thus endeavor to put a stop to the slaughter of the fish out of season.

FORTY THOUSAND MADE HOMELESS

Harbin, Manchuria, May 17.—Forty thousand persons at Kirin are homeless as a consequence of the recent conflagration in that city.

The money loss is estimated at $20,000,000.

Four thousand shops, 15 banks, and 6,367 other buildings were destroyed.

The fire at Kirin will rank with the London and Chicago conflagrations. In the great London fire 13,200 houses were burned, besides 88 churches.

Reports from Peking told of a destructive fire at Kirin on May 9, but telegraph communication to this remote Manchurian town was interrupted, and few details of the fire were known. Kirin is the capital of the Manchurian Province of Kirin, 270 miles west of Vladivostok, and has a population of 80,000.

LARGE CROWD HEARS HON. WILLIAM J. BRYAN

Versatile Politician Addresses Large Audience in Grand Opera House

SAYINGS OF BRYAN.

"I shall not quarrel with anybody who believes the Darwinian theory. If anyone finds pleasure or pride in tracing his ancestry back to the monkey I would be the last one to dispute it. I have just as much right to choose my ancestors as you have to choose yours."

"You can answer a speech, you can answer a sermon, but no man has yet lived who can answer the Christian life. It is the unanswerable argument in support of the Christian religion."

"Service is the measure of greatness. Some . . . . others sink into nameless graves—and forget themselves into immortality."

"I shall not allow mysteries or miracles to deprive me of the blessings of religion."

Mr. William Jennings Bryan arrived in the city yesterday, and was the guest of the Hon. J. R. Stratton, while in the city. Elsewhere will be found a report of the proceedings during the day. In the evening Mr. Bryan delivered his celebrated lecture "The Prince of Peace," to a large audience in the Opera House.

Model for Young Speakers.

Bryan as an orator is technically a model for young speakers.

His platform bearing is easy, graceful and dignified.

He resorts to no device of speech or posture, and seldom even raises a hand to assist the meaning of the words upon his lips.

Full Up to Anticipations.

The impression of William Jennings Bryan as an orator was fully up to anticipations, despite the exaggerated sentiments that surround a reputation for spell binding. Bryan's presentation of "The Prince of Peace" will remain perhaps for many a day, the standard of true oratory for this modern day when red-faced and flowing-haired crusaders are out of touch with current fashion.

In Minority, But Not Wrong.

"If I have accomplished anything in the United States it has been because the Presidential candidacy was but an incident, and not an object," he began. "My father told me when I was a boy—and in leaving me this he left me more than if he had left me a fortune—that I could afford to be in the minority, but that I could not afford to be wrong. (Applause.) He told me that if I were right and in the minority I would some day be in the majority, and that if I were wrong and in the majority I would some day be in the minority."

Spoke at Fourteen.

"Interested as I am in government I am interested even more in the church. I began to speak on the political stump when I was only 20 years of age. But I began to speak in the church when I was six years younger than that, and I shall be in the church when I am no longer in politics."

His address, "The Prince of Peace" continued Mr. Bryan, had been prepared for the express purpose of undeceiving young men who might be disposed toward unbelief.

Religion Most Practical Thing.

Religion, according to Tolstoi, was the relationship between man and God, and morality was the outward manifestation of that relationship.

"There never was a system of morals built on reason alone, and in the nature of things there cannot be. The man who tries to keep a book account of the good he does will never do enough good to bind the book. The first thought I desire to leave with you is that religion is the dominant note in every human life. There can be no success without character, there can be no character without morals, and if morals are the outward manifestations of religion, religion must be the most practical thing with which man has to deal.

"If you tell me that the Christian has doubts and fears, I reply that the unbeliever has more doubts and greater fears. I passed through the stage of doubts and fears when I was at college. In my perplexity I went back to Genesis, and found there that 'In the beginning God made the heavens and the earth.' I decided then and there that I would take my stand by that until I found a theory that went back of the beginning—and I have been standing there ever since. (Applause.)

The Darwinian Theory.

All theories of creation, the nebular hypothesis, for example, assumed something as a beginning. "But I prefer to assume, and I have a right to assume a Designer behind the design, a Creator behind the creation."

"I shall not quarrel with anybody who believes that theory," said the speaker, passing on to the theory of evolution. "If anybody finds pleasure or pride in tracing his ancestry back to the monkey, I would be the last one to dispute it. (Laughter). I have just as much a right to choose my ancestors as you have to choose yours. Trace your lineage back to the monkey, if you will, but you are not going to connect me with your family tree.

"According to the theory of Darwin, the ape is older than man. Yet the ape is still an ape, while man has accomplished the infinite stretches of civilization."

On Miracles.

What of miracles?

"Surely a God who can make a world can do anything with it. We cannot deny that God can perform miracles without denying that God is God. But would God want to perform a miracle? Well, I am so busy with what God wants me to do today that I am not concerned with what God wanted to do thousands of years ago.

"Shall I refuse to live because I cannot understand the mystery of life? What is it that, having, we live, and, having not, we are as the clod? We know as little of life as we knew in the beginning, and yet, behold what man has wrought!

The Watermelon.

"What architect drew the plan of the watermelon? How did that little seed build the watermelon? Until you can explain a watermelon, don't be too sure that you can set a

APPEAL TO MINISTER OF JUSTICE FOR LIFE OF CONDEMNED WOMAN

Toronto, May 18.—The following letter from the Toronto Suffrage Association has been sent to Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice at Ottawa, which speaks for itself.

Dear Sir,—

The Toronto Suffrage Association earnestly plead for a speedy commutation of the death sentence passed upon Angelina Napolitano, since every additional hour spent by her in the condition of terror, anticipating her execution on August 9th, cannot but react in a deleterious manner upon her unborn innocent child.

They further hold that the woman's condition at the time at which she committed the crime aggravated the sense of provocation received, and they, therefore, earnestly hope that the sentence of death will be commuted to one of imprisonment and that this decision be communicated to her as soon as possible.

APPEAL FOR CO-OPERATION

The association sincerely hope that all societies and individuals throughout the country, who feel that this unfortunate foreign woman should not, owing to the circumstances surrounding her case, suffer the extreme penalty of the law, will in some way make their desire known to the Minister of Justice.

NEW MOVEMENT AGAINST ROMAN CATHOLIC DECREE

Toronto, May 18.—What is regarded in many quarters as the most significant step so far in opposition to the "Ne Temere" decree will be taken to-morrow afternoon when the Toronto members of the Evangelical Alliance, the most powerful and representative Protestant society in the British Empire, will meet to consider a more advanced and unified attitude against what they consider a Roman Catholic aggression.

It is only on the critical issues of Protestantism that the Alliance employs its strength. The "Ne Temere" is considered such an issue. Action will be taken by the Canadian division of the Alliance in agreement with the stand already assumed by the parent organization in England. It includes in its membership throughout the British Empire the bishops of the Anglican Church and the heads of conferences, assemblies and unions of all other Protestant denominations.

ALL PROTESTANT LEADERS.

In Toronto the Alliance has a membership representing most of the leaders in Protestant denominationalism, and is hence considered the most influential factor in any question affecting Protestants. Precisely what action will be taken at to-morrow's meeting has not been discussed in advance, but it is generally understood that a strong and radical opposition will be offered in some concrete form to the enforcement of the "Ne Temere" in this country.

The most famous occasion on which the Alliance of England used its strength to resist encroachment upon Protestant liberties was the case in Malta, where a Protestant preacher, McNeill, was refused the use of the theatre for a service. The responsible Roman Catholic churchman was eventually brought to time and his order revoked, although the case had to be prosecuted up to the King himself. Only upon vital questions does the Alliance direct its energies, and in the present issue it is intended to not only indicate its attitude strongly, but to wage a vigorous and practical campaign such as Italy and Germany have succeeded in reaching.

WAS GIVEN LUNCHEON AND SHEWN THE SIGHTS

Hon. William Jennings Bryan Entertained to a Luncheon by Citizens.

A complimentary luncheon was given Hon. William Jennings Bryan yesterday at 12.30. On his arrival in the city from Belleville at 8 a.m. on his private car, the distinguished visitor was met at the station and was driven at once to Hon. J. R. Stratton's residence, where he remained until time to go to the luncheon, enjoying a quiet sleep, after which he answered correspondence through his private secretary.

The Luncheon.

Mr. J. J. Turner Jr., president of the Y.M.C.A., occupied the chair, and introduced the speaker in a few well chosen words. He read a letter from Mr. F. J. Might, expressing regret at his inability to be present and enclosing a donation of $50 towards the work of the Y.M.C.A.

There were about 100 citizens present. The distinguished guest occupied a seat at the right of the chairman, and His Worship Mayor Morrow at his left.

The great orator held his audience in wrapt attention throughout the whole discussion which followed the lines of the association's work on this continent.

Dressed in his customary dark suit and black bow tie, he paid glowing tribute to the Y.M.C.A. work in this country and in other lands.

"I am glad to find so much interest being taken in this great work," said Mr. Bryan.

No Customs Charged.

"The association is only in its infancy," he continued. "and I am most grateful to find a branch in all the progressive cities of the Dominion. Four hundred thousand members of the association in the United States, and in our exchange of ideas in this work I am glad that we have something of value that can cross the border without passing through the customs.

"The United States has spent in Y.M.C.A. work during the past year more than the cost of both parties in conducting presidential campaigns.

The Work Pays.

"The name itself presents briefly the work of the society. The work done among men is absolutely essential for the future welfare of the country. Ten men to one woman are found in our penal institutions and the association gets hold of a young man just at the age when he is most liable to temptation. It pays to prevent a young man from going wrong, and then paying the price of his sins against society later. It is to save these men from a prolonged moral death that the association is in existence as our unit of effort and the joiner of our powers."

The address throughout was listened to with marked attention, and was punctured by frequent bursts of applause.

The meeting separated after the toast of "The King," and cheers for Mr. Bryan.

WISE POLICY.

The Hon. Adam Beck as head of the Hydro-Electric Commission is to be congratulated upon the admirable work he has accomplished in the development of electric power for the province, delivered through municipal management, freed from the profits of private undertakings. The Whitney administration, says the Bobcaygeon Independent, has much to its credit in the introduction of a Liberal policy, there is of course much more that it might do, but considering that it is classed as the Tory Party, it is doing remarkably well, out-liberalizing in fact, the Liberals of the former administration. The policy of all governments up to Mr. Whitney's time has been to farm out the great natural resources of the country to political favorites to be converted into graft and campaign funds. The natural wealth of the country has made a few millionaires, and incidentally furnished funds for corrupting the electorate, and lower the moral standing of the community. In the case of water power, Mr. Whitney found most of it already disposed of, but he at once established his Commission by which he takes control of the rates to be charged by all existing companies, and developed his scheme of transmitting power from Niagara Falls to the greater part of the older portion of the Province to be distributed locally by the municipalities concerned. Hon. Mr. Beck, as chief of the Commission, has taken a deep interest and pride in the work to be accomplished and has cleverly surmounted all obstacles, and those obstacles have been by no means insignificant. Influences with the power of millions at their disposal have fought him at every move to hamper and defeat him. But he has stuck tenaciously to his task having the people at his back and is steadily winning out against every difficulty. He has obtained as his assistants a capable staff of trustworthy engineers whose advice has in every instance proven correct and reliable. Mr. Beck is also giving his attention to the east and north of Toronto, and will ultimately arrange for power to be delivered to the farmers throughout the country. The Hon. Mr. Beck and the Whitney administration are certainly to be congratulated upon their admirable achievements through the Hydro-Electric Commission, achievements not only of advantage for to-day, but for all time.

STOP TIPPING THE MINISTRY.

The abolition by New Jersey's new public utilities law of reduced railroad fares for clergymen ought to prove a disguised blessing and should be imitated by Canadian railways. The time when ministers of the gospel received reductions in everything they purchased has pretty well gone by, and there is no reason why it should not end completely. It has all the viciousness of the tipping system, with the additional evil of compromising the dignity of what is inherently the most dignified of the professions.

CAPTURING A CURATE

By William Wade

"You haven't seen him yet? Well, that's a pity. He's quite a catch, I'm told. Young, handsome and single. Why don't you set your cap for him, Mattie? You've got as good a chance as the rest of them, and twenty-six is not old by any means."

She leaned over the garden gate as she spoke, this veritable village gossip. I can see her now, with little close-fitting bonnet, from beneath which the clustering gray hair peeped; the keen blue eyes, that seemed to read your very thoughts; the trim little figure, clad always in ample skirts of quaker grey or sombre brown.

Never was there a wedding, funeral or christening in the village without this estimable lady's presence. What a harmless little body she appeared, and how incapable of carrying about that wonderful budget of information! How nicely she imparted her knowledge to her listeners, beginning with, "Well, I don't mind telling you," or "They do say, but, of course, you can't believe everything," and ending with, "That's between you and me, it will go no farther."

I was in the garden that morning, training some early June roses; my thoughts were not the brightest scarcely in harmony with nature, that was decked in one of her brightest mantles. It was quite unnecessary for Mrs. Briggs to remind me of my age; I was thinking seriously of it. Twenty-six! not very old to be sure, and yet not very young to be an unmarried woman. I must be content with fewer laurels, less conquests. I must step out of the field, as it were, and leave the romance and the daydreams to younger and fairer girls.

It mattered little to me whether the new curate were young or unmarried, or a portly old fellow with a wife and grown-up daughters. At heart I disliked this interfering old woman who had broken in on my reverie.

I thanked her kindly for her advice, telling her that at present I had no intention of setting my cap at any one, not even the new curate; so saying I went back to my work and the roses.

"There, Mattie, don't be absurd. Of course it's nobody's business if you're going to leave yourself an old maid, but take my advice and don't spend your time fretting and worrying over Bob Preston, for he isn't worth it."

She shook her head wisely and was off before I had time to recover from the cruel thrust that had opened the old wound—Robert Preston and the past.

I tried to guard my heart, to trample under foot the old love. I could have laughed at my girlish folly, as it were a dream, until a thoughtless word had brought back the past, like the dead risen to life again, or a smouldering fire that needed but a gentle breeze to make it into a burning flame. One by one the blinding tears fell. I was only a weak woman after all, as, covering my face with my hands, I sobbed:

"Robert, O Robert! Why were you false?"

It all came back to me, that visit to Aunt Martha where I first met Robert Preston, a young student just returned from Oxford. I cannot tell you all those bright, happy day-dreams; how I loved him and waited for the happy days when he would ask me for that love. He read his answer in my tell-tale face before my lips uttered it.

So, engrossed with Robert's society, I took little heed of other matters, scarcely giving a thought to the fact that a young lady, the daughter of a deceased friend of my aunt's, was going to make her home with us. She came. From the moment I looked upon her lovely face my happiness was gone. I was a pretty girl, fair and fragile, yet one might as well compare a simple little daisy to a full-blown poppy or a rich red rose, as my frail beauty to this girl's exquisite loveliness.

For a time his love was unchanged. I laughed in my foolish heart at my doubts and fears. At times I would find his serious eyes wandering from me and resting admiringly on the beautiful face of Kathleen Lee. No man could resist that wondrous fascinating face. She never encouraged him, but the drooping lids, the faint flush, the trembling of the little hands, all told plainly that she, too, loved him.

How I suffered! In my mad jealousy I grew almost to hate the child. He loved me before she came with her beautiful flower-like face to rob me of that love. Was she blind that she did not see we were betrothed? I prayed that she might go away and leave us to ourselves once more, and Robert would go back to his old fond ways. His caresses were growing colder, his kisses lighter. I spoke of his seeming neglect. He answered lightly, taking both my hands in his and looking fondly at me.

"Nonsense, Mattie! Do you know, my little girl, that you are growing dearer and dearer to me every day."

For a time I was satisfied, trying to be content with but a share of his love.

We were seated in the garden, one afternoon in the early autumn, Robert Kathleen and I. She was looking unusually handsome in a dress of soft muslin. My lover had just paid her a well-merited compliment, for which she was about to make a gracious reply when Aunt Martha came to us.

"Robert," she said, placing her hand fondly on his shoulder as she spoke, "will you gather some cherries for me? The girls will go with you and hold the basket."

He arose to reply to her request. Kathleen was at his side in a moment, while I refused to join them, feigning a severe headache.

"They do not want me," I reasoned within myself.

I watched them as they walked away together, he carrying the little basket, and she with that coquettish air that came so natural to her.

I cannot tell you what tempted me to follow them; it must have been some evil genius. Slowly I followed down the pathway, taking every precaution, however, not to be observed

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

MY STRANGEST GIFT

Curious Tributes Paid to Great Singers by Admirers

Everyone has heard of the enormous sums paid to famous singers for their coveted services—such sums oftentimes amounting to several hundred pounds for a single evening. These huge fees are not, however, the only reward the singer gets for time and talent spent in giving pleasure to the public. After a brilliant performance the delighted audience often insists in showering all kinds of gifts on its idol.

Many of these gifts are of a rich and costly nature, but occasionally the singer is the recipient of some touching memento from some poor listener who has been charmed by the sweet music. Sometimes, too, the gift takes the form of some novel and unusual article. Such gifts are always highly valued by the artiste, coming, as they do, from the heart of the sender.

Madame Clara Butt, the world famous contralto, was once the recipient of a touching tribute of a poor woman's gratitude. Madame Butt says: "One of my most curious presents I found awaiting me when I went to sing at the Albert Hall not very long ago. It took the shape of a large pear, which had been carefully packed and sent through the post. Unfortunately, owing to some mistake as to the date of the concert, it had arrived several days earlier and was quite uneatable.

"The letter which came with it was from a poor woman, who told me it was the finest pear in the garden. 'You have given me so much pleasure in the past,' her letter concluded, 'that I wish to give you this pear to refresh you after the concert.'"

Needless to say, Madame Butt was much touched by this simple tribute.

Madame Patti, the queen of all prima-donnas, once had a strange gift presented to her on the platform. While singing in New York, Madame Patti had the misfortune to lose her pet dog, Ricci. Madame Diaz, the wife of the Mexican President, who heard of the loss, determined to replace it, and that night presented the great singer with a huge bouquet of roses.

The prima-donna stepped to the edge of the platform and picked up the trophy. Then she bowed to the enraptured audience, and bent as if to kiss the lovely blooms, when she heard a whine issue from the centre of the fragrant mass.

"Well, I declare," cried Patti excitedly, "if it isn't a lovely dog!" And, sure enough, in the centre of the bouquet, on a litter of moss, reclined the prettiest little poodle in the world.

The renowned tenor, Signor Caruso, has been the recipient of many favors from the public, but one of the strangest occurred one night as he was leaving Covent Garden. He was offered a small parcel by a boy, but refused to take it. Someone in the crowd then threw the package into the great singer's carriage, and on being opened it was found to contain a gold-mounted fountain pen, with Signor Caruso's name engraved upon it. An accompanying note stated that the pen was "a little present from his gallery admirers, in remembrance of pleasant nights they had had by his singing."

One of the most popular singers at the present time is Miss Ada Crossley, the Australian contralto, and when asked to speak of the curious presents she had received from a delighted audience, she replied:

"Perhaps the strangest gift I ever received was from a little girl in the South of England. It took the shape of a wax doll with lovely flaxen hair, and was accompanied by a letter from the little donor, in which she said that she had been so happy at hearing me sing that the was sending me her favorite doily, and would I please sing to it sometimes, as she thought it was very fond of music?"

Madame Tetrazzini's rise to the topmost pinnacle in the musical world has been meteoric. Many gifts have been showered upon her, and the story of one of the most striking is here related by Madame Tettrazzini.

"After finishing a certain aria," she says, "I heard a whirring of birds' wings, and as I looked up, I saw some pigeons come fluttering down from the gallery on to the platform. The feathers of one wing had been cut, so that they could not fly about the hall, but were bound to fall to the ground. As the pigeons fell to the platform, there came a cry of 'Madame, you sing like the birds, and there are the birds at your feet.' It was a beautiful compliment, which I appreciated very greatly."

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

BUYS RADIUM

English Institute Director Pays for One Gramme, £15,000

The director of the English Radium Institute, Mr. Alton, this week concluded at Vienna the purchase of one gramme of radium from the Mines Department of the Austrian Ministry of Public Works.

Mr. Alton made the proposal a considerable time ago to the Austrian Government, but then obtained nothing, as there was not sufficient of this valuable material to hand.

The price is £15,000, and the funds for the purchase are being provided by Sir Ernest Cassel, who will place this enormously large quantity of the metal at the disposal of the English Institute for medical purposes.

Half the amount, which is ready, is being tested, and will be delivered in January. The other half of the gramme will be accumulated at Joachimsthall, the process taking three months.

One gramme is equal to .564 of a dram avoirdupois. Sixteen drams go to the ounce, and the price of the radium per ounce may be roughly estimated at £470,000.

THE OLD ARMCHAIR

Sad Story of a Widow, Whose Husband Had Been Fond of Chair

A pathetic tale of an old armchair was related at St. Pancras Coroner's Court recently. An inquest was being held on a hawker's widow, who had been compelled through poverty to sell her household goods, including an armchair of which, it was said, her husband had been "very fond."

A neighbor purchased the armchair, and a few days ago the widow went to her, complaining of cold and hunger. She was given food and shelter and allowed to sleep in the favorite armchair. She was found dead sitting in the chair before the kitchen fire.

The coroner said the case showed how good the poor were to the poor. Here was a woman with no means of subsistence, and her friends took her in and cared for her. This was a charity that gave something. Those people really did give something out of their own pockets—often out of their own stomachs.

MILL GIRLS MISTAKEN FOR DUCHESSES

Attention is again being focussed on the remarkable prosperity of Huddersfield. Almost every other man you meet in the town either owns a motor car or has a brother who owns one. Operatives—the unsophisticated stranger is told—drive to their work at their mills in magnificent automobiles. While many employers are about—to take to aviation.

This is an exaggeration, however, more well-founded, it would seem, is the story that two Huddersfield mill girls, as they wandered through the grounds of the Brussels exhibition, were mistaken for English duchesses. Wearing costumes which Paquin would be proud to have designed, and being that a society beauty would have envied, they had momentarily left their father and mother seated in one of the exhibition halls, and had wandered out to view the exhibition grounds. Good looking as well as smartly dressed, they made an attractive picture. "They must be duchesses," whispered in broken English the attendant to another as they passed. The workpeople at the mill in Huddersfield where the girls work are still re-telling the story.

THEATRE DONT'S

Advice that a Veteran Actor Contributes Without Charge

Don't arrive at the theatre late. You would not begin your dinner with the entree.

Don't keep your theatre bonnet on until the very last minute before the curtain goes up, and thus give the man behind you a fit wondering whether you are going to take it off or not.

Don't secure side seats and then glare at the people who have inside ones and pass you on their way out to see some man between the acts. Maybe you've done the same thing yourself.

Don't chatter during the play. The actors are paid to speak their lines for your entertainment.

Don't find fault with the part the actor is playing. He reads the author's lines.

Don't be afraid to applaud. Actors like enthusiasm.

Don't explain the story of the play to your companion. The man on the other side might want to hear it for himself.

Don't lose your temper if some persons come in late and you have to stand up to allow them to pass, and thus drop your hat, coat, bag, opera-glasses, umbrella, and programme.

Don't leave the theatre before the day is over—a certain amount of courtesy is due to the players while they are talking.

GOAT WAS A GHOST

Mr. Alfred Tennyson Dickens, the eldest surviving son of Charles Dickens, relates how the servants at Gad's Hill once threatened to leave because they were terrified by a ghost. Dickens, armed with a gun, and his sons, armed with bludgeons, set out to find it, and saw a white object which emitted an awful noise. It proved to be an asthmatical old goat.

Where fortunes are being made by investment, which cannot be equalled anywhere else in Canada. The position that Vancouver occupies, the same on the Pacific, as Montreal occupies on the Atlantic, also the fact that Vancouver is an open port the whole year round, means beyond a possible doubt, that Vancouver will be the greatest city in the Dominion.

Vancouver is the only gateway to the Orient from the whole of Canada, which demonstrates that this will be the greatest Canadian shipping port, owing to the enormous development of western Canada. This together with the fact that the immense wealth of the natural resources of the province of British Columbia, its timber, fisheries, fruit, coal and other minerals, must make it clear, that you can invest your money here to better advantage than elsewhere.

Vancouver offers to-day, the opportunity of a life time for both the small and the large investor, and if you will act on our advice we will positively guarantee to make returns for you that will surprise you. HOW A LICK SAVED A LICKING

Daniel Webster was frequently punished when a boy for appearing at school with dirty hands. On one occasion it occurred to him as he was nearing the school that his hands were hardly likely to pass muster, and having no other means of cleaning them, proceeded to lick one of them as clean as he could. On reaching school he was interrogated as to the condition of his hands, both of which were carefully concealed behind him, whereupon he produced the cleaner of the two for the inspection of the master.

"Daniel," said the master sternly, "if you can find a dirtier hand than that in all the school, I'll let you off."

The answer was immediate.

"Here it is, sir," said Daniel, and with the exclamation he produced the dirtier hand from behind his back.

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. The Sunday evening boat service from the WaWa hotel, Britannia Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.

RECORD RAINFALLS

The Past Year in Great Britain Goes Down to Posterity as One of the Wettest of Seasons

The autumn and winter of 1910 seem to have gone down to posterity as record wet seasons. Not since the days when Noah gathered them in two by two has there been so much wrath directed against the Clerk of the Weather. And not without reason. The average rainfall for the last twenty-five years, for the last three months of the year has been 9.44 inches. The average had been exceeded in 1910 when December was a fortnight old. During the thirteen weeks ending December 12th, 1909, there were 301 hours of sunshine and but 3¼ inches of rain. Last year for a similiar period there were 8¾ inches of rain and but 237 hours of sunshine; and for three weeks of that period "King Sol" shone for four an a half hours only.

The significance of an inch of rain may be gathered from the fact that it is equal to 100 tons of water for every acre, or 64,000 tons for every square mile. From the beginning of October to the middle of December about 8 inches of rain had fallen in the Thames Valley, which meant that the Thames in just over two months had to negotiate a downfall of water equal to 1,951,744,000 tons, which would fill a channel 8,000 miles long, 10 feet deep, and 650 feet wide. The Thames Valley covers an area of 3,812 square miles, so that a fall of one inch over the whole valley is equal to 243,968,000 tons of water, which has been calculated to equal a river 10 feet deep, 250 feet wide, and 1,000 miles long. It is computed that the weight of rain that falls in the Old Country in the course of a year averages 3,000 tons to every acre, and, as there are 77,143,938 acres in the United Kingdom, this computation shows us that 231,431,814,000 tons of rain fall on its surface in the course of twelve months.

One of the heaviest rainfalls yet recorded in the British Isles was 2.24 inches in 40 minutes in Forfarshire, during a severe thunderstorm on June 18th, 1887. On August 1st, 1846, 3.12 inches fell in 2 hours, 17 minutes at Camberwell, London. Of heavy falls during one day the following might be mentioned: Ben Nevis Observatory, 7.39 inches, on October 3rd, 1890; Newport, Wales, 5.33 inches, July 14th, 1875; and Camusinas, Argyllshire, 5.60 inches, January 24th, 1868.

Capturing a Curate

Seated upon a little rustic bench, I could see every movement of my love; and Ka[illegible]

How lovely she looked standing in the [illegible] sunlight [illegible] a shower [illegible] lovely upturned face, or [illegible] a child's [illegible]. Never was [illegible] a more perfect picture. Her [illegible] soft [illegible] showed the [illegible], outstretched arm.

[illegible] a peal of merry laughter [illegible] upon my ear. They did [illegible] Robert, he was [illegible] with Kathleen.

The basket was full, and still they lingered. The last handful of cherries was in Robert's hand. He aimed to place it in with the others, when their eyes met, their hands touched. Was I dreaming? Alas, no! I saw him stoop and kiss her fondly.

I waited no longer. With a cry of pain I turned and fled to the seclusion of my own room, where I sobbed out the trouble of my young heart, with only God to hear me.

* * * * * *

After dinner that evening I tried to escape from both of them. Kathleen seemed scarcely herself, and pleading a headache, soon retired. When opportunity served, Robert came over to me and said he had something to explain. I replied that I didn't want any explanation of what I had seen.

"But if you only knew—" he protested.

I again told him an explanation was quite unnecessary—that I was aware I had been seen by them.

"But we saw you had followed us, and on the spur of the moment it seemed such a splendid chance to excite your jealousy—"

"Jealousy!" I almost screamed.

"And Kathleen agreed to my little trick—"

"Trick!" and this time I really did scream. He tried still further to protest. I would hear nothing and absolutely flounced out of the room.

* * * * * * *

I went away quite unexpectedly. I was homesick, I told Aunt Martha. I left a letter for Robert simply telling him it was better we should part.

I remember taking the ring he had given me from my hand and what a struggle it cost me to place it in that letter—the last I should ever write to Robert.

I came home to my mother, who was quite an invalid and needed all my care. I never heard from Robert save once, through Aunt Martha, who wrote:

"Of course, Mattie, you've not forgotten Robert, whom, to speak candidly, you treated rather unkindly. He has gone to London to practise medicine. He is doing well."

An old newspaper had fallen into my hands where an account was given of a brilliant reception. Among the guests were the names of Dr Robert Preston and wife. I knew it was Robert and Kathleen. I made no inquiries, and receiving no further information took it for granted that Aunt Martha's kindness of heart prevented her from again referring to the past. I closed my heart for ever. The world will never know of me as a disappointed woman, I thought, flattering myself that I had quite succeeded in deceiving humanity in general, until the gossip had come upon me with her idle words, bringing to life the bitter past that I thought I had buried years ago.

* * * * * * *

"Going to service, Miss Kenwood?"

It was my neighbor who asked the question, Marcia Hall, a dear little girl with the utmost faith in mankind in general. I smiled faintly as I caught sight of the new hat with its dainty ribbons; evidently put on for the new curate.

"Young and foolish," thought I. "Wait until she's six-and-twenty, and I'll wager she will not buy a new hat for all the new curates in existence."

Slowly we marched to church on that bright Sunday morning, Marcia chatting gaily, and I, dressed in the plainest of dresses, walked silently beside her.

I had not fully recovered from Mrs. Briggs' unkind remarks, and was determined to show her my disinclination "to set my cap," as she termed it, by appearing in an exceedingly unbecoming gown. I was really disappointed, on catching a last glimpse in the mirror, to find that notwithstanding my plain toilet and my six-and-twenty years, I was still a pretty woman, and to hear my mother say as I stooped to kiss her, "How well you're looking, Mattie!"

How crowded the little village church was—filled to overflowing. Everyone was there, even that hateful Mrs. Briggs.

Service had already commenced when we entered, yet I scarcely heard it, feeling rather embarrassed at coming late to be gazed at by the entire congregation.

Now a hush, a slight flutter among the congregation, a rustle of garments, with now and then a subdued whisper as the new curate came forward.

"He's just lovely!" whispered Marcia, pulling softly at my sleeve. "Do look at him, Miss Kenwood."

I kept my eyes downcast. If every woman in the congregation cast glances of admiration, I was determined to do otherwise.

"Am I my brother's keeper?" was the text of the sermon.

Clear and distinct came the words of the speaker. The first words had caused my heart to beat wildly. How like that voice of long ago, that rich, soft voice that had pleaded for my love! I listened like one in a dream, until I raised my eyes to see before me—Robert Preston.

Yes, Robert Preston. Changed, to be sure—not the bright, boyish face of long ago. There were lines of care and suffering on it now, while the dark hair was streaked with silver.

Was Kathleen dead? I wondered. Had he given up his practice? Was he happy? Fifty different queries crowded upon my memory. Why had fate thrown us once more together after my bitter struggle to forget? One thing I was determined upon; I must leave the village. I dared not trust myself. Reason as I would, my heart told me that I loved him still.

It was all over! I could hear the whispered comments of the worshippers on the eloquence of the new curate.

"Are you coming?" asked my companion; then, as I arose mechanically to obey, "Don't you like him, Miss Kenwood? Do tell me! You listened attentively, and once, as I looked at you, I thought you were going to faint away, you looked so pale. Are you ill?"

"Yes, I like him," I added aloud, while my heart whispered, "God pity me, I love him!"

We were once more in the bright sunshine, coming quite unexpectedly upon a little group, composed of the wealthier members of the congregation. [illegible] They had learned he was a man of wealth and standing choosing his calling simply as a matter of taste. Someone—I think it was the vicar's wife—presented me to him. Our eyes met; our hands touched—as resting those serious eyes upon me he said:

"I have had the pleasure of meeting Miss Kenwood before."

I cannot tell you how it happened the churchyard towards the highway, and I found myself alone with Robert. I was the first to break the silence. It pained me to think it was a commonplace remark.

"How is Kathleen?" I asked, endeavoring to show him how little I cared for the past, and how, without betraying the slightest emotion, I could inquire after his wife's health.

"Kathleen?" he looked rather dazed at the question. "I believe she is well, but not happy, poor girl."

He believed she was well. How strange! Had he grown weary of her as of me? Was he utterly devoid of honor?

"Not happy?" I said, as I toyed nervously with the roses in my bodice. "She should be very happy as—as—your wife," I faltered.

"As my wife!" he said, gazing in blank amazement. "Did you—oh, Mattie, you have judged me wrongly. I never married Kathleen."

He looked like a man upon whom a sudden truth had dawned, or one accused of a great wrong who could prove his innocence.

It was in the twilight before service that he told me all. The notice concerning Robert Preston and his wife referred to his cousin. He had entered the ministry from choice, as he had come into a large fortune through the death of an uncle. True, he had admired Kathleen as a man would admire a beautiful woman, but he never entertained the slightest feeling of love for her.

The scene in the orchard was but a simple ruse designed by Robert and Kathleen to excite my jealousy, little dreaming of the serious results.

Kathleen made a most unfortunate match, like most beautiful women, making a poor selection from her many suitors. Poor girl, what a dear kind letter she sent us, telling how happy she was to hear we were reunited!

A THOUGHTFUL CHILD

"Was that policeman ever a little baby, mother?" asked a little girl.

"Why, yes, dear."

"I don't believe I've ever seen a baby policeman," said the child, thoughtfully.

MARITIME BRIDGES

And Other Railway Improvements Under Consideration

The C.P.R. has had several surveyors overlooking the Joggin and other bridges between Digby and Annapolis, N.S. Several of these bridges are not constructed sufficiently heavy to allow the passage of large locomotives, and it is necessary that they be rebuilt in the near future. It is contemplated to abandon the two bridges that span the Joggin, and possibly a third, and erect a steel bridge at the first location made by the Western Counties Railway a short distance beyond Digby town. This bridge will be much longer than either of the present structures spanning the Joggin, but will do away with both of them, and the approaches will be greatly improved and much easier than at present and make the road five miles shorter. Other improvements are contemplated, which, when completed, will afford a more rapid trip from Yarmouth to Halifax.

A DANGEROUS HANDFUL

Alligator Hunting Not a Suitable Occupation for Timid

That one-half of the world does not know how the other half lives is a good deal truer than some people imagine. There are dozens of strange ways of earning a living which those following the more common-place occupations never dream of. Among these surely alligator catching is one on the strangest.

The commercial value of these strange reptiles is, of course, their skins, and for this reason quite a small army of men hunt them regularly in the tropical regions among the rivers and swamps of the Nile and Ganges. They live to a great age—some are known to be 500 years old, and by the tremendous strength which they can exert when occasion calls for it, one would imagine that the older they live the stronger they grow.

Besides an unusual amount of pluck and resource in handling the alligator, one needs to have a keen eye and a sharp hand. For holding shut the jaws of an alligator one and a half times your own length is life with the toy left in; trying to hold those same jaws open is experience gained too late to be of use. And the alligator in its native land is not as it appears to be at the Zoo, a sleepy and slow-moving creature, but very quick and lively in all its movements.

NOT A HENRY VIII.

A Good Story In Which Bonar Law Figured

As his name indicates, Mr. Andrew Bonar Law, M.P., who has completed his fifty-second year, is a Scot. However, he can also claim to be a Canadian, for he first saw the light in the Dominion, his father being the Rev. James Law, M.A., of New Brunswick. Mr. Bonar Law first entered Parliament in 1900. At a demonstration in Glasgow he referred to Mr. Balfour's attitude on the fiscal question. He pointed out that "the English people love a compromise," and instanced the course taken by Henry VIII. at the time of the Reformation, whereupon the following question was handed up to be answered: "Is the candidate aware that Mr. Balfour is a bachelor, and that Henry VIII. was much the reverse?" "Yes," replied the candidate, "but possibly Mr. Balfour might not be a bachelor if he could be sure of getting rid of his wives as easily as Henry VIII."

MOTHERS!
DO YOU KNOW —

That when you put a salve onto your child's skin, it passes through the pores and enters the blood, just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach?

You would not put a coarse mass of animal fat, colored by various mineral poisons (such as many crude salves are) into your child's blood by way of the stomach? Then why do so by way of the pores?

Take no risk. Use always the pure herbal ointment provided in Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk contains no trace of any animal oil or fat, and no poisonous mineral coloring matter. From start to finish it is purely herbal.

It will heal sores, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns and bruises more quickly than any other known preparation. It is antiseptic, quickly stops the spreading of a sore or cut, eases pain, inflamed sores and blood-poisoning. It is a combination of healing power and scientific purity. Ask those who have proved it.

BIG ATTRACTION AT "REX."

The performance at the Rex this week is one of the best ever put on in Peterborough and is drawing large audiences at every play.

Arminta and Burke introduce one of the best trapeze and horizontal bar works in the circuit. The lady gymnast in walking the ladder by her feet and her head pointing downwards, is thrilling in the extreme. Her summersaults on the bar are also excellently performed. The clown does some high jumping and trapeze specialities which invoke laughter at every stage. The two wind up their performance in a creditable manner. The clown gets his coat tail caught in the trapeze and hangs suspended high up in the air. The actress then takes up a rifle and at 15 yards shoots the tip off the clown's coat tail thus releasing him.

The Rex Theatre has a great bill for to-day and Saturday. A feature will be the Arminta and Burke aerial act which has been secured for those two days and which is one of the best acts of its kind ever seen here. The bill includes Freeman's great wire act, the Vandalle Sisters, in an up-to-date singing and dancing specialty and Reynolds' unique comedian.

Friday afternoon at 3.30 there will be a special matinee. All ladies admitted free to matinee.

limit on the power of the Almighty.

"We all like chicken, and all eat eggs, but nobody has ever explained an egg, and I doubt if anybody ever will.

"You ask me if I can understand everything in the Bible. I say no. But I also say that if we strive to carry out those things which we can understand, we will be so busy doing good that we will not have time to worry about what we cannot understand.

"I am living my life amid miracles and mystery, but I will not allow those miracles or that mystery to deprive me of the benefits of religion."

The Divinity of Christ.

Passing on to the question of immortality, the speaker said: "It is not by remembering ourselves that we enter immortality. It is by forgetting ourselves in things larger than ourselves.

"If I wanted to prove to you the divinity of Christ I would not begin with any theory. I would tell you the story of His life—how He was born, how He lived, how He died. His life is the greatest fact of history. Here is One who for nineteen hundred years has moulded the ideals and actions of men. How do you explain it? It is easier to believe Him divine than to explain it in any other way.

"The Prince of Peace."

"I am persuaded that Christ is deserving of the title, 'The Prince of Peace', and that He will be deserving of it more and more as the years to come, as thousands and tens of thousands find peace in Him."

The peace which came of Christ was peace which money or social prestige could not buy.

"Again, Christ deserves to be called 'The Prince of Peace' because He gave us proof that there was a life beyond the grave.

"Would God, Who keeps alive the spirit of the convict in the prison, who gives to the rosebush the life which causes it to blossom forth into beauteous flower — would God leave neglected in the ground the soul of man? No. I am sure that man lives again, as I am sure that he lives to-day.

Grain Lived Thousands of Years.

"If the invisible something in the grain of wheat can pass unimpaired through a thousand resurrections, I shall not doubt that my soul will have the power to clothe itself in another life when this frame of mine has crumbled into dust.

Service Measure of Greatness.

"Service is the measure of greatness. It always has been true, it is true to-day, and it always will be true, that he is the greatest man who does the most good. The human measure of human life is its income. The divide measure of human life is its outgo, its overflow, its contribution to the welfare of the world."

Cannot Answer Christian Life.

"You can answer a speech, you can answer a sermon, but no man has yet lived who can answer the Christian life. It is the unanswerable argument in support of the Christian religion."

In conclusion the speaker exhorted his hearers bravely to do the duty which fell to them day by day.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operation of the Company are confined to sale, legitimate and profitable business. It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. There is no personal liability. An issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market in Vancouver and a considerable amount has already been taken up.

THE LIBERALS ARRANGE FOR 420 MEETINGS

Ottawa, May 19.—The recess is not going to be a time of idleness for the Quebec Liberals at least, according to reports. No less than 420 meetings have, it is said, been arranged for during the recess. A monster one will be held at Sherbrooke on June 1st, at which Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux and Dr. Beland will be the principal speakers.

Reciprocity will, of course, be the main subject of discussion, but the naval question will also be debated.

COLLECT A LICENSE ON SHOWS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If I were Mayor I would collect a substantial license on all shows coming here. I refer to those shows appearing in the Opera House. The different companies appearing here, take a great deal of money out of town, and I feel that it should get something. Besides the Grand Opera House, I understand, pays no business tax.

THE CURFEW.

Sir,—If I were Mayor I would institute a nine o'clock curfew as a notice for all children of 12 or under, to get off the streets. It is demoralizing the young to be allowed to roam the streets at will until all hours of the night.

IS IT BLACK HAND?

PROMINENT CITIZEN RECEIVES THREATENING LETTER.

Asks for Loan of Money or His Home Will be Destroyed—May be Hoax—Claims to Have Been Ill and in a Starving Condition.

Yesterday a well known citizen of the city, received the following letter, which speaks for itself:—

Peterborough, May 12.

Dear Sir,—I take my pen in hand to tell you that if you will loan me $150, I will pay you back in 3 months. I am compelled to take this method of getting the money, as I have been ill and unable to work. I am a peace-loving citizen, and would not do anything that was against the law, but when hunger strikes a man and his young family, desperation sometimes takes the place of common sense. Unless you loan me this money I may be forced to commit an act that makes me dizzy to think about. When a man is driven, as I am to the extremity of crime, life naturally loses its value.

Unless you help me out, I will retaliate by demolishing your house and loved ones. If you consent, place the money, in new bills, in an envelope, under the south west corner of the market clerk's office, where the weigh scales are situated. Have this done on Saturday night, 20th inst., between 8.30 and 9 p.m.

The letter bears no signature, and was posted in Peterborough. The address of the party receiving it was clipped off and the contents re-directed to The Times, presumably by the party who received it. We give it for what it is worth. If it is not the real Black Hand article, it makes a somewhat similar noise.

STOP ILLEGAL FISHING.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If what your correspondent from Snuth says regarding the illegal fishing that is being done in Chemong Lake is only half true, it should be enough to wake up the fishery inspector to a proper conception of his duties. This cannot be permitted to continue, and all lovers of sport should assist as far as possible in protecting the fish during the spawning season.

PAVING THE STREETS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A good suggestion to the Mayor would be to pave the streets. We see what an everlasting expense it is to keep down the dust, (which by-the-way is not being done). If our thoroughfares were properly paved there would be little dust to bother us. Dust means deadly germs and all sorts of vile diseases. The public health, therefore, would be promoted by paved streets.

Mayor Morrow is making an ideal Chief Magistrate, and I am sure he will lend his great influence to a movement of this kind.

THE CITY, THE WATER WORKS COMPANY AND THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONER.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Referring to Mayor Morrow's explanation of the rights of the Council to terminate the Industrial Commissioner's connection with the Special Committee of the Board of Trade, and especially as to his idea of following precedents as established by former councils and officials of this "Stand at Ease" burg, the principle of "non-publicity," "sub rosa," "sneaky underhand tactics" are quoted and referred to. The writer sincerely hopes that the head of the Council the "smart aleck" in charge of civic affairs at the time the city practically stole from the widows and orphans of dead and gone leading citizens the paltry sum of $20,-

SHE IS NOW TELLING HER NEIGHBORS

THAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS MADE HER FEEL YOUNG AGAIN.

Mrs. John McRae had Kidney Disease. She was Nervous, Run Down, and Suffering From Rheumatism. Two Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her.

Previl, Que., May 19.—(Special)—Nearing the three score mark, but feeling like a woman of thirty, Mrs. John McRea, wife of a farmer living near here, is telling her neighbors that she owes her health to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For two years and seven months," says Mrs. McRea, "I was a sufferer from Kidney Disease brought on by a strain and a cold. My eyes were puffed and swollen, my muscles cramped, and I suffered from Neuralgia and Rheumatism. My back ached and I had pains in my joints.

"For two years I was under the doctor's care, but he never seemed to do me any lasting good. Then I was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Two boxes made a new woman of me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make tired, run-down women feel as if life had started all over again for them by curing the Kidneys. Healthy Kidneys mean pure blood, and pure blood means new life all over the body.

NEW CITY HALL FOR PETERBOROUGH NOW IN THE AIR

It is Thought the Time for Action is Now At Hand—Present Buildings Have Served Their Day

New City Hall Now in the Air—D C.

Quite a number of our citizens are in favor of erecting a new City Hall at once. In fact, they believe the longer it is put off the greater will be the cost of securing a suitable site. The proposal to spend three to five thousand dollars on the old buildings in the hopeless endeavor to make them fairly habitable is, they believe, unwise. The fact is they have served their day and generation, and are no longer suitable for the requirements of a growing young city like Peterborough. A new City Hall would cost in the neighborhood of say $100-000. While this seems a large sum, it does not follow that it would have to come directly out of the pockets of the taxpayers.

$40,000 Available.

It may not be generally known that the Town Trust Commissioners have accumulated a surplus of about $40,-000. This money is at the disposal of the ratepayers, and is therefore, available for the purpose of new municipal buildings.

Then there is the $10,000 which the C.P.R. will be handing over one of these days for the privilege of running their tracks along the water front, east of the market. This makes about $50,000 already in sight for the purpose, should the ratepayers decide to use it.

In addition there is the present city buildings, which should bring in a yearly rental of about $2,000, and which would naturally increase in a few years. This would provide interest and sinking fund for about $30,-000, capitalized at 7 per cent., which would be sufficient for that purpose. In other words, the rent from the present city buildings should pay off a loan of $30,000 in 15 or 20 years.

Thus we have about $80,000 of the necessary amount required for the construction of a new City Hall.

Desirable Sites Available.

There are several sites available for city buildings, one of which is the property east of the Public Library building on George street, between Murray street and the library, facing Central Park. Figuring the value on a basis of the present rentals, it should be bought fairly reasonable. Should this not be possible, there is the corner above, owned by Mr. George Schneider, immediately opposite the George street Church, and diagonally across from the Public Library. The corner could be had for considerably less money. Either of these sites, would, in the opinion of many, be satisfactory.

But an equally good, if not better, site, would be the Crown Hotel property, opposite the post office, which, we believe, could be secured on reasonable terms. The fact that the land belongs to St. John's Church, and cannot be sold, should not be fatal to the project, should the city require it. Special legislation doubtless could be secured, to overcome any legal disability.

There are still other sites that are most desirable.

There is a strong feeling that the building should be opposite or near Central Park, and thus "round off" the square, as it were, of handsome public structures in that neighborhood. Another site, which is perhaps more desirable than any above referred to, is the south east corner of George and Murray streets, directly opposite the Y.M.C.A., and owned by Dr. Brown. This site could be had, running all the way across the lot from George to Water streets. Entrance could be made from each street and also from Murray street. This site is perhaps the most desirable of any, as it would place the proposed building directly between the two parks and within easy distance of the centre of the city.

It is proposed to have all the departments of the city government under one roof. These would be: City Council Chamber, City Clerk, City Treasurer, Mayor's office, Collector of Taxes, office of the Assessors, City Engineer, Auditor, City Solicitor, Police Court and Police Department, including Police Commissioners' offices, &c.

The Times presents the above suggestions in a somewhat crude form, but nevertheless sufficiently clear to be understood by the ratepayers and by the members of the Council.

MEXICAN STREETS STREWN WITH DEAD AND WOUNDED

Cuernavaca, Mexico, May 19.—A sanguinary battle is being fought at Cuautitlan, 20 miles southeast of here, between the Federal garrison under Col. Munguia, and a force of rebels commanded by Col. Zapata. Fugitives arriving here to-day state that the streets of Cuautitlan are strewn with dead and wounded.

A commission left here last night for Cuautitlan carrying the news of the armistice, which it is hoped will put an end to the fighting. Gen. Figueroa is leading 3,000 rebel troops from Iguala, presumably en route for this city.

Cuernavaca is the capital of the State of Morelos and is 40 miles south of Mexico City.

MADERO'S LIFE IN DANGER.

Juarez, Mexico, May 19.—Plans for the departure to Mexico City within a few days of the Provisional President Francisco I. Madero, jr., received a setback this morning when a member of the El Paso revolutionary junta received a telegram from the capital stating that persistant rumors were in circulation there of the existence of a plot to attempt the life of Madero upon his arrival.

TELEGRAPH LINES DOWN.

Mexico City, May 19.—All telegraph lines are down north of Saltillo in Coahuila Province. It is reported that a rising has occurred at San Miguel de Allende, in Guanajuato. The municipal palace there has been burned and the telegraph office robbed. Serious troubles are also reported in Monterey.

The prospect of popular elections has already been the effect of bringing three political parties into being, the independent democratic, the national Catholic, and the progressive. The progressive is the name by which the Maderists will be known.

It is believed that the greatest danger to the Maderists lies in the Catholic party, which is considered to be crystalization of the church element.

DIAZ'S RETIREMENT.

Mexico City, May 19.—It is semi-officially stated that the retirement of Diaz from the Presidency will take place May 24 or 25. Vice-President Corral's resignation will be sent by cable, and will be attested by the Mexican Minister in Spain.

IMPORTANT STATEMENT BY LONDON FINANCIAL EXPERT

LEADING MEMBER OF EDITORIAL STAFF OF THE LONDON FINANCIAL NEWS DECLARES A VAST AMOUNT OF MONEY WILL BE AVAILABLE FOR CANADIAN DEVELOPMENT.

Canada's Credit Good—Therefore, People of This Country are Urged to Place Only High Class Securities Before British Investors.

Toronto, May 19.—"Three hundred and seventy-five millions of British capital came to Canada for investment last year, and from present indications I have no hesitation whatever in predicting that the half-billion dollar mark will be reached during the year 1911."

This statement was made to The News this morning by Mr. W. Leonard Palmer, a leading member of the editorial staff of the London, England, Financial News, generally regarded as one of the greatest financial newspapers in the world.

Mr. Palmer who arrived from Montreal this morning, is touring Canada in the interests of the Empire Section of his paper—a weekly feature in which Canada is given the lion's share of attention.

$2,100,000,000 INVESTED IN CANADA.

"The total investment of British capital in Canada is now $2,100,000,-000," continued Mr. Palmer. There has been in London during the past twelve months a wonderful awakening to the investment possibilities of Canada. The result is that anything with a Canadian label on it goes in London, if it is any good at all.

GUARD AGAINST INFERIOR OFFERINGS.

"Of course, there are dangers in such a boom—for it may almost be called a boom. "No securities of an inferior nature should be offered in London by Canadians, because such offerings would not take long to injure Canadian credit in the Metropolis."

WOMAN'S DEATH SENTENCE IS UNDER CONSIDERATION

Toronto, May 19.—Dr. Margaret Johnston, secretary of the Toronto Suffrage Association, has received a reply from the Minister of Justice, stating that the case of Angelino Napolitano, the Italian woman now under sentence of death for the murder of husband, would receive the fullest consideration. This is a reply to an appeal asking for a commutation for the sake of the unborn child, as well as the woman's own.

INDUCED HIS TWELVE-YEAR-OLD SON TO SHOOT HIM

Greenwich, Conn., May 19.—Wednesday afternoon Fred Husted, a prosperous farmer near here, prevailed upon his 12-year-old son Lester, to pull the trigger of his shotgun, which blew the father's head off. The veracity of the boy, who was the sole witness to the affair, has not been questioned.

Husted called the boy, Lester to the kitchen, and picking up a double-barreled shotgun, laid it on the kitchen table, and told the boy to pull the trigger, as he wanted to hear how it sounded. The man knelt on the floor, closed one eye and looked into the muzzle of the gun. The boy hesitated and his father said: "It isn't loaded." The boy pulled the trigger, but the piece didn't explode. His father took the gun, cocked it again and laid it back in the same position, while he got on his knees and again looked into the barrel.

"It isn't loaded," he said again. "Pull the trigger and see how it sounds." The boy did so and the father dropped dead. The lad rushed to the nearest neighbor and told him that he had killed his father.

A DOURO MAN LOST HIS LIFE

A sad fatality occurred in Douro yesterday morning, when a young man named John Cummings, who was employed by Mr. Martin Coughlin, who resides about three miles from Douro church, lost his life. He was working in the barn which was struck, and killed instantly. The barn was not burned but very badly shattered.

The deceased had no relations in this country, having been adopted from St. George's Home, Ottawa, by Mr. Coughlin. Rev. Father McGuire at once communicated with the institution.

A PERILOUS MOMENT.

When Canada's Constitution Was Nearly Wrecked.

The Constitution came within an ace of being shattered when Mr. Fielding was putting his interim supply bill through its various formal stages. Whenever Mr Speaker is in his chair, the Mace must lie on the table That is one of the bulwarks of the nation. During the formal proceedings of sending a supply bill on its way to the Senate, the Speaker pops in and out of his chair continuously, for the reason that one minute the House is in committee and the next in full dress again. When in committee the Mace reposes snugly on a shelf under the table. On this occasion Chairman Gilbert McIntyre was performing his usual functions with the bill in committee stage, and Col. Harry Smith, somewhat weary with rushing up and down lifting the Mace off and on the table, retired from the chamber to have a chat with Captain Chambers, "the gentlemanly usher of the Black Rod." While he was absent it became necessary for the Speaker to take his seat again. He did so, but horrible to behold, the Mace was not on the table! Sydney Fisher, who is a stickler for Parliamentary etiquette, gasped in astonishment, and motioned to Doctor Sproule, another "light of ancient days," whose respect for the rules is almost as strong as his Orange principles. Meanwhile, Speaker Marcil was rushing through the formula, which sounded like "Mr. Fielding moves, seconded by Mr. Paterson, that the bill be read a third time pleasure of the House to adopt the motion carried." By this time Mr. Fisher's face was blushing red, and Dr. Sproule hastily sent a page for a glass of water. (Whenever the doctor is unusually agitated he always takes the water cure.) Finally the door-keeper, noticing the Sproule and Fisher signals of distress, saved the day by rushing in and flopping the time-honored emblem of power and authority on the table with a thud which spilled the ink over the desk of Dr. Flint, clerk of the House. Mr. Fisher is reported to be seriously considering the nomination of the doorkeeper for an Edward medal of the highest class. He certainly prevented a breach being made in the walls of the constitution, and in the words of the late lamented Doctor Barr, M.P. for Dufferin, "he seen his duty and he done it noble."

Smoking Before Meals.

People will persist in smoking, even after they have read the following from that eminent authority, the London Lancet:

Smoking just before meals is to be deprecated, because the pungency of the pyroligneus products contained in tobacco smoke renders the buccal mucosa insensitive to alimentary stimulation. In fact, the effect is to dull or abolish the olfacto-gustatory reflex, thus depriving us of what Pawlow calls "appetite juice."

Why He Liked Them.

"Have you ever read the Bible from beginning to end?"

"Yes. When I was a boy my parents compelled me to read a chapter every night."

"What part most appealed to you?"

"The Psalms and the Proverbs."

"That's curious. Ordinarily a boy would not be expected to understand the Psalms and Proverbs as readily as he would some of the stories, such as the story of Joseph and that of Samson."

"It wasn't because I understood the Psalms and Proverbs, but they were cut up into shorter verses than any of the rest of the Bible, consequently I was able to get through the pages faster."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Hasty Judgment.

"I can never consent," she was saying,
"To my daughter's becoming your bride."
"Then sad is my fate. I am doubly
Forsaken," the young man replied,

"For the goal of my twofold desire
I foolishly fancied I saw—
A bride with the grace of an angel
And a young looking mother-in-law."

Then her voice, it was sweet with emotion.
"I'm oftentimes hasty, I find,
And if here I have erred I should do you
But justice in changing my mind."

"Say, what's Proxy's first name?"—Philadelphia Times.

As I speed over the country in my lecture work on "The Salvation of Our Trees" there are many things to inspire and cheer the heart, specially that of seeing what attempts people make to grow trees, shrubs and flowers. I sometimes feel that I should like to get off the train and show people just how To me everything seems so simple There is no luck, no chance; it is all cause and effect. Learn just what to do and do it, and old Mother Nature is there ready to do all the rest, and, say, does she not do finely?

The one discouraging thing is, as is often the case, to meet some stupid bigoted, conceited old ass who thinks he knows all and can't even raise a good crop of weeds In the decade that is about to come there is truly something inspiring in that short time, since my old "Tree Doctor" raised the cry for "our wounded friends the trees" and the Associated newspapers resolved the cry to the nation, practically all the newspapers have lent their aid, and the great magazines have done noble work, and the education is thorough, but so slow. As yet there is not 5 per cent of the adults that are awake to the real, deplorable condition of the trees The deterioration of the trees is faster than the education as to how to take care of them; hence my only hope now lies with the child

Illustration No 11 shows Mr. and Mrs. William Lodge of Silver Lake, O.

NO. 11.—CHILDREN ARE HOLDING SEEDLING WALNUT TREES.

it is not only interesting and pretty, but there are the profoundest of thoughts clustering around it. The little boys are holding a couple of seedling walnut trees, the seed (nuts) of which I brought from the old Charles Dana place, Desoria Island, Glen Cove, N. Y. The plants are 4 year old, and they, it is hoped, will grow up with the children. To give an idea of what one generation could do we call attention to illustration No. 12. These trees (the largest ones) were planted thirty-three years ago by the grandfather of the children here seen. They were planted right and then taken care of, and here they stand, honoring the memory of the patriotic citizen who believed that one of the best ways to serve one's country is to plant trees. This new movement, the saving of our song birds, exhibits an unaccountable slowness on the part of the average adult to be aroused to one of the greatest menaces that have ever been known in the history of nations, the total extinction of our song birds by the English sparrow and the crow. Unless the increase and depredations of these two fiends are checked our native small birds cannot last for another decade. Already we learn that an average of one-fourth of all the crops of the United States is destroyed by insects. "Destroy all the insectivorous birds," says Michelet, "and in nine years the human race will perish from the face of the earth."

NO. 12.—TREES PLANTED THIRTY-THREE YEARS AGO BY GRANDFATHER OF CHILDREN IN ILLUSTRATION NO. 11.

I want my readers to help restore and preserve our song birds. The only way to do this is to destroy the English sparrow, which destroys the song birds. There is an "uprising" nearly all over the country against this imported pest.

The English sparrow must be destroyed if we are to save our trees. All our trees will be ruined by insects if the sparrows keep up their fight against the insect killing birds.

If you would save your trees destroy the English sparrows.

It is said of Captain Adrian Jones, who has designed the four-horse war chariot, weighing upwards of thirty tons, which is to be erected in London as a memorial to "Peace," that he is probably the only living sculptor who understands a horse from tail-tip to nostril. As a boy he loved and studied horses, and would have liked to become an artist, but his father had other plans, and he entered the Army. He saw much active service, and was then advised to become a sculptor, having devoted most of his spare time when in the Army to painting and sculpture.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

BIRDS ON THE WING.

Wonderful Feats of Gliding Performed By the Vulture.

On the horizon in tropical countries there often appears a small black point visible only to the practiced eye. The point increases in size as it approaches. It is the sailing bird par excellence, the vulture, says The Strand Magazine, returning to its hollow in the rock a dozen miles away.

A glider who sails magnificently upon its outstretched wings, without a beat, without the slightest deviation from its perfectly straight track, it thus traverses the space from one horizon to the other, again becomes an imperceptible point and disappears, leaving the spectator marveling at the simplicity with which nature solves a problem of mechanics which appeared impossible to man.

When one observes a sea eagle perched upon a lofty cliff it may be remarked that in order to quit its eyrie it waits until a gust of wind arises, then it lets itself fall forward with extended wings, gives a beat or two as it turns, brings itself to face the wind and thus mounts without a wing beat hundreds of yards high.

A gliding bird so sets its wings that the air currents make an angle with their plane. The wind thus sustains its weight and gives it at the same time a forward movement. If its force is stronger than is necessary to obtain these two effects it produces a third effect—the bird mounts into space without a wing beat. If the air suddenly became calm the bird would fall, but the fall would be astonishingly slow.

Fred. Drzewiecki has calculated that a gliding bird at a height of 1,200 yards at the moment when it commences to descend with motionless wings can by setting them at the most favorable angle touch the ground at a horizontal distance of about fifteen miles. If the wind fall large birds can always, with a few wing beats, attain an altitude where they will find a wind which will permit them to continue their journey "on the glide."

The gusts and eddies of the wind are, of course, great disturbers of flight, and few birds attempt to struggle with a tempest. Even the strongest fliers have not from this point of view so much boldness as they generally get credit for. Thus the stormy petrel is so named, not because it braves the storm, but because as soon as a storm threatens it will often seek for refuge on a ship's rigging and thus foretell the tempest. And if the albatross loves the stormy waves it is only because it frequently alights upon the water, where it often sleeps securely to the rocking of the billows.

Shakespeare Censored.

The dramatic censorship in England to-day, much as it is abused, is very mild compared to what has been known in former periods when many of Shakespeare's plays have been censored. Colley Cibber in his autobiography tells us of one master of the revels, who was responsible for the licensing of plays in his day, expunging the whole first act of Cibber's adaptation of "Richard III." on the ground that the distresses of Henry VI. would remind weak people of King James, then living in France. On another occasion "King Lear" was inhibited during the illness of George III. George Colman when reader of plays banned the use of such words as "sweat" and "heaven."—London Mail.

A Delayed Execution.

An eighteenth century execution on Kennington common was stopped for a time owing to a strange cause. On Aug. 19, 1763, two days before the date of the execution, a heavy fog came over London, accompanied by thunder and lightning and torrents of rain. These conditions lasted for nearly forty-eight hours, and many people believed that the last day had arrived. When the time fixed for the execution arrived the assembled crowd cried shame on the sheriff for hanging a man when the world was coming to an end. As he persisted in his preparations they burst through the barriers and stopped the proceedings, shouting that the culprit might as well wait a few minutes, when the grand summons would come to all. The sheriff had to obtain the assistance of a force of soldiers before the execution could be carried out.

NASAL CATARRH

An Old Physician Says to Look for Dizziness, Frontal Headache, Stuffiness and Nose Colds.

TELLS HOW TO CURE.

Catarrh in almost every instance starts with a common cold in the head which is added to and becomes a cold, and because of some extra exposure or weakness of the system, it becomes chronic.

A full case of disgusting nasal and throat catarrh then develops. Unless a radical cure is effected then the disease passes rapidly to the throat, bronchial tubes and finally to the lungs.

No man or woman can ever get new lungs any more than new fingers or a new nose; but everyone suffering from Catarrh can get a sure cure by inhaling Catarrhozone, and this is proved after you read further.

QUICK, LASTING CURE.

"After ten long years of suffering with Catarrh in the throat and nose, I write to tell you that I am now completely cured with Catarrhozone. What a relief it was to get that buzzing stopped in my ears, to have my nose free and easy to breathe through—What a blessing it was to get cured of droppings, catarrhal dyspepsia and bad breath. All this is the result of Catarrhozone, which I recommend to everyone to use for any trouble in the throat, nose, bronchial tubes and lungs."

JOHN McCULLOUGH.

THE STANDARD OIL DECISION.

Any value for the public which the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the Standard Oil case has depends upon future rather than upon present bearing. The Ottawa Journal thinks the Standard Oil Co. will not be much troubled. It will find ways to get around any embarrassment from the decision. Its business will be carried on to pretty much the same effect. Once such an organization has been thoroughly established for years, the men in control of it can easily change its surface details to comply with any law, without losing their grip of the substantial values they have.

But the principle laid down by the Supreme Court may militate against the inauguration of new trusts and combines of a monopolistic nature. Anyone injured or likely to be injured by or objecting for any reason to the organization of a monopolistic combine is now furnished with a sharp weapon to be used against it. And few combinations of the kind can be formed without disgruntling somebody. The biggest trust in the world having been attacked and condemned in the courts, the people who seek to promote other such combines must face from the start the fact that they are intending law-breakers—and this is a condition which has not been established or recognized hitherto, and which must tend to hamper and restrict the operations of greedy and unscrupulous promoters.

THE DOUBLE LIABILITY CLAUSE.

That double liability clause in bank stock subscriptions, in addition to a liability for the refunding of all dividends in case of failure should have the effect in making all bank stock owners in Canada especially active in ascertaining that the bank in question is carefully, honestly and frugally conducted. It also should have the effect in making all bank stock owners extremely pronounced in their advocacy of a government system of banking inspection. A proper government inspection should make future occasions for the double stock liability demand, rare, if not impossible.

AFTER ALL, WHICH IS WORSE?

At the Perth Missionary gathering some of the clergymen made some very cutting references to the American divorce practice.

Certainly, from every angle, the American divorce is an indefensible thing.

Nevertheless, Americans, while they find divorce easy, are in no danger of discovering after some years' married happiness, that the marriage ceremony was illegal and the children illegitimate because of the religion of the officiating clergyman.

Which, after all, is the worse?

Constipation brings many ailments in its train and is the primary cause of much sickness. Keep your bowels regular madam, and you will escape many of the ailments to which women are subject. Constipation is a very simple thing, but like many simple things, it may lead to serious consequences. Nature often needs a little assistance and when Chamberlain's Tablets are given at the first indication, much distress and suffering may be avoided. Sold by all dealers.

FEWEST BIRTHS IN 100 YEARS

Paris, May 18.—The Journal Officiel published an article by Dr. Satques Bertillon, chief statistician of Paris, calling attention to the disastrous results in the birth and death statistics in France for 1910. The principal figures are as follows:

Marriages, 289,289; divorces, 13,049; births, 774,868; deaths, 703,771.

The births are the lowest for a century. In 1856 the births numbered 1,015,641. They dwindled to 964,050 in 1882, and numbered 952,064 in 1891.

The number of deaths in 1910 was exceptionally low; yet the excess of births over deaths was only 70,583, compared with 89,691 in Germany.

Dr. Bertillon concludes by declaring that there is no reason, physiological or economic, which prevents France from increasing as other nations, and no motive for her to resign herself shamefully to suicide.

NATHANIEL SELF SHOT WIFE AND HIMSELF AT LONDON

London, Ont., May 18.—Nathaniel Self, aged 45, shot and fatally wounded himself and wife at her home, 242 King street, at 8 o'clock this morning, because she refused to come back and live with him.

Self is a cigarmaker and three years ago was committed for five years at Windsor for bigamy. Recently he was released on parole, and after working a few weeks in Toronto, he went to Hamilton. Ten days ago he came here and asked his wife to come back and live with him. She said she was doing too well by herself and refused.

It is supposed that he came to London on the early morning train, as shortly before eight he came to the house and again asked his wife to come back with him. Mrs. Darville, of Hamilton, a daughter, was visiting her mother, and Mrs. Self held her baby in her arms. She replied quietly that she would not go back with Self. He said, "If you won't, then we will die together," and pulling a big revolver from his pocket fired. The bullet whizzed by the baby's head and tore away part of the woman's ear. She fled screaming to the rear of the house, and as she ran, Self fired three more shots, two of which lodged in her neck, and a third went through her side. She fell in a heap with the baby, and, Self, thinking he had killed her, went upstairs and locked himself in her bedroom, fired two shots through his head. He was found alive later, by the police, and both he and the woman were rushed to the hospital in the ambulance.

Attending physicians say there is no chance of recovery.

Mrs. Self was a very quiet, little woman, and was well liked. She had been supporting herself by keeping a boarding house.

After Mrs. Self was shot down, she was picked up by Ald. Saunders and taken into his blacksmith shop, the door being bolted to keep Self out should he make a further attempt.

A CANADIAN FREE LIBRARY FOR THE BLIND

Of all our public libraries, one of the most interesting and most deserving of public support is the Canadian Free Library for the Blind, which was established at the village of Markham in 1906. It is now proposed to move the institution to Toronto, in order that it may be more easy of access, and to improve usefulness by placing some hundreds of additional volumes on its shelves. An effort will also be made to instal a press for the manufacture of tactile books, in order that some of the gems of Canadian literature which have never been reproduced in raised letters may be enjoyed by the blind.

This library has also a department of free instruction in the art of reading tactile print. While it is difficult for those of us who are blessed with sight to realize fully how much tactile books, and the ability to read them, will mean to our five thousand fellow-Canadians who are doomed to pass their days, as well as their nights, in utter darkness, this Library appeals for public support on humanitarian ground is eloquent.

When we add to this a consideration of what it means to the State to educate the blind, patriotic motives should induce generous contributions to the endowment fund of the institution. It is of paramount importance to the State to make the blind population self-supporting, and the way to do this is to educate the blind. The seeing man without education has hundreds of avenues of employment open to him that are closed to his blind brother. Indeed, there is very little normal labor that the blind can perform, and none that is profitable, while in the realm of intellectual endeavor their opportunities are illimitable.

A good circulating library of books they can read is more important to the blind than is such an institution to people who can see. In these days of cheap litetature, even the man of small means can at least own a small library. For the blind there is no cheap literature, owing to its bulk (for the sheets can be printed only on one side) and to the necessarily limited sale. A book printed for the blind costs several dollars, while the same work can be owned and enjoyed by a seeing person by the outlay of a few cents.

This library is established under the Ontario Public Libraries Act. It is under Government inspection, and its accounts are carefully audited. Subscriptions towards its endowment fund are solicited. Remittances addressed to E. W. Hermon, Treasurer, 37 Balmuto street, Toronto, will be gratefully received and duly acknowledged.

The Library is available to all the Blind of Canada, from Halifax to Vancouver. Books are transmitted free of postage, and the Librarian promptly mails books ordered from the catalogue.

Correspondence is invited with the Secretary, S. C. Swift, M.A., 8 Washington Avenue, Toronto.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operation of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1905 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. The opening up of spring has brought the usual spring freshetts and news comes from Porcupine City that the district is flooded in many places. All the Townsites are flooded and row-boats are being used to get about except in the case of Porcupine City which on account of being some 50 feet above the surrounding country is free from water. Building operations are proceeding briskly as there is nothing to prevent getting around.

This is the story of the Rangley High-Grade Oil Field of Rio Blanco County, Colorado; one of its progressive corporations, THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL COMPANY, and why its stock is an exceptionally attractive avenue of tremendous profits.

Price of Shares Advance

MAY 15TH, 1911

We Now Have Over 200 Stockholders

Foreword

E. W. SMITH

As Manager of the Bankers Finance Co. I want to personally call your attention to what I consider the very best investment opportunity I have found in all of my financial experience, and my customers know by dividends and profits distributed that I have a record of several years' success.

In the first place I will not sell stocks in any company until I have satisfied myself that there seems to be assured success for the company. Furthermore, I always want my clients to buy stocks when there is a splendid probability of their advancing to a price that will let each one make a handsome profit.

THE COLORADO PABAFFIN OIL CO., at the present price of THREE cents a share, I think, is a big money-maker. The stock is just as sure to rise as human being can depict, and it would not surprise me to see an advance to 75 cents or $1 in the near future.

Such policy has caused the great success of the Bankers Finance Company extending over a long period, and having on its books the most prosperous investors of any similar western institution. It isn't often we offer speculative stocks which are likely to double and treble in price, and rapidly making several hundred per cent. profit, but when we do it's a pretty safe guess that we know absolutely whereof we speak, and in no instance have we yet failed. I have personally investigated the following proposition and firmly believe we have the richest and most marvelous offering in the West, and if you will join us, even for a small amount. I will endeavor to show you profits thereby that will make you permanent customers.—E. W. Smith.

When investing your money in any security it is always well to investigate the basic facts underlying the business back of the security.

The production of crude oil from the ground has for ages proven to be a very profitable industry, and therefrom has arisen many of the richest men of the world. Corporations engaged in this industry have amassed enormous profits and paid large dividends to shareholders.

Geologists schooled in their profession are enabled to determine in what localities crude oil may be secured by drilling wells. In some localities oil is secured at a depth of a few hundred feet, while elsewhere it is necessary to drill to a depth of several thousand feet. This to a certain extent regulates the expense of reaching oil.

Again, the quality of oil secured is an important factor in the ultimate profits which may be realized. Among the most valuable oil wells are those containing the largest percentage of paraffin, naptha, gasoline, lubricating, and other ingredients for which there is a ready market at substantial prices.

In the Pennsylvania fields there was formerly produced a large amount of high-grade oil which sold at several dollars per barrel, and millions of barrels made millions of dollars for the owners; but of late years this supply has diminished, and it has become a serious question among oil men as to where the future supply would come from, especially since the introduction of automobiles and gasoline engines has created an enormous demand for gasoline at high prices.

THE RANGELY OIL FIELD, located in Rio Blanco county, Colorado, is destined to fill the necessity now so much in demand. Doubtless this field would have become prominent many years ago but for the fact that Rio Blanco county has been practically without railroad transportation. In fact, at present only one railroad touches the county, and that merely across one corner, thus serving only about ten miles of the county, leaving other portions thereof nearly 35 miles from the railroad. Now that paraffin and gasoline oils are being produced, this situation will be speedily remedied. Already the Uintah Railway, the Grand River, Meeker & Salt Lake Railroad, the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway, and the Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific Railway are projected through this county, and soon Rio Blanco with its tremendously rich, undeveloped resources of high-grade oil, coal, gilsonite, mineralized rubber and other valuables, will reap its reward.

It is a well-known axiom that those who get into a country "ahead of the railroads" will get the greater profits. The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is now firmly entrenched as one of the factors of the Rangely Oil Field, and its 80 acres are considered as good as any in the district. However, other companies did the pioneering work. Six companies have already secured oil in 50 wells. In all of them have been found the same high-grade paraffin and gasoline oil and most of these wells strike oil at from 600 to 1,000 feet deep, proving it a shallow field.

The essentials of success and profit are clearly defined in the Rangely field: 1. Inexpensive drilling. 2. Shallow wells throughout. 3. High-grade valuable product. 4. Oil analyzed by the Standard Oil Company. 5. Oil analyzed by the U. S. Government experts. 6. Geologists of the U. S. examined the entire field.

Property—Eighty acres choice territory in the Rangely oil district, Rio Blanco county, Colorado, a field celebrated for its valuable paraffin and gasoline oils commanding four times the price of asphalt oils of California Texas and Oklahoma. The corporation has a 20-year lease, royalty only 10 per cent. of oil secured, and $1,200 ($15 per acre) cash when oil is struck, otherwise nothing is to be paid lessor.

The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is among the first in the field, reaching there "ahead of the railroads", and selected first choice of leases, and began drilling its first well. For the purpose of determining the value of this high-grade oil by expert analysis samples were taken from nearby wells, results of which are herewith submitted. They prove conclusively every claim made for Rangely high-grade oil.

EXPERT OPINIONS ON THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT.

The following are brief extracts from some of the most complimentary reports ever made upon an oil field, all of the parties in question having visited the Raven Park Field and subjected it to the most rigid and crucial investigation:

Mr. Samuel Baker says of the Raven Park Oil Field: "The field is a true anticlinal dome. The oil is a rich, golden brow color, and is very foamy, showing the presence of large quantities of gas and gas-forming materials."

Prof. Wm. B. Potter, the well-known geologist and mining engineer of St. Louis, who occupied the chair of Geology in the Washington University at St. Louis for over 12 years, says: "One of the marked and most favorable characteristics of the Raven Park field is the well-developed dome structure. Such dome structure is especially favorable for the storage of oil. And the natural pressure should insure powerful gushing wells when the oil sands are penetrated in drilling."

Mr. Robert L. Lund, upon the strength of whose report a St. Louis syndicate entered into a contract for extensive work in the field says: "The Raven Park oil field consists of an anticlinal dome, remarkable alike for its enormous size and the perfection of its foldings. The conditions in the field, it is believed, insure flowing wells under heavy pressure."

Prof. F. V. Hayden, than whom no more scientific geologist ever visited the Raven Park Oil Fields, in his report to the government says: "Raven Park has a quaquaversal shape. The dip of the strata is in all directions from the middle of Raven Park." (A quaquaversal dip is an anticlinal dome.)

Is The Government's Expert's RECOMMENDATION Good Enough For You ?

MILLIONS MADE IN OIL

Of course, you know of many men who have made their millions in oil fields. Many of you know that the leading and most successful oil operators have, for the past few years, been exploring the fields of Colorado. It is stated upon good authority that this field is destined to become one of the greatest fields in the world.

ALREADY A GOING CONCERN

This company has already begun drilling its second well, hence you are not invited into an unknown proposition. Work has begun in earnest and daily progress is being made. Hearing of the great excitement caused by the discovery of high-grade paraffin oil in Rio Blanco County, Colorado, our Mr. Smith made a careful personal investigation of the field last November. What he found was almost unbelievable. At a few hundred feet deep in this field, designated by the government as the Rangely Oil District, they were bringing in wells of oil worth $2 a barrel as it came from the ground. Compare this with California, Texas and Oklahoma crude oil worth about 50 cents a barrel and figure the large profits in sight. Fifty wells with the same high-grade paraffin oil prove absolutely the truths contained in the official government report on this district, "BOOK No. 350. RANGELY OIL DISTRICT," copy of which can be obtained free by writing the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Smith was fortunate in securing 80 acres of choice land, sufficient for 80 wells. Upon his return to Denver the latter part of November arrangements were perfected to begin immediate work and show our good faith by starting well No. 1 before asking anyone to put a cent into the proposition.

HERE IS A PROPOSITION

which for quick and large profits surpasses anything ever before offered by this financial house—a house with a record of success in every investment offering, and whose clients are making large profits, while others were losing to their money in purely wildcat securities.

The prompt response from those who received our recent announcement of the opportunity to secure pre-organization stock resulted in quickly securing ample funds for present requirements. Engine, boiler and complete outfit was secured, and expenses promptly paid, and we still have money in the treasury. Work in the field is being actively pushed, and success seems assured. Reports are exceedingly favorable for large profits to each shareholder. In future stock will only be sold from time to time at higher prices to provide for further development. In the near future we will need only to meet our pay roll and other expenses. For this purpose we will accept a few more subscriptions at three (3) cents a share, payable in five equal monthly installments. As only a limited amount of installment stock will be reserved at three cents a share, prompt application is necessary.

NEW CLIENTS INVITED

We want YOU with us in this great opportunity, no matter how small your investment. No one is allowed more than $200 worth at three cents a share, as the stock is thus limited so all will participate pro rata in this distribution, destined to make profits large enough to please each member.

Don't wait until you can send the maximum amount of $200, but take what you can at once, for the opportunity to-day offered you will be a matter of history, TOO LATE. We invite you to become a stockholder now, before price of shares advance.

An Invitation to the Reader

The corporation offers for sale a limited amount of treasury shares upon exceptional terms to investors who may desire to secure an interest in this great proposition. Funds received from this subscription offering are to be used in further extending the development work in the Rangely field, and with surplus constantly in its treasury, unusual opportunities of acquiring valuable holdings may be taken advantage of as they arise.

Immediately subscriptions have been received for this allotment of treasury stock it will be withdrawn from the market.

MONTHLY PAYMENT 20 PER CENT. WITH ORDER AND 20 PER CENT. A MONTH APPLICATION

As only a limited amount of stock will be sold at Three Cents a share, each subscriber will be limited to not exceeding $200 worth, so all can secure atleast a little of this original issue and participate in the advance in price of shares.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognise the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

Daniel Webster was frequently punished when a boy for appearing at school with dirty hands. On one occasion it occurred to him as he was nearing the school that his hands were hardly likely to pass muster, and having no other means of cleaning them, proceeded to lick one of them as clean as he could. On reaching school he was interrogated as to the condition of his hands, both of which were carefully concealed behind him, whereupon he produced the cleaner of the two for the inspection of the master.

"Daniel," said the master sternly, "if you find a dirtier hand than that on the school, I'll let you off."

The Sunday evening boat service from the WaWa hotel, Britannia, Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.

RECORD RAINFALLS

The Past Year in Great Britain Goes Down to Posterity as One of the Wettest of Seasons

The autumn and winter of 1910 seem to have gone down to posterity as record wet seasons. Not since the days when Noah gathered them in two by two has there been so much wrath directed against the Clerk of the Weather. And not without reason. The average rainfall for the last twenty-five years, for the last three months of the year has been 8.44 inches. The average had been exceeded in 1910 when December was a fortnight old. During the thirteen weeks ending December 12th, 1909, there were 301 hours of sunshine and but 3½ inches of rain. Last year for a similiar period there were 8½ inches of rain and but 227 hours of sunshine; and for three weeks of that period "King Sol" shone for four an a half hours only.

The significance of an inch of rain may be gathered from the fact that it is equal to 100 tons of water for every acre, or 64,000 tons for every square mile. From the beginning of October to the middle of December about 8 inches of rain had fallen in the Thames Valley, which meant that the Thames in just over two months had to negotiate a downfall of water equal to 1,951,744,000 tons, which would fill a channel 8,000 miles long, 10 feet deep, and 250 feet wide. The Thames Valley covers an area of 3,812 square miles, so that a fall of one inch over the whole valley is equal to 243,968,000 tons of water, which has been calculated to equal a river 10 feet deep, 250 feet wide, and 1,000 miles long. It is computed that the weight of rain that falls in the Old Country in the course of a year averages 3,000 tons to every acre, and, as there are 77,143,938 acres in the United Kingdom, this computation shows us that 231,431,814,000 tons of rain fall on its surface in the course of twelve months.

One of the heaviest rainfalls yet recorded in the British Isles was 2.24 inches in 40 minutes in Forfarshire, during a severe thunderstorm on June 18th, 1857. On August 1st, 1846, 3.12 inches fell in 2 hours, 17 minutes at Camberwell, London. Of heavy falls during one day the following might be mentioned: Ben Nevis Observatory, 7.29 inches, on October 3rd, 1890; Newport, Wales, 5.33 inches, July 14th, 1875; and Camusinas, Argyllshire, 5.60 inches, January 24th, 1868.

MY WIFE'S FUR CLOAK

"Are you all done? Fifteen shilling is all I'm offered for a beautiful lady's [illegible] It's simply [illegible] occasion."

The above sentences uttered in a stentorian voice I heard from a [illegible] In the window a large [illegible] announced that a sale of unredeemed pledges was being held.

"Oh, it's an auction sale," exclaimed my wife." She urged me to come in, and reluctantly I entered the [illegible] room with her.

The knight of the hammer was trying to put off some watches. There did not appear to be much demand for them and he turned to the shelf at his back and brought forth a neat brown paper parcel.

"Now you have been trying my temper, and I am going to try your purse. I have an article here that will tempt some of you ladies to buy."

So saying, he cut the string and unfolded the paper wrapper, and produced a lady's jacket.

"Look here now; there's a beauty. Why if I were a married man I'd buy it myself and take it home as a present to my wife."

He held out the garment, and exhibited it outside and inside.

"If ever I offered a bargain this is one. It's a real, genuine, first-class garment, made in the latest style. Hand it round the company, and let everyone examine it to satisfy themselves."

He addressed himself to one of the assistants, who, in obedience, took the jacket in his hand and moved in amongst the crowd, but only a few bestowed a cursory glance on the beautiful garment.

"Look at it, my lady," he said, addressing my wife.

My wife took the article and examined it carefully. I saw that she turned pale, and appeared to be agitated.

"Are you ill?" I whispered. "Let us go out to the fresh air."

She took my arm, and we emerged into the street.

"A faintness came over you?" I inquired.

"No," she replied in an almost inaudible voice. "I want that jacket," and she added something which only my ear could catch.

"Let's go back then," I said.

By the time we returned to the shop the auctioneer was volubly expatiating on the quality of the jacket, and reducing the upset price. No response seemed to come from the audience, and I waited expectantly till he came down to twenty shillings.

Now was my time. "Twenty shillings for the jacket," I said in a clear, firm voice.

"Twenty shillings I'm bid by this gentleman here," chimed in the auctioneer, brightening up. "Any advance on twenty shillings?"

"Twenty-five," came in a squeaky voice.

"Now we're doing well," cried the auctioneer. "Any advance on twenty-five shillings?"

"Thirty shillings," I put in promptly.

"Thirty-five," came from my squeaky-voiced rival.

The excitement among the audience was at its height when, as the hammer was about to fall, I called out loudly "Forty shillings."

No more bids were offered, and the jacket fell to me for two pounds.

"Is this jacket mine for two pounds and all it contains?" I said to the salesman.

"Certainly, when you pay the money," he answered.

With my pen knife, which I had in readiness, I ripped the stitches of the lining close to the neck. Then I inserted my two forefingers into the opening, and extracted a folded paper from the lining and the fur body.

"See here," I said, unfolding the paper. "That's a five-pound Bank of England note. Give me three pounds in change, and we are quits."

The auctioneer was dumfounded. Then recovering himself, he demanded angrily—

"Do you mean to tell me that that note was inside the lining of that—"

"I am not trying to deceive you. The people standing around saw me find the note."

"How, then, did you know that there was a five-pound note there? It does not belong to you. It's the property of the firm I represent.'

"You want to know how I knew the note was within the lining of the jacket. That is easily answered. I placed it there. The jacket belonged to my wife. It was stolen from our house eighteen months ago."

"That story won't wash."

"If you will have patience I will tell the story briefly, and these people can hear it and judge for themselves."

"Well, fire away," he exclaimed gruffly.

"There is my card. I live in Edinburgh. We are at present on holiday, and motored from Aberdeen to-day. In the spring of last year we arranged to take a trip on the Continent. The night before we were to start I got my wife to rip up the lining of her jacket, and in the opening I inserted the note, which was to be a reserve fund in case we should get stranded or lose each other.

"That night a fire broke out in the tenement in which we lived. Great was the alarm and excitement that prevailed in the district. Should the fire break through the floor above our house was doomed. My wife frantically urged on me to have our furniture removed.

"'Yes, that's what I will see to, but clear everything out of the bedroom first. Empty the wardrobe. Get some of those women to help you, and carry the contents to our friend's house on the other side of the street.'

"The volunteers went to work with a will and carried the clothes to my friend's house.

"All the damage we suffered was by water. Next day when we collected our property every article was restored with the exception of my wife's fur coat. The case was put into the hands of the police. Every pawnbroker and broker's shop in Edinburgh was searched in vain. How could it be found when the thief pledged it in a Glasgow loan office?"

When I finished there was a murmer of applause in the room. When it subsided the auctioneer spoke in a subdued tone.

"Yours is a very plausible story, and I am not prepared to question its veracity. Do you intend to claim the article to be restored as stolen property?"

"I might exercise my privileges in that direction," I replied. "But I know that under certain circumstances pawnbroke can claim compensation. I believe your firm acted in good faith As I bought it from you in open sale for two pounds, I here and now tender you that sum, and if that does not cover their loss I will make up the balance."

So saying I handed two one-pound notes to the auctioneer. He handed me the receipt. We shook hands, and my wife and I left the room with our treasure happily restored.

DR. BOYLE'S EARLY CAREER.

His Advice to the Woman With Special Views on Discipline.

The late Dr. David Boyle, the veteran archeologist, left a splendid monument to himself in the Ontario Provincial Museum, which he brought to its present state of perfection, but he also left another similar monument which is not so well known. When Dr. Boyle taught in the little village school at Elora, he had the same enthusiasm for research and folk-lore which afterward proved so valuable to the province. Before he went to Toronto to start his larger work, he had already gathered together curios enough to make an excellent little museum in the Western Ontario town. One room of the school where he taught was then devoted to it, but it has since been enlarged and removed to more commodious quarters.

Dr. Boyle was always a most enterprising citizen, and he suggested many ways of making use of the natural beauties of the village. As a schoolmaster, he was known far and wide as a disciplinarian, but many stories are also told of his wit. Some of his old pupils recall his encounter with the village virago, who could be silenced by no one, according to general public belief. The schoolmaster had punished one of her children, and as she retained that privilege for herself, she appeared upon the scene to protest. He allowed her to run along at a great rate till her vocal steam was almost exhausted. She devoted her energy chiefly to announcing that she was strongly opposed to corporal punishment, and that she wished him to remember it.

At last Dr. Boyle got a word in, and he asked simply, "Well, how do you think I should punish children when they will not behave?"

"I send them to bed," replied the woman.

"All right, madam," said the future curator of the Provincial Museum with a composure which completely disconcerted her, "if you will send down a couple of bedsteads, I shall be delighted to try the form of discipline which you find most effective with your children."

The woman beat a retreat.—Saturday Night

The Job Higher Up.

F. H. McGuigan, the ex-railway man who undertook the contract for Ontario's hydro-electric power line, is a big Irishman of warm heart and quick temper. There are probably good grounds for the rumor that McGuigan called Jim Hill something stronger than "falsifier," and that he used a similar word to a member of the Ontario Cabinet who tried to meddle too much with the hydro-electric department. Mr. McGuigan probably owes much of his success to keeping an eye on "the job higher up," a trait which is illustrated by an incident of his boyhood which is frequently related with gusto by his friends.

"The" McGuigan was employed at the time in carrying water for a gang of men engaged in railway construction somewhere in the St. Thomas neighborhood. In this humble capacity he began his career as a railroader. A strike was threatened among the men, and one of the engineers imparted to the boy the information that he might soon be out of a job.

"No, I won't, for I'll get yours," come back young McGuigan like a flash.

The engineer laughed. "I'd just like to see you run this engine," he said scornfully.

"I'll show you," persisted the water-carrier, and he did. There was little about the engine that he did not know. He could run it backward or forward, slow or fast. He had been simply keeping his eyes open, qualifying for "the job higher up."

The Wood in a Ship's Deck.

With the laying of the keel of the Europa, the biggest ship in the world, now under construction, comes the news from abroad that the gross tonnage of all the ships flying the Hamburg-American line flag has passed the 1,000,000 ton mark, or, to be correct, 1,022,452 tons. For years the Hamburg-American line has held the tonnage record for ships sailing under one house flag. Some idea of the enormous size of the Europa may be gathered from the order which has been given for 2,000,000 feet of Oregon fir to be used for the decks alone. For months this lumber has been drying near Portland, Ore., before being shipped to Germany. Special care is taken to provide only clear, vertical grain wood.—Christian Herald.

At a Psychic Dinner.

"Have you been to a psychic dinner yet?" asked a pretty girl at a studio tea. "No? Then you have missed the latest development of an idea adopted by those who always keep up to the very last scream in metropolitan life. It seems that real food is served, just as at any ordinary dinner, and one has to pay for it in real money, but everything has a psychic, soulful atmosphere. At one held recently a woman, presumably happily married, told of having met in her travels one of her past husbands—that is, a man to whom she is sure she was married in some previous existence. Isn't it a wonder what some people can dope out, when they try?"—New York Press.

What Tree Planting Did.

Between 1861 and 1878 trees were planted on 10,540 acres of the mountain Ventoux in Provence, France. The mountain is stony and the land seemed of no value. The forests which have grown are now yielding $10,000 a year, and it is figured that in five years the yearly yield of timber will be worth half as much more. The springs have reappeared in the country, the lands at the foot of the mountain have increased in value, and the villages have become prosperous.

That's the Name Given by Thousands to the Old Family Stand-Bye, "Nerviline."

1,000,000 BOTTLES USED ANNUALLY.

No better known or more popular family remedy has ever been compounded than "Nerviline." During the past half century its success has been phenomenal—due to the fact that it always cures.

"No one could get me to go to bed at night unless I was sure we had Nerviline in the house," writes Mrs. R. R. Weightman, of Bolton, P.Q. "Six years ago my husband was taken badly with rheumatism, which affected his right arm and shoulder. It was so sore and stiff as to be almost helpless for four years. I read of the cure of James E. Everett, and felt sure that when Nerviline cured like his, it would cure my husband. I got a dollar's worth of Nerviline, five bottles, in Buffalo, and am pleased to write you that the fourth bottle cured. We have since used Nerviline for Lumbago, Neuralgia, Colds, Chest Tightness and other minor ailments in the family and found 'Nerviline' to be the 'Sick Man's Friend.'"

Meat Prices to Advance.

Prominent meat packers in Toronto to predict big advances in the price of beef all over Canada this summer, owing to the heavy exportation to Western Canada this spring. The advance will not be relished by the beef eaters of Peterborough, who have already reached the price limit.

CORONATION CELEBRATION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I think our worthy Mayor should get busy and see that some kind of a building association is organized to construct homes for workingmen. This is one of the things I would try and do if I were Mayor. If our city is to develop, and if we are to become a manufacturing centre, the families of workingmen must have places to live in.

THE STANDARD LIFE ASSURANCE CO

The Revenue for the year was		$7,503,484
of which $4,863,786 was derived from Premiums and $2,639,698 from interest on Investments.
The Total Assets, as shown in the Balance Sheet amounted to		$63,549,153
From which deduct current Liabilities		1,331,937
Leaving Total Available Funds		$62,217,216
The Addition to the Funds for the year was		$1,134,852

The Rate of Interest for the year on the mean of the Funds at the beginning and end of the Accounts was £4.28 per cent.

During the year now closed the Company obtained an Act of Parliament, entitled The Standard Life Assurance Company's Act, 1910, under which the Company became incorporated on 16th November, 1910.

Quinquennial Investigation. At the close of the quinquennial period on 15th November, 1910, the usual Investigation has been made into the affairs of the Company.

The following is the Report made by the Committee of the Board specially appointed to scrutinize the Investments:—

"The Committee have carefully considered the values to be placed upon the whole of the Assets of the Company as at 15th November, 1910, and having obtained full and recent information as to Heritable Properties, Mortgages, Loans upon personal and other security, Stocks, Shares and Bonds, and all other classes of Assets and Balances, they find that the total amount of Assets at 15th November, 1910, was as stated in the Balance Sheet, $63,549,153.

"In bringing out this value, Assets in foreign currencies have been taken at approximately the rates of Exchange current at 15th November, 1910, full provision having been made for depreciations upon Heritable Properties, Mortgages, and Loans upon personal and other security at home and abroad; Stocks, Shares, and Bonds being taken at their Ledger Values in cases where there has been an appreciation, and at their Market Values where these were less than the Ledger Values.

"The Committee have not themselves examined the security writs for the above-named Assets that duty being laid by the Board upon the Auditor, to whose certificate reference is made."

It is a matter of common knowledge that the last four or five years have been a period of financial disturbance throughout the world, such as has not been witnessed for many years past. British securities in particular have seriously depreciated, and the American Bond Market has fluctuated violently. At the close of the Accounts on 15th November, 1910, values were much depressed. British Government securities having reached almost the record point of depreciation within recent years. American Railway Bonds were also at a low figure, although on the whole a considerably higher one than they had reached during the autumn. Already, however, markets generally are improving, but the Directors are convinced that a conservative policy in dealing with the Investments, as a whole is in the interests of the Company, and for this reason they have adopted the method of valuation outlined in the Report by the Investigation Committee which has just been quoted.

From the Total Assets shown, in the Balance Sheet, amounting to		$63,549,153
in order to arrive at the free Life and Annuity Fund there fall to the deducted the following, viz: Shareholders' Paid-up Capital	$584,000
Family Trust Fund	6,079
Leasehold and Capital Redemption Fund	29,546
Claims outstanding — Life	954,362
Annuities outstanding—Life	13,242
Annuities outstanding—Certain	243
Dividends outstanding	27,781
Bills payable	11,980
Staff deposit fund	61,346
Interest paid in advance, and Deposits to meet Premiums, etc.	88,636
Unclaimed Policy Value Account	56,791
Provision for commission on Agents' Balances, Expenses, etc., outstanding	117,356
		1,951,562
Leaving		$61,597,591
Against this sum has to be set the estimated value of the whole of the Company's Liabilities under Life Assurance and Life Annuity Contracts, and calculations of these have been carefully made by the Company's Actuary, who has reported to the Board.
The Om (or Office Males) Tale with 3 per cent. interest throughout has been employed for all Assurance risks other than those in the East and West Indies, while for East and West Indian risks the Company's own Experience Table with interest at 3 per cent. have been employed.
For Life Annuities the Oa (or Combined Offices Experience) Table with 3 per cent. interest has been employed.
It will be observed that the whole of the Company's Life Assurance and Life Annuity business is now valued on a 3 per cent. basis, in place of partly 3 per cent. and partly 3½ per cent as at the 1905 Investigation.
The Liability so brought out by the Actuary amounted to		$57,320,004
The free Life and Annuity Funds as already brought out amounted to		$61,597,591
setting against this the Liability as above, viz.:		57,320,004
There is left a Life Surplus of		$4,277,587
Of this the Directors propose to carry forward		211,523
Leaving an available Life Surplus of		$4,066,064
which the Directors propose to deal with as follows:
Available Life Surplus as above		$4,066,064
To this there fall to be added in order to bring out the fund for division the following payments made during the Quinquennium:
Dividends to Shareholders	$292,000
Intermediate Bonus to Policyholders	298,975
		590,975
Together making a Fund for division under Section 33 of The Standard Life Assurance Company's Act, 1910		$4,657,039
Interest upon Shareholders' Paid-up Capital of $584,000 at 5 per cent. per annum for 5 years		146,000
Leaving		$4,511,039
whereof 1-10th to Shareholders		$ 451,104
whereof 9-10th to Policyholders		4,059,935
As above		$4,511,039

The Accounts of the Shareholders, and of the Policyholders would stand thus:—

Shareholders' Account: Cr. For Interest on Paid-up Capital for Quinquennium as above		$146,000
For 1-10th of remaining Profits as above		451,104
		$597,104
Dr. For Payments to account during Quinquennium as above		292,000
Balance at credit available for Dividend during Quinquennium—1910-15		$305,104
Policyholders' Account: Cr. For 9-10th of Profits as above		$4,069,935
Dr. For Intermediate Bonus paid during Quinquennium		298,975
Balance available for Bonus		$3,760,960

The sum now divisable among the Policyholders would be allocated thus:

To the Equal Scheme a Bonus at the rate of $15 per mil. per annum requiring	$3,541,288
To the Tontine Scheme a Bonus at the rate of 1.66 per mil per annum requiring	210,055
To the Minerva and Victoria Companies a Bonus corresponding to one-sixth of the premiums paid since 15th November, 1905, requiring	9,617

000, feels now that he did his duty, and that he obtained a reward commensurate with the executive ability displayed. The shareholders of the Water Company, after taking outside independent judgment and advice, offered to sell the plant to the city at $250,000. The civic authorities, from evidence now before the public, also obtained outside independent reports, and was advised that $250,000 was a fair and reasonable and minimum price for which to pay for the same plant. Why, then, should this amount not have been paid? The Civic authorities were not dealing with foreigners or people living outside the Corporation, but on the contrary with ratepayers and life long residents and their representatives with people who had devoted 25 years to the interests of the city, risking their all many times in their effort to make the plant a paying one—one they knew would eventually be taken over by the city, not scamping a yard of work, getting and giving the best in labor and materials that could be obtained. Is this not an ample evidence why the city is split into cliques, and the evident want of confidence in representatives of the city is so apparent and the result in the practical working out of the financial returns to the city from Civic ownership of the plant is also explained. Purchased in iniquity, so it is bound to grow. Many a $20,000 of the people's money has already been dissipated, and more will follow, and as one writer on the Industrial Commissioner's treatment by some of the members of the Council says: "independently entirely of the morality of the transaction is the lasting soreness, want of confidence and lack of maturality of interest in all affairs that should pertain to the common weal of all in the government of the city," or words to that effect. We must remember, too, that the shareholders of the old company did not wish to dispose of a plant that was but trying to earn a dividend, and that it was only by threats of confiscation, by expensive arbitration proceedings on the part of a Municipal Corporation against struggling impecunious shareholders, that the compromise at a sum of $20,000 below its value, fixed by the Corporation's own engineers, that purchase was finally effected. Thanking you for use of your columns.

TRENTON AND PETERBOROUGH.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice in the Toronto Globe of Wednesday last, a statement that Trenton "Since the construction of the Trent Valley Canal has begun, thus developing the great waterpowers of the Trent River by the series of dams now nearing completion and the great power house at dam number two. The Mayor and Councillors, assisted by an energetic Board of Trade, are making things hum and have done yeoman service in the past few months in bringing the town's advantages and cheap electric power to the notice of the manufacturers."

Compare this with what is being done in Peterborough and we have a very unhappy contrast. Trenton has no high salaried Industrial Commissioner, and yet she expects to land two splendid industries, one being the Canadian Iron Mines Company, with a capital of $1,500,000, and the other the Canadian Pearl Button Company. These industries will give employment to several hundred skilled mechanics.

It will be noticed at once that Trenton is not beginning at the wrong end. Unlike Peterborough the town secured power at the right price, to start with, and the Town Clerk and backed by the Council and Board of Trade did the rest.

OBITURY

Mr. J. M. Donovan.

A well known and highly esteemed business man passed away on Thursday night, in the person of Mr. J. M. Donovan in the fifty-second year of his age. Mr. Donovan carried on a grocery business at the corner of MacDonnell and Aylmer streets, during the past few years. His health failing him some years ago he was not able to give his business the attention it would otherwise have received, but notwithstanding this he was very successful. He was a man who had a faculty of making friends and retaining them, and his death will therefore be deplored by very many. He leaves to mourn his demise, his wife, one sister, Mrs. E. Tromley, of this city, and two brothers, James of Toronto, and William of Seattle.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, corner Aylmer and MacDonnell streets, at 2.30 o'clock to-morrow, May 21st, 1911, to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery, for interment.

Choir Boy Honored.

The Choir Boys of St. John's church presented Master Herbert Banster, one of their number, with a handsome framed picture of St. John's church, on Thursday evening, on the occasion of his departure for England. The boys, in bidding Master Herbert Herbert good bye, expressed the hope that he would soon return, and wished him a safe and pleasant journey.

VOLXXXIV NO. 121 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, MONDAY MAY 22 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

AN ULTIMATUM TO U. S. SENATE BY DEMOCRTAS

MUST VOTE ON TARIFF LEGISLATION OR SIT THROUGHOUT THE DOG DAYS, SAYS DEMOCRAT LEADERS

Provided the Terms Are Met, the House Will Agree to a Recess From July 1 to October 1.

Washington, May 20.—What is practically an ultimatum was served on the senate to-day by the Democratic leaders of the house, that there must be a vote in the senate at this session on Canadian reciprocity, on the farmers' free list bill and on the revised wool tariff.

Provided these terms are met the house will agree to a recess from July 1 to October 1, otherwise the senate will be held in continuous session throughout the dog days by the house refusing to adjourn.

The Democrats do not expect that the senate will ratify all their tariff legislation of the special session, but they want a record vote, it is declared, whether affirmative or negative, on the three principal measures—reciprocity, the free list and the wool tariff.

Senator Burton of Ohio declared to-day that this word had been communicated to the senate from the house side and that, in his opinion, should the house leaders adhere to this policy the prospects of a recess were not very bright.

TEN THOUSAND EARN MORE THAN $25,000 A YEAR

London, May 20.—A fair idea of the great wealth of the United Kingdom may be gathered from the statement by the chancellor, Lloyd-George yesterday, that 10,300 persons were liable to the super-tax in 1909-10. In other words they had more than £5 000 a year.

The total income of these persons was £130,000,700, or an average of £12, 721 each.

This is the first indication that has ever been given of the number of rich men in this country, or their average income.

ROYALIST PLOT BEING HATCHED

BRUSSELS PAPER SAYS MILLION DOLLARS HAS BEEN COLLECTED FOR PURPOSE.

A Big Religious Riot—Occurred in North Portugal Despite the Government's Prohibition.

London, May 19.—A Brussels paper the Peuple, states it has learned from an authoritative source that a serious Royalist plot against the Portuguese Republic is now being organized.

The plotters are anxious not to move without a reasonable chance of success, and are seeking to raise funds to cover the cost of a military expedition, which will start from Eigo, Spain, and enter Portugal at Oporto, where the conspirators have sympathizers in garrison.

The journal adds that a representative of a financial group, which has already collected 200,000 pounds ($1,000,000) for the purpose, is now in Brussels, where he is interviewing various financial personages, to whom he is offering mining and railway concessions in Portugal, should the expedition be successful.

According to a Lisbon despatch to the Daily Mail, a religious riot occurred at Braga, in Northern Portugal, where the clergy held commemoration services in the churches of the diocese, and many private houses were illuminated at night. Despite the Government's prohibition of outdoor religious demonstrations, a large number of anti-clericals marched through the streets, smashing lamps and Chinese lanterns and breaking the windows of seminaries, schools, and private houses.

Two clubs were entered and the crowd demolished the furniture, books and everything else they could find. They then proceeded to the printing office where the newspaper the Combate is published, and destroyed the printing machines.

The Mundo, addressing the Nation to-day says that if the priests abandon their churches they should be forcibly compelled to return to their posts. The people are also warned that the priests are in league with Jesuits abroad in order to provoke fratricidal tumults among the Portuguese, and thus bring about a pretext for foreign intervention.

PUBLIC OPINION

DON'T HURT THE FISH.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I notice a paragraph in one of your contemporaries, saying that "during a rain storm oil finds its way to the gutter and finally a large quantity finds its way to the river and the fish suffer accordingly." I can assure Mr. Angler, that he need have no fears. What little that will reach the river will do no possible harm to the fish or to anything else. This, however, is not the kind of fish that some of these alleged kickers are after. They are after the members of the Council and hope to discredit them, if possible, in the eyes of the ratepayers. But other tactics will have to be employed than the above.

D. J. Matthews.

WOULD COST ABOUT $500.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have noticed from time to time suggestions in the press regarding the use of Central Park for band concerts. Now, sir, I do not think those who are favoring a change quite understand the matter. In the first place, the band stand would have to be covered in order to give effect to the harmony, otherwise it would go upwards, and the best of the music would be lost. This would cost at least $300.

In addition there would be at least 100 benches required, at a cost of say $2.00 each.

I quite agree with some of the writers, that it would be more central, and probably would be more largely patronized than Victoria Park but the noise and racket of the street cars in passing would destroy the effect of some of the finer parts of the best selections.

When the Council is prepared to put up at least $500 I am sure it will be time enough to talk about making a change.

Bandsman.

NEW CITY HALL.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to see that the Times is in favor of the erection of a new City Hall for Peterborough. If it is true that there is $40,000 already available for the purpose it seems to me that our Council would be very unwise to spend any money in patching up the present Police Court buildings. It would be, to my mind, the most foolish thing imaginable. Let our worthy Mayor get busy and start the ball rolling.

Felix.

THE INDUSTRIAL COMMISSIONERSHIP.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The half dozen or more gentlemen who call themselves the Board of Trade surely must know that it is not the right way to begin by putting on a $4,000 a year man to try and induce industries to locate in Peterborough before the city is equipped with power. It is, to my mind, like starting to build a superstructure before a foundation is provided. Besides, Mr. Editor, I think $4,000 a year is an excessive salary. It is almost as much as a cabinet minister receives. Neither does the work require any special training. I will venture to say there are at least a dozen men in our own city who would fill the bill equally well for $1,500 to $2,000 a year. Give our capable City Clerk a good assistant and he would, I verily believe, get as good results as it is possible to achieve under present conditions. Please remember, Mr. Editor, I have nothing against Mr. Duggan. He no doubt has done the best he could under the circumstances. But I do not see why about $80 per week should be paid, when less than half would be too much.

Common Sense.

RECIPROCITY BATTLE IS ON M. P.S AWAY TO HOMES

LIVELY CONFLICT ON IN QUEBEC WITH BOURASSA AED LEMIEUX LEADING OPPOSING SIDES.

Saskatchewan Conservatives Approve of Borden's Course, But the Grain Growers Lay for Him.

Ottawa, Ont., May 20.—(Special)—The last of the politicians left to-day for their homes. Blazing hot weather, the hottest the "oldest resident" can remember prior to Victoria Day, made them thankful there was such a place as home, far distant from the sweltering, badly ventilated chamber of Canada's parliament.

There has been a lull in the battle of reciprocity. It has been but the lull before the storm. Next week the storm will burst in the country and will continue with vehemence until the country says "nay" or "yea," to the American preference conceived by Taft and Laurier to retrieve the fallen fortunes of the Republicans and Liberals.

CONFLICT IN QUEBEC.

In Quebec there will be a vicious conflict. Bourassa has been here arranging with his Nationalist brethern of the Canadian Commons for a touring campaign Lemieux, on the other side will talk reciprocity. Bourassa, Monk and party will denounce reciprocity and the navy.

The two parties will cover the same ground, so that it will be a question more or less of oratorical capacity. In this respect Bourassa is supreme in his native province. He is a prince among orators.

The fight in Nova Scotia has begun and in a week or two Borden will stump the West. The field will be prepared for him by his Western followers.

This morning there came from Moose Jaw, Sask., the first reply to the formal announcement of Mr. Borden's western tour. It is a resolution passed unanimously by the Conservatives there commending the attitude of the opposition leader warmly approving of the stand he has taken regarding terminal elevators and generally expressing the supremest confidence in his conception of what is best for Canada and Canadians.

Winnipeg, Man., May 20.—The executive committee of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association to-day officially declared they propose to meet R. L. Borden on his Western tour.

An expression of his views on the tariff, reciprocity, government ownership and operation of all terminal elevators and of the Hudson Bay Railway, the chilled meat industry and the necessity of having efficient co-operation legislation enacted by parliament will be demanded of Borden, says the executive report to-day.

Brandon will be the chief storm centre as it was with Laurier, though Borden will be met at each point he stops by the local grain growers committee.

A POLICEMAN ARRESTED A JUDGE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, May 19.—Judge W. B. McInnes, of the County Court, and formerly a member of the House of Commons, was placed under arrest yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The judge was talking with a friend at the corner of Richards and Hastings streets, when policeman No. 101 came along and accused him of blocking the sidewalk. He ordered the judge to move. The policeman not knowing who he was, placed him under arrest. A crowd of a couple of thousand immediately gathered while the policeman sent for a patrol wagon. A number of people in the crowd threatened to rescue the judge, and a riot was nearly started.

Just at this moment J. A. Russell a barrister, appeared and attempted to identify Judge McInnes. The policeman ordered Russell to go about his business and said:

"This man is under arrest and I am going to keep him."

Another policeman arrived on the scene in a few minutes, and induced the first officer to allow Judge McInnes to accompany Mr. Russell to the latter's office, which was only a few steps away. They departed while the crowd jeered the policeman. A few minutes later Judge McInnes was released.

BIG ELEPHANT JUMPS CIRCUS TEARS THROUGH GARDENS AND TERRIFIES HORSES

Woodstock, May 20.—one of the large elephants belonging to Howe's London circus did the disappearing act in Ingersol this morning. Its going was not noticed by the attendants who were all busy in setting up the show here.

Shortly after seven o'clock, however, he was missed and examination of the neighborhood disclosed the fact that he had done considerable damage before leaving the town in a southerly direction. Gardens were trampled and fences were torn down as by a cyclone and evidence led to the belief that the brute had gone in the direction of Verschoyle.

A search was instituted and after some time news reached town that the elephant was safe in the bottom of a ditch one mile north of Verschoyle, six miles from town, and, was unable to get out. Horses on the road were terrorized by his trumpeting, and farmers found difficulty in getting them to go past, though the beast was some distance away

Returned From Cochrane.

Major Geo. W. Bennett, the Provincial Superintendent of Government Highways, has just returned from an official visit to New Ontario, visiting Cochrane, Copper Cliff and other points. Major Bennett's duties will naturally be somewhat difficult until complete organization is effected. The requirements are very great in that district, as the inward rush of prospectors, as well as settlers is very great, necessitating the construction and opening up of new highways. Major Bennett will return to Cochrane this week, for a short time longer.

FINE NEW WHARVES ON LOWER OTONABEE

Through the personal efforts of the Hon. J. R. Stratton, M.P., a number of new wharves have been constructed on the river between the city and Rice Lake. The last wharf to be completed was the commodious new structure at Campbellstown, about ten miles from Peterborough. This wharf will be a great convenience to the residents of a large area of Otonabee, in facilitating access to steamers by the Otonabee people, and will also be a great convenience to masters of steamers in effecting landing or embarking of passengers and whatever freight may be offered. Mr. John Fife, ex-reeve, has long advocated this wharf, and Hon. Mr. Stratton, assuring him that as soon as the work could be completed it would be done, has succeeded in interesting the government to the point of practical action and the result is an excellent new wharf. Nor has the opposite side of the river been neglected. A few miles further up the river on the North Monaghan side, a new wharf has been built, which will serve a considerable section of North Monaghan contiguous to the road between the eighth and ninth concessions. When it is opened out, This wharf is also situated near the T.A.S. Park, which is a popular resort, frequented many times during the year by a large number of our citizens.

These wharves constitute a great convenience to the public and the navigation interests of the city and are justifiable as adding to the business and pleasure possibilities of the river south of Peterborough, which is one of the most charming river reaches in the country. At the rate in which local interest is stimulating the construction of wharves in the river, by the time the canal is completed, it will be well equipped, in this regard, and with a little improvement on the channel, removal of obstructions, etc., the Otonabee will be one of the most delightful aquatic resorts in the country.

Several additional wharves along the stream will be constructed this season if the appropriations are not blocked by the obstruction of the opposition.

BRONCHITIS

COLDS, COUGHS, CATARRH AND THROAT TROUBLE.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and chest ailments needs a soothing, healing, medicine, which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at its source, disperses the germs of disease, and cures the ailment thoroughly. And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure, pine, medicinal essences, whereas if a liquid or tablet remedy were used, the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"CATARRHOZONE"

A Breathable 'Direct' Medicine.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums—all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensible as "Catarrhozone."

For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhozone, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment, guaranteed, price $1; smaller size, 50c; at all druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Campbellford Despatch:—Talking of industries reminds me that up in Peterborough they are having quite a shindig over their industrial commissioner. Last year the council appointed Mr. Duggan as industrial commissioner, whose duty it was to be on the qui vive for new industries, and to see that they are located by the banks of the Otonabee. But the Electric City does not believe in making two bites of a cherry, and so because capitalists from the four quarters of the earth did not flock to Peterborough within a few months, the council decided to dispense with the commissioner's services. All of which seems likely to raise the dust up there. However, Campbellford does dot need a dust raiser of that kind. Our dust is self-raising.

Another little affair, that is agitating the classic minds of Peterborough folk is the fact that the oiled streets are detrimental to tyred vehicles, be they bicycles, automobiles or buggies. People don't know when they are well off. Oil may be bad for the tyres, but dust is worse for the lungs. It is a wonder the tyre owners of Campbellford don't pass a vote of thanks to the town council saving their India rubber at the expense of their lungs! If our Peterborough friends would only migrate to Campbellford the C. P. guarantees there will not be any oil to injure their tyres. Oh, most considerate town council.

A COUNCIL OF WAR.

The proposed peace treaty between Great Britain and the United States bids fair to become a failure because the United States wants all matters of arbitration to be made subject to the concurrence of its senate. The senate is the highest legislative body in the republic, and contains some very able men. But the evidence has been offered of how cranky and irreconcilable they can become. The trade agreement was negotiated by representatives of the government, who acted in a non-partizan and independent way. These men co-operated with the administration in the development of a purely business proposal. It passed the lower house, but was held up and jockeyed out of the senate, and the president had no alternative than to call a special session of congress and insist upon its action That is a sample of what may happen at any time in connection with the peace negotiations. The senate may be the only body in the United States which can compete a treaty, but it is too cumbersome and too liable to change of membership and policy, to meet the conditions in an ideal way. The senate is indeed a council of war, generally, not a council of peace.

Woman's World

Remarkable Book by Paris Sewing Woman.

MARGUERITE AUDOUX.

Marguerite Audoux, a Parisian sewing woman, has recently received the prize of $1,000 offered by La Vie Heureuse for the best book published in France during the year. The book, "Marie Claire," is for the most part autobiographical. It consists of incidents in the life of Mlle. Audoux, who did not begin writing until a few years ago, when she was obliged to give up sewing on account of threatened blindness. Mlle. Audoux confesses to little knowledge of French writers, but the novels of Charles Dickens and Charles Reade in their French translations were her favorite reading. She says that these novels and the Bible constituted her sole literary training. The book in France has already gone into its tenth edition and is soon to be translated into English.

Octave Mirbeau, a noted French critic, says: "Artistically it is the equal of any work by the great authors of France. Its exquisite charm lies in its fine simplicity and absolute sincerity."

Says Wife Should Aid in Business.

Lady Hope thinks a woman who helps her husband with his business is the ideal helpmeet. "A man's two ambitions," says she, "are his home and his career. His home is often the making of his career, if he has a tactful, restful wife of a cheerful and happy disposition. I cannot help thinking the ideal woman should be true to the first pattern. She must be a helpmeet to the man. 'It is not good for man to live alone' were the initiatory words pronounced on her introduction to this beautiful world. Today, though thousands of years have passed by since then, the same motto holds good, and men who have the truest views of life and its responsibilities will be found to concur in it. Woman finds her greatest rewards in life by maintaining her rightful position—that is, by being a good mother, a good daughter and a good sister and, above all, a good wife. Could any one estimate her influence too highly if she fills these positions well?"

Why He Liked Them.

"Have you ever read the Bible from beginning to end?"

"Yes. When I was a boy my parents compelled me to read a chapter every night."

"What part most appealed to you?"

"The Psalms and the Proverbs."

"That's curious. Ordinarily a boy would not be expected to understand the Psalms and Proverbs as readily as he would some of the stories, such as the story of Joseph and that of Samson."

"It wasn't because I understood the Psalms and Proverbs, but they were cut up into shorter verses than any of the rest of the Bible, consequently I was able to get through the pages faster."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Hasty Judgment.

"I can never consent," she was saying. "To my daughter's becoming your bride."
"Then sad is my fate. I am doubly
Forsaken," the young man replied,
"For the goal of my twofold desire
I foolishly fancied I saw—
A bride with the grace of an angel
And a young looking mother-in-law."

Then her voice, it was sweet with emotion.
"I'm oftentimes hasty, I find,
And if here I have erred I should do you
But justice in changing my mind."
—Woman's Home Companion.

Willing to Support Proxy.

A freshman of the University of Pennsylvania was called upon to vote for officers in a recent gathering. Not being well acquainted with the nominees, he thoughtfully hesitated before filling out his ballot.

One of the company left the room with the explanation that he would "vote by proxy."

"So will I," said Albert and, with his pencil poised above his paper, leaned over to a companion on his right and asked:

"Say, what's Proxy's first name?"—Philadelphia Times.

Adieu.

On the road to Mexico,
Where the hot tamales grow,
Where the peiqee trickles down
In the tom strong and brown
And the senorina smile
In a Delsco sort of style,
On the slender maize and
List the tinkling castanet.
A quo here will you go
Down the road to Mexico?
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Enlightened.

"Pa," said little Frank as he turned the pages of his history, "can I ask a question?"

"What is it, my son?" asked his father without looking up from the sporting page.

"How did the old Puritans keep warm in the winter time?"

"Why, I guess they used the mercury. Now, don't ask me any more foolish questions."—Chicago News.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy-Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

A Delayed Execution.

An eighteenth century execution on Kennington common was stopped for a time owing to a strange cause. On Aug. 19, 1763, two days before the date of the execution, a heavy fog came over London, accompanied by thunder and lightning and torrents of rain. These conditions lasted for nearly forty-eight hours, and many people believed that the last day had arrived. When the time fixed for the execution arrived the assembled crowd cried shame on the sheriff for hanging a man when the world was coming to an end. As he persisted in his preparations they burst through the barriers and stopped the proceedings, shouting that the culprit might as well wait a few minutes, when the grand summons would come to all. The sheriff had to obtain the assistance of a force of soldiers before the execution could be carried out.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

It is said of Captain Adrian Jones, who has designed the four-horse war chariot, weighing upwards of thirty tons, which is to be erected in London as a memorial to "Peace," that he is probably the only living sculptor who understands a horse from tail-tip to nostril. As a boy he loved and studied horses, and would have liked to become an artist, but his father had other plans, and he entered the Army. He saw much active service, and was then advised to become a sculptor, having devoted most of his spare time when in the Army to painting and sculpture.

Meat Prices to Advance.

Prominent meat packers in Toronto to predict big advances in the price of beef all over Canada this summer, owing to the heavy exportation to Western Canada this spring. It seems that the demand from the west for this class of cattle is rapidly increasing despite the extraordinary number of new farmers settling there year after year. The advance will not be relished by the beef eaters of Peterborough, who have already reached the price limit.

VANCOUVER

THE METROPOLIS OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Where fortunes are being made by investment, which cannot be equalled anywhere else in Canada. The position that Vancouver occupies, the same on the Pacific, as Montreal occupies on the Atlantic, also the fact that Vancouver is an open port the whole year round, means beyond a possible doubt, that Vancouver will be the greatest city in the Dominion.

Vancouver is the only gateway to the Orient from the whole of Canada, which demonstrates that this will be the greatest Canadian shipping port, owing to the enormous development of western Canada. This together with the fact that the immense wealth of the natural resources of the province of British Columbia, its timber,: fisheries, fruit, coal and other minerals, must make it clear, that you can invest your money here to better advantage than elsewhere.

Vancouver offers to-day, the opportunity of a life time for both the small and the large investor, and if you will act on our advice we will positively guarantee to make returns for you that will surprise you. We have a reputation that we are proud of, and can furnish the very best references. Do not delay, write us at once.

HOW A LICK SAVED A LICKING

Daniel Webster was frequently punished when a boy for appearing at school with dirty hands. On one occasion it occurred to him as he was nearing the school that his hands were hardly likely to pass muster, and having no other means of cleaning them, proceeded to lick one of them as clean as he could. On reaching school he was interrogated as to the condition of his hands, both of which were carefully concealed behind him, whereupon he produced the cleaner of the two for the inspection of the master.

"Daniel," said the master sternly, "if you can find a dirtier hand than that in all the school, I'll let you off."

The answer was immediate.

"Here it is, sir," said Daniel, and with the exclamation he produced the dirtier hand from behind his back.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the WaWa hotel Britannia, Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.

The Addition to the Funds for the year was		$1,134,852

During the year now closed the Company obtained an Act of Parliament, entitled The Standard Life Assurance Company's Act, 1910, under which the Company became incorporated on 16th November, 1910.

Quinquennial Investigation. At the close of the quinquennial period on 15th November, 1910, the usual Investigation has been made into the affairs of the Company.

The following is the Report made by the Committee of the Board specially appointed to scrutinize the Investments:—

"The Committee have carefully considered the values to be placed upon the whole of the Assets of the Company as at 15th November, 1910, and having obtained full and recent information as to Heritable Properties, Mortgages, Loans upon personal and other security, Stocks, Shares and Bonds, and all other classes of Assets and Balances, they find that the total amount of Assets at 15th November, 1910, was as stated in the Balance Sheet, $63,549,153.

"In bringing out this value, Assets in foreign currencies have been taken at approximately the rates of Exchange current at 15th November, 1910, full provision having been made for depreciations upon Heritable Properties, Mortgages, and Loans upon personal and other security at home and abroad; Stocks, Shares, and Bonds being taken at their Ledger Values in cases where there has been an appreciation, and at their Market Values where these were less than the Ledger Values.

"The Committee have not themselves examined the security writs for the above-named Assets that duty being laid by the Board upon the Auditor, to whose certificate reference is made."

It is a matter of common knowledge that the last four or five years have been a period of financial disturbance throughout the world, such as has not been witnessed for many years past. British securities in particular have seriously depreciated, and the American Bond Market has fluctuated violently. At the close of the Accounts on 15th November, 1910, values were much depressed, British Government securities having reached almost the record point of depreciation within recent years. American Railway Bonds were also at a low figure, although on the whole a considerably higher one than they had reached during the autumn. Already, however, markets generally are improving, but the Directors are convinced that a conservative policy in dealing with the Investments, as a whole is in the interests of the Company, and for this reason they have adopted the method of valuation outlined in the Report by the Investigation Committee which has just been quoted.

From the Total Assets shown in the Balance Sheet, amounting to		$63,549,153
in order to arrive at the free Life and Annuity Fund there fall to the deducted the following, viz: Shareholders'
Paid-up Capital ..$584,000
Family Trust Fund	6,079
Leasehold and Capital Redemption Fund	29,546
Claims outstanding — Life	954,362
Annuities outstanding—Life	13,242
Annuities outstanding—Certain	243
Dividends outstanding	27,781
Bills payable	11,990
Staff deposit fund	61,346
Interest paid in advance, and Deposits to meet Premiums, etc.	89,936
Unclaimed Policy Value Account	56,791
Provision for commission on Agents' Balances, Expenses, etc., outstanding	117,356
		1,951,562
Leaving		$61,597,591

Against this sum has to be set the estimated value of the whole of the Company's Liabilities under Life Assurance and Life Annuity Contracts, and calculations of these have been carefully made by the Company's Actuary, who has reported to the Board.

The Om (or Office Males) Tale with 3 per cent. interest throughout has been employed for all Assurance risks other than those in the East and West Indies, while for East and West Indian risks the Company's own Experience Table with interest at 3 per cent. have been employed.

For Life Annuities the Oa (or Combined Offices Experience) Table with 3 per cent. interest has been employed.

It will be observed that the whole of the Company's Life Assurance and Life Annuity business is now valued on a 3 per cent. basis, in place of partly 3 per cent. and partly 3½ per cent as at the 1905 Investigation.

The Liability so brought out by the Actuary amounted to $57,320,004.

The free Life and Annuity Funds as already brought out amounted to		$61,597,591
setting against this the Liability as above, viz.:		57,320,004
There is left a Life Surplus of		$4,277,587
Of this the Directors propose to carry forward...		211,523
Leaving an available Life Surplus of		$4,066,064

which the Directors propose to deal with as follows:

Available Life Surplus as above		$4,066,064
To this there fall to be added in order to bring out the fund for division the following payments made during the Quinquennium:
Dividends to Shareholders $292,000
Intermediate Bonus to Policyholders	298,975
		590,975
Together making a Fund for division under Section 33 of The Standard Life Assurance Company's Act, 1910		$4,657,039
Interest upon Shareholders' Paid-up Capital of $584,000 at 5 per cent. per annum for 5 years...		146,000
Leaving		$4,511,039
whereof 1-10th to Shareholders		$ 451,104
whereof 9-10th to Policyholders		4,059,935
—As above		$4,511,039

The Accounts of the Shareholders, and of the Policyholders would stand thus:—

Shareholders' Account:
Cr. For Interest on Paid-up Capital for Quinquennium as above		$146,000
For 1-10th of remaining Profits as above		451,104
		$597,104
Dr. For Payments to account during Quinquennium as above		292,000
Balance at credit available for Dividend during Quinquennium—1910-15		$305,104
Policyholders' Account:
Cr. For 9-10th of Profits as above		$4,059,935
Dr. For Intermediate Bonus paid during Quinquennium		298,975
Balance available for Bonus		$3,760,960

The sum now divisable among the Policyholders would be allocated thus:

To the Equal Scheme a Bonus at the rate of $15 per mil. per annum, requiring	$3,541,298
To the Tontine Scheme a Bonus at the rate of 1.66 per mil per annum requiring	210,965
To the Minerva and Victoria Companies a Bonus corresponding to one-sixth of the premiums paid since 15th November, 1905, requiring	8,617
	$3,760,960

Children's Chest Troubles

Nurse Carrington Says Her Long Experience Proves the Safest Remedy is to RUB ON NERVILINE!

Every mother knows how difficult it is to get a young child to take a cough mixture. Seldom will one help unless given in large doses and the result is to completely upset the stomach and make the child sick.

Speaking of the promptest cure for chest troubles and children's colds, Nurse Carrington says: "In all my experience in nursing I haven't met any preparation so dependable as Nerviline. It is the ideal liniment. Every drop you rub on is absorbed quickly sinks through the pores to the congested muscles, eases, relieves and cures quickly. Especially for chest colds, pain in the side, stiff neck, earache, toothache, I have found Nerviline invaluable. In treating the minor ills of children Nerviline has no equal. I think Nerviline should be in every home."

A million bottles of Nerviline used every year—this is itself a burden of proof that it is the ideal liniment for the home. Refuse anything your dealer may offer instead of Nerviline. Large bottles 25c, five for $1.00. Sold everywhere, and by The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Distribution of Bulbs.

The annual distribution of bulbs to the members of the Horticultural Society, was made on Saturday, when about 100 members received bulbs.

A Splendid Donation.

The Children's Aid Society wishes to gratefully acknowledge the receipt of a cheque for $30 from Messrs. John Riddell and John Buckan, the executors of the estate of the late Robert Riddell of South Monaghan.

Back to Lindsay.

John Williams, who blew in from Lindsay, appeared before Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court on Saturday, charged with being drunk. He pleaded guilty, and also pleaded for another chance. His Worship's heart softened, and he was let go, on a promise to hit the trail back to Lindsay.

LAWN BOWLERS—ATTENTION!

There will be a general meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling and Tennis Club in the Dominion Bank Chambers, Monday evening, May 22, at 8 o'clock. Everybody come.
Geo. Clarke, Secretary.

Port Hope Bowlers Coming.

Four rinks of lawn bowlers will arrive here on Wednesday, May 24th, and will engage an equal number of local men in a friendly contest. The visitors will arrive at 8.20 a.m., and will therefore spend the day here. Play will begin about 10 a.m.

Will Ask for $200.

We understand that an effort will be made to secure $400 by subscription and otherwise, for the purpose of sending two of the local Boy Scouts to the Coronation, and that the Council will be asked to contribute $200 of the amount. A deputation of citizens will wait on the Council at an early date to urge the claims of the boys.

Lawn Bowlers to Meet.

The Times is requested to ask the members of the Brookside Bowling Club, as well as others who intend to become members, to meet this evening in the Dominion Bank Chambers. The object of the meeting is to arrange for the season's work, including the election of skips. A large attendance is therefore requested.

Was Fined Ten Dollars.

It is somewhat expensive for blacksmiths to take a drink, even if they think it will keep them cool during the hot days. Herb. Landry, who is on the Indian list, was found drunk on Saturday morning and was assessed $10 at the Police Court. He got down into his dip and paid the fine.

"Sunny Jim" Becomes an Indian.

"Sunny Jim" Wilson appeared at the Police Court on Saturday morning, having been found sleeping in a building at the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe streets, on Friday night. He explained that his heart had bothered him, and he got some liquor to relieve it, and wandered into the building to take a rest. Mr. Chas. Clarke his employer, asked to have Jim put on the Indian list, which was done. Jim will now be obliged to resort to strategy to obtain his usual supply of booze.

Well Deserved Congratulations.

It appears that owing to some misunderstanding, the arrangements for the luncheon tendered Hon. W. J. Bryan in the Y.M.C.A. were not carried out as originally proposed, and at 10.30 a.m., the contract was transferred to Messrs. Coleman Bros. Just how splendidly they did their work, the hundred guests present can testify. The luncheon was almost as perfect as it possibly could be, and thus reflected the greatest credit on Messrs Coleman Bros., the well known caterers. Much praise is also due the ladies who so gallantly came to the rescue and waited on the tables.

Distribution of Bulbs.

Older members of the Horticultural Society, who have not already been served in the spring distribution of plants—this season a Crimson Rambler Rose plant, or an Hydrangea Paniculata Grandiflora—will not be neglected. If any are inadvertently overlooked they would confer a favor by communicating with the secretary, Mr. F. Wise, Superintendent of the Little Lake cemetery, Phone 175.

Presented With a Purse.

Mr. W. Brishin and family, who have taken up their residence on Murray street, previous to leaving Yelverton, were presented with a purse by their neighbors and friends.

A Large Funeral.

The remains of the late J. M. Donovan were interred yesterday. The funeral left the family residence, corner Aylmer and MacDonnell streets, at 2.30 p.m., and proceeded to St. Peter's Cathedral where mass for the dead was said thence to St. Peter's cemetery, where interment took place.

Off To-Day.

The local members of the Coronation Contingent, Sergt. Sucese No. 3 Company; Sergt. Brightman, of the Signalling Corps, and Sergt. Lavelle, No. 1 Company, 57th Regiment, P. B., have received their issue of clothes from headquarters and expect to leave here to-day.

Prof. Lowe at St. Paul's.

Professor J. J. Lowe, occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's Church yesterday morning and evening. In the evening he gave one of his celebrated illustrated addresses to a large congregation. Prof. Lowe will conduct services every night this week at St. Paul's Church.

Will Stay in Jail.

County Police Magistrate Edmonson has received a letter from the asylum authorities in Toronto, requesting him not to dispose of the case of Edward Robbins, who is charged with insanity, and who is confined in the jail here. It seems there is no room at present in any of the Provincial Asylums for him.

The Roberts' Home Burned.

The old Roberts Homestead at the Indian Village, Chemong Lake, was totally destroyed by fire on Saturday night. It is said that the family were absent from home. The Times was unable to get particulars. About twelve years ago, it will be remembered, Mr. Roberts and his two sons were drowned while crossing the channel which divides their island from the mainland.

Lindsay's Cheap Power.

Lindsay is losing no time in following the proposal of Hon. Adam Beck in regard to the purchase of the Fenelon Falls power plant which now supplies Lindsay with power. A by-law agreeing to the terms of the contract entered into with the Light, Heat & Power Company for the purchase of their plant at $230,000, will be submitted to the ratepayers for their approval.

A Progressive Institution.

The management of the Peterborough Business College, are not letting the grass grow under their feet. Not only are the latest and most up-to-date methods employed by the excellent staff of teachers in the institution, but a thorough system of booking pupils has been inaugurated. representatives of the college visit the various towns and villages throughout the district, where they meet and discuss their cirraculum with prospective pupils. Mr. McKone, the popular and efficient principal, evidently is the right man in the right place, and is sure to make the institution over which he presides second to none on the continent. Peterborough has good reason to feel proud of its Business College.

We offer for sale $100,000.00 worth of stock of THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION, LIMITED. This Company has been incorporated under the laws of the Province of British Columbia and its objects are to purchase good City lots and erect buildings thereon. It is the intention of the Company to confine itself to the erection of dwelling houses for the immediate future, as this line of building offers the largest returns. The operation of the Company are confined to safe, legitimate and profitable business It aims to fill the law of supply and demand. The demand for dwelling houses is far in excess of the supply. The population of Vancouver is increasing at an enormous rate and it is very difficult to procure houses or living quarters of any kind. In 1903 there were scarcely 60,000 people in Vancouver and today the population of Vancouver is about 150,000. The building permits for March, 1911, exceeded $2,500,000.00, surpassed by few cities on the North American continent.

The Los Angeles Investment Company, operating along similar lines, has earned 40 per cent. annual dividends for the last fifteen years. THE COLUMBIA PROPERTIES CORPORATION should also earn excellent dividends for its shareholders.

THE DIRECTORS are men of good standing in Vancouver and Western Canada and will carefully safeguard the interests of the shareholders.

The Company is capitalized at $250,000.00 in shares of $50.00 each. The above issue of $100,000.00 is being placed on the market at $55.00 per share; terms $10.00 per share payable on application and $10.00 per month. The shares are non-assessable. All the Townsites are flooded and row-boats are being used to get about except in the case of Porcupine City which on account of being some 50 feet above the surrounding country is free from water. Building operations are proceeding briskly as there is nothing to prevent getting around.

No one who knows the district can doubt for a moment that the only place to secure building lots in the district is in Porcupine City, but you had better communicate at once if you want to secure some thing good at reasonable prices with

225 CHINAMEN KILLED BY REBELLIOUS MEXICANS

Eagle Pass, Texas, May 22.—In a desperate fight between Mexican Insurrectos and Chinamen at Torreon, two hundred and twenty-five Chinamen were killed. This information was received here today by Sam Wah, owner of the International Hotel at Ciudad Porfirio Diaz across the river from here.

Details of the reported slaughter have not reached here except that of the number of Chinamen killed were fifty of Wah's ranchmen. Wah has telegraphed the Chinese Minister at Washington asking for protection.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL AIRSHIP WILL FLOAT UPON THE WATER

Barrow-in-Furness, England, May 22.—Great Britain's first naval airship, the construction of which has been surrounded by much secrecy, was successfully launched here to-day and is now anchored behind wind screens erected in the harbor. The airship was christened "The Mayfly."

The airship which is 502 feet in length is of the rigid type, with a blunt nose tapering to a pointed stern. A feature o the construction is the provision for two separate gondolas for the engines.

The airship is specially designed for naval purposes and is moored on the water.

The outer covering of the upper half of the dirigible, which is 46 feet in diameter, consists of silk treated with a special waterproof dressing, over which aluminum dust has been sprinkled. The lower part of the bag is of yellow silk treated with the same water-proofing material, but without the aluminum.

The frame work contains eighteen gas bags, filled with hydrogen.

Mrs. Donaldson.

The funeral of the late Miss Fowler daughter of the late Mr. Georg Fowler, and wife of Mr. Donaldson, took place on the arrival of the 11.40 G. T. R. train from Penetanguishene, where the deceased passed away. Mrs. Donaldson's many friends in Peterborough will deeply regret to hear of her demise.

Cottage Burned at Sandy Point.

Mr. W. H. Cluxton's cottage at Sandy Point was destroyed by fire about mid-day on Wednesday the fire is supposed to have run through the dead fields at back of point, which was on fire. It was furnished ready for occupation. The cottage was erected by Mr. Cluxton 41 years ago, and was the first summer cottage built on what was then called the Black Lakes. The store and boat-house was not destroyed. It is an interesting landmark removed and has associated with it many memories of pleasant summers.

Laid at Rest.

The last sad rites in connection with the demise of Mr. Edward K. Dolan, took place yesterday morning. The funeral proceeded from McFadden's undertaking establishment to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the R.C. cemetery. Rev. Father McColl sung high mass at the Cathedral. The pall bearers were Messrs. George Lynch, Fred McGrath, James Doris and Louis Potvin, friends of the deceased. Mr. Jas. Dolan, a brother, and Mr. Ambrose Regan of Sault Ste Marie, a brother-in-law. The relatives present were Messrs. Jas. Dolan, Mrs. Regan, Miss Margaret Dolan of Toronto, sisters, and Mr. Ambrose Regan, brother-in-law. Messrs. R. E. Dolan, and T. J. Dolan, and Sister St. Ambrose, brothers and sisters of the deceased, were unable to be present.

How Would This Plan Work?

In regard to cleaning up the yards of Peterborough, a novel and practical idea was carried out to successful completion in an American town this spring. All the school children were promised a Friday afternoon half holiday, if during the preceding days of the week they would engage in a regular clean-up of back yards and boulevards. The result was marvelous. Everybody turned out and helped the children. The teachers acted as inspectors during the progress of the work, and such a renovation was effected as was never seen before. The town at the finish looked like a different place. The child on earned the half holiday and they got it by unanimous consent. The improvement in the town was not the only benefit. The children were taught a salutary lesson which they will always remember. It may be too late to adopt this plan in Peterborough, but one thing the citizens should do—they should attend to the work of cleaning up if it is not already done.

Poles on the Streets.

The Times is anxious that the unsightly poles which now disfigure our principal streets, should be removed as speedily as possible. This is absolutely necessary if we are to have paved streets. In Lindsay we see by the Warder, there appears to be a general understanding among the town councillors that a permanent pavement will be put down on Kent street next summer, and at the meeting, the clerk was instructed to write the various companies having poles already erected on Kent street, to have them removed as soon as possible. Some time ago the secretary of the Lindsay Board of Trade communicated with the various companies in regard to the above matter and it is understood that all agreed to have the unsightly poles removed whenever notified by the council. The wires will either be placed underground or moved to the rear of the stores on Kent street.

Was Too Obliging.

Sometimes a man can be too obliging, so obliging as to get himself disliked. Thus it happened that when Mr. Edward Warner, of Orillia, stepped off the train from Barrie and started to walk down the railway track with his suit case that Inspector Fisher stepped up to him and said, "Ed. I'll carry that for you." "Oh, never mind, don't trouble," replied Mr. Warner. "Oh, no trouble at all, it's too heavy for you," and the Inspector relieved the unwilling Warner. The suit case contained five bottles of good old Irish whiskey which Mr. Warner declared was for his own use, but which Inspector Fisher claims was for illegal purposes. Magistrate Clark will decide the point.

RUBBER PAVEMENTS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I take the following from a daily paper, and think it worthy of reproduction in The Times:

Will the roar of city traffic, and its wearying and nerve-racking din, ever be silenced, remarks the Christian Guardian? Some rubber enthusiasts claim that the solution of the problem lies in rubber pavements, and that these will not by any means be impossible inside of a few years. At present the price of crude rubber is prohibitive, but it is thought that an increased output will cause the price to drop a point where rubber pavements will become a commercial possibility. Next month there will be a rubber exhibition in London, England, with King George as Patron and Sir H. A. Blake as president, and all the rubber producing areas of the world are expected to be represented. At the last rubber exhibition Sir H. Blake said that a certain prominent manufacturer had assured him that when rubber sold at 50 cents per pound it could be utilized economically for street pavements. But rubber of late has not been heading towards the 50 cents a pound mark. Some think, however, that by 1915 the price will be low enough to justify its use for paving the streets. But some of us think that a good number of other things may happen before that time. For the present, then, the city's multitudinous noises must continue, and we must bear it with what grace we may.

USE CENTRAL PARK.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would urge the Council to light up the band stand in Central Park for summer band concerts. It would not cost much, and would be a very popular act. There are many reasons why this park should be used for band concerts in preference to Victoria Park, the principal one being that the music would sound 50 per cent better on account of the park being level instead of on the side of a hill. Another good reason is, Central Park is far better adapted for accommodating a crowd.

I believe Ald. Duncan is chairman of the Property Committee, and I would therefore ask him to see that the band stand is lighted and additional seats provided. I am sure, with his usual push and foresight, he will do this, and thus add to the pleasure of hundreds of citizens during the summer season.

FARMER'S WIFE TELLS HER STORY

FOUND A CURE FOR ALL HER ILLS IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

She Was Tired, Worn Out and Nervous, and Suffered From Rheumatism, but Two Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her.

Hawthorne, Ont., May 22.—(Special)—Mrs. T. G. Alexander, wife of a well-known farmer living near here adds her testimony to that of the thousands who have learned from their own experience that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Kidney Disease.

"I suffered for twelve years," Mrs. Alexander says, "My back ached, my sleep was broken and unrefreshing, I was nervous and tired and I was troubled with heart flutterings. Rheumatism developed and added to my suffering.

"I was in a very run-down, worn-out condition when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but I am thankful to say they gave me relief almost from the first. Two boxes cured me completely."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys. Cured Kidneys mean that all impurities are strained out of the blood. That means pure blood all over the body and the banishment of that tired, heavy feeling, and those pains and aches that impure blood brings.

COL. MILLER WILL BE TENDERED NOMINATION

THE TIMES IS SO INFORMED ON EXCELLENT AUTHORITY

Candidates for the Ontario Legislature are Being Quietly Selected---A Third Man in East Peterborough

That preparations are being quietly made for the approaching elections for the Ontario Legislature, is apparent. This is no doubt, due to the fact that the Dominion elections are likely to be on in the fall, after Parliament adjourns. This will mean that there is a busy time ahead for the politicians. In each of the two Peterborough ridings the convention which selects candidates for the Dominion House, also does the same for the Legislature, hence the action of the Conservatives in getting their men ready. The Times learns from a source that is absolutely reliable that Col. J. W. Miller will be tendered the nomination for the Ontario Legislature for the West Riding, Mr. T. E. Bradburn, the sitting member, having decided to retire. For some time Mr. Bradburn's health has not been the best, and this is the main reason why he will not seek re-election. His retirement will be a distinct loss, not only to the party, but also to the whole Province. The Legislature has one more session, after which a general election will follow. This will have to take place before 1st June next, at which date the four-year period, which is the extreme life of the Ontario Parliament, expires.

Col. Miller is without doubt, one of the strongest men in the riding on the Conservative side. He is well known and deservedly popular with all classes. He has had some political experience, having run against the Hon. J. R. Stratton, when the latter was Provincial Secretary.

IN EAST PETERBOROUGH.

There is considerable difference of opinion regarding the East Riding. Mr. Thompson, the present member will, we understand, again seek re-election. His work in the Legislature has been fairly satisfactory. Regarding the East Riding The Times is not in a position to speak with authority. Rumor, however, has it that if the Liberals will run a candidate, as assuredly they will, there will be three in the field. The third man will probably be a Conservative, and will enter the contest as a protest against the government's attitude in respect to bi-lingual schools in the Province. In fact, it is almost certain that all candidates will be obliged to show where they stand on this important question before they are elected, or allowed to run.

SIX NEGROES TAKEN FROM JAIL AND SHOT TO DEATH

Lake City, Fla., May 22.—Six Negroes were killed here yesterday after a party of more than a dozen men, masquerading as officers, appeared at the County Jail and secured possession of the men by presenting a bogus telegram supposed to be from the sheriff to the sixteen year old son of the sheriff, ordering the release of the negroes to the alleged posse of officers.

The negroes were being held here for safe keeping upon the charge of murdering B. B. Smith, a sawmill man of Wadsboro and wounding another man named Register, on May 12th.

The men who had come from Telle Passe to Lake City in automobiles took the negroes about a mile outside of Lake City. They compelled the negroes to stand abreast and about ten men commenced firing with rifles and pistols until everyone of the six had been riddled with bullets.

JULES MOTOR FACTORY NOT FOR PETERBORO'

Trenton is Striving to Secure the Proposed Industry.

The Jules Motor Company, who proposed to locate their factory in Peterborough, provided the city would give them a fixed assessment as well as get stock subscribed to the amount of $20,000, have gone to Trenton, where a somewhat similar arrangement is under consideration by the council of that town. There was between $2,000 and $3,000 stock subscribed in this city, which will not be available for the purposes of the company unless the factory is built here. It is said, however, that the company will endeavor to hold the local subscribers even against their will.

In Trenton, the minimum amount was reduced from $20,000 to $10,000. Already $6,000 of the required $10,000 was subscribed at a public meeting held a few days ago.

THE LAST STRAW—Advt.

JUDGES MAKE SOME SCORCHING COMMENTS ON FRASER WEDDING

Toronto, May 22.—The exciting annals of the contest between the young [illegible] and the relatives of the eighty-year-old bridegroom, Michael Fraser, of Midland, took on a new color this morning, at the continuation of the argument between the Divisional Court.

Since the last hearing of the appeal of Catherine McCormick against the judgement of Mr. Justice Britton, declaring Fraser sane and competent, the visit of the Divisional court was made to the old man's home where they gathered evidence for themselves as to the chief points at issue.

"IRREGULARITY IN VISIT."

Before the adjournment to enable the judges to make their personal investigations, Mr. John King, K.C., who, with Mr. J. A. Grant, of Orillia, is acting for Mrs. Fraser in the defence, made it plain to the Court that he objected to the procedure on that ground of irregularity.

GUARDIANSHIP TALKED OF.

Before the hearing was through the Justices made it clear that the validity of Michael Fraser's marriage did not now enter into the case, but was taken as proven. Mr. King showed great satisfaction at clearing up that difficulty and directed his attentions mainly upon arguing against the appointment of a guardian for Fraser. Their Lord-ships discussed freely the advisability of aguardianship, although no decision was reached on that point to-day, and it settled that the statute of Mrs. Fraser and others in relation to [illegible] should be made quite clear.

Mr. King called on Mr. Creswicke to continue his argument when the court opened.

"Continue your own," admonished the Chief Justice. "We do not desire to hear Mr. Creswicke further just now."

The counsel for Mrs. Fraser accepted the instruction and proceeded

THE TWO ISSUES

"There were two issues considered by the court," said the lawyer. "One was the soundness of Fraser's mind at the time of his examination by Mr. Justice Britton; the other the capability of Fraser to take care of his own affairs. The onus was on the plaintiff to establish both facts, not only the alleged unsoundness of mind but his personal irresponsibility in financial and other matters.

"A person may be at certain times incapable, and in other matters and at other times quite capable," argued Mr. King.

"Then what is the deduction, if a man is "incapable of managing his affairs."

"It doesn't mean that because he has forgotten a particular transaction that he has no ability to act for himself," said he.

Sciatica

EXPECTED DEATH ANY DAY.

Another Case Where Life Was Saved and Health Restored by "Nerviline."

We have all read and heard of the agonies of Sciatica, but only those who have been tortured by this dread malady can fully appreciate what it must mean to be cured after years of suffering.

It is because he feels it his solemn duty to tell to the world his faith in Nerviline that Victor P. Hires makes the following declaration: "For three years I was in the Royal Mail Service, and in all kinds of weather had to meet the night trains. Dampness, cold and exposure brought on sciatica that affected my left side. Sometimes an attack would come on that made me powerless to work. I was so nearly a complete cripple that I had to give up my job. I was in despair, completely cast down because the money I spent on trying to get well was wasted. I was speaking to my chemist one day, and he recommended "Nerviline." I had this good liniment rubbed on several times a day, and got relief. In order to build up my general health and improve my blood I used Ferrozone, one tablet with each meal. I continued this treatment four months and was cured. I have used all kinds of liniments, and can truthfully say that Nerviline is far stronger, more penetrating, and infinitely better than anything else for relieving pain. I urge everyone with lumbago, neuralgia, rheumatism or sciatica to use Nerviline. I know it will cure them."

CURED SIX YEARS.

There isn't a more highly-esteemed citizen in Westchester than Mr. Hires. What he says can be relied upon. For six years since being cured he hasn't had a single relapse. Don't accept anything from your dealer but "Nerviline." 25 cents per bottle or five for $1.00; sold everywhere, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

That Old Winter Cough

The Cough Syrup You've Taken Has Sickened But Not Cured You.

You'll Never Be Well Till You Heal the Lungs with "Catarrhozone.

Nothing pulls down strength, makes you wretched, miserable and despondent like a chronic cough. The old-fashioned liquid mixtures slip down the throat, enter the stomach and do little else but ruin digestion.

Catarrhozone is the only breatable cold, catarrh and cough medicine. Instead of taking drowsy drugs, chloral, morphine and opium mixtures, you simply inhale the richest pine balsams, breathe into your lungs the healing soothing vapor of a scientific remedy that commands the admiration of all good physicians.

The extraordinary efficacy of Catarrhozone is without a parallel. A sneezing cold is cured in ten minutes, a harsh cough is eased in an hour, the most offensive catarrh is thoroughly drawn from the system. In case of Asthma and bronchitis the relief and certain cure that comes from the healing balsamic extracts in Catarrhozone is simply wonderful.

"For more than twenty years I suffered with a cough, bronchitis, asthma and nasal catarrh," writes J. E. Fenwick, of Staunton P.O. "Every attack I had seemed to grow worse and I could hardly breathe on account of an accumulation of phlegm in the nose and throat. One day I tried Catarrhozone and in ten minutes was wonderfully relieved. I could breathe freely and naturally through the nose, and blood spitting was stopped—the phlegm was cleared away and my regular breathing restored. No remedy can do more than 'Catarrhozone.'"

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

A SURE THING.

All Canadian Government Annuities are payable for life no matter how long the Annuitant may live, but the Guaranteed Annuity, that is an Annuity, which for a slightly increased payment is guaranteed to be paid for 5, 10, 15 or 20 years as may be desired should the Annuitant die before the period mentioned had expired, enables a purchaser to provide for the contingency that someone may be dependent upon him at the time the Annuity falls due. For example, a man 75 years of age recently purchased an Immediate Annuity of $300 to be guaranteed for ten years, for which he paid $2,643. If he should die at, say, 80, the $300 a year will be paid to his heirs for the remaining five years, but in any case he will receive the Annuity as long as he lives should he live to be one hundred or more. This means in other words that the sum of $3,000 is guaranteed to be paid whether he lives or dies. The $2,643 had been invested at 6 per cent., and was yielding an income of $158.58; so that his income is now almost double that which he formerly received. Literature fully explaining the Annuities scheme as applicable to both young and old may be had by writing to S. T. Bastedo, Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, to whom letters go free of postage.

RUSSIA'S NEW NAVY.

Not even the moujik is proof against the lure of a new navy. Why we should expect more from the moujik in this regard than from the stolid but well-educated German, or the emotional but generally economical Yankee, is not quite plain. The fact remains, nevertheless that the determination of the Russian douma to stand side by side with the Czar and his cabinet in the matter of naval construction has been accepted by the universal peace enthusiasts as a hard blow to the cause and a bad omen of future developments.

It is true that Russia, not so many years ago, could afford to talk disarmament, and did talk it. That, however, was during the days when fear of the Russian army and respect for the Russian navy had not been shattered by campaigns in Manchuria and a voyage to Tsu-Shima. To-day it is different; before Russia can again hope to be listened to as an advocate of Peace, she must put herself in a position to be feared as an agent of War. That such a state of affairs is regrettable, does not make it any less a recognizable fact.

For nearly a year there has existed a difference of opinion between the three forces which determine official action in Russia as to what should be done in the way of acquiring a navy which would again rank, numerically at least with the great navies of the world. Memories of events on the ill-fated voyage to the Far East had, apparently, a chilling effect upon the enthusiasm of the members of the Douma, who looked upon the subject from the unsympathetic standpoint of tax-payers rather than from that of friends and relatives of the chief participants for there was a long delay in securing what the Court and the Cabinet, the other two members of the government trilogy, considered an adequate appropriation for the rehabilitation of the navy. Time, moral suasion, and other parliamentary methods work wonders, however, and the armament has just been made that $500,000,000 has been agreed on by the Douma as a reasonable sum to vote for the reconstruction of the navy. With half a billion dollars to spend, Admiral Gregorovitch can do quite a little in the way of securing up-to-the-moment Dreadnaughts and Indefatigables. The only thing he cannot buy with it is a new reputation for the officers and men of the navy itself. Until the old one is "re-organized", it will take a specially magnificent equipment of warships to make Russia greatly feared on the seas.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Boboaygeon Independent: Congressman Moore of Philadelphia, states from statistics, that $320,000,000 were spent last year in the States for soda water. Such shocking waste Think of the happy homes that such a huge sum of money might make, of the groceries that might be purchased for starving humanity, of the missionaries that might be sent to foreign heathen. Shocking. And all of those millions squandered by temperance people. Is it any wonder that some folk take to drinking lager, or even beer.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

WEALTHY SCHOOL-BOYS

Marquesses and Earls in Eton Jackets —Own 600,000 Acres

Among the boys who are now cramming [illegible] at Eton and Harrow are the [illegible] of the "nobs", are two Princes and no fewer than six-teen youthful lordlings, who among them will one day divide fifty-three titles, lord it over [illegible] acres—an area three and a half times that of the entire County of Middlesex, and, roughly speaking, as large as Cheshire or Northamshire—and will be able to pick and choose among forty-two of the most palatial "pleasure-houses" in the United Kingdom.

Probably the most enviable of these aristocrats in Eton jackets is the Marquess of Hartinton, heir to all the vast possessions of the Cavendishes, with their dukedom and five other titles of peerage. He will have six magnificent mansions in England, one alone of which is said to be worth $20,000,000, and a seventh in Ireland. His pictures alone at Chatsworth, Hardwicke, and Devonshire House represent more than a king's ransom; and the land that will call him lord will be more than Rutland County, with the County of London thrown in.

Then there is the seventeen-year-old Marquess of Titchfield, future Duke of Portland, and owner of the priceless treasures of Welbeck Abbey, of three castles and mansions in Scotland, and a house in Grosvenor Square. He will be duke, marquess, earl, viscount, and baron, all in one, and will own more acres than are crowded into Middlesex.

Bruce Arthur Ashley Ogilvy, an Etonian of fifteen summers, is known in Scotland as the tenth Earl of Airlie, and holder of a barony more than four centuries old. His ancestral home is Cortachy Castle, in Forfarshire, and he owns more land than you will find in Banffshire or Linlithgow. A fellow-peer of the same age at Eton College is the Earl of Lathom and Baron Skelmeradale, who has had a title ever since he had his first rocking-horse ride in the Lathom House nursery, and who owns considerably more than a hundred square miles of land. And a still younger schoolboy earl is my Lord of Stamford, aetat fourteen, earl and baron, and a descendant of the old-time Dukes of Suffolk.

These three Etonian earls are all peers in their own right, and not merely courtesy lords; and within a few years they will probably have exchanged their school jackets for the ermine and scarlet of the House of Lords.

OLD SAYINGS IN RHYMES

As poor as a church mouse, as thin as a rail,
As fat as a porpoise, as rough as a gale,
As brave as a lion, as spry as a rat,
As bright as a sixpence, as weak as a cat.

As proud as a peacock, as sly as a fox,
As mad as a March hare, as strong as an ox,
As fair as a lily, as empty as air,
As rich as was Croesus, as cross as a bear.

As pure as an angel, as neat as a pin,
As smart as a steel trap, as ugly as sin,
As dead as a door nail, as white as a sheet,
As flat as a pancake, as red as a beet.

As round as an apple, as black as your hat,
As brown as a berry, as blind as a bat,
As mean as a miser, as full as a tick,
As plump as a partridge, as sharp as a stick.

As clean as a penny, as dark as a pall,
As hard as a millstone, as bitter as gall,
As fine as a fiddle, as clear as a bell,
As dry as a herring, as deep as a well.

As light as a feather, as hard as a rock,
As stiff as a poker, as calm as a clock,
As green as a gosling, as brisk as a bee,
And now let me stop, lest you weary of me.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

It is said of Captain Adrian Jones, who has designed the four-horse war chariot, weighing upwards of thirty tons, which is to be erected in London as a memorial to "Peace," that he is probably the only living sculptor who understands a horse from tail-tip to nostril. As a boy he loved and studied horses, and would have filled to become an artist, but his father had other plans, and he entered the Army. He saw much active service, and was then advised to become a sculptor, having devoted most of his spare time when in the Army to painting and sculpture.

The police again desire to warn the boys against the use of fire crackers. This is the last notice they will receive.

BIRDS ON THE WING.

Wonderful Feats of Gliding Performed By the Vulture.

On the horizon in tropical countries there often appears a small black point visible only to the practiced eye. The point increases in size as it approaches. It is the sailing bird par excellence, the vulture, says The Strand Magazine, returning to its hollow in the rock a dozen miles away.

A glider who sails magnificently upon its outstretched wings, without a beat, without the slightest deviation from its perfectly straight track, it thus traverses the space from one horizon to the other, again becomes an imperceptible point and disappears, leaving the spectator marveling at the simplicity with which nature solves a problem of mechanics which appeared impossible to man.

When one observes a sea eagle perched upon a lofty cliff it may be remarked that in order to quit its eyrie it waits until a gust of wind arises, then it lets itself fall forward with extended wings, gives a beat or two as it turns, brings itself to face the wind and thus mounts without a wing beat hundreds of yards high.

A gliding bird so sets its wings that the air currents make an angle with their plane. The wind thus sustains its weight and gives it at the same time a forward movement. If its force is stronger than is necessary to obtain these two effects it produces a third effect—the bird mounts into space without a wing beat. If the air suddenly became calm the bird would fall, but the fall would be astonishingly slow.

Prof. Drzewiecki has calculated that a gliding bird at a height of 1,200 yards at the moment when it commences to descend with motionless wings can by setting them at the most favorable angle touch the ground at a horizontal distance of about fifteen miles. If the wind fall large birds can always, with a few wing beats, attain an altitude where they will find a wind which will permit them to continue their journey "on the glide."

The gusts and eddies of the wind are, of course, great disturbers of flight, and few birds attempt to struggle with a tempest. Even the strongest fliers have not from this point of view so much boldness as they generally get credit for. Thus the stormy petrel is so named, not because it braves the storm, but because as soon as a storm threatens it will often seek for refuge on a ship's rigging and thus foretell the tempest. And if the albatross loves the stormy waves it is only because it frequently alights upon the water, where it often sleeps securely to the rocking of the billows.

Shakespeare Censored.

The dramatic censorship in England to-day, much as it is abused, is very mild compared to what has been known in former periods when many of Shakespeare's plays have been censored. Colley Cibber in his autobiography tells us of one master of the revels, who was responsible for the licensing of plays in his day, expunging the whole first act of Cibber's adaptation of "Richard III." on the ground that the distresses of Henry VI. would remind weak people of King James, then living in France. On another occasion "King Lear" was prohibited during the illness of George III. George Colman, when reader of plays banished the use of such words as "gasp" and "heaven."—London Mail.

Meat Prices to Advance.

Prominent meat packers in Toronto to predict big advances in the price of beef all over Canada this summer, owing to the heavy exportation to Western Canada this spring. It seems that the demand from the west for this class of cattle is rapidly increasing despite the extraordinary number of new farmers settling there this year. The advance will not be noticed by the best eaters of Peterborough, who have already reached the price limit.

VANCOUVER

THE METROPOLIS OF THE PACIFIC COAST

Where fortunes are being made by investment, which cannot be equalled anywhere else in Canada. The position that Vancouver occupies, the same on the Pacific, as Montreal occupies on the Atlantic, also the fact that Vancouver is an open port the whole year round, means beyond a possible doubt, that Vancouver will be the greatest city in the Dominion.

Vancouver is the only gateway to the Orient from the whole of Canada, which demonstrates that this will be the greatest Canadian shipping port, owing to the enormous development of western Canada. This together with the fact that the immense wealth of the natural resources of the province of British Columbia, its timber,: fisheries, fruit, coal and other minerals, must make it clear, that you can invest your money here to better advantage than elsewhere.

Vancouver offers to-day, the opportunity of a life time for both the small and the large investor, and if you will act on our advice we will positively guarantee to make returns for you that will surprise you. New Train Service to "Lake of Bays."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches, parlor cars and dining cars at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point at about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with the steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the WaWa hotel, Britannia, Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays" to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays.

SEAMENS' STRIKE.

Glasgow, Scotland, May 19.—At a largely attended meeting of seamen to-day, Secretary Fleming of the local Seamen's and Firemen's Union, stated that a date for a general strike at all ports had been fixed but that the union officials had decided to keep the date secret until the eve of the day that the strike was to become effective.

It is reported here that May 24th has been chosen as the day upon which to quit work.

NO PREROGATIVES TO CATHOLICS

—Toronto, May 20.—In its leading editorial this week The Sentinel combats the claim of La Presse and other French-Canadian papers that the treaty of Paris conferred on the Roman Catholic Church in Quebec the "free exercise of the Catholic religion,"—as a result of which its canon law is binding on the law courts.

NOT ENTITLED TO THESE RIGHTS.

"Our French-Canadian friends in Quebec," it says, "are claiming rights in connection with the marriage laws to which they are not entitled. Some of them may be honestly mistaken. We cannot believe that the Bishops are ignorant of the law. It is in harmony with their practice, however, to assume powers which they do not possess. By reiteration they frequently convince the law-makers that they are correct in their assumptions, and the result is that a good deal is conceded to which they have no valid claim. While they have no hesitation in making the most extraordinary demands, the leaders of Protestantism are culpably timid in resisting their encroachments. Thus it comes that public opinion is chloroformed upon many questions when it should be stimulated to aggressive action by vigorous agitation.

"Touching the marriage laws, La Presse sets out the claims of the Roman Church in a recent issue in these sentences:

"'It is evidently not the liberty of the citizens which it is desired to protect, but it is the liberty of the Catholic Church which it is desired to subvert. There is talk of addressing the Federal Government, and even the Imperial Government, if necessary, to obtain uniform legislation in regard to marriage. Such uniform legislation would be a violation of the constitution itself. Not only by the constitution, but by the treaty of Paris, we have the right to the free exercise of the Catholic religion. England would be resistant to her sworn faith should she take from the Catholic Church the prerogatives which she enjoys.'

NO PREROGATIVES BY THE TREATY.

"This is the time-honored argument of Rome in Quebec," says the Sentinel. "As a matter of fact, the treaty of Paris does not confer upon the Roman Church in Quebec any prerogatives that are not in harmony with the laws of Great Britain. That is clearly set out in Mr. Sellar's book, 'The Tragedy of Quebec,' from which we quote largely in this issue. Moreover, whatever concessions were wrested from the Imperial parliament during the revolutionary war, have been made subordinate to the Confederation Compact. This Act is the Canadian Constitution. It places the question of validity of marriage in the hands of the Federal Parliament. That is the supreme authority in Canada on this question. There is no sanction in Dominion legislation for the Quebec law which gives denominations the right to invalidate marriages. It will be found on appeal to the Privy Council that the Quebec Legislature exceeded its powers when it accepted the canon law of the Roman Church as the basis of its marriage laws.

POWER TO PASS UNIFORM LAW.

"But in any case it is clearly within the power of the Ottawa Government to pass a uniform marriage law, and fix criminal penalties for its enforcement. This is so clearly in the best interest of the country, and it is so manifestly necessary in view of recent occurrences, that a patriotic government not under the control of the Roman hierarchy would have no hesitation in passing such a law. The preservation of domestic peace in the homes of Canadians is surely of the highest importance. We cannot see, therefore, any good grounds for refusing such a request.

B.N.A. AMENDMENT NEEDED?

"The way is clear for the much-needed legislation. But we go further than that. We hold that if it did require an amendment to the B.N.A. Act, it should be sought with so much energy and unanimity that the Government would be compelled to grant it. The only alternative is for the people of Canada to submit to Papal rule. Are we willing to do that? Have we become so indifferent to the great principle of civil and religious liberty that we are ready to accept our laws on marriage from the Italians who form the Papal court, based upon sixteenth century ideals, which even they were resisted successfully? The Pope cannot enforce his decree in Italy. Shall we allow him to do it in Canada? He dare not promulgate the Ne Temere in Germany or Hungary. Are Canadians not entitled to as much consideration as Germans and Hungarians?

WAS DEAD LETTER IN 1867.

"We repeat, there is no constitutional impediment in the way of a uniform marriage law. If there were the outrageous nature of Rome's latest demands would warrant it being set aside. When the Roman Catholics of Quebec were granted the free exercise of their religion, the Canon of the Council of Trent on marriage was a dead letter. It cannot be applied to-day without breaking faith with the British Government, and it cannot be enforced in the Dominion if there is left in the present generation a few drops of red blood that flowed in the veins of their ancestors, who fought the battle to a successful issue, and died believing they had settled the question of Papal domination in British territory for all time."

Bunch of Keys Lost.

A bunch of about a dozen keys on a ring with a small lock were lost, presumably in the north end. The finder will be rewarded by leaving them at The Times Office.

Meeting Postponed.

The special meeting of the Board of Trade called for this evening, has been postponed for a few days on account of Mr. Ryerson Ritchie's unavoidable absence from the city on that date.

Accident to Engine.

The G.T.R. train from Port Hope due here at 5.30, was delayed on Saturday evening, owing to an accident to the engine. One of the cylinder heads having blown out. Another engine was sent to the rescue and brought the train to Peterborough.

Lawn Bowlers Meet.

There was a meeting of the lawn bowlers last night in the Dominion Bank Chambers, when rinks were chosen for the season, and arrangements completed for the entertainment of the Port Hope bowlers, who will visit Peterborough to-morrow, and who will play a four-rink game on the local green.

A Painful Injury.

Mr. John Brown, of Campbellford, was brought to Nicholls Hospital on Saturday by train and thence by Belcheher's ambulance. While engaged in shaving wood with a sharp drawing knife, the latter slipped and it struck him on the leg below the knee, inflicting a gash that required 17 stitches to draw together. He is doing as well as can be expected.

To Our City Subscribers.

On account of the large number of new names being added to our mailing lists, there occasionally are cases where The Times does not reach the subscriber. We, therefore, once again make the request that our subscribers will confer a favor on the management if they will promptly notify us when any omission occurs. Our circulation manager will at once have the matter looked into and remedied.

Peterborough's Contingent Leaves.

Sergt. Thomas Edwards, representative of the 24th Field Battery, left yesterday morning for Kingston, where the artillery selected to go to the Coronation festivities are to muster. Sergt. Sacree, Sergt. Lavelle and Sergt. John Brightman also left yesterday morning, for Quebec where they will join the Composite Regiment, and after a week's drill, will sail for England, to attend the Coronation.

No Street Lights.

The Times has been requested to call attention to the unequal distribution of electric lights in the south west district. On Maitland avenue, on which there are 20 or more houses there is no light—not even at the end of the street. There are other streets not far removed where there are only three or four houses, having two lamps. We would suggest that Ald. Brown, who represents this ward in the Council look into the matter.

Fell From a Scaffold.

Mr. A. Madden, a resident of Peterborough, while working in Orillia, had the misfortune to fall from a scaffold a few weeks ago. He arrived in the city on Saturday night and was conveyed to his home on Perry street in Belleghem's ambulance. Mr. Madden was employed by Mr. R. Sheehy, our local contractor, on some work in Orillia. He sustained a compound fracture of the leg, and was otherwise injured. He was at once taken to the hospital in Orillia, where he received every attention. He is now fairly on the road to recovery, and we hope he will soon be about as usual.

Modern Artillery For Field Battery.

Major Young has just received four 18-pound quick firing guns, for the use of the 24th Field Battery. These splendid modern weapons were shipped from Halifax by Grand Trunk Railway, and reached Peterborough yesterday.

The Battery will proceed to camp at Petawawa on June 12th, where it will remain 16 days.

Recruiting men and horses is now going on at the Armouries Tuesdays and Fridays, and will continue until the full complement is secured. The Battery is made up of 164 men and 78 horses. The new guns weigh about 4000 pounds each.

A Narrow Escape.

The 16 year old son of Mr. Patrick Hogan, of the Albion Hotel, East City, had a narrow escape from drowning Sunday evening. While crossing the gate at No. 6 Lock, he slipped and fell into the water, but fortunately was able to swim. On account of the high cement walls of the lock he was unable to get out, and had it not been for several of his chums who assisted him, he would assuredly have been drowned. It is a dangerous place for children to play, and we would recommend the lockmaster to see that they are not allowed to chase each other across the lock gates, back and forth, as they are sometimes in the habit of doing.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

The best thing to do in hot weather is to keep cool.

The 57th Regiment had a drill last night and a march out.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of Park-street Baptist Church, met last night.

Several of our local sports are in Toronto attending the spring meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club.

There appears to be an increasing demand for houses suitable for the working classes. This is a sign of growth at least.

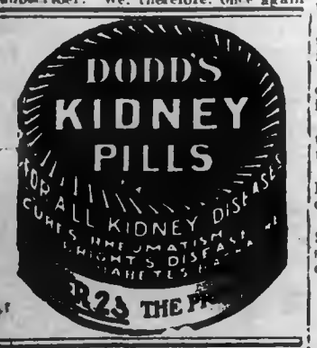
What is the Coronation Celebration Committee doing anyway? It is time that some sort of an announcement was made.

A couple of drunks were run in last night. They will have to explain matters to Magistrate Dumble this morning at the Police Court.

The item which appeared in The Times a few days ago, to the effect that Mr. E. A. Mosely had suffered a stroke of paralysis, is, we are pleased to say, incorrect.

It is said that about 200 people have left Peterborough for the Canadian West this spring. If all the towns and cities contribute in like proportion, the west must rapidly fill up.

Lindsay proposes to loan the Sylvester Company $50,000. The company has been reorganized, and it is hoped to make it one of the large agricultural implement manufacturing concerns of the country. It certainly has the advantage of being well situated, and its product already has a good reputation, not only in this part of the country, but we believe throughout the west.



FOR STONY LAKE

Tuesday, May 23, steamer will leave Lakefield on the arrival of the noon train.

Thursday, May 25th, a steamer will leave the lake in time to connect with the 4.40 train for Peterboro.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I felt so insignificant and conceited in myself. I became very despondent and did not care whether I worked or not. I imagined every one who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were sticky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Nothing seemed to help me. I feared paralysis. I tried all kinds of medicines and what many friends and physicians, were to expect—for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I consulted the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

VOL. XXXIV NO. 123 PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY MAY 24 1911 PRICE TWO CENTS

ALD. BRADBURN OBJECTS TO BUILDING BOAT HOUSES ACROSS END OF DALHOUSIE STREET

STREET IS NOW OPEN TO THE RIVER'S EDGE AND SHOULD BE KEPT SO.

The Houedry Property Which Stood Half Way Across This Street was a Vexed Problem With City for Years. It Remained For Fire to Settle the Question.

The City Property Committee last night took up the question of leasing the city's lots along the river front, recently swept by fire. On these lots a number of boat houses stood, and some owners thereof desire to replace the demolished buildings at once. In fact, one or two citizens are anxious to commence building operations to-day.

Ald. Duncan and Ald. Brown had agreed upon this matter and saw no objection to boat houses being erected across the end of Dalhousie street.

Ald. Bradburn, however, thought it would be a mistake to permit of the erection of any boat houses along the water front in question. He thought the clearance of the buildings that stood there before the fire a marked improvement. But while he would not object to the committee's proposition for re-leasing, as a whole, he must decidedly oppose again blocking up the end of Dalhousie street with buildings of any nature whatever.

The Houedry building that stood half way across Dalhousie street has been removed by fire, and so far as he is concerned, he would stand for this street being now kept open clear to the water's edge. For years and years the city tried to get the Houedry property removed from off the street, and this would not have been an accomplished fact to-day had it not been for the fire.

Subsequently Ald. Bradburn remarked that he would have liked to see a nice club-house built instead of a number of private boat houses.

Ald. Brown and Duncan preferred the latter course, which Ald. Bradburn will not seriously oppose, providing the end of Dalhousie street is not blocked.

The city solicitor will be instructed to prepare a by-law regulating the erection and conduction of boat houses erected in the city's lots in question, said buildings to be constructed of plain lumber and to be painted. Also the boat houses are to be removed within one month of the city's giving notice of its decision that such a course is desireable.

This matter will again come up in Council at its next meeting, when the by-law giving same will be to hand.

Ald. Brown introduced the question of opening streets through from Bolivar to Townsend and also the naming of one which at present enjoys no cognomen whatever, but is properly speaking a continuation of William street. This matter will be offered to Council at its next session for action thereon.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

NO LONGER GRIT AND TORY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The news which you published yesterday regarding the approaching elections is no doubt true. There will be big changes in the make up of the two sides. It will be no longer Grit and Tory, or at any rate if it is there will be only enough of party in it to keep things in shape for the future, when the storm has cleared the air, as it will do assuredly. Not only this province but Canada is about to decide which shall rule it, free men or slaves, and it is through the men chosen for parliament that we can speak, and only through them. Col. Miller is a first class man, and hope he can be got to run. The Whitney bilingual policy will have a Conservative opponent in the East riding. You say you are not sure of it—I am.

Conservative.

NOT ON ACCOUNT OF RELIGION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Interested parties are going around trying to make out that there is opposition to Roman Catholics on account of their religion. There is not. Protestants are for the people, the whole people, and nothing but the people. The Church of Rome hierarchy has issued orders that the old loose way of doing things must stop, and that "all things are to be restored in Christ" right now, which they say is the Church of Rome only, and that the State is as much subject to Rome as anything else, because the Pope says so. It is this attack on the State we are fighting, and the minute the Church admits the people have rights of governing themselves, and to marry and worship as they please, the trouble will end. It has nothing to do with the Catholic people who are as much the people as anybody else. The whole trouble is over the awful tyranny of what Canon Cody call the new Romanism of the Church. It is now or never. Hurrah for The Times!

Fair Play.

75 TONS OF COAL BURNT AT THE FIRE HALL LAST YEAR

SO THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE WERE ADVISED LAST NIGHT.

Provision Made for Lawn Sprinkling Service at Public Library. Also for Screen Doors at the Isolation Hospital.

The City Property Committee met last night. There were present:—Chairman Ald. Duncan, Aldermen Brown and Bradburn.

LAWN SERVICE CONNECTIONS.

Adamson & Dobbins' tender of $22 for outside water connections for the Public Library grounds was accepted. This will allow for two connections on the south side and one on the north side. The committee was also authorized to provide for the purchase of 50 feet of lawn hose.

E. Wand's tender of $45 for window screens and one screen door for the Public Library was also accepted.

Mr. T. F. Matthews, chairman of the Public Library's property committee will attend to these matters.

The chairman of the committee was authorized to have the necessary repairs to a catch basin of one of the drinking fountains attended to. Committee did not know which drinking fountain was in question.

COAL WANTED.

Tenders will be invited for 70 tons of coal for the city buildings and the coal required for the fire hall, the latter subject to Ald. Morgan's (the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee) approval.

Seventy five tons of coal were burned in the fire hall last year, and sixty seven the year before.

Ald. Bradburn thought this a big quantity of coal for fire hall requirements.

SCREEN DOORS WANTED.

The matter of purchasing screen doors for the Isolation Hospital was referred to the Hospital Board.

TO PAINT BAND STAND.

Mr. Watson and Coleman Bros. each tendered to give the band stand in Victoria Park one coat of paint for $30.

The contract was let to Coleman Bros.

ELOPERS PROPOSE TO FIGHT DEPORTATION TO FRANCE

Quebec, May 23.—Admitting that he was Ferdinand Darcet Dabbadie and that she was Helen Benoit, both were taken from the C.P.R. liner Lake Champlain this morning and are now in the detention hospital, awaiting probable deportation. Dabbadie is the wealthy iron master of Evreaux, France, who eloped with Miss Benoit, a governess employed in the household. The affair has created a great sensation in Paris society circles, as Dabbadie and family moved in high society. They travelled to Canada under the names of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wye.

When questioned on the boat coming over they stoutly denied that they were the eloping party, stating that they were on their way to take up farming in the west.

ADMIT IDENTITY.

When the vessel docked and the immigration officials went aboard, they were taken off and conducted to the immigration building where they were questioned separately, finally admitting their identity. They were subsequently taken to the detention hospital where they will be kept until to-morrow in order to enable an examination board to be formed to decide what is to be done in the matter.

Quebec, May 23.—Bernard D'Abbadie, the French aristocrat, who deserted his family, and his sweetheart, Miss Helena Benoit, are still held at the immigration hospital, in separate wards, until the immigration authorities settle their case.

Mr. D'Abbadie, who pretends to have $4,000 cash in his pocket, stated to the immigration officers that he will fight by all means either extradition or deportation. He claims that he has committed no crime and that nobody can stand in his way to Western Canada, where he intends settling on a farm. He received yesterday the visit of one of his brothers, Mr. Camille D'Abbadie, who has lived two years in Quebec, in the employ of the Transcontinental Railway as engineer, and who is now employed at the C.P.R., Montreal. The latter, after leaving his brother stated to the medical officer in charge that he had induced his brother not to receive any one and hoped that the desire of his should be respected, which was agreed to.

The elopers have secured the services of a Quebec attorney, Mr. Geo. Gibson, of the legal firm of Gibson and Dobell, to defend their rights. He is a wealthy ironmaster of Evreaux, France.

A peculiar coincidence is the fact that Mr. P. Gaudreault, who piloted the SS. Lake Manitoba from Father Point to Quebec is the pilot who was on the SS. Montrose when it brought Dr. Crippen and Miss Ethel Leneve here last summer.

Miss Helena Benoit, the woman in the case, seems much affected over the matter and positively refuses any interview, even to officials. She received yesterday the visit of a brother, aged 28 years, who had arrived from France last week. They remained together for an hour. Mr. Benoit refused to make any statement.

The French Consular agent at Quebec, Mr. Ed. Roumilhac, says that he has not been so far approached about this affair. Mr. Roumilhac says that he cannot understand why so much trouble takes place about so small a matter.

"There is no question of a crime having been committed," says Mr. Roumilhac. "Does any living soul need a marriage contract to stop in a country? Should I be called upon I would make all possible effort to liberate Mr. D'Abbadie."

BATTLE OF RECIPROCITY TRANSFERRED TO COUNTRY

Great Interest Centred in Mr. R. L. Borden's Western Tour.

Ottawa, May 24. — With the adjournment of parliament and the departure of the politicians for their homes, the interest in matters of public importance is transferred to the constituencies. There the battle of reciprocity will be fought vigorously until the House reassembles on July 18.

In this connection chief interest will be centred in the Western tour of Mr. R. L. Borden, the Opposition leader. The first reply to the announcement of the itinerary comes from Moose Jaw, Sask. The Conservatives there have unanimously passed a resolution commending Mr. Borden's attitude towards reciprocity and all other public questions and expressing the supremest confidence in his conception of which is best for Canada and Canadians.

Mr. Borden will leave on June 17 and will hold his first meeting at Winnipeg on June 19.

The Liberals at Work.

The Liberals do not propose to allow the Conservatives to have their own way altogether. Hundreds of meetings are being arranged for in every part of the country. Quebec Province will be seething with political excitement, as the Liberals propose to endeavor to kill off the National movement, headed by Brosseau.

A CROWDED CHURCHSTRUCK BY LIGHTNING

IT WAS DESTROYED ALONG WITH TWO HOUSES AND A CONVENT —LOSS ABOUT $40,000.

Quite a Panic Ensued—Many Were Stunned and Injured in the Crush But No Lives Were Lost.

Ottawa, May 23.—While service was in progress last night in the Roman Catholic Church at St. Cecile de Masham, a village on the Gatineau line of the C.P.R., the edifice was struck by lightning, and many of the congregation were stunned and otherwise injured. The building caught fire, and was burned to the ground, the flames spreading also to two presbyteries occupied by the priests and a convent, which were also totally destroyed.

A great panic followed the striking of the church, many women and children struggling to the exits. The parish priest, Rev. Father Caron, succeeded in partially staying the rush, but many were hurt in the jam in the entrances. The inmates of the convent and the presbyteries escaped safely, although many were in danger.

The village possesses no fire-fighting apparatus, and the people, although they heroically strove with buckets to quench the flames were not successful, and were forced to stand by and watch the buildings burn.

The total loss is estimated at $40,000.

THE GREATEST ELECTRIC STORM OF THE SEASON

Storm of Tuesday Morning Does Considerable Damage Throughout the Country.

One of the most spectacular electric storms that has been witnessed in Peterborough in many years occurred yesterday morning. The storm began shortly after midnight and continued until about 3.30 a.m. causing the greatest excitement and alarm in almost every home in the and surrounding country.

The electric display was magnificent although more than unusually dangerous. The big flagpole on The Times' building was struck and split the large golden ball surmounting the pole, falling to the pavement below. A large pine tree near Mr. George W. Hatton's residence was shattered and torn to pieces from the tip to the roots. The flagpole of the B. F. Ackerman Co. was also destroyed.

Incidents of the Storm.

In addition to the destruction of the flagpole on The Times' building, two chimneys were damaged, and will have to be rebuilt.

A house owned by G. Walter Green just outside the city, was also struck by lightning. The chimney was shattered rather severely, but the damage will only amount to a few dollars, so Mr. Green stated.

A valuable horse owned by Mr. Thomas Lush, who resides on the Gravel road, was killed.

In South Monaghan, Mr. Wilbert Wood, lot 12, concession 2, had his barn and stables struck by lightning and totally destroyed with the contents.

The barn owned by the Toronto Savings & Loan Co. was destroyed. Loss about $1500.

A reader of the Times said that he was quite sure there was more praying done yesterday morning while the storm lasted than there was in fifty years previous.

The guests in the various hotels forsook their beds, dressed and gathered in the rotundas, where they watched the storm.

A curious freak of the lightning occurred at the home of Mr. S. Edwards, about a mile from the city, on the Dummer road. After knocking the end out of the barn, it entered the house and destroyed a looking glass standing on a bureau.

Mr. John O'Brien, of Otonabee, when asked yesterday by a friend, if he slept through the storm, said: "How the dickens could I sleep, when my wife was pouring holy water over me all night."

SIDETRACK RAILWAY CAR TO LET ROBINS REAR YOUNG

Buffalo, May 23.—Admiration for the gameness of a pair of robins in sticking to their nest on a flying trip between Hamilton, Ont., and Buffalo, has resulted in a car being taken out of the train and side-tracked for the benefit of the birds until their young are ready to shift for themselves.

Patrolman Mooney yesterday noticed the nest behind the top rung of a brake ladder on an empty car that came over the International bridge. When the train came to a stand-still he clamored up to investigate. Before he reached the top of the ladder a pair of robins were fluttering around and making a great ado. There were four eggs in the nest.

Railroad men who became as interested as the policeman, managed to find something wrong with the brakes and the car was placed on a dead siding where it will be allowed to remain until the birds get through with it.

PEACE AGREEMENT SIGNED BY WARRING MEXICANS

Juarez, Mex., May 22.—Officially designated representatives of the Mexican Government and the revolutionists at 10 o'clock last night signed a peace agreement at the customs house here intended to end the hostilities that have been waged in Mexico for the last six months.

Though covering obly the principal points negotiated thus far, the agreement practically records the concessions by the Government of those demands which started on November 20, the last armed revolution in Mexico. Telegrams announcing the signing of the agreement were despatched throughout Mexico to revolutionary and federal leaders alike.

The agreement records that President Diaz and Vice-President Corral will resign and the Government is to concentrate its attentions on desired reforms.

HER DREAM COMES TRUE.

Woman Finds Grandchild Dead as Foretold in Her Sleep.

London, May 22. — A remarkable dream of death was mentioned yesterday at a Southwark inquest on an infant named George McCarthy.

"I had so vivid a dream that my daughter's child was dead," said Mrs. Henry, the grandmother of the infant, "that I went early in the morning to her house in Clifton street, Finsbury. I found her in bed, and asked her what was wrong with the child. She replied, "He is all right. What did you think was the matter with him?"

"I told her of my dream, and asked her to look at the baby. She looked and the child was dead."

Death was stated to have been due to convulsions.

ANOTHER DROWNING IN OTONABEE RIVER

Young Englishman Loses His Life While Bathing.

The Otonabee river has claimed another victim in the person of Mr. Percy McNamee, who lost his life in the neighborhood of Crawford's Grove.

On Monday, it appears that the deceased went in swimming with two of his acquaintances, H. Corless and H. Mahony. At the spot which they chose for their bath the water is quite deep, and McNamee, having got beyond his depth, went down. His companions tried to reach him, but were unable to do so. He rose to the surface but once, and then disappeared, the strong current at this spot doubtless carried him down the stream.

A search was immediately commenced and was continued until dark. Yesterday morning it was again resumed, and about 9.30 the body was recovered by Mr. Wm. Taylor, who dived repeatedly. The remains were taken to Bellerhem's, from whose establishment the funeral will take place at 3 o'clock to-day.

The deceased has only been in Canada about one month, and resided with his brother at 367 Mardonnell street. He leaves a wife and two young children in England. He was employed at the Canadian General Electric Company, and was a regular all round athlete. There is sincere sympathy amongst the employes over the sad accident.

ZAM-BUK HEALED BABY'S SORES

Mrs. C. Pardy, of 479 Seigneurs St., Montreal, writes:—"I cannot tell you how thankful I am for the cure Zam-Buk has worked in the case of my baby son. He was troubled with scalp disease and I tried everything I could think of, but in vain. Finally I tried Zam-Buk. I could see an improvement after two applications! After persevering with the Zam-Buk treatment he is now completely cured. Zam-Buk is certainly a wonderful balm, and I shall always keep it on hand."

Mothers should use Zam-Buk for all children's skin sores, ringworm, scalp sores, cuts, chafings, bruises, etc., because of its great purity. Also cures piles, eczema, bad leg, varicose sores, etc. 50c box, all druggists and stores.

ALD. BRADBURN OBJECTS TO BUILDING BOAT HOUSES ACROSS END OF DALHOUSIE STREET

STREET IS NOW OPEN TO THE RIVER'S EDGE AND SHOULD BE KEPT SO.

The Howdry Property Which Stood Half Way Across This Street was a Vexed Problem With City for Years. It Remained For Fire to Settle the Question.

The City Property Committee last night took up the question of leasing the city's lots along the river front, recently swept by fire. On these lots a number of boat houses stood, and some owners thereof desire to replace the demolished buildings at once. In fact, one or two citizens are anxious to commence building operations to-day.

Ald. Duncan and Ald. Brown had agreed upon this matter and saw no objection to boat houses being erected across the end of Dalhousie street.

Ald. Bradburn, however, thought it would be a mistake to permit of the erection of any boat houses along the water front in question. He thought the clearance of the buildings that stood there before the fire a marked improvement. But while he would not object to the committee's proposition for re-leasing, as a whole, he must decidedly oppose again blocking up the end of Dalhousie street with buildings of any nature whatever.

The Howdry building that stood half way across Dalhousie street has been removed by fire, and so far as he is concerned, he would stand for this street being now kept open clear to the water's edge. For years and years the city tried to get the Howdry property removed from off the street, and this would not have been an accomplished fact to-day had it not been for the fire.

Subsequently Ald. Bradburn remarked that he would have liked to see a nice club-house built instead of a number of private boat houses.

Ald. Brown and Duncan preferred the latter course, which Ald. Bradburn will not seriously oppose, providing the end of Dalhousie street is not blocked.

The city solicitor will be instructed to prepare a by-law regulating the erection and conduction of boat houses erected in the city's lots in question, said buildings to be constructed of plain lumber and to be painted. Also the boat houses are to be removed within one month of the city's giving notice of its decision that such a course is desireable.

This matter will again come up in Council at its next meeting, when the by-law giving same will be to hand.

Ald. Brown introduced the question of opening streets through from Bolivar to Townsend and also the naming of one which at present enjoys no cognomen whatever, but is properly speaking a continuation of William street. This matter will be offered to Council at its next session for action thereon.

PEACE AGREEMENT SIGNED BY WARRING MEXICANS

Juarez, Mex., May 22.—Officially designated representatives of the Maderian Government and the revolutionists at 10 o'clock last night signed a peace agreement at the customs house here intended to end the hostilities that have been waged in Mexico for the last six months.

Though covering only the principal points negotiated thus far, the agreement practically records the concessions by the Government of these demands which started on November 20, the last armed revolution in Mexico. Telegrams announcing the signing of the agreement were despatched throughout Mexico to revolutionary and federal leaders alike.

The agreement records that President Diaz and Vice-President Corral will resign and the Government is to concentrate its attentions on desired reforms.

HER DREAM COMES TRUE.

Woman Finds Grandchild Dead as Foretold in Her Sleep.

London, May 22. — A remarkable dream of death was mentioned yesterday at a Southwark inquest on an infant named George McCarthy.

"I had so vivid a dream that my daughter's child was dead," said Mrs. Henry, the grandmother of the infant, "that I went early in the morning to her house in Clifton street, Finsbury. I found her in bed, and asked her what was wrong with the child. She replied, "He is all right. What did you think was the matter with him?"

"I told her of my dream, and asked her to look at the baby. She looked and the child was dead."

Death was stated to have been due to convulsions.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

NO LONGER GRIT AND TORY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The news which you published yesterday regarding the approaching elections is no doubt true. There will be big changes in the make up of the two sides. It will be no longer Grit and Tory, or at any rate if it is there will be only enough of party in it to keep things in shape for the future, when the storm has cleared the air, as it will do assuredly. Not only this province but Canada is about to decide which shall rule it, free men or slaves, and it is through the men chosen for parliament that we can speak, and only through them. Col. Miller is a first class man, and hope he can be got to run. The Whitney bilingual policy will have a Conservative opponent in the East riding. You say you are not sure of it—I am.

Conservative.

NOT ON ACCOUNT OF RELIGION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Interested parties are going around trying to make out that there is opposition to Roman Catholics on account of their religion. There is not. Protestants are for the people, the whole people, and nothing but the people. The Church of Rome hierarchy has issued orders that the old loose way of doing things must stop, and that "all things are to be restored in Christ" right now, which they say is the Church of Rome only, and that the State is as much subject to Rome as anything else, because the Pope says so. It is this attack on the State we are fighting, and the minute the Church admits the people have rights of governing themselves, and to marry and worship as they please, the trouble will end. It has nothing to do with the Catholic people who are as much the people as anybody else. The whole trouble is over the awful tyranny of what Canon Cody call the new Romanism of the Church. It is now or never. Hurrah for The Times!

Fair Play.

A CROWDED CHURCH STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

IT WAS DESTROYED ALONG WITH TWO HOUSES AND A CONVENT —LOSS ABOUT $40,000.

Quite a Panic Ensued—Many Were Stunned and Injured in the Crush But No Lives Were Lost.

Ottawa, May 23.—While service was in progress last night in the Roman Catholic Church at St. Cecile de Masham, a village on the Gatineau line of the C.P.R., the edifice was struck by lightning, and many of the congregation were stunned and otherwise injured. The building caught fire, and was burned to the ground, the flames spreading also to two presbyteries occupied by the priests and a convent, which were also totally destroyed.

A great panic followed the striking of the church, many women and children struggling to the exits. The parish priest, Rev. Father Caron, succeeded in partially staying the rush, but many were hurt in the jam in the entrances. The inmates of the convent and the presbyteries escaped safely, although many were in danger.

The village possesses no fire-fighting apparatus, and the people, although they heroically strove with buckets to quench the flames were not successful, and were forced to stand by and watch the buildings burn.

The total loss is estimated at $40,000.

75 TONS OF COAL BURNT AT THE FIRE HALL LAST YEAR

SO THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE WERE ADVISED LAST NIGHT.

Provision Made for Lawn Sprinkling Service at Public Library. Also for Screen Doors at the Isolation Hospital.

The City Property Committee met last night. There were present:—Chairman Ald. Duncan, Aldermen Brown and Bradburn.

LAWN SERVICE CONNECTIONS.

Adamson & Dobbins' tender of $22 for outside water connections for the Public Library grounds was accepted. This will allow for two connections on the south side and one on the north side. The committee was also authorized to provide for the purchase of 50 feet of lawn hose.

E. Wand's tender of $45 for window screens and one screen door for the Public Library was also accepted.

Mr. T. F. Matthews, chairman of the Public Library's property committee will attend to these matters.

The chairman of the committee was authorized to have the necessary repairs to a catch basin of one of the drinking fountains attended to. Committee did not know which drinking fountain was in question.

COAL WANTED.

Tenders will be invited for 70 tons of coal for the city buildings and the coal required for the fire hall, the latter subject to Ald. Morgan's (the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee) approval.

Seventy five tons of coal were burned in the fire hall last year, and sixty seven the year before.

Ald. Bradburn thought this a big quantity of coal for fire hall requirements.

SCREEN DOORS WANTED.

The matter of purchasing screen doors for the Isolation Hospital was referred to the Hospital Board.

TO PAINT BAND STAND.

Mr. Watson and Coleman Bros. each tendered to give the band stand in Victoria Park one coat of paint for $30.

The contract was let to Coleman Bros.

BATTLE OF RECIPROCITY TRANSFERRED TO COUNTRY

Great Interest Centred in Mr. R. L. Borden's Western Tour.

Ottawa, May 24. — With the adjournment of parliament and the departure of the politicians for their homes, the interest in matters of public importance is transferred to the constituencies. There the battle of reciprocity will be fought vigorously until the House reassembles on July 18.

In this connection chief interest will be centred in the Western tour of Mr. R. L. Borden, the Opposition leader. The first reply to the announcement of the itinerary comes from Moose Jaw, Sask. The Conservatives there have unanimously passed a resolution commending Mr. Borden's attitude towards reciprocity and all other public questions, and expressing the supremest confidence in his conception of which is best for Canada and Canadians.

Mr. Borden will leave on June 17, and will hold his first meeting at Winnipeg on June 19.

The Liberals at Work.

The Liberals do not propose to allow the Conservatives to have their own way altogether. Hundreds of meetings are being arranged for in every part of the country. Quebec Province will be seething with political excitement, as the Liberals propose to endeavor to kill off the National movement, headed by Brosseau.

THE GREATEST ELECTRIC STORM OF THE SEASON

Storm of Tuesday Morning Does Considerable Damage Throughout the Country.

One of the most spectacular electric storms that has been witnessed in Peterborough in many years occurred yesterday morning. The storm began shortly after midnight and continued until about 3.30 a.m. causing the greatest excitement and alarm in almost every home in the and surrounding country.

The electric display was magnificent although more than unusually dangerous. The big flagpole on The Times' building was struck and split the large golden ball surmounting the pole, falling to the pavement below. A large pine tree near Mr. George W. Hatton's residence was shattered and torn to pieces from the tip to the roots. The flagpole of the B. F. Ackerman Co. was also destroyed.

Incidents of the Storm.

In addition to the destruction of the flagpole on The Times' building, two chimneys were damaged, and will have to be rebuilt.

A house owned by G. Walter Green just outside the city, was also struck by lightning. The chimney was shattered rather severely, but the damage will only amount to a few dollars, so Mr. Green stated.

A valuable horse owned by Mr. Thomas Lush, who resides on the Gravel road, was killed.

In South Monaghan, Mr. Wilbert Wood, lot 12, concession 2, had his barn and stables struck by lightning and totally destroyed with the contents.

The barn owned by the Toronto Savings & Loan Co. was destroyed. Loss about $1500.

A reader of the Times said that he was quite sure there was more praying done yesterday morning while the storm lasted than there was in fifty years previous.

The guests in the various hotels forsook their beds, dressed and gathered in the rotundas, where they watched the storm.

A curious freak of the lightning occurred at the home of Mr. S. Edwards, about a mile from the city, on the Dummer road. After knocking the end out of the barn, it entered the house and destroyed a looking glass standing on a bureau.

Mr. John O'Brien, of Otonabee, when asked yesterday by a friend, if he slept through the storm, said: "How the dickens could I sleep, when my wife was pouring holy water over me all night."

ELOPERS PROPOSE TO FIGHT DEPORTATION TO FRANCE

Quebec, May 23.—Admitting that he was Ferdinand Darcest Dabbadie, and that she was Helen Benoit, both were taken from the C.P.R. liner Lake Champlain this morning and are now in the detention hospital, awaiting probable deportation. Dabbadie is the wealthy iron master of Evreaux, France, who eloped with Miss Benoit, a governess employed in the household. The affair has created a great sensation in Paris society circles, as Dabbadie and family moved in high society. They travelled to Canada under the names of M. and Mrs. W. F. Wye.

When questioned on the boat coming over they stoutly denied that they were the eloping party, stating that they were on their way to take up farming in the west.

ADMIT IDENTITY.

When the vessel docked and the immigration officials went aboard, they were taken off and conducted to the immigration building where they were questioned separately, finally admitting their identity. They were subsequently taken to the detention hospital where they will be kept until to-morrow in order to enable an examination board to be formed to decide what is to be done in the matter.

Quebec, May 23.—Bernard D'Abbadie, the French aristocrat, who deserted his family, and his sweetheart, Miss Helena Benoit, are still held at the immigration hospital, in separate wards, until the immigration authorities settle their case.

Mr. D'Abbadie, who pretends to have $4,000 cash in his pocket, stated to the immigration officers that he will fight by all means either extradition or deportation. He claims that he has committed no crime and that nobody can stand in his way to Western Canada, where he intends settling on a farm. He received yesterday the visit of one of his brothers, Mr. Camille D'Abbadie, who has lived two years in Quebec, in the employ of the Transcontinental Railway as engineer, and who is now employed at the C.P.R., Montreal. The latter, after leaving his brother, stated to the medical officer in charge that he had induced his brother not to receive any one and hoped that this desire of his should be respected, which was agreed to.

The elopers have secured the services of a Quebec attorney, Mr. Geo. Gibson, of the legal firm of Gibson and Dobell, to defend their rights. He is a wealthy ironmaster of Evreaux, France.

A peculiar coincidence is the fact that Mr. P. Gaudreault, who piloted the SS. Lake Manitoba from Father Point to Quebec is the pilot who was on the SS. Montrose when it brought Dr. Crippen and Miss Ethel Leeve here last summer.

Miss Helena Benoit, the woman in the case, seems much affected over the matter and positively refuses any interview, even to officials. She received yesterday the visit of a brother, aged 28 years, who had arrived from France last week. They remained together for an hour. Mr. Benoit refused to make any statement.

The French Consular agent at Quebec, Mr. Ed. Roumilhac, says that he has not been so far approached about this affair. Mr. Roumilhac says that he cannot understand why so much trouble takes place about so small a matter.

"There is no question of a crime having been committed," says Mr. Roumilhac. "Does any living soul need a marriage contract to stop in a country? Should I be called upon I would make all possible effort to liberate Mr. D'Abbadie."

Is there anything in all this world that is of more importance to you than good digestion? Food must be eaten to sustain life and must be digested and converted into blood. When the digestion fails the whole body suffers. Chamberlain's Tablets are a rational and reliable cure for indigestion. They increase the flow of bile, purify the blood, strengthen the stomach, and tone up the whole digestive apparatus to a natural and healthy action. For sale by all dealers.

SIDETRACK RAILWAY CAR TO LET ROBINS REAR YOUNG

Buffalo, May 23.—Admiration for the gameness of a pair of robins in sticking to their nest on a flying trip between Hamilton, Ont., and Buffalo, has resulted in a car being taken out of the train and side-tracked for the benefit of the birds until their young are ready to shift for themselves.

Patrolman Mooney yesterday noticed the nest behind the top rung of a brake ladder on an empty car that came over the International bridge. When the train came to a standstill he clamored up to investigate. Before he reached the tap of the ladder a pair of robins were fluttering around and making a great ado. There were four eggs in the nest.

Railroad men who became as interested as the policeman, managed to find something wrong with the brakes and the car was placed on a dead siding where it will be allowed to remain until the birds get through with it.

Sore Throat Catarrh

With the many remedies you have tried you surely know that no liquid medicine can cure your throat or nose. Even a gargle only bathes the entrance of the throat—it can't really get inside, nor can it reach the inflamed bronchial tubes.

With Catarrhozone, it's so different from medicine-taking—you simply breathe its healing vapor, inhale its balsamic fumes, which carry cure and relief to the minutest air cells in the lungs, nose, throat and bronchial tubes.

In this scientific way the soreness and inflammation is rapidly allayed, relaxed cords are toned up, the entire mucous membrane invigorated. Every trace of Catarrh disappears, the disagreeable dropping of mucous in the throat, hawking, spitting, and stopped-up nostrils — all these sure signs of Catarrh and bronchitis are permanently cured by Catarrhozone.

CATARRHOZONE
Is Guaranteed to Cure.

Recommended by the medical profession for coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore or relaxed throat, laryngitis, clergyman's throat, smoker's throat, bronchial cold, weak chest, chest inflammation, huskiness, hoarseness, wheeziness, loss of voice, that tickling cough, old age cough, asthma, chest pains and chest tightness, croup, whooping cough, and children's throat and chest weaknesses, and all adult throat and lung ailments.

Beware of the unscrupulous dealer who offers you some cheap substitute; insist on Catarrhozone only. Two months' treatment, $1, smaller, 50c; all reliable dealers or by mail from the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

BRYAN ON ANNUITIES.

A prophet is without honour in his own country. As with prophets, so it is with the natural advantages which a country enjoys, and those acquired advantages which are obtained under its laws and customs—it often needs the eye of the outsider to discover the striking benefits of some institution with which the people are blessed.

The earnest tribute paid to the Canadian Government Annuities system by Mr. William Jennings Bryan during his address to the citizens of Galt on Friday last should so much to determine the question for those who have not yet taken advantage of the system, the opinion coming, as it does, from one who has made the moral problem a life study. He is reported to have said: "I have been trying for years to figure out a similar scheme for the benefit of the citizens of the United States, and I cannot understand why every civilized country does not follow the lead of Canada and encourage the people to put something by for the day when they will be too old to work. This is true co-operative Government," he added. While other countries have established pension schemes, which are but extensions of Poor Law Relief, the result of which is to pauperize, and not to stimulate thrift, the Canadian Government has, by its Annuities Act, inaugurated a scheme whereby thrift is promoted, and the people are provided with facilities which will enable them to help themselves, and at the same time preserve their self-respect and dignity.

Full information may be obtained by addressing the Superintendent of Canadian Government Annuities, Ottawa, to whom all letters go free of postage.

PAY FOR MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT.

Lloyd-George's new budget includes a provision for the payment of small salaries—$2,000 a year—to members of the house of commons. This reform has been long in arriving, but it has come. Modern political conditions render it necessary. The labor men in the commons have been paid by the unions, but the courts have declared such payment illegal. There are other poor men in the commons. The "unique distinction of serving without pay," referred to by the opposition, is unfortunately a distinction beyond the reach of many able and worthy Englishmen whom parliament cannot afford to exclude.

The danger of "flooding the commons with cheap, money-grabbing politicians" is not very great. At any rate, it must be insurred as one of the risks of democracy and popular government. It is the duty and right of constituents to keep out cheap men and to select and elect representatives intellectually and morally equal to their tasks. Where constituencies are reasonable alert and intelligent payment of members will do very little harm. The good in the proposed change certainly overbalances the evil feared.

THE SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUST.

Already the seventeen-year locust has made its appearance in New York State. The insects are expected to emerge from the grub stage there about June 15, and protection against their ravages is being devised by the most vigilant farmers and gardeners.

It is said by authorities that Ontario will not likely be visited by these pests this year, but in the southern part of the Continent, the thirteen-year locusts, are expected. It has been estimated that the locusts appearing at these periods of seventeen or thirteen years—this year they come together—have done as much as $200,000,000 damage in a single year.

Fortunately there exist simple and effective preventives of the pest. Bordeaux mixture or lime wash will keep them off trees, and their eggs, which are placed in the ground within five inches of the surface, can be destroyed by running heavy rollers several times over the ground or by burning, heating and tramping. In time, undoubtedly, the seventeen-year and the thirteen-year locusts will disappear through the applications of the teachings of science.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what is modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no oppoaition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

GIRLS' HAIR CUT OFF

A Despicable Act in a Cinematograph Theatre in England

Several young girls at Brighton, England, have just been the victims of a most despicable form of practical joking, and are now sorrowing over the loss of luxuriant hair upon the beauty and possession of which they had naturally prided themselves. With their hair in plaits they have visited one or other of the cinematograph theatres that abound, and upon unfastening their locks afterwards they have been astounded to find quantities fall to the ground, a big proportion of the plait having been cut by scissors or some other sharp instrument. The act has undoubtedly been committed in the darkness of the theatre. All attempts to detect the miscreant have failed.

PARIS NIGHT DANGERS

"It is humiliating to admit," says M. Achille, a member of the Paris Municipal Estimates for 1911, "that in the twentieth century the security of Parisians is scarcely better assured than it was in the days when the watch was given a drubbing every night. Respectable citizens shut themselves up closely in their houses, leaving the purse-snatchers and brigands masters of the streets. Do not accuse me of exaggerating; rather read over the columns of the press devoted to the numerous robberies committed daily in the heart of Paris, to the burglaries of unheard-of audacity, and to the frequent murders—many of them unpunished—as well as to the innumerable strikes, the mysterious sabotages, and anarchy everywhere."

MONEY FOR NECKLACES

Despite hard times, there still seems to be money in some quarters. In London a week ago a necklace of 85 pearls of pinkish orient was sold for $30,000, and another of 57 round pearls realized $5,750.

DR. BOYLE'S EARLY CAREER

His Advice to the Woman With Special Views on Discipline.

The late Dr. David Boyle, the veteran archeologist, left a splendid monument to himself in the Ontario Provincial Museum, which he brought to its present state of perfection, but he also left another similar monument which is not so well known. When Dr. Boyle taught in the little village school at Elora, he had the same enthusiasm for research and folk-lore which afterwards proved so valuable to the province. Before he went to Toronto to start his larger work, he had already gathered together curios enough to make an excellent little museum in the Western Ontario town. One room of the school where he taught was then devoted to it, but it has since been enlarged and removed to more commodious quarters.

Dr. Boyle was always a most enterprising citizen, and he suggested many ways of making use of the natural beauties of the village. As a schoolmaster, he was known far and wide as a disciplinarian, but many stories are also told of his wit. Some of his old pupils recall his encounter with the village virago, who could be silenced by no one, according to general public belief. The schoolmaster had punished one of her children, and as she retained that privilege for herself, she appeared upon the scene to protest. He allowed her to run along at a great rate till her vocal steam was almost exhausted. She devoted her energy chiefly to announcing that she was strongly opposed to corporal punishment, and that she wished him to remember it.

At last Dr. Boyle got a word in, and he asked simply, "Well, how do you think I should punish children when they will not behave?"

"I send them to bed," replied the woman.

"All right, madam," said the future curator of the Provincial Museum with a composure which completely disconcerted her, "if you will send down a couple of bedsteads, I shall be delighted to try the form of discipline which you find most effective with your children."

The woman beat a retreat.—Saturday Night

A bull and a cow, belonging to Mr. Geo. Johnston, near Lakefield were killed by lightning during Friday night's storm.

BETSY'S FIRST PLACE

By Owen Lott

The Moffatts, who lived three doors away, had just become the proud owners of a motor-car, and little Mrs. Pendleton's soul was wrung with envy. Mr. Pendleton endeavored to console her by pointing out that she was now indisputably the best-dressed woman in the street; Mrs. Moffatt, till then her greatest rival, having taken to wearing a cap like a German bandsman's, a voluminous dust-coat, and a veil like a perforated blanket.

Mrs. Pendleton refused to be comforted, however; indeed, she was slightly hurt at the nature of the consolation.

"I always did dress better than she!" she declared. "Look at the hats she used to wear! Besides if Mr. Moffatt can afford a motor, I don't see why we can't!"

Mr. Pendleton gruffly pointed out that Moffatt earned twice his income, and, furthermore, had no family. He offered to drop into Long Acre and see if he could manage to change the twins for a second-hand car.

Mrs. Pendleton hysterically said it was inhuman of him to suggest such a thing even in fun; if it were meant in fun, she added, darkly suspicious.

Mr. Pendleton, omitting his farewell kiss for the first time since their marriage, stalked out of the room and slammed the door in a manner which hinted that he had gone for-ever.

As he passed the Moffatt's house he was waylaid by Mr. Moffatt—in pre-motor days the best-dressed man in the city—clad in a blue dungaree overall suit, his face and hands like an impressionist picture in oil.

"Haven't such a thing as a spanner about you?" said Mr. Moffatt.

Mr. Pendleton, with biting sarcasm, regretted that he had forgotten to bring one with him that morning.

"Taking a day off?" he asked, recoiling from Mr. Moffatt's proffered hand.

"Can't find time for the city nowadays," explained Mr. Moffatt. "Chap I bought the car from said a child could look after it. Suppose I'm too old for it, or something. Quite sure you haven't a spanner?"

Mr. Pendleton assured him that the nearest approach he had to anything of that sort was a pair of nail-clippers, and, again avoiding the friendly but greasy hand, continued his journey, leaving Mr. Moffatt gloomily wondering why everybody shunned him nowadays.

Shortly after Mr. Pendleton's departure, Betsy entered the breakfast-room, and found her mistress tearfully sympathizing with the twins because they could not go for nice rides in "honk-honks" like other people.

"They'd rather have their pram, mum," said Betsy.

"Prams have to be pushed," said Mrs. Pendleton pessimistically.

"So have motor-cars," returned Betsy; "and they're a deal heavier."

"Good cars," said her mistress, with as much assurance as an automobile advertisement, "practically never break down."

Betsy shook her head sceptically.

Owing to Mrs. Pendleton suffering from an acute attack of motoritis—a malady which keeps the sufferer awake all night, and also the patient's husband—Mr. Pendleton rose the next morning with his mind made up.

"We can't possibly afford to keep a car," he announced at the breakfast-table, "but I'll hire one this afternoon and take you out for a spin."

"Run into a brick wall with it," said Betsy, sotto voce, "and then you'll have to keep it."

"So you and the twins be ready about two o'clock. Mind you're punctual, because I shall hire it by the hour."

Betsy, passing behind her master with a dish of kidneys, nearly upset them down his back in her anxiety to catch her mistress's eye.

Mr. Pendleton, as the dish caught him a crack on the head, turned and eyed her.

"Oh, yes," he said, rubbing his head, "you're to come, too, to look after the twins!"

Betsy smiled her gratification, and it was only with an effort that she restrained herself from giving his head a soothing pat.

Promptly at two o'clock, Betsy, so disguised with an enormous pair of goggles that, to use her own words, "you wouldn't tell her from a real lady," seated herself with the twins in the rear seat.

Mr. Moffatt, as they drove past, hailed them cheerfully.

"Thinking of going in for one?" he asked, with a wave of his hand.

"Yes," said little Mrs. Pendleton, with a bright smile. "Well, we are thinking about it, Ted," she defended herself, as her husband eyed her rebukingly. "When they make you a partner we'll get one."

For several hours they careered along, to Mrs. Pendleton's huge delight, until Mr. Pendleton drew up at a small village to lay in a supply of petrol for the return journey.

While he went into a motor shop, Mrs. Pendleton alighted, and at her suggestion the twins were placed in the front seat to see if they displayed an aptitude for motoring.

Presently Mrs. Pendleton went into the shop to see what was detaining her husband, while Betsy continued the lesson.

"That's the wheel you steer with," she explained, bending over the back of the seat. "I don't know what all these silly handles and things are for. Yes, that's a pretty brass handle, duckie; but don't touch it."

Leaning forward to check the baby's hand, she nearly lost her balance, and in recovering it, clutched at the starting lever.

Quite unexpectedly the car started, and, with a loud scream, Betsy clambered over and hurriedly seized the steering-wheel.

With a loud cry of "Ted!" Mrs Pendleton set off in frantic pursuit as the car shot down the road. Mr. Pendleton, seeing what had happened darted out of the shop, still clinging to a can of petrol, and wildly joined in the chase. The shopkeeper and two assistants, as they saw their petrol disappearing, followed with lusty yells.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits as did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

FOR A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

FOR AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

Bobcaygeon Independent: Mr. Brodie was in town on Wednesday on his way home from his Somerville ranch, where he has just left his second consignment of cattle. He has already placed about 200 head of cattle there this spring, and reports them doing well. Mr. Brodie does a very large cattle business, mostly market cattle though he has a considerable number of thoroughbred cattle on his ranch. The fluctuations of the stock trade are variable. Sometimes there is money to be made in buying sheep, and lambs, and then again they are imported from the States to better line.

We have a vacancy on our staff for a reporter. A good opening for a bright young man, with good education. Apply at Times Business Office.

General Servant Wanted.

An experienced girl for general housework. Small family, no children. Apply Mrs. W. H. Robertson, 526 Water street.

No Paper To-morrow.

There will be no issue of The Times to-morrow, on account of the public holiday to-day.

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Walter W. Sisson took place yesterday from the family residence, Otonabee, to Ida cemetery. The remains were followed to the grave by a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends.

New City Hall.

Lindsay Warder: Peterboro citizens are now agitating for the building of a new city hall, in keeping with the general progress of the Electric City.

Peterborough Golf Club.

Members are reminded that luncheon will be served to-day at 12.30 sharp, and that mixed foureomes will be played in the afternoon.

Coronation Oil Company.

We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the above company, to be found elsewhere in this issue. This company is placing on the market 150,000 shares of the capital stock, at 15c each. A further issue of 150,000 shares will be offered later at 25c each.
The company is well officered, and is under conservative management. We believe it to be worthy of the attention of investors.

Yesterday Empire Day.

Empire Day celebration was held at the public schools yesterday afternoon, one member of the Board of Education being present at each of the schools. At Central school the pupils were lined-up in Victoria Park where they were addressed by Mr. John Crane, chairman of the Board of Education, as well as Rev. J. C. Davidson. Miss Helen Davies and the children sang some patriotic songs.

POSITIVELY LAST WEEK.

The Auction Sale of Japanese Art Goods at China Hall, 394 George Street, will be wound up this week. Everything is unpacked and beautifully displayed with Oriental Art and Hand-Painted Japanese China of all kinds. They are willing to sacrifice the entire stock at any price during this week to avoid packing the balance of the stock. This is the rarest opportunity to the citizens to have the real hand painted China at bargain prices. The sale commences at 3 and 8 P. M.

A Progressive Firm.

The Times had a friendly call yesterday from Mr. W. D. Willis, of the firm of Willis & Co., the well known piano manufacturers, Montreal. Mr. Willis is one of the leading men in his particular line in Canada, and the splendid pianos made by the firm are to be found not only in all parts of Canada, but in foreign countries as well. The firm has just moved into its new quarters, 660 St. Catherine-street, which is the largest piano warehouse in Canada, being 8 storeys in height.

Grand Trunk Improvements.

Mr. W. G. Brownlee, Manager of Transportation of the Grand Trunk Railway, is making a trip over the lines in Ontario to come to a decision as to the amount of work which would be performed by the company in this province this year. He estimates that several millions of dollars will be expended in improving the line and matters connected therewith. Among the important undertakings of the railway will be the construction of a round-house at Midland. There will be little spent in and around Peterborough.

Drank Wood Alcohol.

The body of the late Joseph Angel was yesterday shipped to his home in California, having met his death by drinking wood alcohol. James O'Brien also lies in a very critical condition in St. Joseph's Hospital from the same cause. Both of the victims were employed at Healey's Falls on the canal construction. The latter was brought to the hospital on Monday night, where he is receiving every attention. His condition is understood to be quite serious.

Appointed As Agent.

Messrs. J. T. O'Connell & Co., the well known real estate men, have been appointed local agents for the Angus Park Land Company, of Montreal. This is, to our minds, one of the cleanest and most inviting propositions ever presented to the investors of Peterborough and district. It is sure to be a money maker, as the property is well situated and is sure to increase in value very rapidly. Watch for the large advertisement of the company in Saturday's issue of The Times.

A Serious Runaway.

Mrs. George Doig, who resides at 293 King street, met with a serious accident yesterday morning. It appears that she had been driven from Peterborough to the Dummer cemetery to visit her father's grave. On reaching the gate, Harry Bolton, who drove the horse, jumped out of the rig and removed the bridle, intending to replace it with a halter. No sooner had the horse been freed from the bit than he plunged wildly forward knocking Bolton down and injuring him quite painfully. Mrs. Doig, who was in the buggy, was thrown out and badly injured while the horse rushed madly away. Comstock's ambulance was phoned for, and it arrived accompanied by Dr. Scott, when the injured lady was driven to Nicholls Hospital, where it was found she sustained several broken ribs and bruised shoulders. The injured lady who is 35 years of age had a family of four children.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

A drunk was discharged yesterday by Police Magistrate Dumble, with a warning.

We have about decided to quit referring to May as one of our winter months.

Several rinks will arrive in the city from Port Hope this morning and will play a friendly match with the local bowlers on their green, corner Aylmer and Brock streets. Play will begin at 10 o'clock.

That the law is no respector of sexes was evidenced yesterday in the Police Court, when a local lady was charged with non-payment of dog tax. She did not appear, but a fine of $2.00 and costs, amounting to $4.00, was imposed. His Worship said that if people did not pay the taxes, they would have to stand the consequences.

Prepare for Lumbago

If You Have "Nerviline" Handy One Rubbing Will Cure the Pain.

THOUSANDS USE "NERVILINE."

The "strike" of lumbago is like a bolt of lightning—you never know when it is coming or where it is going to strike. Probably the one certain thing about lumbago is the fact that it can be cured by Nerviline—the only liniment that penetrates deeply enough to reach the congested chords and muscles.

"Years ago I strained my back and suffered considerably with weakness over the spine," writes Darius P. Millan, a well-known farmer residing near Kingsville. "Then lumbago attacked the weak spot, and for days at a time I would have to lie up in bed, unable to move or turn. Liniments, poultices and hot applications failed to bring the desired relief, and I was in despair of ever getting really well again. I at last decided to test 'Nerviline.' I got five bottles from the drug store and had it rubbed on three times a day. The stiffness and pain left my back quickly, and by continuing Nerviline I was completely cured of Lumbago."

LETTER NO. 4875.

This is similar testimony to that of nearly five thousand Canadians who have written unstinted words of praise to the manufacturers of Nerviline. For the cure of lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia and rheumatism there is no liniment with one-fifth the pain relieving power of Nerviline.

Refuse any substitute. Large 25c. bottles of Nerviline, or five for $1.00 at all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

An American lady who was going to the coronation by way of Germany left $10,000 worth of her jewels in a Berlin cab. Luckily the cabman was honest and succeeded in getting the jewels safely returned to the American lady. Otherwise the coronation might have been a sickening fizzle.

WEDDING BELLS.

Crawford—Hay.

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. B. Hay, 192 Macdonnell street, yesterday afternoon, when their daughter Miss Helen Leonadie, became the bride of Dr. Arthur Hamilton Crawford, of Ottawa, formerly of Havelock. The Rev. Robert Pogue of St. Paul's Church officiated.

The drawing room and parlour were beautifully decorated with lillies of the valley and lilacs. At two o'clock the bride beautifully attired in an elegant gown of white satin, with a pearl panel, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the drawing room while Miss Flora Collins, her cousin, played Mendelssohns wedding march. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Isabel Hay, who looked charming in a lovely gown of pale yellow satin. Dr. G. W. Johnston, of Montreal, acted as groomsman.

The groom's gift to the bride was an elegant bracelet of pearls and rubies. Dr. and Mrs. Crawford, left on a tour west after which they will reside permanently in Ottawa.

A number of guests from out of town places were present, and both bride and groom were the recipients of numerous beautiful gifts.

Hunter—McFadden.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. McFadden, 203 Dublin street, was the scene on Wednesday afternoon, of a very pretty house wedding, when their daughter Estella May, was united in marriage to Mr. George E. Hunter, by Rev. Isaac Couch, M.A., B.D., pastor of the George street Methodist church. The bride was supported by her cousin, Miss Clara M. Deyell, of Lindsay, while Mr. Albert Hunter, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The house was beautifully decorated with palms and flowers. The wedding march was played by Mrs. George, cousin of the bride. The happy couple departed on the evening train for a honeymoon trip through western Ontario.

Lucas—Boddison.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. John's church on Wednesday morning, when Miss Mabel Alice Boddison, eldest daughter of Isaac Boddison and Henry Edward Lucas, eldest son of the late Thos. Lucas, were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Canon J. C. Davidson.

The young couple will reside at 274 William street.

Giles—Ackers.

At the Knox Presbyterian Church manse on Tuesday evening, May 23rd Rev. H. J. Keith, united in marriage Clifton Edgar Giles, to Grace Susannah Ackers, both of North Monaghan in the presence of witnesses. Mr. and Mrs. Giles will reside in North Monaghan.

FEED YOUNG GIRLS.

Must Have Right Food While Growing.

Great care should be taken at the critical period when the young girl is just merging into womanhood that the diet shall contain that which is upbuilding and nothing harmful.

At that age, the structure is being formed and if formed of a healthy, sturdy character, health and happiness will follow; on the other hand unhealthy cells may be built in and a sick condition slowly supervene which if not checked, may ripen into a chronic condition and cause life-long suffering.

A young lady says:

"Coffee began to have such an effect on my stomach a few years ago that I finally quit using it. It brought on headaches, pains in my muscles, and nervousness.

"I tried to use tea in its stead, but found its effects even worse than those I suffered from coffee. Then for a long time I drank milk at my meals, but at last it palled on me. A friend came to the rescue with the suggestion that I try Postum.

"I did so, only to find at first, that I didn't fancy it. But I had heard of so many persons who had been benefited by its use that I persevered, and when I had it made right—according to directions on the package—I found it grateful in flavour and soothing and strengthening to my stomach. I can find no words to express my feelings of what I owe to Postum!

"In every respect it has worked a wonderful improvement—the headaches, nervousness, the pains in my side and back, all the distressing symptoms yielded to the magic power of Postum. My brain seems also to share in the betterment of my physical condition; it seems keener, more alert and brighter. I am, in effect, in better health now than for a long while before, and I am sure I owe it to the use of your Postum." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

INDIAN RIVER

The weather is very warm and the sons of rest are taking a few days off.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Collins, of Peterboro, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Collins, of Douro, on Sunday.

Mr. J. E. Devlin and N. Stabler shipped two car loads of hogs from here last week.

Messrs. Robert and John Brambles intend to import a car load of Clydesdale horses from Scotland in the near future.

Mr. William Walker of Toronto, is home for a few weeks.

Mr. J. P. Collins predicts a warm summer, as he saw quite a number of blue bottles already.

The suffragettes of the village met again last week and appointed new officers. The president spoke on hypocracy. She predicts trouble in the near future, and also expects a vote on reciprocity.

Dr. Smith, of Peterboro, was home on Sunday.

Mr. A. Whibbs, the H.C.C. of the village, was in Peterboro on business on Saturday.

Mr. John O'Toole captured a new species of woodchuck. It is blue with white spots, measuring four feet from nose to tip of tail.

Mr. Dennis O'Brien, our landscape painter, has produced a beautiful painting. It being of Mr. John Lougheed and his residence.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

"WATCH THE RIVER."

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I noticed a letter signed "Citizen," in the Review a few days ago, asking the people to watch the flow of the river. I hope they will do so, for it will at once disprove the statement of the writer that there is any serious danger of a water famine. Nature has made ample provision for a permanent supply of water in the river, by reason of the splendid natural reservoirs, in which the water may be conserved. What is really essential is a better system of dams for holding the water back, as well as a law to prevent its wilful waste by lumbermen when running their logs. In fact I think that the use of the river for running logs should be stopped altogether, and the mills placed at or near the source of timber supply. If this were done, millions of tons of water would be saved.

In the meantime I would have those interested understand that there is not a particle of serious danger from lack of water.

Felix.

POLUTION OF THE RIVER.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I am pleased to see that the people are taking an interest in the press remarks re the pollution of our rivers, and lakes. Perhaps an account of how the law acts re the polution of rivers in Australia may be of some value to the people here. In Australia no drains are allowed to run into the rivers. All drains have to have connection with main sewer dram. All large towns and cities are by law compelled to have their closets, with sewerage connections. The main sewer carries out to the sewerage farm, some miles out. The liquid is passed through a treatment that kills all germs. The solid matter is treated and made into manure. This is sold to the farmers. I thought when I first saw that beautiful bay at Hamilton what a mistake it was to allow it to be polluted by the liquids from the sewerage works and drains of the city—that filthy, smelling water makes its way into Lake Ontario. Then there is the drainage that comes from the cities on the other side, and so on to Toronto. It is getting worse every year, as the population increases.

Any information that I can give re the working of a sewerage farm I will willingly give. As a practical engineer I have had experience on the works.

LOCAL LABOUR MEN ATTEND CONVENTION

Next Convention to be Held in Peterborough in 1912.

At the annual convention of the Ontario Labor Educational Association held at Guelph, local organizations were represented by F. Dobbin, Geo. Skelding, Trades Council; F. Brown, Patternmakers; H. Robinson, Moulders; E. Standford, Textile Workers and Geo. Brosseau, Barbers. Mr. Hugh Robinsin was elected third vice-president. The delegates were welcomed by President Thatcher, of the Guelph Trades and Labor Council.

The feature of the afternoon session was the discussion of the proposed formation of a Provincial Federation of Labor in Ontario. The discussion was heated, almost all the delegates speaking on the subject. A resolution was passed declaring that the time was ripe for such a federation, and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will be asked to take such steps as make this possible.

President Glockling of the Congress, reviewed the work of that body in securing the enacting of laws beneficial to labor men and all workingmen.

The Peterborough delegates were successful in landing the convention of 1912, which will be held here.

MINING ENGINEER SHOOTS WIFE AND THEN HIMSELF

J. B. PHILLIPS DECLARES HE CAN RECALL NOTHING—MRS. PHILLIPS IN A SERIOUS CONDITION.

Husband Committed the Terrible Crime While in a Drunken Frenzy —Overpowered by Neighbors.

Toronto, May 25.—At two o'clock this afternoon, Mrs. W. F. Johnston the neighbor of Mrs. Philips who is caring for her, stated that she was getting along nicely and would probably be able to be removed to her home this afternoon.

A sensation developed in the handsome home of J. B. Philips, 264 St. George street, last night, when Philips shot his wife and himself. His own injury is not very dangerous but Mrs. Philips is in a serious condition although her recovery is likely.

Philips has been drinking heavily for some time, and after attending the races at the Woodbine yesterday afternoon he was in very bad temper. When he reached home in the evening he quarreled with his wife with the result that he shot her in the right breast and placed two bullets in himself. His head and left shoulder are injured but he was able to appear in the police court this morning charged with shooting with intent to kill.

He was remanded for a week, and Mr. Corley, the Crown Attorney, would not consent to bail pending the outcome of the injury to the lady.

A MINING ENGINEER.

Philips is a clever mining engineer who has had much experience. He is 42 years old and his parents live in Seattle. When the Yukon gold craze was on he was one of the first in the field, and he is an authority inregard to Alaska mining matters. He is an ex-Major of the United States artillery, and though he saw no active service his hearing became somewhat impaired by the noise of the guns in militia practice and this worried him. As far as can be learned, however, he displayed no serious tendencies until last night.

OVERPOWERED BY NEIGHBOR.

Philips maintains to-day that he does not know anything about what happened last night. He is remorseful and went quietly to the jail. The first intimation of the intended tragedy was when Mr. W. F. Johnston, who lives at 266 St. George street, next door, heard the revolver shots and paid but little attention to them because it was only shortly after 10 o'clock and many of the neighbors were shooting off fireworks. Screams from Mrs. Philips alarmed Mrs. Johnston, who told her husband to hurry in next door and see what was the matter. Mr. Johnston did so and succeeded in overpowering Philips, who was apparently out of his mind.

SEVEN MINERS REPORTED KILLED AT HELEN MINE, MICHIPICOTEN

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 25.—Death by accident has claimed seven miners in the employ of the Lake Superior Corporation at the Helen Mine Michipicoten, according to a report received this morning by steamer.

Details are lacking, but it is known that Coroner McLarg proceeded to Michipicoten yesterday to make an investigation at the instigation of the corporation. He will return to-night.

According to the passenger who made the report the men met death by being pinned underneath a mass of falling rock.

There is one medicine that every family should be provided with and especially during the summer months viz, Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed. It costs but a quarter. Can you afford to be without it? For sale by all dealers.

AN ELECTION IN AUGUST

Ottawa, May 25.—It is entirely to be expected that a general election will be held this summer, probably in the month of August, with reciprocity as the issue. At the last Liberal caucus which Sir Wilfrid Laurier attended before sailing for England he told his followers that he could not tell them exactly when dissolution would take place, but that they must prepare for an early election.

Since then the plans of the Liberal leaders have advanced a stage. They do not intend to have Parliament reassemble, but will dissolve and precipitate the struggle. The impression that there will be an election this year is very widespread here. It has been conjectured that the House would sit for a fortnight on reassembling, but the far more likely course of events is for dissolution to forestall reassembly.

MAN SMOTHERED IN WELL WHILE 200 STOOD HELPLESS

Ayr, Ont., May 25.—A tragic accident marred the holiday yesterday for the people of Ayr and vicinity, and resulted in the death of Mr. F. G. Jones, a well known resident of the town. The scene of the tragedy was the unoccupied farm of Mr. Wm. McReur, Fifth Con. South Dumfries, near the White school house. On this farm there is a 75-foot well, with windmill. Something had gone wrong with the piping, and Mr. Jones who had dug the well about nine years ago, was called upon to make the necessary repairs, in which undertaking he was being assisted by Mr. McReur.

Shortly after the noon hour, Mr. Jones descended into the well a short distance to make a joint on the piping. He had been down only about ten minutes, when Mr. McReur heard him utter an exclamation. Looking into the well Mr. McReur could see nothing of him, and he thereupon started descending. He had gone down but a few feet, when he suddenly felt that he too was being over come by gas and he hastily retreated, but was so weak that he had had some difficulty in getting out. An alarm was given over the nearest telephone, and help was speedily secured. Mr. P. Nunan volunteered to go down and made three unsuccessful trips, each time plainly showing the deadly effects of the poisonous gas. On the last trip he succeeded in fastening a rope around Mr. Jones' body but it slipped, and Mr. Harry Barrett, who also made a previous unsuccessful effort, finally succeeded in effecting the recovery of the body, which was brought to the surface at 4.20. During the recovery of the body, which took some two hours, fully two hundred persons visited the scene.

Mr. Jones had followed the piping and well business for the greater part of his life, and was always very careful. He is survived by a wife and large family, who have the sympathy of the community.

SPLENDID PERFORMANCE AT THE REX LAST NIGHT

The performance opened last night with Jas. Gallon, a comedy juggler and hook manipulator. Gallon is a top-notcher and received unstinted applause in his clever work.

McAdam and his talking dog, Spike brought down the house. "Spike, is a wonder, says "yes" and "no," counts and does other stunts, in fact almost anything that a human person can do.

Professor Talkerton, the ventrilloquist, is one of the cleverest in the profession and his imitations of a man coming up out of a well, and a phonograph are well worth the price of admission alone.

Madam Hoffman, the magician and illusionist, does some very clever work. Her pulling live pigeons out of hats and boxes, mystified her audience and proved that the quickness of the hand deceives the eye.

The Cox Family, the European Harmony Singers, presented their sketch entitled "The Dutch Cook," filled with lots of side-splitting comedy. Their quartette and trio singing was beautiful and the harmony produced was something not soon to be forgotten. Little Johnny Cox, the youngest comedian on the vaudeville stage, made a hit with the crowd, being repeatedly called back for an encore.

The Rex management are determined to give the theatre going public the best vaudeville that can be secured. The performance last night was well worth 50c, and the performances at the Rex draws this admission fee at all the theatre houses in the large cities. The admission fee at the Rex is 10c to all parts of the house.

The uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy has made it a favorite everywhere. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

Upset Judgment.

The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has upset the judgment of an Ontario Court which awarded damages to a man who was injured while riding without authority on a railway train. The Privy Council held that while a railway by its sale of a ticket contracted to safely carry the holder, it had no contract with a man who had no ticket, and was in fact a trespasser, who might have been prosecuted for his act.

The case in point happened on a train which was backing from one station at London, Ontario, to another in a different part of the City, and on which a trespasser jumped on the rear platform to steal a ride between the two stations. There was a collision and the man was seriously injured, resulting in a suit against one of the railways. The Trial Judge and Jury acquitted the railway. The Higher Court reversed this judgment and the railway appealed. The Court of Appeals in Ontario sustained the Higher Court, after which it was taken to the Privy Council, and the Lords of the Judicial Committee reversed all the judgement but the Trial Judge. The defendant had to pay the costs in all the appeals.

Occasionally it pays a railway to fight a damage claim. It may get the case before a Court which gets at the sense of the situation.

DECREE IS WORTHY OF THE INQUISITION

SO SAYS HON. S. H. BLAKE, ON PRESUMPTION THAT IT BREAKS UP HOMES.

Ottawa, May 25.—"Aside altogether from politics or any other interest the grandest conception, to my mind in the present day, is the picture drawn by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the Imperial Conference, of the three thousand miles of boundary lines between the United States and Canada free from soldier, gun or fortress," stated Hon. S. H. Blake, K.C., of Toronto, in an interview this morning. "What an example to hold before the nations of the old land, whose borders are lined with soldiers and fortresses. To my idea it is the real forerunner of that world peace being urged by W. J. Bryan which should be shown by the younger nations to the old."

Asked for an opinion on the Ne Temere decree, Hon. Mr. Blake said: "If it means that a priest can enter a household and by threats or otherwise convince a mother and father that they are living in concubinage it is worthy of the worst days of the Spanish Inquisition."

NEGLECTED COLDS
Lead to Consumption

Unless a complete cure is effected, the inflammation passes rapidly to the throat, bronchial tubes, and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs any more than you can make new fingers or a new nose—hence consumption is practically incurable.

But Catarrh can be cured, except in its final and fatal stage.

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc., can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhozone."

In using Catarrhozone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing, piny vapor, direct to the lungs and air passages.

CATARRHOZONE
Guaranteed to Cure

The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists—germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed, nature is given a chance, and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills—it's pleasant, safe, and guaranteed in every case.

NEW PROCESS AT MINT

Wonderful New Method of Refining Gold is Adopted by the Royal Mint at Ottawa

This is the age of the introduction of new things, new systems, new processes—and the Royal Mint, Government institution though it is, does not run counter to the age.

They have introduced a brand new refining process down there. It removes from the gold all silver and what they call the "base" metals—the low-down, depraved metals for which there's no hope of salvation—leaving a solid chunk of the pure yellow stuff that men live and struggle and die for. The principle of the new process is the principle of the stuff that makes the street cars go and makes a cat's tale crackle when you rub it in the wrong way—electricity.

The gold containing the "base" metals is melted with silver in such proportions as to form an alloy or mixture of 40 per cent. gold, 56 per cent. silver and 4 per cent. of the inevitable.

This alloy is poured into iron moulds and forms a plate approximately 15 inches long, 3 inches wide, ⅛ inch thick.

These plates, called the "anodes," are now suspended in an earthenware vessel or tank, 44 plates in each, containing a dilute solution of silver nitrate and a little nitric acid. Opposite each plate at a distance of 2½ inches is hung a very thin strip of pure silver called the cathode.

When an electric current is passed through the "anodes" to the "cathodes" it causes the silver to dissolve and pass over to the "cathode" on which it deposits in minute brilliant crystals. The base metals also dissolve, but are kept in solution by the nitric acid. When a sufficient quantity has deposited the "cathodes" are lifted out and the silver crystals scraped off, washed, melted and cast into silver bars. When the silver is deposited very rapidly beautiful masses of crystals are formed remarkably like very delicate fern fronds.

This takes almost all the silver out of the gold. The "anodes" are now about 96 per cent. the pure Porcupine stuff. A further electrical process, somewhat similar to the first, takes the remaining four per cent. out of the gold, leaving it about 99.95 per cent. pure. The gold is then ready for alloying with copper to form the standard gold bars from which the present sovereigns are made.

The introduction of the electrical process of gold refinement places Canada's mint on a par of up-to-dateness with any mint in the world.

SEVENTEEN MILLIONS

Amount Grand Trunk Pacific is Planning to Spend This Year—Great Development

Seventeen million dollars will be spent by the Grand Trunk Pacific during 1911 in constructing new lines and erecting station buildings throughout the West. There will be 619 miles of work undertaken on the branch lines and completed during the present season. This will include the Calgary Branch, Battleford branch, Melville Station branch, Alberta Coal branch, Station-Boundary branch, Moose Jaw Branch, Prince Albert branch and Edgar to Calgary. There will also be 245 miles of main line track laid, as well as 200 miles further grading on the Branch lines.

Arrangements are also being made for the erection of 120 station buildings. This is the largest and most extensive year's work that the Grand Trunk Pacific has undertaken. The majority of new branch lines to be constructed will be laid in districts hitherto totally untouched by railroad development. Rapid strides have already been made towards completing the main line between Edmonton and the coast, and up to the present 245 miles of steel has been laid. From Edmonton, going west, the line is completed as far as Prairie Creek, which is the entrance to the foot hills of the Rockies, and from the coast working towards the Rockies 165 miles of track has already been laid.

This year the work will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible, and from Prairie Creek fully another 165 miles will be completed, while from the west end 140 miles are to be constructed.

The Alberta Coal branch will tap an entirely new country by running a line from Bickerdike on the main line through the Pacific Pass coal fields, as well as those of the Yellowhead, and provision has been made for 69 miles of it to be constructed this year.

Another entirely new branch will be constructed between Regina and Moose Jaw, a distance of 49 miles.

Besides all this construction work, a vast mileage of grading is to be accounted for, and this will be carried on to the extent of two hundred miles on the Regina boundary branch and those others which will not be completed.

In addition to the above, the company is erecting some of the largest bridges in the West. Over the Red Deer River on the Tofield-Calgary branch, an enormous bridge, 300 feet high, is now under construction. Another huge bridge has just been completed at Prairie Creek on the main line. A third is to be constructed further west over the Athabaska River. Another over the Skeena River, which is to be the largest on the Transcontinental.

WRECK OF A BRIDGE

Steel in the Quebec Bridge is Taken to Sydney, N.S.

The wreck of the Quebec Bridge will be taken to Sydney, N.S., and will be manufactured into various forms by the Dominion Iron and Steel Corporation. The Steel Company has purchased from the Koenig wrecking firm which bought the contorted mass from the Government, the entire right to the ownership and removal of the bridge wreckage. When the bridge collapsed 12,000 tons of steel had been put up. Some of this cannot be secured because it is lying beneath water.

CANADIAN DIAMONDS

Those Found in British Columbia Are Equal to the African Variety

R. A. A. Johnston, mineralogist, curator of the Geological Survey, Ottawa, says the Canadian diamond has been tested by the greatest gem experts in the world, and pronounced equal in quality to the famous product of South Africa. The diamonds were discovered in the Olivene Mountain in British Columbia. It was the first discovery of its kind made in Canada, and Mr. Johnstone naturally became greatly interested, and sent for specimens of the gems. The discovery soon became noised about, and other mineralogists in different parts of the world also became interested. Among those in whom the discovery awakened a keen interest was Dr. Kuns, the Tiffany gem expert, and one of the foremost authorities on precious stones in the world. He wrote Mr. Johnston from New York, and asked him to send specimens of the Canadian diamonds for the purpose of having them tested. Instead of sending specimens, however, Mr. Johnston went to New York himself about ten days ago, and took a quantity of the gems with him. "Dr. Kuns made tests with radium in a dark room," says Mr. Johnston. "The Canadian diamond was placed alongside the South African product, and showed itself to be its equal. It phosphoresced the same as any well-ordered diamond should."

Mr. Johnston states that prospectors are likely to enter the new diamond field.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

What everybody with an ounce of common sense is on the alert for these days is a sound INVESTMENT and there is as much difference between an investment and a speculation as there is between London and Hong-Kong, although we all don't realize this.

• • • •

Consequently when one takes a chance on a speculative proposition, mistaking it as an investment and comes out of the small end of the horn, he becomes pessimistic and with the tightening of his purse strings to extremes to keep the pennies in just naturally shuts the dollars out.

• • • •

Now then if there were no investors there would be no progress, and with no progress the community would mighty soon become stagnant.

• • • •

The foundation of America, was old Christopher Columbus, he had an idea but was short on ready cash, in other words he was what us modern day folks call a promoter. His idea was feasible, he found co-operation, his plans carried and YOU KNOW THE REST.

• • • •

Like Columbus we are all Pioneers. Not out for our health, but to make money. No man ever saved more than a competence on a salary; few do that. To get a footing on "Easy Street" you have to invest. DOLLARS don't grow in your pockets or in a stocking. They must be put to work. Old Russell Sage said:

"Plant a few in a new country and see how fast they grow."

That's what we are trying to impress on you now and here is the biggest opportunity of this kind that is likely to knock at your door.

• • • •

We are the Pioneers of the fruit and vegetable canning enterprise in the Okanagan Valley and earnestly invite you to co-operate with us.

• • • •

Men at the head of affairs of this corporation are the best known and most highly esteemed gentlemen in British Columbia.

• • • •

Mr. Albert McKillop, our President, has a world wide reputation in the Timber and Timber Land World. (See R. G. Dunn).

• • • •

Mr. Wesley A. Blair, our Secretary and Treasurer, is also Cashier of the Canadian Customs, being the Government's most trusted employee. He handles on an average of $30,000.00 every commercial day of the year, and it was his fertile mind that first saw the possibilities of Canneries on the Coast, in-as-much as tens of thousands of dollars duty pass through his hands for American goods yearly. Bear in mind that there is a 2½c per pound duty on all canned stuff and RECIPROCITY or no RECIPROCITY that will stand.

• • • •

Remember we belong to no combine, have no opposition, and are pioneers in this field.

• • • •

Just think of it, The Dominion Fruit Canners cleared $400,000 last year, approximately 51 per cent. What's going to prevent the Okanagan Canners Ltd., from doing the same.

• • • •

It's a matter of record that the Kelowna district—site of our Cannery—proved positively at all the recent fruit shows that the Okanagan valley is the greatest fruit producing country in the world.

• • • •

Now, then, be up and thinking.

• • • •

We are incorporated for only $100,000.

• • • •

We are only going to let 60,000 shares out of our treasury.

• • • •

Not one of our shares has gone for promotion purposes, every share being represented by its equivalent.

• • • •

We have no salaried officials, in fact no leakages of any kind.

• • • •

A Premium of 25 per cent. will be put on this stock as soon as our cannery at Kelowna is completed, which will be at an early date, as we will handle this year's crop.

• • • •

You undoubtedly have stood silently aside and seen other opportunities vanish that your neighbor has grasped and is now realizing handsomely on and term him lucky.

• • • •

It's not luck, but JUDGMENT when opportunities like this present themselves and one takes advantage of them.

• • • •

Our land is bought and paid for, and we hold a receipt in full for our wharf for Cannery No. 1, which is completed at Kelowna.

• • • •

Although capitalized at $100,000, divided into 100,000 shares at one dollar each, we are going to offer for public subscription but 60,000 shares, and the remainder will positively stay in the treasury.

• • • •

This is a gilt-edge bona fide, conservative investment and it is not reasonable to believe will be on the market long, consequently act NOW before it is too late.

• • • •

Terms of purchasing securities are one dollar per share; 25 per cent. cash, balance, two, four and six months without interest.

Calgary Lots

UNIVERSITY SUB-DIVISION

We are placing upon the market a sub-division of Calgary, known as UNIVERSITY, from the fact that it is located close by the University site.

I am anxious to interest you in Calgary property, because of the fact that I feel that we can satisfy you in the sub-division, and thereby retain you as a customer when desiring Western investments. We have opened an office in Toronto permanently, for the purpose of handling Western Canada property.

This sub-division is situated just outside the city limits. It is high, dry and level. In fact, we guarantee every lot to be that, or we will refund the money at any time, with interest at 8 per cent. from the date we receive it.

The situation of this sub-division is unique in many respects. First, it commands a beautiful view of the Bow Valley, overlooking the city; also an excellent view of the Rockies to the West. It is a residential Western Annex, and the city of Calgary is growing very rapidly in that direction. By way of illustration: Sunalta, a Western sub-division was put on the market two years ago at from $100 to $200 per lot. To-day you cannot buy one single lot in Sunalta for less than $800 per lot and the majority of it is bringing prices as high as $2,000. Again, this property will be served by a car line, running from the City, West, which the Company building it guarantees to commence building by June 1st.

The Shouldice Park line on the opposite side of the River, will be completed by August 15th, and in operation. This runs to within half a mile of our property. A bridge is now in course of construction, costing $70,000, being arranged for street car service. A subway is being built under the C. P. R. in order that a line may be run from the Shouldice Park line to the line to the University, thus making a Belt Line around, and passing through the property.

We have been selling this property at $125 and $150 per lot; $125 for inside and $150 for corner lots, and, among the purchasers have been several Calgary builders who have bought as high as from ten to twenty lots each. A Toronto commercial traveller, after seeing this property, bought twenty lots; another ten, and later taking a whole block, so that you will know that the property is considered valuable by those who have seen it.

I need say nothing further regarding this property, as I am satisfied that it is an excellent proposition—a good money maker—and, in six months' time, will doubtless have tripled its present value.

Possibly you are not acquainted with the City of Calgary. I might say that four years ago, the population of Calgary was $17,000. To-day it is over 60,000 and, in two years' time, it will be over 100,000, and only then in its infancy. Fortunes have been made there recently in but a short time.

The C. P. R. has now six lines running from Calgary. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be into Calgary in two months' time, as they are now within half a mile of the City with their grade, and they will be running nine branch lines from the city. The C. N. R. has its grade within five miles of Calgary, and will be running seven branch lines out. The C.P.R. is adding six more lines to what it already has. This will give you some idea of the railway facilities.

The C. P. R. is also building an hotel costing $2,500,000; the Hudson Bay Company is erecting a department store to be completed by October 1st, costing $2,000,000; the Pryce-Jones Co. already has a large store employing about one thousand hands, and there is talk besides of the Harrods' of London, and Eatons' of Toronto, extending their operations to Calgary.

The C. P. R. shops will be located there next year, and will employ from three to four thousand hands; besides many manufacturers are coming in because of the cheap power and the many advantages that the railway facilities are giving. Natural gas has been found in very great quantities at Bow Island, and will be piped into the city at a cost of $3,500,000; being sold to the consumer, for domestic purposes at a cost of 30c, and for power at 20c.

These few facts will give you some idea about Calgary. We are selling this sub-division on easy payments; $10.00 cash per lot, and $10.00 per month per lot, until paid for, with interest at 6 per cent., or we will allow a discount of 5 per cent. for cash.

We give Government deeds for this property, immediately it is paid for, and allow you to make your payments at your own bank, after your first cash payment is made.

We will be pleased to hear from you, if you are at all interested in this money maker, and would show you maps and blue prints, if you would call at this office or write us.

HARRY PHELAN,

SUBSTANTIAL GAINS

Are Noted in Building Permits of the Chief Canadian Cities—Vancouver is Leading

Fewer losses than were noted in the previous month, and a substantial improvement as compared with the corresponding period of last year, is the summary of Construction's report in brief for building operations carried out in twenty-three representative Canadian cities during the month of February. Permits issued in the twenty-three centres amounted to $4,061,958, as against $3,000,127 in the same month of last year, which represents an average of gain of 24 per cent.

Ottawa dropped behind to the extent of 33 per cent., and Fort William and London registered respectively decreases of 21 and 35 per cent. On the other hand, Toronto has a total of $969,190, which is 16 per cent. better than her corresponding amount; Hamilton doubled her previous figures by undertaking work aggregating in cost $75,450; and Windsor and Brantford succeeded in surpassing their former mark to the extent of 614 per cent. and 180 per cent. in order named. In the West a marked onward movement was in evidence on practically all sides. Vancouver not only surpassed the million mark, but again has the highest total for the month registered in the Dominion. While less pronounced from an investment standpoint, Victoria's total of $182,940, representing a gain of 30 per cent., shows excellent progress, and as much can be said regarding the total of Calgary ($323,600), and the amount of Winnipeg ($432,500), both of which reflect a most satisfactory and wholesome condition. Edmonton, also, with a gain of 187 per cent., notes a substantial upturn; Regina is ahead by 104 per cent.; and Moose Jaw ranks on a gain of 37 per cent.

Without the figures of Montreal, the Eastern section would be rather sllmly represented. Montreal, however, issued permits amounting to $643,423, as compared with $374,030 in February of last year, and has the third largest total in the list.

CANADIAN TREE VALUES

Innumerable Wood Lots that Could be Made a Source of Mixed Trunk Supply

Within ten years the price of Canadian forest productions have in some cases doubled, and in some cases quadrupled, and, for those uses to which cement cannot be adapted and timber is necessary, the values are likely to go even higher. In ten years pine has trebled in price, elm quadrupled, and cedar more than doubled. Such timbers as walnut and hickory are becoming almost unknown.

The Ontario Legislature has given some considerable attention to the forestry problem, and a very interesting bill was passed at the recent session. It states that: The municipal council of a county may pass by-laws:—

(a) For acquiring by purchase, lease or otherwise such lands designated in the by-law as the council may deem suitable for reforestration purposes;

(b) For planting land so acquired and for preserving and protecting the timber thereon;

(c) For the management of such lands and the sale or other disposal of the timber grown thereon;

(d) For the issuing of debentures from time to time for the purpose of providing for the purchase of such lands to an amount not exceeding $25,000 in any one year.

No by-law shall be finally passed under this Act until the same shall have been approved in writing by the Minister of Agriculture.

There are thousands of stony or sandy hillsides and thousands of creek banks now valueless that could be turned to profitable account in the growing of timber. There are innumerable wood lots that could be made a source of mixed timber supply. There are marshy locations in which cedar, elm and spruce could be well and profitably grown, and not only would these reserves form a source of future timber supply, but they would be a great aid in the regulation of our water supply systems.—Canadian Engineer.

Large Consumption of Food at Free Breakfasts in Toronto

The Sunday morning free breakfasts given at Yonge Street Mission, Toronto, are over for the season.

During the winter thirteen breakfasts have been given, with an average attendance of 310 men each Sunday. The men have had all they could eat and drink, which is quite evident from the 34,000 beef sandwiches and 1,300 gallons of hot coffee consumed. In addition to this 2,588 meal tickets have been given out, making in all 6,611 who have been fed this winter.

Not only have the hungry been fed but over 5,000 articles of clothing have been given away, and 1,225 beds have been provided for those who otherwise would have had to walk the streets during the zero weather.

THE GREAT PEACE RIVER

Potentialities of the Far Northwest—A Comparison Made With Siberian Progress

One hundred million acres of agricultural land, sixty-five per cent. of it capable of bearing No. 1 hard wheat, are awaiting settlers in the Mackenzie River watershed, so Mr. J. K. Cornwall, M.P.P., of the Peace River district of Alberta, told the members of the Toronto Canadian Club. The farmer would be subjected to frost the same as Manitoba was, but at Fort Vermillion, 700 miles north of the boundary, the farmers averaged at the present time three crops out of five. The greatest unfished fresh water lakes in the world were there, teeming with fish of the highest commercial value—trout and whitefish. Spruce and poplar trees were very plentiful, and the rivers of the country were good for a million horsepower. "What the country wants," said Mr. Cornwall, "is men, money, and transportation."

The speaker made an interesting comparison between the Peace River Valley district and the Province of Tobolsk, in Siberia. Tobolsk, he said, was in the same latitude, had a population of 1,656,700, grew twelve million bushels of wheat a year, and exported twenty million pounds of butter to England. The city of Omsk, situated 160 miles farther north than Edmonton, had a population of 3,000, and thriving industries.

Mr. Cornwall described how he happened to go to live in the Peace Valley. "I went broke on wheat in Chicago, and trekked north where a man doesn't need money so long as he's got spirit. I live four hundred miles from Edmonton. My address is simply Peace River. You can't miss me; we're all leading citizens up there."

FOR RAINY DAYS

What 10 Cents a Week to the Annuities Scheme Will Provide

The impression which some people have that the Canadian Government Annuities scheme is available only to persons over the age of 55, is quite erroneous, an impression arising, probably, from the fact that 55 is the earliest age, except for invalidity or disablement, at which an annuity can begin. Naturally, the younger the person is when the purchase is began, the smaller will be the payments which he or she will have to make to secure the same Annuity, and smaller will be the apparent cost. But any person over the age of five, may purchase an Annuity. An account of the sad ending of an old gentleman who had, until recently, lived all his life in a Canadian province, but upon whom fortune, for some reason, had not smiled, was communicated a few days ago in a dispatch from a United States city. He had gone to Michigan to stay with a son for the remainder of his days, but shortly after his arrival the son died, leaving no means, and the father, who preferred death rather than the poorhouse, to which he was to have been sent the following day, terminated his life. If the old gentleman had been provident in his younger days, and had laid aside but 10 cents a week, the amount accumulated at 3 per cent. compound interest, which he would have had at his disposal at 55, would have purchased for him an annuity of $180 a year, an income sufficient to have enabled him to have provided for himself for the remainder of his days. Had he had the opportunity at 55, as all residents of Canada have to-day, of paying in to the Government Annuities fund a sum of 10 cents a week, his income at 55 would have been over $535, instead of $180, and had he died at any time before attaining the age of 55, his heirs would have received every cent that he had paid in, with 3 per cent. compound interest, up to the date of his death.

TREES FOR THE RAILWAY

The C. P. R. Has a Nursery East of Winnipeg

The Canadian Pacific is making use of about 400 acres of its farm of 480 acres lying about 12 miles east of Winnipeg for nursery purposes. The object of this large nursery is to grow trees, shrubs and hardy perennials suitable to Western conditions, for use along its line, the trees to be planted for shelter belts along the main line, and the shrubs and perennials for the decoration of station grounds of the West. These are to be shipped to section foremen and station agents, who will be instructed by an expert horticulturist how to plant the material and how to lay it out to the best advantage. As a side line to the nursery, and for the purpose of crop rotation, vegetables and a small amount of grain are grown each year. There is a greenhouse for propagating bedding material for the larger parks along the lines. About 100 pure-bred Plymouth Rocks are kept as a side line to consume by-products at the nurseries, and, incidentally, to supply eggs and chickens for the dining cars, and thus reduce the running expenses.

THEY GROW FINE SEED

Good Quality of That Found on Prince Edward Island

Three seed fairs were held on Prince Edward Island this year, whilst three years ago there was only one. So much importance is attached to these that on two occasions the Island Legislature adjourned in order that the members could attend and deliver addresses at these fairs. Judges from the mainland pronounce the Island seed to be unsurpassed for quality in the Dominion. A shipment of selected seed oats, sold to the Seed Government Association at Quebec, realized ninety cents per bushel.

An old soldier who had pawned his medals and lost the tickets, was, at Malden, granted an order for the recovery of his property.

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits as did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognize the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $300, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

LATEST FROM APSLEY

Frequent complaints have been made about the number of young men and boys, who to the number of 15 or 20, make a practice of gathering each evening, especially mail nights in front of the Apsley House and obstructing those passing by. Their chief occupation is smoking and chewing tobacco, the platform and sidewalk present a most disgusting sight next day. The proprietor and wife have the pleasure of scrubbing the pavement each morning. It would not be quite so bad if they would only leave the sidewalk clear for the pedestrians, as often ladies have to step off to get past.

We are getting summer weather in earnest now. Saturday it registered 90 in the shade, but despite the intense heat, William has got his plowing done. It was too much for Jumbo Sunday, he discarded his boots and stockings and got as near to nature as possible.

The mosquitoes are getting in their work these nights and the remarks that are made are frequent and painful. The secretary said something this morning about 3.30 when he was awakened by a Holstein cow making a noise like a corn grinder, and he had to get up and chase it out of his onion patch.

The enumerators for Chandos, Burleigh and Anstruther were down to Lakefield last week getting instructions from Mr. John Lang, commissioner.

On the way home Thursday evening, one of them had quite an exciting race with a turkey, but the turkey won out easily.

Rev. H. C. Garbutt, Methodist minister, was down to the city last week attending the district meeting, but was back for his usual services on Sunday, and he left for his home in Madoc on Monday night; from there he goes to the conference in Toronto and will return in two weeks to Apsley to preach his farewell sermon, as there will likely be a change this year. Mr. Garbutt having been stationed here for the past four years.

C. Soules, the Presbyterian student who was stationed here last summer had returned for this season and held the first service here Sunday the 21st.

BASKET SOCIAL.

A basket social was held in the Temperance Hall on Wednesday night May 24th, proceeds in aid of the hall which is to be repaired.

Ansil Jim is building a larger and more commodious verandah which will add greatly to the comfort and appearance of his house.

Miss Myrtle Windsor was visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. Leans, Burleigh, last week.

Miss Annie Coomes spent several days with her cousin, Alice McFarlane, Burleigh.

The Ladies' Aid met at the church on Saturday 20th and cleaned up the church, while the male assistants carried water and hustled off the ground in front.

HALL'S BRIDGE

Weather more settled accompanied by July's heat.

The farmers have their seeding almost finished and are wishing for rain.

Quite a number from this community attended the Irwin-Tate wedding on Wednesday evening last at Rockcroft.

Mrs. Harkimore has returned home from visiting her daughter at Lakefield.

Mrs. Mellmoyle and Mrs. A. Fulton spent Wednesday with Mrs. D. Fawcett.

Messrs. H. and S. Spafford, at Rockcroft, spent Sunday with Mrs. Thos. Fulton.

Messrs. N. Bell and G. Nichols of Selwyn, have purchased the whey from the Buckhorn Dairy Co. and are erecting a very staple and useful piggery for the coming season.

Mr. Bert Taylor and family, who have been visiting his mother, left on Monday last for Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. Stephen Haines had the misfortune to be kicked by a horse, cracking two of his ribs. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Thomas Wilson is slowly recovering from a prolonged attack of La Grippe.

Miss Crissie Shearer, of Lakeburst, spent last week in the Buckhorn store.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES' REPORTERS.

Junior Reporter Wanted.

We have a vacancy on our staff for a reporter. A good opening for a bright young man, with good education. Apply at Times Business Office

General Servant Wanted.

An experienced girl for general housework. Small family, no children. Apply Mrs. W. H. Robertson, 226 Water street.

The Illustrated Lectures.

The services in St. Paul's Church were resumed last night, when Prof. Lowe delivered another of his interesting addresses, with Bible illustrations, dealing with the life of Christ. Another meeting will be held this evening. All are welcome.

Gospel Hall.

Special meetings will be held in the Gospel Hall every night next week, (except Saturday) by evangelist S. J. Stevens, of Toronto. The subject will be "The Tabernacle" illustrated by a large chart. The first meeting will be held on Sunday night at 7 o'clock.

Y.W.C.A. Moonlight.

The annual moonlight excursion under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A. will be held on the evening of Tuesday, June 9th, per steamer Stoney Lake. Friends of the "Y" are requested to bear this in mind. A most delightful evening on the water is assured.

Mill Changes Hands.

The Central Milling Company's property, near the C.P.R. station, has changed hands, the purchasers being the Campbell Milling Company, of Toronto. The new owners will operate the mill to the fullest capacity. The stockholders will get about 10 cents on the dollar.

POSITIVELY LAST WEEK.

The Auction Sale of Japanese Art Goods at China Hall, 294 George Street, will be wound up this week. Everything is unpacked and beautifully displayed with Oriental Art and Hand-Painted Japanese China of all kinds. They are willing to sacrifice the entire stock at any price during this week to avoid packing the balance of the stock. This is the rarest opportunity to the citizens to have the real hand painted China at bargain prices. The sale commences at 2 and 8 P. M.

Sets a New Record.

Chief Howard, the capable head of the Fire Department, says that the absence of fires throughout the city on Victoria day, sets a new record. It has not been equalled in his experience as fireman, of over 20 years. The law against fire crackers has much to do with it, as they are the most prolific cause of fires on public holidays.

Short Services Popular.

The action of Rev. Mr. Webb, the popular pastor of the Murray Street Baptist Church, in promising shorter sermons during the warm months, no doubt will be followed by other clergymen of the city. Short sermons during the warm weather will, we believe, result in a larger attendance, particularly at this season of the year.

A Field Night.

The next regular meeting of the City Council will take place a week from next Monday evening, when several important matters are likely to be discussed. It is understood that one of these will be the Industrial Commissionership. It is said that members of the Council are being canvassed personally, in the interests of Mr. Duggan, the late Commissioner. The Times has been informed that considerable pressure is being brought to bear to have the Council re-engage him.

Through Trains to the West Via Chicago and St. Paul.

Personally conducted Grand Trunk special train will leave Toronto 11 p.m. Tuesday, May 30th, for Edmonton, stopping at all points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg. Pullman tourist sleepers will be carried, fully equipped with bedding and porter in charge. Berths may be secured in these cars at a low rate. This is an exceptional opportunity for those wishing to take advantage of the low rate homeseekers' excursions through the American cities.

Secure tickets, berth reservations, and full particulars from any Grand Trunk Agent, or address A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Toronto, Ontario.

Birth.

McCLELLAN—On May 24th, 1911, to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McClellan, 494 Gilmour street, twins, a girl and boy.

Spree Cost $20.

Three drunks claiming to hail from Bethany, came to town on Wednesday for a time. They must have had it, for they were found in a drunken condition, and run in by a policeman. They were fined $2 each, but only one had money enough to pay the fine. He said he had $30 when he left home. The others were given ten days each by acting Magistrate Armstrong.

Increasing Its Membership.

An active canvas is being made to increase the membership of the T.A. S., which has been so productive of good in the past, in the line of total abstinence. The Society, as a temperance organization, has been a good success, and much credit is due Rev. Father McColl and those associated with him, for what has been achieved in this regard. A splendid work is being done amongst the Roman Catholic men of the City, young and old. Anything that will band men together to stay sober, and thus lead temperate lives, should be heartily commended.

ARE YOU USING AN OILY LINIMENT.

Beware of Any Thick, Greasy Liniment That Contains Acids and Strong Ammonia.

Nerviline is sure to cure pain because it is immensely stronger than other liniments, because it is more penetrating, because it relieves the congested condition that excites pain, because it restores circulation of the part. They know how good it is, because in the hundred and one minor ailments that afflict us at all times they found Nerviline always cured. Remember that Montreal is the railway and shipping centre of Canada, and that its magnificent harbour is one of the best in the world, and that as the city is built on an Island, its area is limited and every inch will shortly be developed and built upon, thereby causing the price of lots to increase many hundred per cent.

We can offer you lots in one of the best sub-divisions in Montreal, called Angus Park Boulevard. Every lot is either facing or adjoining the beautiful 80 foot Boulevard, which extends the entire length of the property, about three miles. VOL. XXXIV NO. 25 — PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO, SATURDAY MAY 27 1911 — PRICE TWO CENTS

FRENCH WANT ALL COUNTED

CIRCULAR SENT BROADCAST GIVING HINT TO THE CENSUS ENUMERATORS.

Last Was Not Exact—Of High Importance, Because it Involves Privileges in Teaching and Administration.

Ottawa, Ont., May 25.—That no stone will be left unturned to make the French population of Ontario appear as numerous as possible is indicated in a circulated letter sent broadcast by the French-Canadian Congress, headquartered at Ottawa.

It urges that great care be exercised to see that all people of French origin, whether or not they speak French, should be classed of that nationality. The circular, which is signed by Jules Trembhay, secretary, goes on to state that the French-speaking people in Ontario have tried to prove that the last census was not exact and that French-Canadians in the Province do not number 200,000.

"These questions," says the association, "are of the highest importance from the viewpoint of advantages and privileges that we can obtain with regard to the teaching of French in the schools, its use in public administration and in all the public service corporations such as railways, navigation, electric, gas and other companies operating public utilities. It is well, in order to obtain the result desired, that the propaganda be made in the church, where the cures should speak on it two Sundays before the census is taken, also, in the schools, and if possible from door to door. The step is based upon the conduct of certain of the census in the past who would not scruple when diminution of figurens of French population would be possible."

GIVING AWAY FLOWERS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—To a sick man, woman or child a gift of flowers is one of the most precious that can be made. The sending of flowers to hospitals and charitable institutions is a highly useful as well as a pleasurable practice. Beauty of form and fragrance appeal to the sick and convalescent, carrying a message of hope and fortitude.

The hospitals are the scenes of much suffering and heartaches. The hope and the joy contained in one of these humble gifts of flowers, is oftentimes beyond description. To many a prisoner of misfortune as well as many a one confined behind prison bars a plant speaks of the true, the just and the eternal as well as the beautiful.

Everybody who realizes the value of kindness in this direction should add its work as much as possible. And whenever possible those owning flowers or plants should give them away to people who will sincerely enjoy them. There is no pleasure, in the end, in hoarding such simple yet powerful means of comfort and of inspiration.

I believe you have in Peterborough several "Sunshine" societies. Let them keep up their God-given work, and let the people help them to do so, is the earnest wish of Joseph Garrald.

ENCROACHMENT SUIT.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A neighbor has erected a building, which I believe overlaps on my property several inches. Now, is it necessary to hire a surveyor to prove my claim, or can anyone measure my land? Also, about what would a surveyor charge? My place being about 30 feet wide. If my belief is justified after the land is measured, do I need to take legal action to cause him to remove his property from my land, who stands the legal expense, if there is any? His place was put up about six weeks ago, being constructed before I was aware of it.

A. R. E.

Reply—We do not as a rule pretend to answer legal questions in The Times, but in this instance would say that any way to prove encroachment is good evidence. A surveyor is best; make a private bargain. Institute ejectment suit if the other fellow will not move. The costs are on him, but not your lawyer's charge Best of all make a settlement with your neighbor if possible.

KILL THE CATERPILLARS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—While passing down to my office to-day I counted a dozen of the white caterpillarnests on the shade trees on the streets. These nests will produce millions of caterpillars in a few days, and unless they are at once killed, the trees will be destroyed without the slightest doubt. The Council should put men at work at once, and thus protect the trees.

TIMES' REPORT CONFIRMED

The Times report of the probability of a third man's entering the field in the East Riding, in opposition to Whitney's bi-lingualism in public schools is confirmed by a number of prominent Conservatives from the East whoare determined that English shall be the language of Ontario. They are opposed to the French running the Province of Ontario as well as Quebec. Ontario's public school system is in danger and needs reformation anyway. A few good Independents in the legislature would do a lot of good.

JUNE 3RD WILL BE AN OFFICIAL, BUT NOT A GENERAL, HOLIDAY

Ottawa, May 26.—Saturday, June 3rd, the birthday of King George V. has been proclaimed a legal holiday throughout the Dominion.

It is understood that the banks and law courts will close, but the day will probably not be generally observed as a public holiday. It will be an "official" day.

PROTESTANTS IN CANADA UNITE.

Toronto, May 26.—The proposed Protestant federation is now practically an accomplished fact. It is organized on broad principles, and will have hundreds of branches in every part of the Dominion. It will embrace the whole of Canada, and its object will be to meet the machinery of the Roman Catholic Church with a still more powerful Protestant combine, which will stand for equal rights and no special privileges to any sect or creed. The Protestant Churches with scarcely an exception, are aroused over the Ne Temere decree of the Pope, and are unanimous in their determination to have the sanctity of marriage properly and efficiently safeguarded.

Toronto, May 26.—A reconciliation has been effected between Mrs. Roberts, the Hamilton woman, whose children were kidnapped in such a dramatic way recently, from her mother's home in Logan avenue, and her husband, who drove them off in an automobile. He came down to Toronto and after a long conference she consented to return with him. It is understood that the conditions were that he should not live in Hamilton longer than to dispose of his business, as several of his relatives reside there, and that the children were to be brought up in the Roman Catholic Church.

FISHERMAN TELLS INTERESTING STORY

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM AND LUMBAGO.

Strains and Exposure Brought on Troubles That Caused Five Years Suffering, but Dodd's Kidney Pills Fixed Him Up.

Clam Bank Cove, Bay St. George, Nfld., May 26.—(Special).—Among the fishermen here Dodd's Kidney Pills are making a name for themselves as a remedy for those ills that the cold and exposure bring to these hardy people. The kidneys are always first to feel the effects of continued strain on the body, and as Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the Kidneys they are gaining a wonderful popularity. An example is the case of Mr. J. C. Greene.

"My troubles," Mr. Greene states, "was caused by strain and cold. For five years I suffered from Rheumatism and Lumbago. I was always tired and nervous. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing and the pains of neuralgia added to my distress.

"I was in very bad shape indeed when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but I am thankful to say that they gave me relief. It is because I found in them a cure that I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to my friends."

Others here give the same experience. They were racked with pain and feeling that life generally was a burden. Dodd's Kidney Pills made new men and women of them.

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA.

Another Year of Substantial Progress—Excellent Results for the Year.

Elsewhere in to-day's issue will be found the report of the proceedings at the 36th Annual General Meeting of the shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada, held at the Head Office of the institution on Thursday. The net profits for the year ending 30th April last, after making full provision for all bad and doubtful debts and other contingent liabilities, amounted to $641,062.18. Dividends at the rate of 11 per cent. per annum for the first nine months of the year and at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum for the last quarter of the year absorbed $625,427.51 of the net profits; $7500 was credited to the Employes' Pension and Guarantee Fund and $71,774.16 to bank premises and furniture account and the balance of $136,990.43 was placed to credit of profit and loss account, the balance carried forward now standing at $833,125.63.

In addition to these very satisfactory figures the reserve fund was increased during the year by $761,569.25, the premium received on the recent issue of new capital stock. That fund now exactly equals the paid up stock of $5,769,569.25. As against public liabilities totalling $51,052,453,53 the bank holds in readily available assets $28,315,856.62, a proportion certifying to thoroughly safe and conservative management. Deposits increased during the week under review by upwards of $5,000,000, indicative of sound, healthy development. Seven new branches have been opened, including those at Porcupine and South Porcupine. In closing their report the directors took occasion to express their satisfaction with the faithfulness and efficiency of the staff, a tribute fully justified by the excellent results.

MURDERER CARRIED TO SCAFFOLD

FRANCESCO CREOLA PAID THE PENALTY FOR THE DEATH OF FELLOW COUNTRYMAN

Montreal, May 26.—Francesco Creola, twenty years old, paid the penalty at eight o'clock this morning at the Montreal jail, for the murder of Guiseppe Chime. H ewas the first Italian to be hanged in the Provines of Quebec. Creola, or Guiseppe Grenora, his real name, as the hour of death approached, became pitiably hysterical, and at the last had to be carried bodily up the scaffold and supported, while the rope was adjusted and the last offices of the church carried out. He utterly collapsed at the last.

The hangman was the same man who officiated at the execution of Timothy Candy. One hundred policemen guarded the vicinity of the jail to guard against any unseemly incident, and all passed off smoothly.

At eight o'clock exactly the hangman drew the bolt, and Creola's body shot through the trap. His neck was broken and death was instantaneous.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got Their New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $11 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

TORONTO PROTEST AGAINST THE QUEBEC MARRIAGE LAWS

"Moved by Rev. J. C. Speer, seconded by Dr. J. F. Conboy, and resolved that this district has heard with astonishment of the action of a Court of Justice in the Province of Quebec, dissolving a marriage duly solemnized by a Methodist minister on the ground that those so married were members of the Roman Catholic Church.

"We note with alarm that the ground is taken by the Romish Church, and evidently by the Judge in the case cited, that the Ne Temere decree of the Pope and college of Cardinals at Rome, gives authority to the said church to subordinate the civil laws, of Province of Quebec, and thus make null and void the authority of the Lieutenant-Governor under whose seal the marriage was performed.

"We therefore urge the annual conference to take such steps as are necessary to enlighten all our people upon a question of such grave importance, and further to press upon the Governments of this land the urgent necessity of so amending the present marriage laws that it shall be criminal for anyone to in any way interfere in a matter so vital to the sanctity of the home, and to the future welfare of our beloved Dominion."

The foregoing resolution was passed yesterday by the annual district meeting of clergymen and laymen of the Western part of Toronto, in the High Park avenue church.

CHANGE IN THE CATHOLIC CHURCH.

"For years," said Rev. Dr. Speer, "I have been studying and observing the replacing of the Gallicam priest the old French priest who concerned himself purely with the spiritual side of the work of the Romish Church, with the Ultramontane or Jesuit priest, whose sole aim and object was the subjugation of every other church to the Catholic Church, and the dominance of ecclesiastical law over civil laws.

"I admire their astuteness, their shrewdness, but the time has come now when a solid front must be placed to the Church, that has for its object the strangulation of Protestantism. For years the Roman hierarchy issued decrees against the operation of the Jesuits, or ultramontane element, who are politicians, and everything else where power is obtained for the strengthening of the Church by laws and court interpretations, and now the Pope and cardinals are using this element to the utmost for the furtherance of the objects and desires they possess.

"It was discovered long ago that Laval College was Gallican in character, and quietly an agitation was commenced, and now in Montreal is a Jesuit College for the purpose of turning over this Dominion to the Jesuit priest, the ultramontane politician; and the result will be the forcing of all other Churches into an array against the encroachments of this interference with the liberties of the citizens of this Dominion."

WARM APPLAUSE.

Dr. Speer after a historical denunciation of the Church and decree, which made the beautiful High Park Avenue Church, in all its quietness and summer glory, ring with his earnestness and eloquence, concluded his presentation of the resolution amid applause.

Dr. E. N. Baker, of Crawford street Church followed in an endorsation of the resolution.

Prof. J. Smith of Toronto University, told of how organizations of men, young and old, had arisen in Germany to fight the encroachments of the ultramontane element of the Roman Church.

Many were the speakers and the resolution was passed unanimously by a body of men very much in earnest.

One minister told of a young man coming to him and telling him that he was to marry a Roman Catholic girl, and on going to the priest about it he was told yes, he could be married, but he would have to sign a document with two conditions, namely, that the girl should always remain Catholic and the issue should belong to the Catholic Church also.

"This is the state of affairs," said the clergyman.

FAMOUS JURIST WAS SIR ELZEAR

The Former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Leaves to his Country a Fine Record

The late Sir Henry Elzear Taschereau, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, was a distinguished member of the Canadian Parliament, both before and after Confederation. His mother, Catharine Genedine, was the daughter of the Hon. Amable Dionne, legislative councillor. On his father's side he was descended from one of the most illustrious families of French Canada. It is nearly two centuries since the first Taschereau filled judicial functions in New France. This was Jean Taschereau, who was first secretary to the Intendant, and then a member of the Conseil Superieur, which exercised both administrative and judicial functions. The next Taschereau was first a soldier, who fought to repel the American invasion in 1775, and then was appointed judge of the court of common pleas, on which he sat from 1777, while also occupying a seat in the legislative assembly and afterwards in the legislative council. Then came Jean Thomas Taschereau, grandfather of the late Chief Justice, who sat in the court of King's bench. An uncle and two cousins of Sir Elzear have also occupied seats in the higher courts of Canada. It is not surprising that in such a family legal talent should be almost instinctive. Young Elzear was early placed in the old classical seminary of Quebec, where he went through the curriculum of French, Latin and Greek with credit to himself. Very little English was then taught in the old seminary, but the association of his family with the English society of Quebec partly supplemented the school in this respect, and placed young Taschereau in a better position than some of his less fortunate comrades. Having completed his classical course, Mr. Taschereau naturally turned his attention to law, and in 1857 he was admitted to the bar. He settled in Quebec and practised for several years in partnership with Mr. Blanchet, now a judge of the court of appeals, of Quebec. He showed such talent that at the age of 31 he had won his title of Q.C., which was given to him by Viscount Monk. But success at the bar did not satisfy his ambition. It is written in Quebec that talented young lawyers shall enter politics, and at the age of 25, in 1861, Elzear Taschereau was elected to represent his native county of Beance in the old Parliament of the United Canadas. He sat for this constituency until confederation. He was then appointed clerk of the peace for the district of Quebec, but he soon tired of the mental duties of this office and gave in his resignation to resume the practice of his profession. In January, 1871, he was offered and accepted a seat as puisne judge in the superior court of the Province of Quebec. Judge Taschereau's reputation for learning and sound judgment grew wonderfully on the bench, and in October, 1878, he was called to the supreme court of Canada. In this higher sphere he showed himself the equal of any of the distinguished jurists associated with him.

Sir Elzear Taschereau was a hard worker off the bench as well as on the bench. In all public functions he stood out for decorum and etiquette with the zeal of the old aristocracy. When he was sworn in as administrator of the Dominion during the interregnum before the arrival of Earl Grey, he knew that he had the right to be addressed as his excellency, and he insisted formly for its observance. Withal, whether on the bench or in his private everyday life, he was always the refined scholar, the cultured gentleman, the genial, sincere friend.

LIKE RATS IN A TRAP

A Passenger Tells of the Wreck of the Iroquois

H. H. Moss, commercial traveller, who was a passenger on the wrecked steamer Iroquois off Vancouver Island, when 21 lives were lost, told at the preliminary inquest held by Captain Chas. Eddie, how the women passengers on the ship were closed like rats in a trap in the cabin of the boat when she keeled over, and how he still hears their shrieks and screams as they were thrown about the cabin when the heavy list to starboard occurred. Moss took to the water to avoid the suction of the sinking ship, and later reached the deck-house, after it had floated clear of the hull. He attributes the wreck to the loading of the vessel, and he said to Captain Eddie that had the deckload of hay been thrown over the ship would have righted. The hay acted as a sail, and the wind beat straight down on it. Moss said he believed the captain could have done more toward saving life with the boat he took from the wreck than he did. Moss was emphatic in saying that the first boat launched should never have been put in the water because the stern was stove in and nothing could prevent it from foundering. The inquest resulted in the arrest of the Captain.

"MISS JACK MAY"

A Female in Male Attire Has Gone to Western Canada

"Miss Jack May" was the name of a female second cabin passenger on the Empress of Britain arriving at St. John, N.B. She readily admitted she was of the opposite sex and said that she and her male companion had worked on a farm in England. She had her hair cropped short, wore leggings and tan boots and a short skirt that was not visible below a man's overcoat. Her age was about 20, and she was rather good-looking. They had about 11 pieces of baggage, including a rifle, and were bound for the Canadian West.

McGOWAN'S AEROPLANE

The airship in which Robert McGowan, Sydney, N.S., made a flight over Sydney harbor, is a motorless machine, or glider, started by means of an automobile, the force so obtained enabling the aeronaut to go at a greater speed than merely when starting from a height. The plane is the smallest in the world, being twenty feet in length, the upper plane twenty feet wide, and the lower twelve. Young McGowan is only seventeen years of age.

This is the story of the Rangley High-Grade Oil Field of Rio Blanco County, Colorado; one of its progressive corporations, THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL COMPANY, and why its stock is an exceptionally attractive avenue of tremendous profits.

Price of Shares Advance JUNE 15TH, 1911

We Now Have Over 200 Stockholders

Foreword

E. W. SMITH

As Manager of the Bankers Finance Co. I want to personally call your attention to what I consider the very best investment opportunity I have found in all of my financial experience, and my customers know by dividends and profits distributed that I have a record of several years' success.

In the first place I will not sell stocks in any company until I have satisfied myself that there seems to be assured success for the company. Furthermore, I always want my clients to buy stocks when there is a splendid probability of their advancing to a price that will let each one make a handsome profit.

THE COLORADO PARAFFIN OIL CO., at the present price of THREE cents a share, I think, is a big money-maker. The stock is just as sure to rise as human being can depict, and it would not surprise me to see an advance to 75 cents or $1 in the near future.

Such policy has caused the great success of the Bankers Finance Company extending over a long period, and having on its books the most prosperous investors of any similar western institution. It isn't often we offer speculative stocks which are likely to double and treble in price, and rapidly making several hundred per cent. profit, but when we do it's a pretty safe guess that we know absolutely whereof we speak, and in no instance have we yet failed. I have personally investigated the following proposition and firmly believe we have the richest and most marvelous offering in the West, and if you will join us, even for a small amount, I will endeavor to show you profits thereby that will make you permanent customers.—E. W. Smith.

When investing your money in any security it is always well to investigate the basic facts underlying the business back of the security.

The production of crude oil from the ground has for ages proven to be a very profitable industry, and therefrom has arisen many of the richest men of the world. Corporations engaged in this industry have amassed enormous profits and paid large dividends to shareholders.

Geologists schooled in their profession are enabled to determine in what localities crude oil may be secured by drilling wells. In some localities oil is secured at a depth of a few hundred feet, while elsewhere it is necessary to drill to a depth of several thousand feet. This to a certain extent regulates the expense of reaching oil.

Again, the quality of oil secured is an important factor in the ultimate profits which may be realized. Among the most valuable oil wells are those containing the largest percentage of paraffin, naptha, gasoline, lubricating, and other ingredients for which there is a ready market at substantial prices.

In the Pennsylvania fields there was formerly produced a large amount of high-grade oil which sold at several dollars per barrel, and millions of barrels made millions of dollars for the owners; but of late years this supply has diminished, and it has become a serious question among oil men as to where the future supply would come from, especially since the introduction of automobiles and gasoline engines has created an enormous demand for gasoline at high prices.

THE RANGELY OIL FIELD, located in Rio Blanco county, Colorado, is destined to fill the necessity now so much in demand. Doubtless this field would have become prominent many years ago but for the fact that Rio Blanco county has been practically without railroad transportation. In fact, at present only one railroad touches the county, and that merely across one corner, thus serving only about ten miles of the county, leaving other portions thereof nearly 35 miles from the railroad. Now that paraffin and gasoline oils are being produced, this situation will be speedily remedied. Already the Uintah Railway, the Grand River, Meeker & Salt Lake Railroad, the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway, and the Laramie, Hahn's Peak & Pacific Railway are projected through this county, and soon Rio Blanco with its tremendously rich, undeveloped resources of high-grade oil, coal, gilsonite, mineralized rubber and other valuables, will reap its reward.

It is a well-known axiom that those who get into a country "ahead of the railroads" will get the greater profits. The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is now firmly entrenched as one of the factors of the Rangely Oil Field, and its 80 acres are considered as good as any in the district. However, other companies did the pioneering work. Six companies have already secured oil in 50 wells. In all of them have been found the same high-grade paraffin and gasoline oil and most of these wells strike oil at from 600 to 1,000 feet deep, proving it a shallow field.

The essentials of success and profit are clearly defined in the Rangely field: 1. Inexpensive drilling. 2. Shallow wells throughout. 3. High-grade valuable product. 4. Oil analyzed by the Standard Oil Company. 5. Oil analyzed by the U. S. Government experts. 6. Geologists of the U. S. examined the entire field.

Property—Eighty acres choice territory in the Rangely oil district, Rio Blanco county, Colorado, a field celebrated for its valuable paraffin and gasoline oils commanding four times the price of asphalt oils of California Texas and Oklahoma. The corporation has a 20-year lease, royalty only 10 per cent. of oil secured, and $1,200 ($15 per acre) cash when oil is struck, otherwise nothing is to be paid lessor.

The Colorado Paraffin Oil Company is among the first in the field, reaching there "ahead of the railroads", and selected first choice of leases, and began drilling its first well. For the purpose of determining the value of this high-grade oil by expert analysis samples were taken from nearby wells, results of which are herewith submitted. They prove conclusively every claim made for Rangely high-grade oil.

EXPERT OPINIONS ON THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT.

The following are brief extracts from some of the most complimentary reports ever made upon an oil field, all of the parties in question having visited the Raven Park Field and subjected it to the most rigid and crucial investigation:

Mr. Samuel Baker says of the Raven Park Oil Field: "The field is a true anticlinal dome. The oil is a rich, golden brow color, and is very foamy, showing the presence of large quantities of gas and gas-forming materials."

Prof. Wm. B. Potter, the well-known geologist and mining engineer of St. Louis, who occupied the chair of Geology in the Washington University at St. Louis for over 12 years, says: "One of the marked and most favorable characteristics of the Raven Park field is the well-developed dome structure. Such dome structure is especially favorable for the storage of oil. And the natural pressure should insure powerful gushing wells when the oil sands are penetrated in drilling."

Mr. Robert L. Lund, upon the strength of whose report a St. Louis syndicate entered into a contract for extensive work in the field says: "The Raven Park oil field consists of an anticlinal dome, remarkable alike for its enormous size and the perfection of its foldings. The conditions in the field, it is believed, insure flowing wells under heavy pressure."

Prof. F. V. Hayden, than whom no more scientific geologist ever visited the Raven Park Oil Fields, in his report to the government says: "Raven Park has a quaquaversal shape. The dip of the strata is in all directions from the middle of Raven Park." (A quaquaversal dip is an anticlinal dome.)

EXPERT OPINIONS OF THE RANGELY OIL DISTRICT

We Are Now Drilling Our Second Well. Stock Advances to 10c a Share June 15

ALREADY A GOING CONCERN

This company has already begun drilling its second well, hence you are not invited into an unknown proposition. Work has begun in earnest and daily progress is being made. Hearing of the great excitement caused by the discovery of high-grade paraffin oil in Rio Blanco County, Colorado, our Mr. Smith made a careful personal investigation of the field last November. What he found was almost unbelievable. At a few hundred feet deep in this field, designated by the government as the Rangely Oil District, they were bringing in wells of oil worth $2 a barrel as it came from the ground. Compare this with California, Texas and Oklahoma crude oil worth about 50 cents a barrel and figure the large profits in sight. Fifty wells with the same high-grade paraffin oil prove absolutely the truths contained in the official government report on this district, "BOOK No. 350, RANGELY OIL DISTRICT," copy of which can be obtained free by writing the United States Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Smith was fortunate in securing 80 acres of choice land, sufficient for 80 wells. Upon his return to Denver the latter part of November arrangements were perfected to begin immediate work and show our good faith by starting well No. 1 before asking anyone to put a cent into the proposition.

HERE IS A PROPOSITION

which for quick and large profits surpasses anything ever before offered by this financial house—a house with a record of success in every investment offering, and whose clients are making large profits, while others waste their money in purely wildcat securities.

The prompt response from those who received our recent announcement of the opportunity to secure pre-organization stock resulted in quickly securing ample funds for present requirements. Engine, boiler and complete outfit was secured, and expenses promptly paid, and we still have money in the treasury. Work in the field is being actively pushed, and success seems assured. Reports are exceedingly favorable for large profits to each shareholder. In future stock will only be sold from time to time at higher prices to provide for further development. In the near future we will need only to meet our pay roll and other expenses. For this purpose we will accept a few more subscriptions at five (5) cents a share, payable in five equal monthly installments. As only a limited amount of installment stock will be reserved at three cents a share, prompt application is necessary.

NEW CLIENTS INVITED

We want YOU with us in this great opportunity, no matter how small your investment. No one is allowed more than $200 worth at five cents a share, as the stock is thus limited so all will participate pro rata in this distribution, destined to make profits large enough to please each member.

Don't wait until you can send the maximum amount of $200, but take what you can at once, for the opportunity to-day offered you will be a matter of history, TOO LATE. We invite you to become a stockholder now, before price of shares advance.

An Invitation to the Reader

The corporation offers for sale a limited amount of treasury shares upon exceptional terms to investors who may desire to secure an interest in this great proposition. Funds received from this subscription offering are to be used in further extending the development work in the Rangely field, and with surplus constantly in its treasury, unusual opportunities of acquiring valuable holdings may be taken advantage of as they arise.

Immediately subscriptions have been received for this allotment of treasury stock it will be withdrawn from the market.

MILLIONS MADE IN OIL

Of course, you know of many men who have made their millions in oil fields. Many of you know that the leading and most successful oil operators have, for the past few years, been exploring the fields of Colorado. It is stated upon good authority that this field is destined to become one of the greatest fields in the world.

MONTHLY PAYMENT 90 PER CENT. WITH ORDER AND 90 PER CENT. A MONTH APPLICATION

As only a limited amount of stock can be sold at Five Cents a share, each subscriber will be limited to not exceeding $200 worth, so all can secure at least a little of this original issue and participate in the advance in price of shares.

$100,000,000.00

Was Made in Western Town Property During the Year 1909

Did you anticipate in these huge profits or did you "pigeon-hole" the propositions submitted to you by your western friends for future consideration? In short, are you the man who made a profit or the unfortunate one who had the chance but did not possess sufficient judgment to recognise the opportunity or sufficient courage to close a deal? The man or woman entitled to sympathy is the one who says: "Five or ten years ago I had the chance to buy this or that property at $100 or $500, and now it is worth $10,000." The average person sneers at the person who makes such a statement and says: "I would have bought and made that money." Are you going to say five years from now that you had a chance to buy a lot at Poe, Alta., at from $50 to $100 each, or are you going to be the man who will have from $1,000 to $10,000 in cash as a result of having bought property in this town in this year of grace, 1911?

POE A COMING COMMERCIAL CENTRE

Poe is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway between Edmonton and Saskatoon. It is located in one of the finest farming districts in Western Canada. The surrounding country is settled by a progressive type of farmers and consequently will become the market centre for Northern Alberta. Poe district possesses rich coal mines, is close to rivers and lakes and large forests are easily accessible from this point. These natural resources insure for the residents of the town, first, low cost of living, and second, great commercial activity, two essentials in the upbuilding of a large town, thus creating valuable real estate.

POE AS A MANUFACTURING CENTRE

This townsite and contiguous territory has the requirements outlined by large manufacturing concerns for the location of large factories or large enterprises of any kind employing large numbers of people. The rivers and lakes furnish water, the coal fields and forests furnish fuel and cheap building material, the fine farming lands furnish farm products, enabling the residents to live at a low cost.

The town is located on the main line of a transcontinental railway, assuring the necessary transportation facilities. These combined conditions will furnish cheap labor, one of the most important features of a manufacturing centre.

Poe townsite was recently placed on the market and already over 200 lots have been sold and many of these lots have already changed hands at a substantial increase in price. Most of these lots were purchased by representative business men throughout Canada who are now profiting by their foresight.

The townsite is high and dry and very suitable for building purposes.

OPPORTUNITY

is useless unless you possess the courage to act. You might possess great wisdom, you might read a good deal or travel much and thus see all kinds of opportunities to make money, but unless you have the courage to act on your judgment and wisdom all of these desirable qualities are entirely useless.

Lots in Poe are a good investment at present price. The town is bound to grow rapidly. Owing to the easy terms of payment you have the ability to buy and if you do not buy now it is because you are lacking in courage, and the chances are you will never be like the man you now admire most, rich, courageous and wise.

TORRENS TITLE.

Poe townsite is held by us under the Torrens system of title. Under this system the title is guaranteed by the Government, therefore absolutely safe.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Prices of lots range from $50 to $100 each, and they can be purchased on terms of one-tenth cash, balance in eighteen equal monthly payments; or quarter cash, balance in six, twelve or eighteen months.

INFORMATION

We have issued an attractive circular giving full information pertaining to the town and its prospects, together with map showing lots for sale. If you wish to receive this attractive circular cut out and fill in the attached coupon and mail it to us to-day.

SAYS GOOD THINGS OF THE BAHAMAS

Interesting Facts About the Islands that Desire Annexation to Canada

Dr. W. W. Ogden, Toronto, has returned from the Bahama Islands, whose Legislature recently passed a resolution asking for annexation to Canada.

"The Islands produce the finest tropical fruits I have ever tasted," said Dr. Ogden. "The climate is lovely, and there are unquestionably great chances of development. The two things needful are capital and enterprise, and the feeling is that if Canadian financiers would interest themselves in the Bahamas, and if the inhabitants could be brought freely into contact with Canadian people, the process of development would get a good start and go on much more rapidly than it could do under present conditions."

Dr. Ogden found the Bahamas a loyal, sober, and law-abiding people. Sutt he colored folks, who outnumber the whites by four to one, are ignorant and inclined to be lazy. They do not seem to possess either the incentive or the initiative to get out of their present rut of hard poverty. They are easy-going, don't bother any more than they can help about cultivating either themselves or their garden patches, and so long as they can pick up a meal and join in the fun at the weekly fair they concern themselves about little else.

But that they are capable of better things is seen in various directions, where the native has been put "up against it." The carriage driver, for instance. He works on commission, and when he sees that he has got to be active to make the job worth while, he just starts in and makes it worth while by finding as many "fares" as he can. And as there are no street cars or other public conveyances yet, he has a pretty clear field.

New Providence, the chief island of the 690 or so that compose the Bahamas group (30 only of which, however, are inhabited), is an ideal holiday centre. The temperature never drops below 60, and hardly ever rises above 83 or 84. Nothing approaching even a touch of frost is known. Nassau, the capital, has many points of beauty. It has a hotel larger and more pretentious than Toronto's best, and its bay will contain the present Canadian Navy and many additions to it. With dredging Nassau harbor would accommodate the largest ships, and it is naturally a fine sheltered bay, protected on its three landward sides. Biminis, the most westerly island, is only about 50 miles from Florida, and the trip from New York to Nassau, even with the present facilities, can be made inside four days and nights.

The chief exports of the Bahamas are fruits, sponges, cocoanuts and fish, and in the first three of these, says Dr. Ogden, there are great possibilities for the Canadian capitalist. The fruits, especially bananas, oranges, pineapples and grape-fruit, will compare with anything grown in any part of the world. The oranges and grape-fruit, he says, are more attractive in their flavor than the Californian varieties, and the grape-fruit have not the Californian sourness. Experiments in cotton-growing are being made, and tobacco has also been experimented with.

THE LABOR OUTLOOK

Is for Active Resumption of Outdoor Work—Much Building is to be Done—Labor Report

The Labor Gazette's review of industrial conditions is as follows:—

The outlook is for an active resumption of outdoor work on the opening of spring, in view of the many large contracts under way or contemplated in railway construction, building, and civic improvements. The immigration movement is opening with pronounced activity, and gives promise of a heavy year.

The total number of trade disputes reported to have been in existence in Canada during February was six, being two less than in January, and six less than in February, 1910. About six firms and 2,134 employes were involved in these disputes, three firms and 1,047 employes having been involved in new disputes.

Industrial accidents occurring to 264 individual work people in Canada during the month of February, 1911, were reported to the Department of Labor. Of these, 8 were fatal, and 180 resulted in serious injuries. In addition, four fatal accidents were reported as having taken place prior to the beginning of the month, information not having been received by the department before February, 1911.

In the preceding month there were 82 fatal and non-fatal accidents reported, a total of 263, and in February, 1910, there were 41 fatal and 196 non-fatal accidents, a total of 237. The number of fatal accidents reported in February, 1911, was, therefore, two more than in the preceding month, and 43 more than in February, 1911. The number of non-fatal accidents reported in February, 1911, was 21 less than in the preceding month, and 16 less than in February, 1910. Altogether there were 19 less industrial accidents reported in February, 1911, than in the preceding month, and 37 more than in the same month of the preceding year.

A NEEDED RAILWAY

To Connect Georgian Bay Towns—Aid Asked of Government

Citizens from Owen Sound, Southampton, Collingwood and Orillia are urging the Government to give aid in building a railway from Southampton through Owen Sound, Meaford, Thornbury and Collingwood to Orillia.

They ask the Government for the usual grant of $3,200 per mile of railway to be built where it is not paralleling a line already existing. This, it is expected, will amount to about $160,000 in all.

The need for a railway connecting these ports on Lake Huron and the Georgian Bay has long been felt, and all the towns interested would be greatly benefitted by it. At present the only direct means of travel between Owen Sound and Meaford is by boat in the summer or by stage. In order to go by rail from Owen Sound to any of the points on the Georgian Bay, it is necessary to go all the way to Toronto and back.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company may be asked to undertake either to build the line or to take over and operate the line after it is built. A charter has already been obtained for the railway.

IMMIGRATION SCENES

Many Races Mingle in Station at Winnipeg—Pictures of Various Nationalities

[illegible] one end of a bench, pheasant-faced negroes sat around [illegible] a little way off two Galicians, in their odd hats with beehive crowns and turned up brims nodded and gesticulated; and, on a bench facing these, were a row of Chinamen, cloth caps tilted forward over their braided and knotted queues, in their eyes a curious, blank look like gawky schoolboys.

Five races were seen, cheek-by-jowl on one short bench. At one end, a black-haired Assyrian sat alone, his hat tilted forward, his hands in his pockets, and his legs stretched disconsolately out before him; before him an Alsatian wrote laboriously on a piece of note-paper spread on the back of the seat; next to him two Polanders talked animatedly; next these again a fat mulatto woman looked sleepy-eyed, her bundle in her lap; and, at the other end of the bench, a Swiss boy and girl sat side by side. Many stopped to look at the last two, for there were tears in the girl's eyes and the boy ceaselessly and tenderly pressed her hand, holding it against his cheek. "They are brother and sister," said the linguist from the Immigration offices, "family attachment was very strong among the Swiss."

FIRST THROUGH TRAIN

From Portland, Me., to Edmonton—Protecting Immigrants

The first Grand Trunk train bound direct from Portland, Me., to Edmonton, Alta., carried 175 Welsh people for the West. The party was in charge of Mr. R. Courtney, London, England.

Mr. Courtney said these prospective settlers have considerable capital and they intend to take up land.

Mr. J. M. Clark of the Ontario Immigration Department announced that a party of twenty-eight Scotch and North of England farmers, each with $1,000 to $5,000 and over, to invest in Ontario land, would arrive the next week.

Hon. J. S. Duff, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, had impressed upon Mr. Clark and his subordinates the desirability of exercising particular alertness to prevent intending British investors in Ontario farms laying out their money before they had become acquainted with conditions in this province. It was desirable that such persons should look around the country and become conversant with the prices of land and methods of farming before they located themselves on land.

RAILWAY EXTENSION

Contract Let for 100 Miles by the Alberta Central

The contract for 100 miles of railway grading and ballasting on the Alberta Central railway, 64 miles west of Red Deer and 36 miles east, has been awarded to Janse, McDonald & Co., by President John T. Moore and Chief Engineer J. Grant McGregor. The price is $25,000 a mile, a total of $2,500,000. The work was first specified to be completed by the end of August, but an extension of fifteen days is in the contract. At first the company had decided to build only 64 miles of this dump, but the hundred will be finished this season ready for steel.

The papers were signed at Winnipeg. This line is reaching out toward the Brazeau coal fields and is generally considered as a subsidiary line to the C.P.R. system.

A large number of emigrants are passing through Peterborough almost daily for the west.

D. R. WILKIE, General Manager. E. HAY, Assistant General Manager. W. MOFFAT, Chief Inspector.

THE PRESIDENT: Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in rising to move the adoption of the report.

ANNUAL STATEMENT.

The profits of the year have been at the rate of 15.184 per cent., as compared with 14.05 in the previous year. This increase justified your Directors in declaring a higher dividend for the last quarter. By a comparison of the balance sheet with the same return for 30th April, 1910, you will note that the circulation of our bills has increased by about $650,000, and that deposits have increased $5,100,000 (about). The total gain in deposits and circulation has been from $46,302,000 to $51,052,000. On the other side of the account, liquid assets are $28,300,000, as against $23,956,000, and current loans are $33,571,000, as against $31,368,000—a condition of affairs which is, I should think, perfectly satisfactory to all concerned.

NEW CAPITAL.

The additional capital referred to in our last annual report has been taken up most satisfactorily; out of a total allotment of $975,000, $769,559 having been already paid up. The additional capital has enabled us to take on valuable business, and the additional dividend charges have been compensated for by a very substantial increase during the year in deposits and circulation.

SHAREHOLDERS.

Our shareholders now number 1,302, as compared with 1,327 in 1910.

STAFF.

The staff has increased in number from 665 in 1910 to 691 in 1911.

DIVIDEND.

The advance in the rate of dividend to twelve per cent. per annum is, I am sure, from expressions of opinion which I have heard here on more than one occasion, in line with your own views. Anyone occupying my responsible position would naturally hesitate before recommending an advance in the usual rate of dividend, unless he is fairly confident that it can be maintained; if not maintained, disappointment is the result; but unless conditions throughout the Dominion change substantially for the worse, or unless we suffer some unlooked-for reverse, I do not at the moment see why with our established business and ever-growing reserves and resources the present dividend should not be earned from year to year.

NEW BRANCHES.

We are still expanding, and, I think, are doing our full share in providing the country with necessary banking facilities. We have opened up seven new branches during the year, and have ten others under way. The first cost of opening these branches is considerable; outside of expenditures upon structures, which may be looked upon as of permanent character, the whole expense has to be provided for out of the profits of the year. Moreover, it is not to be expected that such development will receive an immediate return. We are, as, I think, other banks are doing, carrying a number of branches which form pivotal or strategical positions and which, although not yielding a profit to-day, are not only protecting more important points from the attacks of competitors, but will themselves, in proper time, become directly profitable. We now have, including sub-branches, one hundred and seven offices.

BANK PREMISES.

We expended during the year in connection with new bank premises over $250,000, and we have now under construction about half a dozen new buildings, besides incurring the expense of alterations to a number of others, the cost of which will be reported to you in due course.

Our policy and practice is to write off each year from this account a sufficient amount to bring the book value of the premises well within what we are satisfied is their realizable value.

RENEWAL OF BANK CHARTERS.

The decennial revision and renewal of bank charters has again been postponed by the Dominion Legislature in deference to what was considered to be more important legislation. In the meantime the charters of all banks have been renewed until 1st July, 1912; the policy of the Government and any new provisions in the Act will, it is promised, be announced during the Autumn session of Parliament.

The Government has been reticent so far as regards its own policy, but we have no reason to doubt that what is best in the interests of the country, which are your interests, will be decided upon. As regards the policy of inspection, we are quite willing to submit to any reasonable form of inspection. At the same time we have no faith whatever, any more than the Finance Department itself has faith, in Government inspection. Effective Government inspection is impracticable and ineffective—Government inspection would be misleading and dangerous. "Outside" inspection has its advantages, and if it had not been that the whole subject will be thrashed out in a few months in Parliament we should have had some suggestion of our own to submit to you for your approval.
